INTRODUCTORY ADDRESS.

BELOVED BRETHREN IN THE LORD :- It is with the deepest feelings of gratitude to God, who has been pleased in mercy to spare my unprofitable life, and to enable me, though under severe afflictions, to pass this work through the press thus far. It is also with feelings of deep humility and self abasement, when I consider the object I had in view originally, namely, to put into the hands of my brethren of the present generation those words of peace and union which had been concluded upon by our beloved brethren of past generations under their own trials and difficulties, for our present and future benefit and instruction; and, on the other hand, perceive my imperfections and shortcomings in a great many ways. It was but a very humble task to be merely the interpreter of sayings of old, and I must confess my aim was a little higher; that is to say, to furnish my dearly beloved brothren, in the "Encyclopedia," a handbook to be consulted on any point or question that might occur to any conscientious brother in his private life, or to any charch in her dealings with individual members, though it had not been presented or decided at a Yearly Council hitherto: but continued ill health prevented much scrutiny and revision, and so there was left out much which had been intended for insertion, and some few things may have slipped in which ought to have been left out, and for these things he earnestly pleads for indulgence and pardon of the dear reader.

A few words of explanation and caution seem to be necessary to those who will use this little collection of the united counsels and conclusions of our Annual Meetings, since there are different opinions about them even among brethren. Some perhaps esteem them somewhat too highly, taking them as rules and laws of equal authority as divine writ, and which. like the Persian laws, could not be altered. Others again put perhaps a too low estimate upon them, considering them as a bundle of human traditions, as they are sometimes called as "traditions of elders," which we cannot too soon forget and lay aside, because, they think, they conflict with and are contrary to the word of God, as it is written. They object, when reference is made to these conclusions, and would have rather consigned them to destruction for fear they might obtain an undue influence. We honor both these opinions, for we believe, they are founded upon well intended, though perhaps mistaken views; at any rate we cannot take sides conscientiously with either of these two classes, and beg leave to lay here before our respected readers, whether they have belonged to either of said two classes, or whether they have like us occupied an impartial position, a few of our upon the subject, and we hope all will give them a fair and candid consideration, they being the result of a research at once deep and carnest for nearly forty years.

- 1. The fundamental principles of the Brethren, whether they lived in apostolic times eighteen hundred years ago, or in the Middle Ages, during the prevailing darkness of a corrupted church without a Bible, or since the Reformation and the art of Printing had given the Bible to every one who felt a desire for it, was, to take the pure word of God, and that alone, as the infallible rule of their faith and practice.
- 2. Guided by this principle, they rejected every form of doctrine, every practice, every custom and ordinance contrary to that divine and infallible rule, and united as a church with the sincere object to follow the apostles' converts on Pentecost: "to continue steadfastly in the apostles' doctrine and fellowship, &c." Acts 2:42.
- 3. But, as in the days of the apostles, there arose teachers who began to teach a different doctrine, and thus caused confusion and difficulties, we are informed how the apostles labored for union, and the Brethren even in our days have tried to follow their example, especially in our Yearly Meetings.

- 4. Now in any question that is presented, if there is an express word of God found to cover and decide this question, of course we would do very wrong to call such a decision a human tradition.
- 5. However, there also may be raised questions to which the word of God affords no direct answer. If they are mere matters of opinion, not inconsistent with true faith and morality, brotherly love will be liberal and forbearing, without insisting on others to be of our opinion. But if the expression of my opinions is offensive to others, brotherly affection, humility and prudence will teach me at once, at least not to give offense, and consequently to withhold the utterance of offensive opinions.
- 6. But if questions are of a practical nature, and as we are to be of one mind, and co-workers together, it becomes necessary to agree, "that there be no divisions among you;" and uppose the word of God, and especially the New Testament, is silent on the subject, but the brethren have come to a unanimous agreement in the matter, all one whether it was yesterday or a hundred years ago, by brethren representing the whole fraternity in Yearly Meeting, then such agreement is binding upon all, as the contract of a parent or of a duly authorized agent or attorney is binding upon the children or parties, their heirs and assigns, until it is either fulfilled or lawfully cancelled or recalled.
- 7. In this light, brethren, let us look upon the counsels and conclusions as solemn agreements or covenants upon which our fathers brake annually the bread of communion, and considered them as bonds of love, to bind them together in union of the spirit, so as "to be perfectly joined together in the same mind, and in the same judgment;" and on the other hand, they considered those who would act contrary to these articles of agreement as disturbers of the peace of the church, and covenant breakers, whom they could not fellowship, unless they repented indeed.

Such, my beloved brethren in the Lord, are our simple views of the Minutes of our Yearly Meeting. They are not laws and rules made and enacted by some legislative authority for the government of others, because we believe Christ to be our only legislator and lawgiver, and his laws, contained in the New Testament, are perfect laws, needing neither addition nor amendments, but nothing more than to be properly understood and faithfully applied. Oh, my brethren beloved, let us thank God daily for that perfect law of Christ, which we have, and let us try to be as faithful, as our brethren in times past tried to be faithful, in examining and obeying that perfect law, and setting forth in those Minutes a practical comment of this same law—the New Testament.

Neither can we call those Minutes mere traditions of men. in the sense of vain traditions, which the Saviour condemned, because they, the Pharisees, "transgressed the commandments of God by their traditions." Having said something on the subject of "Traditions" in the body of this work, we refrain from saving more here, and refer the dear reader to that article on page 179, and reference is there made to 2 Thess. 2:15, and 3:6, and 1 Cor. 11:2, where the observance of a different kind of traditions is earnestly recommended not only, but strongly inculcated and commanded. us, dear brethren, properly distinguish between traditions of Pharisaic Elders, which would make void the law of God. and between traditions of our Christian Elders, which only tend to the more perfect obedience of the law of Christ; prove all things by that law, and we will not be led astray by traditions.

Having said here what our Minutes, given in this work, are not; that is, neither laws, nor vain traditions, we may be asked again, what they really are in our humble estimation: and though we have intimated already more than once what we understood by them, we will try once more to elucidate and illustrate our simple ideas more fully. As in a judicial court there are judges, lawyers, the contending parties, the witnesses, and all the people that choose to attend, yet none of these parties, or all together, can bring in a verdict, but the twelve men specially selected, and called the JURY; so in the church of Christ none but those who are deemed to be impartial (we think,) will be able to give a true "Verdict," and such we deem the conclusions of our Yearly Meetings. Or, as when parties make an agreement, by which they are mutually bound to perform certain express conditions, not only they, but their heirs and assigns, are bound to observe the conditions in order to enjoy its benefits-so in the church of Christ, the brethren in Yearly Meeting assembled, agreeing on any point, bind not only themselves, but those who sent them, until released in the same manner. Or, as parties who have been at war with each other, in order to bring about a reconciliation, a treaty of peace is drawn, and signed, and confirmed, in which the conditions to be observed by each party are stated ;-so when a party in the church of Christ has become estranged, and desires reconciliation, in such case the terms might be called a treaty of peace, as in the former case an agreement. In fact, we may say, every Yearly Meeting was a solemn act of renewing our covenant, into which each one of us had entered, when we made a public confession of our faith, renouncing Satan, the world, and all its sinful ways, and covenanting with God to be faithful even to the end, at our baptism in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. This covenant is renewed in every communion we attend, and, as to the whole body of the church, was renewed at every Annual Meeting by the articles agreed on, signed and sealed under the most solemn sanction of the divine presence, which had been sought by the most humble prayer of all the faithful, and by the influence of the Holy Spirit had again become united and "joined together in the same mind, and in the same judgment,"-and by celebrating a lovefeast, and partaking of the emblems of a Saviour's dving love, fear, and every erroneous, dividing and sinful sentiment was cast out by perfect love in every pious Would to God this latter feature of our heart present. Annual Meetings was restored again in these our days!!

Finally, brethren, after cautioning you thus to prove all things by the infallible test of the word of God, and asking pardon for anything amiss in this work, owing to our own shortsightedness or shortcoming, and particularly for not having been able to give at this time the "Appendix" often referred to in this work, on account of continued failing health (and even not being able to promise any thing further than this, that if the Lord would please to restore to us such a measure of health, that we could revise this work, and "set in order the things that are wanting" in this respect, we would with His help try to do so, and if possible without further expense to our subscribers); feeling every day more sensibly our approach to our dissolution, and we hope and trust to that home which our Saviour has prepared for us, searcely hoping to see our beloved brethren any more in the flesh, that live away at any distance, but still rejoicing in the lively hope of once meeting where there shall be no parting any more forever,—with all these solemn feelings and impressions we bid our readers the kindest "Farewell." May the Lord, his wisdom and love be with us all. Amen.

BRETHREN'S ENCYCLOPEDIA.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT, or confession in case of a member committing a public fault or offence.

The discrimination between a public fault or offence and a public crime, is not as distinctly stated in the following cases as might be desirable, but probably will be in their proper place.

- At the yearly meeting on Blackwater, Va., in 1797, "it was concluded in union, that when a brother or sister should commit a fault which was not between brother and brother, but public before the world, the church is to investigate the case, and if the fault was not so criminal as to compel the church to cut him off entirely, according to the word of the Lord, and the failing member sees it and is sorry for his sin, then he should make a public a knowledgment in the presence of the believers and the unbelieving. But if he should harden his heart, and would not obey the counsel of the church, then members could not have communion with such until the time when he becomes willing to acknowledge and to obey."

At the yearly meeting in Morrison's Cove, 1925, the question was presented, "In case members commit a public fault for which an acknowledgment is required, should it be made publicly, or only before the church? It was considered, in case the transgression was made without the church, and is deemed by the world a fault, and the transgressor should feel in himself urged to it (to make a public confession), in such case it might be good; but if it should be something that is not deemed a transgression by the world, and the conviction were not truly born from within or from the heart, then it would be no light before the world, and it would be better done before the membership."

At the Y. M. 1844, the following query came up, and was answered as follows: "Art 12. How is it considered, if a member makes an open transgression, and refuses to come before the church to acknowledge it, though he declares his willingness to make acknowledgment before some brethren? It was considered, that such private confession could not be deemed sufficient, since the word says, 1 Tim. 5: 20, 'Them that sin, rebuke before all, that others also may fear.'"

We cannot refrain from inserting the following letter treating on the same subject:

ROCKINGHAM, VA., March 6, 1833.

"Now to come to your questions, whether we might require of a member an acknowledgment in public meeting according to the gospel and the Brethren's order? According to the old Brethren's order as they kept house forty years ago, we might do so, but since we were helping to keep house, we have not required so much of a member, because we have no plain word in the Scripture for it. Paul says, 1 Tim. 5: 20, Them that sin, rebuke before all, that others also may fear.' This is a good evidence for a public rebuke before the whole membership, and further we cannot understand it. We read in Numbers 5: 6, 'When a man or woman shall commit any sin that men commit, to do a trespass against the Lord, and that person be guilty, then they shall confess their sin which they have done, and he shall recompense his trespass, &c.' And Lev. 6: 5 we find, 'that he had to make restoration first, and then to bring his trespass-offering unto the priest, and the priest had to make an atonement for him before the Lord.' Now says Paul, 'Whatsoever things were written aforetime, were written for our learning;' and again it is said, 'If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men.' Rom. 12: 18, and 15: 4. Again, 'Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord.' Heb. 12: 14. Now it seems to be quite plain, that when a brother commits a fault, or wrongs his neighbor, whether he is a member or not, he should first go with some brethren to the one he offended, and be reconciled with him, and then come to the church, and bring his trespass-offering, such as David says, Psalms 51: 17, 'The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit; a broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise;' that is, a repenting and humble heart he should bring to the church, and then the church can forgive him, as the Saviour had said to his disciples, John 20: 23, 'Whosesoever sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them; and whosesoever sins ye retain, they are retained.' Now we must believe that the Saviour meant here the church, as he said to Peter, Matt. 16: 18, 'Upon this rock I will build my church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. And I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven; and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven; and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven.' This key is what we read of in Matt. 18: 17, 'If he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as an heathen man and a publican.' However, we have to be very careful to do to any one neither too much nor too In Matt. 23: 23, the Saviour accuses the Pharisees to have 'omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy and faith.' Now we read in Lev. 5; 5, 'If a soul has sinned, though not against his fellow man, he shall confess that he has sinned, and shall bring his trespass-offering unto the priest (v. 8); and the priest shall make an atonement for him, &c.' (v. 10.) From this we learn that when a member has offended against God and the truth, it is his duty to come to the church, &c.; for Peter says to the believers, 'Ye are a royal priesthood (1 Peter 2: 9); and Paul says, 'If I forgave anything, I forgave it in the person of Christ.' From this it is very clear, that when a church is keeping house right carefully, and upon true contrition and confession forgives a member, such will also be reconciled through Christ, the true High-priest, before God the heavenly Father. But if a member were not truly repeating, it might be as we read, Lev. 13: 28, that when the priest had pronounced one clean, and it had still continued to spread, then the priest had still to pronounce him unclean, because it was leprosy. Just so it may happen with a member; if he would continue in his old sinful course, the church would be compelled at last to put him without the camp, as the children of Israel had to do with all the leprous, else the whole church might fall into guilt. The Saviour says, Luke 12: 42, 'Who then is that faithful and wise steward, whom his lord shall make ruler over his household, to give them their portion of meat in due season?" Let this suffice on this point."

Two remarks we feel to make before we close this article. First. When we compare the above counsels carefully, we find that our brethren always endeavored to understand and carry out the word and will of God, according to the best light they had at the time; and so far from following blindly the views of their forefathers, as we are sometimes accused, they thought and acted for themselves, and felt free to pursue another course, if it seemed to them more in consonance with the word of God.

Our second remark is, that perhaps it would be desirable by some, that our old brethren should have clearly defined what kind of sins can be remitted by the church upon an acknowledgment or confession, and which could not be remitted, or rather must be returned according to John 20: 23. From this very passage it is plainly to be seen that there are some sins which can be remitted upon a confession or acknowledgment, and again other sins which the church cannot remit, but must retain even when confessed or acknowledged; but we must look elsewhere in the word of God for instructions about those different sins. To that word of God our old brethren always referred us, and in it they believed we could find all the necessary light and instruction for keeping house in the church of God. They pointed us to Matt. 18: 15-18, as the divine rule for dealing with simple trespassers, and to 1 Cor. 5, as containing the law for those who had committed crimes, though at first in their simplicity they did not discriminate so fully between the two ordinances, and dealt with transgressors of the first class as rigorously as with those of the second.

Finally, let it be observed, that no bare acknowledgment or confession of having done wrong would be deemed sufficient unless it was accompanied by a willingness to repair that wrong to the extent of our ability, or at least as far as the church may require of us.

ADMITTING STRANGERS (not members) to our church councils.

It would seem necessary to say a few words in explanation to those who may read the following, not be no fully acquainted with our peculiarities. In most denominations a church council meeting means only the meeting of the church officers for the transaction of the church business. In such meetings no one, even no private member of the same church, is admitted, or will ask admittance without being specially invited. But the case is different with us. It is not only the privilege, but also the Juty of every member to attend church council, whether official or private, may eo remale, and to assist in transacting business. Friends, seeing our members going to meeting, and being at leisure, may come also by mistake, expecting preaching. Husbands, whose wives are members, may be induced by kindness to convey and accompany their companions to meeting, even if they are informed of its peculiar character. Some may come moved by curiosity or other motives, but all feel more or less mortified and offended when requested to withdraw. The reluctance of brethren to give that offence was the origin of the query following, we suppose.

At the yearly meeting in Ohio, 1822, the question was presented, whether such as were not members could be present in our churchconneils, and the answer was, "Considered, as it was at all times considered, that it could not be allowed."

At the special yearly meeting in Indiana, 1845, question 6 was, "Whether in a council meeting of the church the gospel will allow such as are no members to be admitted?" and the answer was, Considered, that inasmuch as our Saviour directs us, Matt. 18, the course we are to take with an offending brother, to tell it in the last step unto the church, it seemed to be obvious by (or in) the gospel, that those who do not belong to the church ought not to be in council.

ADMITTING STRANGE MINISTERS (not brethren, but from other denominations,) to preach in our meetings.

At a special meeting in Tennessee, 1846, query 5 was, "Whether we should give liberty to preachers of other denominations to speak in our stated meetings? Considered, that it could not be allowed according to the gespel. See John's 2d Epistle, verses 9 and 10."

At the Y. M. 1849. Art 18, reads thus: "Whether it is advisable to give preachers of other denominations privilege to speak at our regularly appointed meetings? The answer was, Considered, it is not advisable."

ADMITTING TESTIMONY from strangers or outsiders.

Y. M. 1841. Art. 6. "Whether members may be brought before the council of the church, and be judged for a crime, only on testimony from without, i. e. from persons that are not members of the church? Answer. Considered, that when there is some report alread of a brother walking disorderly, or having committed a crime, it is the duty of the church to send some brethren to the place where the report has originated, to investigate the matter. If nothing be found establishing the charge, and the (accused) member denying the same after a close examination, nothing more can be done. However, if there should be created some suspicion in the members by the general conduct of the accused, the church may advise such a member not to approach the Lord's table until the matter is cleared up to the satisfaction of the church. But to disown entirely a member on testimony only from without, was not considcred right and just according to the gospel."

Y. M. 1845. Art. 9. How is it considered, if brethren are accused by the mouths of two or three witnesses of honest, moral character, but not being members, and their testimony against those members agrees, that they were guilty of drunkenness or any other crime, and the church has cause to believe such testimony from other circumstances, but the brethren so accused deny the charge? Considered, as in the year 1841, Art. 6, that such members might be advised not to approach the Lord's table until the matter is cleared up to the satisfaction of the church; but to judge a brother on testimony from without alone, and without his own confession, would not be just, according to the gospel.

ADULTERY.

By this word the Brethren understand not only those gross acts of violation of the marriage vow, which even the world condenus, but also those acts as defined by our paviour in Matt. 19: 9, Luke 16: 18, &c.

Y. M. 1797. The case was presented of married people separating from one another, and then the one party marrying again, thus committing adultery. Afterward the other party also marries again, and then the latter comes to the church, and desires to be received by baptism as a member in the church, and it was considered, that if the church was agreed, and the applicant should heartily repent, confess and acknowledge the fault (and especially if the first companion would be dead by this time), we might include such person within the (bounds of the) mercy and merits of Jesus, and receive as a member by baptism.

Y. M. 1812. Another case was presented of a woman who was deserted by her husband, and after being informed that he was dead, she married again; but the information proved to be untrue; her first husband made his appearance again, but without calling or claiming her he went away the second time, and now he is said again to be dead, and she (the woman) now makes application to be received into the church. The brothern decided that it could not be done according to the word of God, until there is evidence that her first husband be dead, and then only she might be received upon true repentance and confession.

Y. M. 1819. In a similar case of a woman marrying a man who had left his wife, both were considered adulterers while that first wife lives, according to the declaration of the Apostle Paul, Rom. 7: 2, 3; and that the church could not receive them as members, until the first marriage was dissolved by death, and then only upon heartfelt sorrow and repentance. But if those who are in such condition would for the sake of God (and their salvation) firmly resolve, and actually (endeavor to) live separate (and apart from each other), with godly sorrow for their former transgression, they might find grace and be reconciled with God (through Christ).

Special Y. M. Miami, 1822. Art. 7. With regard to persons who live in adultery, it was considered, that they could not be received into the church as long as they live in such condition.

Y. M. 1842. Art. 8. "Whether a person, who was married, and whose partner broke the marriage vow by fornication, may marry again according to the gospel, after obtaining a bill of divorce? Considered, that according to the word of God (Matt. 5:31, 32, and 19:3-10; Mark

10: 2-12; Luke 16: 18, and 1st Cor. 7: 10, 11, 39), a person cannot marry again while the first companion lives, and that the gospel considers (declares) not only the person that would marry again after being divorced, but also the person who would marry the divorced party, as adulterers."

Y. M. 1850. Art. 12. In a similar case it was "considered, that such persons should not be received in the church under such circumstances, and that the brethren who received them have erred, and should make acknowledgments before the church in order to the reconciliation of the brethren who have been grieved at (by) their proceedings."

Y. M. 1856. Art. 18. "How are we to hold a brother and sister, who lived together for some years in lawful matrimony, but not very agreeably, and now they are separated, the brother being with his children in Iowa, and the sister with her friends in Ohio? Answer.—The church, or churches, where such mombers lived, should investigate the matter, and judge according to the gospel and the circumstances or facts in the case, in the fear of the Lord."

Same Y. M. Art. 24. "If a man shall put away his wife for the cause of fornication, procuring a bill of divorcement and marrying another, has he committed the sin of adultery, or could he be received into the church, all the parties still living, if he in all other respects brings forth fruits meet for repentance? Referred to next yearly meeting."

Y. M. 1857. Art. 8. "The 24th query on the minutes of 1856 being brought forward (again), it was concluded best for such churches as have occasion to act on such cases, to act in the fear of the Lord, according to their knowledge of the cases (and of course, according to the word of the Lord)."

Y. M. 1858. Art. 7. "What is to be done, when a man has put away his wife for the cause of adultery, and obtaining a bill of divorcement, marries again; the church not knowing of this, nor be that the church disallows of such, for some two years after he has become a member? Answer.—We have not light enough at present to give any advice different from what the brethren have formerly given."

Same Y. M. Art 46. "Should the church receive a person that has been living in a state of matrimony awhile and apparently did not live in peace, then leaving his companion gets married to another one, and after some time leaving the second one for the same reason he left the first, and while his first companion was yet living? Considered, that according to the gospel such a person should not be received into the church"

Y. M. 1859 Art. 17. "A man's wife leaves him for no just cause, and she then obtains a bill of divorcement; after this she marries another man. And then in consequence of this the (first) husband (thus) left and divorced (by the action of his wife), also marries another woman after some time, with whom he is living. And he having become convinced of the truth, has made application for baptism. Can he be received into the church? Answer.—We think he cannot while living with the last woman as a husband. See 1st Cor. 7: 10, 11."

Same V. M. Art. 21. "A man marries his uncle's wife (widow), but afterward thinks he discovers it forbidden in Lev. 18: 14, and 20: 20, and separates from her. He then marries another woman. He now desires to be received into the church. Can he be received, as the first woman is still living, and in a married connection with another man? Answer.—According to the civil law the first marriage would be considered lawful, and, consequently, the second marriage is contrary to the gospel, and he cannot therefore be received into the church by baptism while he and the woman with whom he is living are living together in the relation of man and wife."

Y. M. 1862. Art. 3. If a sister is married to a man, who, after living with her awhile, leaves her, and she, not hearing from him for several years, marries again, can she be held as a member? Answer.—No; she could not be held as a member.

Same Y. M. Art. 28. "Can the church hold in fellowship persons living as husband and wife, while the husband's former wife is still living, from whom he was divorced, but not for the cause of fornication? Answer.—We consider, according to Matt. 19: 9, that the church cannot hold such in fellowship."

ADVANCING BRETHREN IN THE MINISTRY—(see also the articles of "Choice for Ministers" and "Ministers," &c.)

As our Saviour, when he deemed it necessary and expedient to call meu to his assistance for the work he came from heaven to accomplish, did not go to Jerusalem, to the schools of those learned in the law, nor to the sects of the Sadduces or Pharisees, but made his selection from among his own followers; so it is a settled principle among the Brethren, when in any particular church the want of assistance in the ministry is felt, not to go to any high school, university or theological seminary, or even outside of that particular church, but there, from among themselves, under the counsel and direction of experienced elders, and more particularly under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, make a selection. And as Christ did not all at once entrusthis disciples with the full powers of the ministry, but kept them for years under his own personal direction and instruction, more as disciples and learners than as teachers, so the Brethren try to follow his example, laying no greater burden on their newly elected ministers than they can bear, who perhaps before their election had never thought of such a thing. Hence such brethren are simply entrusted with the word, and if they, after a shorter or longer trial, have proved themselves humble, faithful and useful, they are, by connael of the church, advanced to the administration of the holy ordinances of the Lord. And if in course of time the elder ministers have been removed, such of the second degree may be advanced by the unanimous voice of the church, and may take their places as rulers and overseers of the flock.

Y. M. 1848. Art 7. How to make arrangements that in every church brethren be authorized to baptize and serve at communion tables? Considered, to leave it to the judgment of the churches, with the advice of neighboring ordained elders, whether they think it necessary and expedient.

Y. M. 1850. Art. 19. Whether it would be agreeable to the order of the church, where there is a bishop and two or more teaching brethren in one arm of the church, to elect a (second) bishop without the consent of the church? Considered necessary by all means to have the voice (and consent) of the church in such cases.

Y. M. 1856. Art. 20. Is it the rule and order among the Brethren to forward a brother to baptize at the same time he is put into the ministry? Answer.—No.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 19. What is the ancient and established order of the Brethren in advancing speakers to the second degree of office? Are they received with hand and kiss? Considered, that the proper way is to receive them with hand and kiss.

ALMS COLLECTING.

Y. M. 1788. Resolved unanimously, that hereafter no member of the church, whether brother or sister, under no pretext whatever, should go from church to church, or from house to house, to collect alms; but where there is any want or distress of a member (greater than the church to which he or she belongs is able to relieve), the church shall state the case in writing, and send it to the next church, if necessary by the member himself, and if in that church full relief could not be obtained, the writing should be renewed until relief is accomplished, if even it were necessary to call upon all the churches. And we deem it proper that every church should state on the writing how much is yet lacking.

Y. M. 1793. Inasmuch as God has commanded his ancient people Israel by Moses, and said, "There shall be no beggar among you (German translation), for the Lord shall greatly bless thee in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee for an inheritance to possess it, &c." Deut. 15: 4. And says further, "If there be among you a poor man of thy brethren within any of thy gates in thy land which the Lord thy God giveth thee, thou shall not harden thy heart, nor shut thy hand from thy poor brother. But thou shalt open thy hand wide unto him, and shall surely lend him sufficient for his need, in that which he wanteth." And says again, "Beware that there be not a thought in thy wicked heart, saying, &c. Thou shalt freely give him, and thy heart shall not be grieved when thou givest unto him; because that for this thing the Lord thy God shall bless thee in all thy works, and in all thou puttest thy hand unto." And again says, "For the poor shall never cease out of the land; therefore I command thee, saying, Thou shalt open thy hand wide unto thy brother, to thy poor, and to thy needy, in thy land, &c." Deut. 15: 7-11. And the Apostle James says, "Hearken, my beloved brothren, hath not God chosen the poor of this world rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom, &c." James 2: 5. And inasmuch it has happened by bad people, that such as were actually poor have been robbed of their gifts by men going about and pretending to be Brethren, have asked assistance, which they have afterward spent in taverns by drinking and gambling, now in order to prevent such deception, some years ago at a large meeting in Concstoga it was resolved unanimously, that hereafter no member should go from church to church, or from house to house, to collect alms, &c. And inasmuch as members have been imposed upon since in a deceitful manner, therefore, we have concluded again in this present great meeting unanimously, that hereafter no member shall be allowed to go himself to another church, but if there should be found a member in want or distress, the overseer in the church where such member lives is to hold counsel with the church in order to see whether they would relieve the want, and if so, it should not go any further. But if not, then the overseer, with the counsel of the church, should send a letter to the adjoining church with a brother of his church, and if there the want can be relieved it shall go no further. But if the want is not redressed then according to the finding of that church, it should be proceeded in the same manner from that to the next church, until relief is obtained, so that our loving brethren and members, who, according to the doctrine of Paul, are willing to do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith (Gal. 6: 10), may no longer be imposed upon in such deceitful manner. This is not to be understood that we should not do good also to those poor without the church, &c.

Y. M. 1852. Art. 18. "Whether members have a right by the gospel to go begging for money through the different churches? Considered, that they have no right according to the gospel, and where there are poor members that are in a suffering condition, it is the duty of the church in which they live to see to it, and to supply their wants; and if that church is not able to support them, the church has a right to apply to the neighboring churches for help, and not the brother that is in want.

ANNUAL MEETING.

This is an ancient institution, almost as old as our brotherhood in this our land America, though not exactly under that name; or rather, more correctly speaking, it is an institution as ancient as the gospel. It is a preducer institution, not at all like the synods, conferences, ecclesiastical associations, assemblies or conventions of the present day among the various denominations of Christian professors. It is a highly prized and cherished institution in our brotherhood, as a remain not only of munisters and official members, but of the church at large, open to all the brethren and sisters who feel disposed and able to attend it. Hence multitudes from far and near, not only of members but also of outsiders, come together on such occasions. This latter feature threatening to defeat its original object, has been the frequent subject of thought and reflection of earnest and sober minded brethren, and has also been the cause of some changes in conducting the same, heretofore adopted, and still contemplated for the immediate future.

SCRIPTURAL FOUNDATION OF THE CHURCH AND HER AUTHORITY.

When our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ had asked his disciples, Mat. 16: 13 -20, "Whom do men say that I, the Sou of man, am?" they said, Some (say that thou art) John the Baptist; some, Elias; and others, Jeremias, or one of the prophets." "He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am. And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ (Messiah), the Son of the living God. And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou Simon Bar-jona; for flesh and blood bath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven. And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter (Greek, petros); and upon this rock (Greek, petre, i. e. not the man, but that confession made,) I will build my church; and the gates of bell shall not prevail against it. And I will give unto thee (the disciples, or the church as a unity) the keys of the kingdom of heaven; and whatsoever thou shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven; and whatsoever thou shall loose on earth shall be loosed in hearen."

That this authority was given to the church and not to the individual, is further evident from the express words of our Saviour on another occasion. Matt. 18: 15-18, where he gives direction how a brother is to deal with his brother in case of a private trespass against him personally, and says at at, "Tell it unto the church" and adds presently after, "Whatsoever ye (as forming the church) shall bind on earth shall be bound in beaven; and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven."

How this authority was exercised not only toward private members, but also toward the ministers, and the apostles themselves, even Peter, when any thing was done that needed explanation and seemed to some wrong, we find an example, Acts 11: 3. (Please read all from the beginning of the chapter to v. 18.)

But the example related Acts 15: 1-35, appeared to our aucient brethren as the main foundation for holding such general councils or annual meetings, and this apostolic example was their avowed pattern; see hereafter, Y. M. 1837, Act. 3.

THE ORIGIN OF ANNUAL MEETINGS.

From our forthcoming History of the Brethren in America, which shall be published as soon as possible, if the Lord will spare us yet so long, we will find that the first company of our Brethren, having arrived in 1719, almost 150 years ago, held their first love feast in Germantown, Pa., on Christmas-day, December 25, 1723, and previous to this, we are informed, "they had important work. remembered difficulties, which had occurred in Crefeld (Germany) already. were indeed a branch of a church, but not yet a church (sufficiently organized and established) that could assume (the authority) to administer the sucraments (ordi-But the chief difficulty was, that there were still differences among themselves, and they only of late had commenced to come together. After all these difficulties had been worked through in the spirit, they at last ogreed to gratify them (the new converts, who desired baptism and being received into fellowship, and also to hold the love feast)." So then we have a record not only of the first church visit, the first meeting for public worship, the first baptism and the first love feast, but also of the first council meeting, and in fact the first general council or yearly meeting ever held in this country; and it is presumable that the love feasts were connected and preceded by such council meetings the day before love feast, and that these council meetings being attended by members and ministers from every church, were sufficient for every purpose during the first thirty or forty years, while the churches were confined at first within a territory bordered only by the Delaware river on the east and the Schuylkill on the west, and at a later date by the Susquebanua on the west. But as the churches multiplied, and extended into New Jersey on the east and beyond the Susquehanna on the west, and even into Maryland, &c., and it thus becoming impracticable for all the churches to be represented at every ordinary love feast, it became a necessity to set apart every year a certain time, and appoint from year to year a place for such a general council. This was done, as far as we can learn, a little after the middle of last century, and consequently a little over a hundred years The first council meeting had been held, as we have seen, about Christmas, the presumed birthday of the Saviour, but now a more proper time was chosen in fixing Pentecost of every year, the birthday of the church, for the big meeting, as it was called even to a recent day of our own recollection. With regard to the place, it was concluded at a late day, that the big meetings should be held alternately, one year cost of the Susquehanna, and the next year west of that river. The churches spreading further west and south, the Allegheny mountains were considered as the dividing line for a time in this respect, and still more recently the Obio river was named as such line.

HOW THE YEARLY MEETINGS WERE HELD.

That they were at first held in the most simple manner, even as our ordinary council meetings have been held up to our own times, is evident from all the testimony we could gather. Brethren met on Friday morning before Pentecost, and opened as usual by singing, exhortation, prayer, and, perhaps, reading the Scriptures. Having met in the fear of the Lord, and invited him to preside over the meeting, and prayed for the Holy Spirit to guide and direct all hearts, they considered the meeting ready for business. Cases were presented and decided, questions asked and answered, all by word of mouth, as in ordinary council meetings; there was no clerk chosen nor minute taken, and hence it is that our records are so meagre for the first twenty-five or thirty yearly Pentecostal meetings. But as will be made to appear more at large in our forthcoming "History of the Brethren," when any important case or cases had been presented, it was answered afterward by letter to the church or churches that had presented them. Of these manuscript letters a goodly number yet extant have been collected with great care, and are embodied in this present work.

FIRST CHAPGE.

When in course of time it came to pass, that among many questions also improper ones were asked in the presence not only of a great number of brethren and sisters, but also of strangers, it was counseled and concluded, that five, seven or more of the oldest ministers should, after opening the meeting, retire to a private place, where those who had questions to ask, or cases to present, might present them; while at the same time younger ministers might exercise themselves in preaching, and edify the people. This order prevailed up to our own time. se many elder brethren can testify as well as the writer. Some few of those questions were privately answered, others were answered by letter to the church concerned, and only questions of general interest were reserved for public discussion. There were some advantages, and some disadvantages in this change, and it is hard to tell on which side was the preponderance. Before the change, we believe, the council consumed but one day (Friday) in most cases; on Saturday was public worship during the day, and in the evening love feast, and on Lord's day (Pentecost) morning solemn worship, at the close of which the whole meeting was considered ended, and the people departed to their own homes about noon. Upon the whole this first change worked well, and was a judicious one. It seems to have given general satisfaction to the church for a great number of years even up to A. D. 1830 and 1831, where the writer was an eye and ear witness; to his certain knowledge, this improved yet simple manner of holding our yearly meetings still prevailed. Thus far no change or extension in the time has taken place. The meeting commenced Friday morning, and broke pp on Lord's day noon. We will try to set before our readers a simple description of what we witnessed at those two first Y. M's. we ever attended, among, perhaps, more than thirty such meetings at which we were present within thirty-six years past.

On Friday morning at an early bour meeting commenced as usual. worship was over, one of the oldest brethren made a brief statement, according to which it became the duty of the elders of the church where the Y. M. was held, to nominate those brethren who should receive the messages, &c., and conduct the business of the meeting. This nominating was done simply thus: the brother stepped up to what may be called the ministers' table, and with a sweep of his hand pointed out those seated behind that table as his and the church's choice, without naming them, and told them to follow him to a private place. When these arose in order to retire, some one mentioned that during their absence the congregation might be edified by preaching, which was done by those younger min-isters who telt disposed or were called upon to do so, one by one until the elder brethren returned to the congregation, and business meeting was commenced, and continued, if necessary, till Saturday noon. Then, after dinner, public worship began again, and in the evening the great love feast and communion was held, and on Lord's day morning (Pentecost) the solemn worship of God commeaced at an early hour, and continued till noon, when the great congregation was dismissed, and dispersed after partaking of some refreshments. Thus the ordinary time consumed by those meetings had been only two days and a half, and if the brethren had continued in this way, many of the present difficulties and objections would have been entirely obviated. But we must close our remarks, as the many smaller and greater changes attempted afterward will be stated in the following extracts of private notes and of ordinary minutes of Y. M. it to say here, that already in 1830 and 1831 there was some talk about extending the meeting to Monday noon, in order that the Sabbath should not be desecrated by the breaking up and dispersing so large a congregation. This may seem but a small matter, but when we reflect, that adding one day, together with the care, labor and expense of providing for a mustitude, making two-fifths more time, and adding another day, almost doubled the previous amount, we will all agree that it became eventually a great matter indeed.

Y. M. 1813. "It has been also again requested of, and counseled by the old brethren, that the great (annual) meeting should be continued in the order as it has been heretofore declared and laid down by the old brethren, namely, that the ministers and overseers of the churches, every one in his own district and church, should in good time lay it before the church, how some should be willing to go to the big (annual) meeting, and that the church should assist them if possible, that some may be able to go, so that from all parts, and if it could be from all churches, some may come to that meeting; and those that will come, should endeavor to arrive on Thursday evening so near to the place of meeting as to be able to be at the place Friday morning at 9 o'clock, that the business may go on without hindrance."

Y. M. 1832. "Change of the time of yearly meeting. Meeting to commence on Pentecost, with public meeting and love feast. Monday and Tuesday, council meeting."

Y. M. 1836. Art. 4. How is it deemed best at the yearly meeting, whether first to hold council, or first public meeting and communion? It was considered as expedient, to commence on Lord's day with public meeting, and in the evening to break the bread of communion, and afterward to hold counsel.

Art. 3. "How is it considered, to make a better arrangement in holding annual meetings according to the pattern of the apostles (Acts 15)? The unanimous counsel of this meeting and desire of the old brethren is, to follow the track of the apostles as closely as possible. Therefore the council meeting ought to consist of the elders and all the members of that church which receives the meeting, and of such teachers, ministers or (private) members, who may be sent as delegates from other churches. It is considered necessary, that every church, or where the distance is too great, several churches together, should send two, three or more delegates to the annual meeting. The yearly meeting is to take place as heretofore on Pentecost or Whitsuntide, and the council meeting to be held on Friday and Saturday before, to which the delegates ought to arrive in the neighborhood on Thursday evening. The public meeting to begin on Sunday, when love feast will be held, and the church is at liberty to invite thereto also neighboring churches as usual. The proceedings of the council meeting should be immediately recorded in writing, and as much as possible communicated to all the churches." (The minutes of this meeting were printed and published for the first time this year by order of the brethren assembled.)

Y. M. 1842. Art. 5. "Whether the queries to be submitted to the yearly meeting should not be laid first before the individual church, and be sent with their consent? Considered, that queries in relation to a particular church ought to be brought in with the council of that church, but a brother should not be prevented thereby to present any question that may occur to him as important and necessary to be considered."

Y. M. 1845. Art. 13. "About the order of annual meetings, it was concluded to refer the consideration of his query to the next yearly meeting for the same reason as in Art. 11, and with the same recommendation to the consideration of all the churches."

Y. M. 1846. Art. 1. "As regards the way and manner of holding annual meetings, so as to enjoy more order, convenience and satisfaction, it was considered, in the fear of the Lord, that the counsel of the Y. M. in the year 1837 in this respect was proper and expedient, if observed, and that the best plan will not mend the matter, if not carried out. Different plans were proposed, and after a long discussion and mature reflection it was resolved to make no material change but this: that our western brethren shall have the privilege of taking the yearly meeting every other year, if they request it, and that our eastern brethren should not fail to attend the same—that it should be explicitly understood and given out, that on Friday and Saturday there will only be private council meeting, all the ordained elders to form the committee to take in (receive) and bring before the meeting those matters to be considered. The public meeting should be on Sunday, and if possible not in the same place where the council meeting is held."

Y. M. 1847. Art. 1. "Whether we could not amend our plan in holding our yearly meetings, so that the business might be conducted more quietly and orderly? Concluded in regard to our yearly meetings, that the brethren meet on Saturday before Pentecost, and have public meeting till Sunday evening. Love feast to be held either on Saturday or Sunday evening, at the option of the church where the Y. M. is held. On Monday the council meeting to begin and continue until all the business is transacted or disposed of. The council to consist of delegates, not more than two to be sent from each church, with a written certificate, containing also the queries to be presented (by the church whom they represent) to the yearly meeting. The delegates to constitute a committee of the whole to receive and examine all matters communicated to the Y. M., and to arrange all the queries and questions for public discussion, and after they are publicly discussed, and the general sentiment heard, then the delegates are to decide, and if two-thirds or more of the delegates agree, let the decision thus made be final. But if the nature of the case be such that two-thirds do not give their consent, then let it be delayed (postponed) until it receives the voice of at at least two-thirds of the legal representatives. The yearly meeting to be attended by as many teachers and members as may think proper to do so, and the privilege in discussion to be free and open to all who may desire to participate in the same as heretofore."

Y. M. 1848. Art. 29. "The committee to whom the letters concerning our yearly meetings had been referred, reported as follows: No less than twelve letters from all parts of the church had been presented in regard to this important matter, and after reading and weighing them all, and taking also in view the general state of feeling and experience of this present meeting, we propose the following in the fear of the Lord: Considered, that this yearly meeting is as anxious and unanimous in the desire of following in the track of the apostles (Acts 15) as our beloved brethren were eleven years ago at the Y. M. in 1837. We find, however, by experience, that the change of the time of holding the council after public meeting doth work well, removing from us the great crowd of strangers. We are also satisfied, that the sending of delegates or messengers from all the churches is necessary and proper, as also, that all the elders who come to us, ought to be members of the meeting, whether sent or not. A general committee of five or seven elders is to be appointed as heretofore, and as many special committees as may be deemed proper or necessary, in order to dispatch business. But as to voting, we hold that it will be best to aim always at unanimity, and dispose of business as hitherto. Should the meeting not be able to agree in any one point, let it be postponed to a future meeting. In addition, it was proposed that all the churches should be admonished to use every diligence in sending each year two delegates, or at all events one, to yearly meetings."

"The above was unanimously adopted (by the whole meeting) without a dissenting voice.

Y. M. 1850. Art. 5. "Whether it is right for brethren in different arms of the church to go against the counsel of the yearly meeting? Considered, that it is wrong for brethren to go against the counsel of our great annual meeting; but should brethren not be satisfied with said counsel, they have liberty, with the consent of their church, to bring the matter before another yearly meeting for a reconsideration."

Art. 22. "Whether the committee could not be selected, and the questions taken in at our annual meetings, on Saturday as well as on Monday? Considered, to leave it as it is at present."

Art. 32. "Why the annual meeting was not conducted or carried cut according to the order or plan laid down at the Y. M. 1847? Considered, that the querists shall be referred to the minutes of Y. M. 1848, Art. 29, where twelve letters are mentioned, which contained chiefly remonstrances against said plan."

Y. M. 1851. Art. 9. "Would it not be better to alter the plan of holding our annual meetings, so as to have no public preaching, but only a church council meeting? Considered, that at this time we could make no more alteration but this, that instead of meeting on Friday, and having public meeting on Saturday and Sunday, we will come together on Saturday evening, and meeting to commence on Sunday morning, and to be no communion meeting at the place of the annual meeting. The council meeting then to commence on Tuesday morning (after having prepared for business on Monday)."

Y. M. 1853. Art. 1. Whether it would not give more general satisfaction in the arrangement of the standing committee, to select them by ballot out of the whole number of ordained brethren present? Considered ananimously, to make no change in this matter from the ancient and present usage, viz. that the elders of the church where the yearly meeting is held, should have the privilege, as heretofore, to nominate said committee.

Art. 13. Could not the brethren adopt a plan to hold the yearly meetings in such a manner that public preaching might be held in the neighborhood around, and not at the place for counsel? Considered, to make no change for the present.

Y. M. 1857. Art. 21. Would it not be better in deciding upon all subjects brought before our annual meeting, to refer first to the word of God, instead of first referring to the old minutes? We think it always safest to refer first to the word of God. (So it is thought and believed that our old brethren also did, and by consulting them we may be directly led to the word of God on the point in question.)

Art. 24. Would it not be best for churches in selecting delegates to represent them in the annual council, to make choice of one deacon, or of one lay member, to serve as a delegate in connection with one ministering brother, and thus relieve the ministry from the responsible position of being the exclusive advisers of the churches? Answer.—We think it should be left to the churches to select such members for delegates as they may think proper.

Art. 31. Would it not be advisable to change the time of holding our annual meetings, as Whitsuntide comes too early some seasons, especially in some parts of the country? Answer.—We judge it best to make no change in the time of holding our annual council.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 15. Would it not be agrecable to the gospel and the order of the Brethren, when the standing committee appoints committees to go to other churches to settle difficulties, to authorize such brethren, whom circumstances will not permit to attend such council, to send some other ordained brethren in their places, so that there will be a full committee? Considered, that it is the duty of such brethren that cannot go to appoint others in their places, that the committee may be full.

Y. M. 1860. Art. 1. Inasmuch as we publicly denounce (human) church discipline, and claim the New Testament Scriptures as the only rule of our faith and practice, is it then consistent with our profession to make a direct observance of the minutes of the annual council a test of fellowship? Answer.—The decisions of the annual meetings are obligatory until such decisions shall be repealed by the same authority.

In our preliminary remarks at the head of this article, we have given the history of the origin and manner of conducting these meetings from the first, as for as, or rather, including the first change, which in fact could scarcely be called a change; for as we have shown already, there was no change in the time, nor in the manner of conducting the meeting, with the exception only of receiving the questions, which were formerly presented all viva voce in public meeting, and afterward more privately to a committee, which was entrusted with conducting the business, in order to make a proper selection from those questions, as to which were to be presented publicly, and which to be answered more privately by letter to those who sent the queries. We have already observed that this was a wise move in the right direction a judicious and satisfactory improvement, in order to reduce the number of questions for public consideration, and finish the business within two days and a half. When our brethen could do so for over a hundred years, why cannot we? If it be objected, that there is so much more business now than then, granted; but there are more laborers too. While formerly one committee labored alone, we can have as many committees as we need, to divide themselves into the work. Let only every committee use the discretion our ancient brethren used, to make a proper distinction and selection among the questions presented to them. "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty," and as there is liberty to ask, so there ought to be liberty to answer them. The first point to be considered by a committee upon any question, is this: Is it a fair, proper question, couched in a Christian spirit and in proper terms? If not, our Saviour has himself left the example, not to answer such. If a proper question, it is to be decided whether it should be answered privately or brought before the public council, and published in the minutes. Oh, if our dear brethren had continued to exercise the discretion and discrimination which our ancient brethren had used, there would have been no need of so many changes as have occurred within the last thirty-three years, and no need of adding to the original two and a half days other two or three days, as the case now is, and calls so loudly for another change.

Let us recapitulate the history of our annual meetings, as contained in the extracts of minutes given above. In 1813 the brethren declared to continue in the order heretofore declared and laid down by the old brethren (that lived before them). In 1832 was the last meeting according to the old order, and there it was concluded to change the time, commencing on Pentecost with worship, and to have Monday and Tuesday for counsel. Already in 1836 again another change was proposed, but not granted. In 1837 the time was changed back again to Friday and Saturday for counsel. In 1847, 1848, 1850, 1851, 1853, &c., changes were again proposed, as the careful reader himself may readily understand. But to what conclusion will be come after reading it over again? Does it not seem as if in this matter our ship had lost its chart and compass, and no one knew rightly which way to steer? Or is it not as if a person in the wilderness loses his way, the main road, the beaten track, after night, and finds himself in the woods, or in the open prairie, and in the moon or starlight, or even without it, left to his own reason and resources, he feels and knows he has lost his way, but at first thinks he will soon right himself, he tries one direction, and after a while turns round and tries another course, and thus goes on, until at last he becomes completely bewildered and exhausted, not knowing what to do? Well, we think the best thing he can do is to sit still, and wait till God sends him a guide or daylight. Bretbren, let us do so too, and pray God for guidance and light, and if we ask in faith he will grant it in due time.

ANOINTING THE SICK.

On this head thus reads the word of God: "Is any sick among you? let him call for the elders of the church; and let them pray over him, ancinting him with oil in the name of the Lord: and the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up; and if he have committed sins, they shall be forgiven him. Confess your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much. Elias was a man subject to like passions as we are, and he prayed earnestly that it might not rain: and it rained not on the earth by the space of three years and six months. And he prayed again, and the heavens gave rain, and the earth brought forth her fruit, &c." James 5: 14-18.

This "anointing of the sick," based on the Scripture given above, is, as far as our limited knowledge extends, not practiced by any of the modern denominations, except by the Roman and the Greek Churches under the name "Extreme Unction," and it is therefore necessary to explain our position as simple followers of Christ and primitive Christianity in respect to this matter. We find in the gospel evidences that our Lord and Saviour submitted himself no less than three times to an anointing by different persons. We find also that at least in one case the Saviour declared, that wheresoever his gospel should be preached it should be also mentioned what had been done to him in this respect. From this we infer that our Lord and Master deemed this an act worthy not only of remembrance, but also of imitation. He also instructed his disciples among other things to "anoint the sick." and we cannot doubt that they obeyed this instruction. And now, since we cannot exercise this act any more on the person of Christ himself, we simply abey what James has recorded, namely, when one of the very least of the members of Christ calls upon the elders of the church, the member being sick, and desirous for that anointing, we feel it our duty to obey that call. We believe if it is done and received in faith, the Lord will accept it as if done unto himself, and he will bless te either to raise the sick again from his sick-bed, or, what is far better, raise him or her up to glory.

Y. M. 1797. Art. 5. From James 5: 14, &c., the brethren testified unanimously, "that the sick who desire and call for it, should be anointed, according to the word of the holy apostle, in the name of the Lord."

Y. M. 1812. Art. 1. In case a brother or sister should desire in their sickness to be anointed, it might be administered to them, provided they would not seek further help from an earthly physician; and if it should so be that the Lord would raise them again to health, and they should fall sick again, and think the Lord would call them away, and they ask again to be anointed, we would have no right from the word of God to refuse them, and it should be left to those brothron's wisdom who are called to do as the anointing will teach them. (1 John 2: 20.)

Y. M. 1827. Art. 1. About the ordinance of anointing the sick, the manner of proceeding has ever been, first to sing a few verses, and with a united prayer to turn to God. Then (there should always be two brethren) the one reaches forth his hand, and the other poureth the oil on it, and the first puts the same on the head of the sick, and says the words which the Apostle James teaches (chap. 5:14), "Thou art anointed in the name of the Lord," and thus three times, but the words only once said. Then both brethren lay their hands upon the head of the sick, and pray over him. For it is not considered to be intended only an inward unction, but an outward anointing, whereof the apostle speaks, as mentioned before.

From manuscript accounts of elder brethren concerning the same, and exhibiting it more particularly, we have the following: As regards the ANOINTING, it requires two brethren in order to perform it, according to the advice of the apostle, since he says, "Let him call for the elders of the church, and let thom pray over him." These words require more than one. Now when we are going to perform the same, the first we do after singing a few appropriate lines, and briefly exhorting, is to turn to God unitedly, and to pray God for a blessing upon ourselves, upon the sick member and upon all, as we do in a meeting, and there is liberty to pray for all the brethren present. If time will permit, and strangers are present, the passage of James, chap. 5, may be read as far as relates to this matter, and briefly commented upon. Then the sick member is raised to a sitting position (if the state of the patient permits), and the elder brother reaches forth his hand, and the other brother pours the oil upon it, while he (the first) puts it upon the head of the sick, and thus three times, saying the words of the apostle: "Thou art anoisted in the name of the Lord"—unto the strengthening of thy faith—unto the comforting of thy conscience—and unto a full assurance of the remission of thy sins, or as the Lord may give utterance, and then the brethren both put their hands upon the sick, even as it is done when a brother is ordained, and pray chiefly for the sick member. Such an example we have of the Saviour, as we see in Mark 6: 15 and 16: 18, and this is the order the brethren have administered the same. Brothren who are not ordained may administer it in cases of necessity. [Appendix to Min. 1844.]

- Y. M. 1828. Art. 5. Whether a member might be anointed more than once, was considered and decided, that it may be done on request of the sick person.
- Y. M. 1837. Art. 4. How it is considered, to administer the anointing of the sick, or to hold an election without an ordained brother (elder) being present? It is the advice, that the anointing of the sick should not be administered without an ordained brother, except in a case of necessity when no such is to be had, for the word says, "Call for the elders of the church."
- Y. M. 1844. Art. 9. What to do in case a member on a sick or death-hed requests to have the bread of communion broken unto him? Considered, that the word of God does not seem to us to justify the breaking of the bread of communion to an individual member (for where there is but one there can be no communion), and that therefore we would be more safe to direct such a member to the grace and mercy of God in Christ Jesus, and to the advice of the Apostle James (5:14) where he says, "Is any sick among you, let him call for the elders of the church, and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord," &c.
- Y. M. 1850. Art. 30. Who are the proper persons in the church to administer the ordinance recorded James 5: 14? Considered, the bishops or ordained elders.
- Art. 31. Is there any second order of persons in the church, who may administer the above ordinance in cases of great and pressing necessity, when the proper administrators cannot be had in time for the urgency of the case? Considered, in such case brethren in less office, if at least one of them is authorized to baptize, might serve.
- Art. 32. May the above ordinance be administered to a person who is not a member of the church, although selemnly believing in the healing virtues of the above, both spiritually and bodily, and requesting it of the church, such persons being in a dangerous situation, having shown fruits of repentance, and perfect willingness, if spared, to bow under the order of the church? Considered, that it could not be done, but that we are to direct to the (abundant) grace and mercy of God.

Y. M. 1852. Art. 20. Are persons, who can be up and about, and go to meeting, proper subjects to receive the anointing; or, has the apostle only reference to such who are altogether confined? Considered, that the apostle has only alluded to those who are sick or in a decline of life.

Art. 21. Is it agreeable to the sense of the word, that the anointing should be performed more than once in the same illness or confinement? Considered, that no person should be anointed more than once in the same sickness, according to our understanding of the word of God.

Y. M. 1853. Art. 43. Concerning anointing the sick with oil. Considered, that it should be administered according to the manner laid down by the brethren in the minutes of 1844, to be reprinted now again if there is room left.

Y. M. 1860. Art. 5. How is it considered when members that are sick, call for the elders of the church, and are anointed according to the gospel, and then again resort to the use of medicine? Is it wrong to do so? Answer.—We do not consider it wrong according to the gospel to do so.

Art. 6. As we see a difference in the words used in anointing the sick, we therefore ask for the most proper ceremony and manner for observing the same, according to the gaspel and practice of the old brethren? Answer.—As the difference is not stated in the query, we know of nothing better than that which the brethren have given us in the appendix to the minutes of 1853; (the same as given above from appendix of minutes, 1844.)

Y. M. 1862. Art. 54. Who are the elders spoken of by James that are to be sent to anoint the sick in the name of the Lord? Answer.—The ordained elders, if they can be obtained; if not, the next in office.

ANXIOUS BENCH.

Y. M. 1842. Art. 2. Whether it will be to the edification of the church of God to hold protracted meetings, and to introduce mourning benches, in imitation of the new measures adopted by different sects and denominations? The brethren generally considered, that it was advisable to be very cautious, and at all times to keep good order in accordance with the doctrine and example of the apostles, and not to introduce such innovations like mourning benches, &c.

APPEAL TO THE YEARLY MEETING.

Y. M. 1833. Art. 7. Whether a member has a right to appeal to the yearly meeting, when put back by the council of his church? The answer, not recorded, was similar to the following:

Y. M. 1849. Art. 26. When the church deals with a member or members, and they are not satisfied with the proceedings of the church, whether it is in their or the church's place to write to strange brethren for assistance? Considered, that the church would have to write, if any strange brethren should be called on.

ARDENT SPIRITS, making, selling and using of.

Y. M. 1781. Art. 2. Concerning distilleries, we heartily counsel all brethren who have distilleries, that they should by all means endeavor to put them away, in order to escape from the evil so often arising from them, and to avoid offence, and in this the brethren are still entirely united with the conclusion made at Pipe Creek, three years ago.

Y. M. 1783. Art. 1. At this great meeting a unanimous conclusion was laid down with regard to the very offensive evil which has endcavored to gain ground in the church, and by which already much mischief has been done, while the brotherly counsel has been repeatedly given, that distilleries (of ardent spirits) in the church (among members) should be put away. And since there are still from time to time more erected, it has been at this time unanimously concluded, that those brethren who have distilleries should be earnestly admonished to put them out of the way, and when they have been admonished in sincere love once and again, and they would not obey the counsel of the church, and not put away this loathsome idol, we could not break the bread of communion with them, and have to withdraw also the kiss and church council from them, until they are willing again to hear the church, as they have promised also at first at their baptism, before God and many witnesses.

Y. M. 1789. Art. I. At the council meeting of the brothron it was in union deemed good and necessary, and we feel it also to be our duty to counsel as follows: Inasmuch we deem it our duty, obligation and office to see to it that union, tranquility and peace be maintained, that all should be united and of one mind, so that we may, according to the commandment of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, love one another sincerely, and be enabled to love as he has given us a commandment, by which it shall be known that we are his disciples; therefore, it is our desire, that every gricvance and every offence might be put out of the way; and inasmuch there is a grievance and offence on account of the distilleries of ardent spirits, because the old brethren could not allow them, and sad experience has taught us that almost whole families are gone to destruction, and the children have fallen into drunkenness and a rowdy life, the brethren some years ago came to the conclusion that they should be done away. But this has not yet been done, but there have been more bought and established since, and the evil is still growing. This makes a grievance and offence, that hardly one church can break bread with the other, and as has happened already, that brethren out of love had come a considerable distance, but when they saw that brethren who had distilleries went to communion, they had to remain away, and go home again in grief, because they had not been able to partake of the memorial of the death of our Lord Jesus Christ on account of this grievous and offensive thing. Thus grief, disunion and division are brought upon the church. For this cause we beseech earnestly all brethren who have distilleries, to be diligent to put them away; and hereby exhort in heartfelt and humble love, all our much beloved fellow laborers in God, to use herein diligence in admonishing earnestly each member to obey this counsel of love, so that peace, love and union may be planted and restored. But whosever is not willing to deny himself, as it should be indeed, and cannot or will not out of love obey this our loving counsel, then we cannot consider him otherwise but as such who has not yet died (to sin), and is not yet risen with Christ in newness of life, and that he seeks more the things temporal than eternal, more the things on earth than those in heaven, more the things that pass away than the things that remain, and that he is in great danger to lose the everlasting treasure.

Y. M. 1804. Art. 2. Further it has been unanimously concluded, that no brother or sister should be engaged, by or with a permit, to sell strong drink, wine or ardent spirits by the quart or larger quantity, because it is feared that disorder and harm will arise thereby. Therefore all members who are engaged therein should be carnestly and faithfully exhorted in love and long-suffering to abstain from it, in order that such example may not lead our youth and offspring into licenticusness and seandal. But if one or the other should not heed such counsel of love and admonition, and not hear the church, we could not look upon such act otherwise than as being disobedient according to an impartial judgment.

Y. M. 1821. Art. 5. Whether brethren may have distilleries or not? It was considered, to leave it by what was concluded some thirty years ago, that no brother would be allowed to have a distillery or to distill ardent spirits.

Y. M. 1822. Art. 7. With regard to distilleries (held or carried on) by members of the church, it was again testified that it could not be permitted. They should be admonished to put them away, and if they would not heed the counsel of love, we could not have fellowship with them.

Art. 9. If a brother has a vandue, and gives freely strong drink, how is it considered? It was considered, that no brother should give strong drink at the sale of his property.

Y. M. 1825. Art. 1. Whether a brother may keep and sell strong drink, has been considered thus: because so often disorder is caused by strong drink, it is improper for a brother to sell it, and should not be at all suffered.

Y. M. 1827. Art. 5. Whether a brother holding an office in the church may distill ardent spirits, was considered, and concluded that it is not becoming for any brother to do so, much less for a brother in office.

Y. M. 1828. Art. 10. Whether brethren may have distilleries was considered, and concluded that it should not be, nor by their children, as far as the authority of the parents extends; and if such brother will not take (or obey) the advice, we could not commune nor have fellowship with him. Also, to sell grain to distilleries (especially) when grain is scarce, should indeed not be.

Y. M. 1832. Art. 3. Whether it could be allowed for brethren to engage in store keeping and selling strong drink? The first may in cases of necessity, where members cannot make their living otherwise, but the latter in no case.

Y. M. 1833. Art. 8. About the making and using of strong drink, a strong testimony was made at this meeting against it.

Y. M. 1835 Art. 8. About distilleries, like the foregoing.

Y. M. 1835, in Miami. Art. 9. How it is considered to sell grain to distilleries? Should not be, except in case of necessity.

Art. 11. How it is considered for brethren to keep tavern? Not proper.

Y. M. 1836. Art. 2. Whether a brother or sister could be allowed to sell strong drink? Considered, that it should absolutely not be.

Y. M. 1837. Art. 11. How it is considered, when a brother keeps a brewery, and makes strong heer? Considered, that it could not be directly forbidden to a brother, but ought to be left to his own conscience, and to advise him that the safest would be not to carry on such a business, from which may arise so many and great disorders.

Y. M. 1838. Art. 3. Whether it be proper for a member to build a distillery, or distill ardent spirits? Considered, as it has been considered these many years, that it ought not to be

Y. M. 1840. Art. 11. What is to be done with a brother who is erecting a distillery, and makes and solls ardent spirits? Considered, that when a brother has been admonished once and again, and will not be obedient to the counsel of the church, we could not break the bread of communion with him. Besides, it is the advice of the old brethren to dissuade all the members from the common use of intoxicating drinks, particularly at raising buildings, hay-making and harvesting.

Y. M. 1841. Art. 14. Concerning the use of ardent spirits, it was considered, that it is a great evil, leading to vice and crime, to destruction of peace and property, and to the ruin of body and soul, and that members of the church of Christ ought to refrain from the use of it except as medicine.

Y. M. 1842. Art. 4. How it is considered, if a brother or sister signs the pledge of total abstinence? Considered, inasmuch as our churches have always testified against intemperance, and even against the free use, the making and selling of ardent spirits, it is not advisable for members to put their hands to the pledge, or to meddle with the proceedings and excitements of the world on the subject.

Y. M. 1845. Art. 10. How is it considered, when a brother is carrying on a distillery? Considered in the same light as our ancient brethren did sixty-two years ago in an annual council meeting held on Pipe Creek, Maryland, June 7, 1783. (See above.)

Y. M. 1846. Art. 7. Whether a brother may work in distilleries for wages? And whether a brother, who owns a mill, may buy, sell and chop grain for distilleries? Considered, that as the use of ardent spirits is always dangerous to the wellbeing of society, and the brethren have frequently testified against the making and using of the same, it would be best for brethren not to have anything to do with it in any shape or form.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 27. Whether it is allowed for brethren to distill fruit, or get it distilled and sell the liquor? We say, No, not at all.

Y. M. 1856. Art 4. How is it considered, when a church unitedly agrees not to use ardent spirits, except for medical, mechanical or communion purposes, and a member of said church will not comply with the above decision? Considered, that such member should be dealt with as in other offences.

Y. M. 1857. Art. 1. Concerning the use of ardent spirits among the Brethren. Considered, that every brother that is entrusted with the oversight of the church, should exert his influence, by example and precept, to induce all the members of his congregation to abstain altogether from the use of ardent spirits as an article of luxury, or as a drink; and not to give it to the working hands to drink, admitting it only for medical or mechanical purposes. The same advice is given to all the officers in all the churches throughout our whole brotherhood.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 26. What is to be done with a brother that buys whiskey by the barrel, and sells it to such as he thinks use it temperately; and when admonished once and again not to sell, he says he will be more careful to sell to none but those who use it temperately? Answer.—Any brother dealing in intoxicating liquors, if he continues to do so after being admonished, cannot be fellowshiped as a brother.

ASSIGNING PROPERTY.

Y. M. 1822, at Canton. Art. 8. How it is viewed when a brother assigns his property to another, with a view to defraud his neighbors (creditors). It is considered, that we cannot hold him in fellowship.

ATTEST, TAKING THE.

To understand this term, we must go back to the time when the advice was given. The year 1778, in the history of our country was the second year of that revolutionary war by which struggle it was to be decided whether our country should continue under the government of England, or become an independent self governing people. While this question remained undecided many God-fearing people would not conscientiously transfer their allegiance to the States, which was done by the "attest," while some did. Why our brethren could not approve of this taking the attest, was more fully explained in the following year, as it will appear in the minutes of that year, given also above. From this it will appear also, that our brethren always stood aloof from political strife.

Y. M. 1778. After much reflection in the fear of the Lord, it has been concluded in union, that the brethren who have taken the attest should recall it before a justice, and give up their certificate, and recall and apologize in their churches, and truly repent for the error. If they cannot do this, and will justify themselves, the apostle exhorts us we should withdraw ourselves from every brother who walketh disorderly, and such a brother will be deprived of the kiss of fellowship, of the counsel, and the breaking of bread, until he becomes obedient again. Ministers and elders who have taken the attest, and are sorry and grieved for it, confessedly recall the matter before the justice of the peace and in the public church, counsel shall be held about them in their churches in presence of one or more ministers or overseers, to consider in the fear of the Lord, whether he or such as before mentioned could serve again in their office. But if such minister or elder should approve himself stubbornly, and justify his course, yes, even teach the same, then we cannot comprehend how he can be obedient to the Spirit of truth, which teaches we shall not touch the unclean thing, nor be unequally yoked together with unbelievers, because Christ has no concord with Belial. we decide that such laborers are unfit in the Lord's vineyard, and also unfit to be members in the church of the living God, until their minds are changed, and they speak again with new tongues, or find their hearts with David. May God have mercy upon us!

Y. M. 1779. On account of taking the attest, it has been concluded in union as follows: Inasmuch as it is the Lord our God who establishes kings and removes kings, and ordains rulers according to his own good pleasure, and we cannot know whether God has rejected the king and chosen the state, while the king had the government; therefore we could not with a good conscience repudiate the king, and give allegiance to the states. it seems to us that those who have done so have committed a fault, on account of which fault we could not break bread with them, but bear with them in love. But if they would come moved by their own conviction, and would make acknowledgments, being truly repentant, then we might forgive them, and we believe God would also forgive them, and we might break bread with them. But in regard to the laborers (ministers), we think they should stand still in their labor, and not haptize or administer in the breaking of bread. Should they, however, come convinced in themselves to have erred, and show contrition, saying, "We are sorry," then we might forgive them, and be in full followship with them, yet so that the church to which he belongs should be satisfied with him, when he should continue in his office. But if such go still further in this matter, as holding office (political) and so forth, show no sorrow, and rather continue in such course, then they should be also deprived of the church council and holy kiss, and nota bene, not only the ministers, but all who have taken this course.

AUTHORITY OF A BISHOP. (See also, "Bishop.")

Y. M. 1822, Canton. Art. 3. How far should a brother keep house without counseling the church, or members without counseling the housekeeper? It was considered, that the brother who is housekeeper should always act in concert with the church, especially with his collaborers in the church, and just so his co-laborers should always counsel with their elder brother, and a private brother should not undertake to teach or serve until the church calls him to it.

Y. M. 1846. Art. 4. Is in the churches of the Brethren any material difference among the bishops, so that one has more power (authority) than another? Considered, that according to the word of our Saviour, Matt. 23: 8, "One is your master, even Christ; and all ye are brethren;" there is no difference in the brotherhood or among bishops but that which a higher age and more wisdom and experience may give. See 1 Pet. 5: 5, "Ye younger, submit yourselves to the elder."

Y. M. 1848. Art. 20. Whether three or more ordained elders have the authority of liberating out of avoidance, independent of the church? Considered, that it cannot be done properly without the coansel and consent of the church.

Y. M. 1849. Art. 26. Has a bishop authority to request a deacon who moved into his church without a letter of recommendation from the church from which he came, to take his place at a meeting for worship, and to preach or exhort? Considered, that he has no such authority, and the members that move from one church to another, ought always to bring a certificate of their membership and standing.

Art. 37. If a member commits an open fault in the world, has the overseer authority to send brethren to investigate the matter before counseling the church? Considered, that the overseer has the authority to do so.

Y. M. 1850. Art. 17. How is it considered, when a sister has an unbelieving husband who gets drunk and abuses her, and attempts to kill her with an axe; she then leaves him, and returns to her father, who then goes to the housekeeper in the church for advice, upon whose advice a bill of divorce is obtained? Considered, that a housekeeper has no right to give such advice without counseling the church; neither had the sister a right to get divorced without such counsel. (See Matt. 19: 6-9, 1 Cor. 7: 11.)

AVOIDANCE, OR EXCOMMUNICATION.

Avaidance is a term not known or used in the ecclesiastic terminology of the greater part of so-called Christian professors of the present day, outside of our frateinity and a few other communities of a more ancient date. For this reason we have added another term, which is more in general use by ecclesiastical writers, though not strictly a scriptural term. We will give the definition of both terms by the lexicographer Webster: "Avoidance: the act of avoiding or shunning. To acoid is to shun; to keep at a distance; to avoid the company of a certain person." Excommunication in an ecclesiastical sense, is defined by the same anthor as "the act of ejecting from a church; expulsion from the communion of a church and deprivation of its rights, privileges and advantages; an ecclesiastical penalty or punishment inflicted on offenders. Excommunication is an ecclesiastical interdict (or prohibition) of two kinds, the lesser and the greater. The lesser excommunication is a separation or suspension of the offender from partaking of the eucharist (communion); the greater is an absolute separation and exclusion from the church and all its rights and advantages."

Cruden in his Concordance defines excommunication as "an ecclesiastical censure whereby they who incur the guilt of any hemous sin, are separated from the communion of the church, and deprived of spiritual advantages; that they may be brought to repentance, and others, by their example, kept from the like enormities. Matt. 18: 15-17; 1 Cor. 5: 5-7; 2 Thess. 3: 14, 15" He is also speaking of a "lesser and greater excommunication." While we agree with these authors in the last mentioned point, that there must be different degrees of church censure, as there are different degrees of guilt, we are compelled to differ from them, when they speak of ejecting, expelling, which imply the use of physical force, as being so contrary to the spirit and law of Christ, that no Christian could entertain such an idea, much less perform such an act. Hence the Brethren preter the simple term "avoidance" to the Jewish word "ban" or "anathema, or to the Roman term "excommunication" The reason is, because avoidance is a simple, plain word in our own language, readily understood by all, and not subject to misapprehension, as words taken from other languages, and having acquired a signification foreign to the letter and spirit of the gospel, and what is still more, because it is a scriptural term. True, the substantive nous does not occur in our common version of the Rible, but the verb and root of the substantive, avord, occurs in the following passages: 1 Sam. 18: 11. "David avoided out of his presence twice" Prov. 4: 15, "Avoid it, (i. e. the path of the wicked and the way of evil men,) pass not by it, turn from it, and pass away." Rom. 16: 17, "Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them which cause division and offences contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned, and av id them." 1 Cor. 7: 2: "Nevertheless to avoid fornication, let every man have his own wife." 2 Cor. 8: 20, "Avoiding this, that no man should blame us." 1 Tim. 6: 20, "Avoiding profane and vain babblings and oppositions of science, falsely so-called." 2 Tim. 2: 23: "But foolish and unlearned questions avoid" Titus 3: 9, 10, "Avoid foolish questions, &c." And when in the next verse "reject" occurs, in Greek it is the same word as in 2 Tim. 2: 23, where it is translated "avoid."

From these passages it is sufficiently clear what the general idea of avoidance is, namely, to avoid, shun and keep at a distance from evil, from physical or moral evil, and from evil men; and from two of the passages, Rom. 16: 17, and Tit. 3: 10, it is evident that they refer expressly to the ordinance under consideration.

But we must bring our remarks to a speedy close. That the main law of Christ concerning avoidance is recorded in Matt. 18: 15-20, and in 1 Cor. 5 from beginning to end, but more particularly verses 9-13, has been mentioned already, and will be repeated again in the following articles of counsel of the Brethren at yearly meetings. A critical and prayerful examination of these and other passages, together with a careful study of the history of the churches and of mankind, has convinced the writer of the correctness of the views and practice of the brethren in this respect, and that they can be defended against every objection of a candid believer of the word of God. Our brotherhood was once a unit on the subject (of course, with exceptions, as there was one among the Twelve an exception), as the sequel of this article will show. For more than a century it was the universal belief among our brethren, that this was as much an institution of the Lord as baptism, or any other ordinance, and none could gainsay it. But times have changed; a whole generation of old and faithful and steadfest brethren has almost entirely passed away, and at least in some parts of our wide-spread frateralty a new generation has come up, "which knew not Joseph;" and of late, sad to tell, it has come openly to light, that we are no longer in such cordial union on this and some kindred subjects as our brethren once were. We love our dear brethren, even those who do not see alike with us; indeed we thank them that they have come out openly and willing for discussion, and thus caused others to think and reflect on the subject more seriously than they ever did. We hope that all are desirous to be in union and full, real fellowship on every practical question. The reason why we feel specially grateful to those brethren dissenting on this subject, is this, that we have investigated the same again more deeply than ever, and we hoped to be able by this time to lay before our brethren the result of our labors. this we failed; it was impossible for us to accomplish that part jet; but it is yet our intention, if the Lord spares our life, and grants bis blessing, to do so at a future day. To do the subject full justice, we feared that it would make a much greater work than we at first contemplated, and we desired also to give those documents of our older brothren or yearly meetings, which we have been collecting ever since we came to the church, many of which might finally have been lost altogether, if not put in print, the preference over our own work, which we would rather leave as a legacy to our dear brethren, to be published after we have departed this life, or at least wait until the brotherbood is more in union again on this subject. For more union among us, which is the band of love, I wish myself and all our brethren and sisters to may, and to labor and even to suffer with all our bearts. Let us consider what our nation has done and suffered, and thousands have prayed during the late conflict for a merely human instrument, called the constitution, and for an earthly and temporal union! Should we then not stand as one man for that constitution which is of a divine origin, and for that union which will last forevermore?

We now merely add to those above our definition and description, derived from the word of God and the once universal practice of our brethren.

The ordinance of avoidance is an institution of the Lord Jesus Christ for the preservation of the purity and unity of the church, and for the bringing to re-pentance and restoration of fullen members. In cases of private offences and minor faults, which upon acknowledgment and submission to the counsel of the church might be readily forgiven and remitted, if the offender obstinately refuses to do so, and thus will not "bear the church," then, if admonished once and again, the church has no choice but to submit herself to the necessity and duty to pronounce the sentence expressed in Matt. 18 . 17, i. e. she must avoid in part such stabborn members, by not admitting them to communion or church This avoiding in part was called by council, and not saluting them as members some suspending, and Cyprianus of the second certury called it putting back, and so do our brethren to this day. But in cases of crimes and such beinous sins as enumerated 1 Cor. 5: 11, and other places, a different course is to be pursued. Here confession and acknowledgment will not suffice, nor a putting back or avoiding in part would answer the purpose of justice and mercy; bence Love and Wisdom divine devised and ordained "not to keep company with such no not to est," and to this out ancient brethren from the time we have any record of them, and many that live to this day, without adding or taking away a single word (for they tremble at God's word, Rev. 22:18, 19) gave their most humble yet willing assent and obedience, took up the cross as cross-bearing children of God should do (and there is undoubtedly a cross in this ordinance, and not a pleasure), and this they called full avoidance. Why the Lord did not institute this while yet personally on earth, the answer may be, may it not have been one of those things which the Lord had to tell the disciples, but they could not bear it then. What Paul said and did, he did it in the name of Christ, and consequently as if the Lord had said and done it himself.

From the testimony of the Brethren in 1713 (fully 150 years ago). See "Groundsearching Questions" in Alexander Mack's writings, page 129. Where Qu. 22 reads thus: Whether the external ban (excommunication) is an essential part of (the constitution of) the church of Christ, since he bimself did not enforce and exercise it, even upon the very wicked Judas? Aus .- The ban is an essential and necessary thing in the church of Christ, as long as it is at war in this wicked world with wolves and evil spirits. No church of Christ could exist without it. [This idea has been misanderstood and rejected, seeing that there are churches in existence, and some have been for a long time without the avoidance. But the main point with regard these is: Will Christ acknowledge them to belong to his church, if they do not observe all whatsoever Christ commanded them?] The devil, with his leaven of wickedness, would soon destroy all that is good. True believers, while they were steadfast in the faith, never could refuse it (the salutary restraints appointed in the gospel). They have always viewed them as divine means of grace, appointed by the great love and provident care of God, and used them as a strong tower and wall round about the church of the Lord.

With respect to Judas we say, that Christ has executed the ban sufficiently upon him, giving him over to Satan; for he hanged himself. But that he was not excommunicated before he committed the outward act, is not against excommunication, but rather in its favor. That this was the mind of God at all times, as we perceive in Adam, who may have had probably some intercourse with the tempter previous to his fall; but he was not driven out of Paradise until he had actually eaten of the forbidden fruit. So Judos may have entertained trustorous thoughts long before be carried them out; but the long-suffering of Jesus had borne with him, and patiently tried to bring him to repentance, until the evil obtained the supremacy, and became manifest in the deed. Then he was sufficiently excommunicated by Christ, and we think the ban was fully executed upon him.

Had page 132. Qu. 25. Whether the apostles ever prohibited the necessary

flid page 132. Qu. 25. Whether the apostles ever prohibited the necessary spiritual or temporal assistance of charity from being rendered to the excommunicated? Ans.—The apostles have never commanded to withhold from the excommunicated necessary spiritual or temporal assistance; moreover, they are to be admonished to repentance, and though they do not hear, or receive it, we are clear. So likewise in worldly things, if we abound in the things of this world, and the excommunicated is in want, we are to communicate according to his need. Qu. 26. Whether your, the new Baptists, excommunication ever had in any of its subjects such a draine effect, and result as that of the apostles? Ans. We firmly believe that all those we excommunicate according to the world of the Lord, will feel an internal effect, and an impression already here; and if not repenting in this time of grace it will become manifest in the great day of judgment. But that men should immediately fall dead to the ground like Ananies, such has not happened yet, and is only once recorded of the apostles? and however many were excommunicated by the apostles no more died thus literally, yet we believe the power of excommunication was fully realized in them.

- Y. M. 1794. Art. 6. Concerning the ban, we would very readily deny ourselves so much for our brethren's sake, so as to drop the Jewish word "ban." But the ordinance of the Lord Jesus and his holy apostles we cannot give up even for our brethren's sake, namely: "If any man that is called a brother be a fornicator, or covetous, or an idolater, or a railer, or a drunkard, or an extortioner; with such a one no not to eat," I Cor. 5: 11. Here we see clearly that Paul does not mean only the eating in (the Lord's) supper, but all eating (in his company). This is shown in the foregoing verse very plainly, when it says, "yet not altogether with the fornicators of this world, &c." Otherwise we might eat the bread of communion with the fornicators of this world, which cortainly he cannot have meant at all.
- Y. M. 1805. Art. 1. Concerning those who are in avoidance. Since some think that we may or should not even give them the hand, while others would feel disposed at times to offer them the hand as a token that we would willingly assist them to be released and reconciled again, the unanimous conclusion was, that we should be of one mind, and follow the same rule in housekeeping, and it was so laid down, that it might be best to offer them in that view the hand, but to have no dealings with them nor any familiar intercourse until a reformation takes place in them.
- Y. M. 1822, Canton. Art. 11. How shall the church conduct itself toward those members that have been separated from the church? Considered, first, when a member is separated from the church as far as from the kiss, breaking of bread and church council, such ought to be diligently exhorted according to the evidence of the apostle, but could not be called brother. But when such would not receive the admonition of love, and should fall into more grievous sins, the church has to put them in avoidance, and have no company with them, according to the word of the apostle.

Y. M. 1822, Miami. Art. 1. When a member is put in avoidance, how far is his companion in wedlock to be held as a member? It was considered, that she may be held as a member, yet so as not to break the bread of communion.

Y. M. 1825. Art. 3. Concerning separation or excommunication, being viewed of unequal degrees. It was considered, that according to apostolic doctrine, such having committed gross or vicious sins, must be put entirely in avoidance, while less transgressions only precluded from the kiss, brotherly counsel, and the breaking of bread.

Y. M. 1827. Art. 2. About the avoidance and restoration of members. When a member, on account of crimes committed, must be separated and put in avoidance, and should afterward become reformed in life and conduct, and apply for restoration, or for release from the avoidance, and the church could not yet feel satisfied to restore such entirely, they might be released; and should such fall again into crime, we would have a right to put them again into avoidance.

Y. M. 1887. Art. 6. Whether the sense of the words of the Saviour, Matt. 18, "Let him be unto thee as a heathen man and a publican!" is the same as the sentence of the apostle, I Cor. 5, "Have no company with him," &c. It is understood by the meeting almost unanimously, that the expression of the Saviour, "Let him be unto thee as a heathen man and a publican," excludes a member only so far as from the church council, from the kiss and from the breaking of bread, but that the intention of the apostle when he speaks of the vicious (gross sinner), "Have no company with him," and after noting the (sins, crimes) vices, adds yet, "with such a one (you ought) no not eat!" that we ought to avoid such altogether, according to the (obvious) sense of the word.

Y. M. 1838. Art. 1. Whether a congregation (church) has the right, according to the gospel, to put a member in avoidance or not? Considered, that the old brethren always have thought it right, and (we) still think it right, according to the gospel, to put members in avoidance in accordance with the word of the gospel, 1 Cor. 5: 9-11.

Y. M. 1840. Art 3. In case one that was a brother, but now is held in avoidance, lives some hundred miles from a brother to whom he owes a debt, and writes back to brethren, that he were willing to pay, if he knew how much (ho owed); whether in such case the brother might take the liberty to write to him and ascertain what amount he owes him? Considered, that brethren might make out and send such accounts, inasmuch it was at all times allowed to settle accounts with such members that had been put in avoidance.

Y. M. 1840. Art. 4. About the difference among brothren in regard to avoidance; since some seem to know or observe nothing at all of an avoidance, others take the liberty to cat with and greet as brothren those that are put in avoidance, which causes oftentimes temptations and great grief in those who feel themselves in duty bound, according to the word, to observe the avoidance strictly? Considered, that it is truly to be lamented that such a want of uniformity has crept in by degrees among the brethren in such a most important matter, and that it should be the ardent desire and earnest endeavor of all brethren and members, and especially of all ministers and housekeepers, to come again into full union in observing this evangelical and apostolic ordinance, to accomplish which may the ever faithful Chief Shepherd and Bishop of our souls grant his grace and the assistance of his good and holy Spirit.

Y. M. 1842. Art. I. Whether the sense of the words of our Saviour, Matt. 18, " Let him be unto thee as a heathen man and a publican!" is the same with the expression of Paul the Apostle, when he says, " Have no company with him!" I Cor. 5? This same query had been before the yearly meeting in Virginia in the year 1837, and a similar one before the annual meeting in Morrison's Cove in the year 1840, and even in the year 1794 (almost fifty years ago) the brethren expressed their views on the subject, which were read, and the brethren now assembled generally agreed to the then expressed views, desiring with our departed brothren, that our dearly beloved members would seek (endeavor) to hold fast to the written word of truth, for we fear with them, that whoseever will depart from it is in great danger of being deceived in these much confused times. Now he that attends strictly to the word, will see plainly, that Matt. 18 is quite another case than is mentioned in 1 Cor. 5. There the Saviour speaks of sins (trespasses) and offences which a brother or sister may commit against a fellow member. Here the apostle treats of vices and crimes which may be committed against God and the truth. And as there is a difference in the sins, even so is there also a difference in the discipline (or penalty). Already under the law there were some sins unto death, where the sinner had to die without mercy under two or three witnesses. Heb. 10: 28. But some sins were not unto death, and would be atoned for by offerings and sactifices. Even as there is a difference in the discipline under the gospel, as we may plainly see from those passages before alluded to, viz. Matt 18: 15-18, and 1 Cor. 5: 9-14, if we examine them somewhat more closely. Therefore the brethren have always considered, and we consider it so still, that the divine sense requires to disown a member who will not be admonished, when he has been overtaken in a fault, which might have been atoned for by an acknowledgment, for his refusing to acknowledge, only so far as from the church council, from the breaking of bread, and from the (holy) kiss. But a member that has fallen into gross sins and vices, should be dealt with according to the word of God, as expressed by the Apostle Paul, to wit: " Not to keep company with such, no not to cat.

Y. M. 1843. Art. 5. When a brother is put in avoidance, according to the words of Paul, 1 Cor. 5, and his wife and children, being memhers in the church, have company with him, as it happens in a family. how is the church to treat them, or whether there is a difference between the wife and the children, who are yet under the lawful ages, and how we are to do when there is a difference of opinion about the withdrawing of the hand from those that are in avoidance? Considered, though we are always truly sorry when such a case occurs where we must put a member in avoidance, and feel sincere compassion for those who suffer immediately under it; yet we cannot set aside this apostolic ordinance. and do really believe that the more strictly it is observed by all the members, and especially by the nearest relatives, the more powerful it would operate to the salvation of the fallen member. But in case a wife would not withdraw from fellowship with her husband (being) in avoidance, it was always considered, that such a member could not break the bread of communion while so doing; and we do consider, that the children are in the same predicament, either to withdraw fellowship with the parent in avoidance, or not to break bread. And in regard to withdrawing the hand, it was considered, that when the church concludes to withdraw even the hand, the members should all unite in observing the same.

Same Y. M. Art. 11. Whether a teacher that is not ordained can excommunicate a deacon or visiting brother, on but one brother's testimony, and with only twelve members in council? The view of the brethren assembled is, that in consideration of the words of the apostle, 1 Tim. 5: 19, "Against an elder" (which word seems to be used in the New Testament sometimes in a more limited, and at other times a more general sense, and apparently including all those to whom is entrusted an office in the church,) "receive not an accusation, but before two or three witnesses." In consideration again, that as a brother that is not (yet) ordained, ought not (has not authority) to hold an election or to install ministers or deacons, so there ought to be none excommunicated without ordained brethren being present; and lastly, because that in such a case all the members of the church, or as many as possible, ought to be present, we could not approve of such a proceeding.

Our ancient brethren have taught us by precept and example, and experience has confirmed their teaching to be true and according to the gaspel, the less authority we try to assume the better we will get along as bousekeepers in the church; hence, in such cases as the one stated in the above question, where a minister or deacon has fallen under the censure of the church, even where two ordained chaers presided in such church, they should not undertake such a case concerning a co-laborer, but should call for some elders from other churches to act in the case, so as to "abstain from all appearance of evil," of exercising too much authority, or of acting with partiality, &c. The wisdom of this course is so obvious, that it needs no further comment.

Y. M. 1844. Art. 8. In a case where man and wife are both members, and it so happens that the church would have occasion to hold one or the other in avoidance, and after being held thus, say two or more years, without manifesting any fruits of sincere repentance—which would be the most prudent course to take in behalf of the companion of such thus held in avoidance? Considered, that though we sincerely pity the innocent party, if there has no change taken place in the state of the fallen member, there can be no change in the course of the church toward such a member. But of this each church must judge according to existing circumstances. See 2 Cor. 2:5.

It is a very delicate matter sometimes, to inquire too deeply into such a special case presented at yearly meeting, neither would there be time sufficient for such investigation; but it would be an interesting inquiry, and one that could not fail of good results, if properly conducted, namely this: Why it is that a member is held in avoidance for two or more years without manifesting any change? It seems to be almost impossible that a person could remain in such a condition without some change either for better or for worse, especially if the church and the family would observe the avoidance faithfully. There is cause for close self-examination, particularly of those who coming into more or less frequent contact with such an offender in avo dance, to see whether they are not in the fault, that this ordinance should be ineffective for any length of time.

- Y. M. 1846. Art. 6. Whether one that is called a brother, and has committed any gross crime, such as drunkenness, blasphemy or fornication, &c., can continue to be a member of the body of Christ, if he confesses his fault, and promises to do better? whether the church may forgive him, or whether he ought not to be expelled, until he shows forth fruits meet for repentance? Considered, that we can conceive of extraordinary cases of such deep or thorough contrition of heart, similar to that kind of leprosy (see Lev. 13:12-17,) which broke out abroad in the skin, and the leprosy covered all the skin of him that had the plague, from his head even to his foot, and where the priest had to consider him clean-and so the church likewise may unanimously feel satisfied with such signs of genuine repentance, and may be willing to forgive at once on his full confession; yet in most cases it is the safest way, in the first place to obey the instruction of the Apostle Paul (1 Cor. 5), and to excommunicate such a member "with the power of our Lord Jesus Christ, that the spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Jesus."
- Y. M. 1848. Art. 18. Whether we have any authority of liberating a person out of the avoidance without the person making application? Considered, that there is to our knowledge no such authority in the gospel.
- Y. M. 1848. Art. 20. Whether three or more ordained elders have the authority of liberating out of avoidance, independent of the church? Considered, that it cannot be done properly without the counsel and consent of the church.
- Y. M. 1848. (Indiana) Art. 11. When the church disowns a member, so that he is set back from the salutation of the kiss and from church fellowship, how is the proper way to do with such members as come from other arms of the church, and knowing the standing of such disowned members, yet will still hold fellowship with such? Considered, that inasmuch the church of Christ is one body all over the world, and the word says, "Whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven, and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven;" hence, if one branch of this church disowns a member (legally, of course) then members from other (churches or) branches, knowing this, should hold them equally disowned.

Y. M. 1849. Art. 27. To how great a degree must a brother sin and be degraded, before the church can put him in avoidance according to the gospel? and whether all dealings and communications of a temporal nature between such an individual and the members of the church should cease? Considered, that this subject has been often before the Y. M., and the views of the brethren then were read. But on the particular points of the present query we would refer our dear brethren to the word of God, which is plain, explicit and sharper than a two-edged sword. Paul the Apostle says, Rom. 15: 4, "Whatsoever things were written aforetime, were written for our learning;" and he evidently refers in these words to the writings of the Old Testament. Now we find, Lev. 5:17, "If a soul sin, and commit any of these things which are forbidden to be done by the commandments of the Lord, though he wist it not, yet he is guilty, and shall bear his iniquity, and he shall bring a trespass-offering unto the priest, and it shall be forgiven him." From this we may learn, that when a member has trespassed against God and the truth, even in ignorance, it is his duty to come to the church, and bring his trespassoffering, such as David says, Ps. 51: 17, "The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit: a broken and contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise;" and the church, which according to 1 Pet. 2:9, is "a royal priesthood," is to judge and receive his offering, and forgive him accordingly. Here are the words of Christ himself duly to be considered: "Whosesoever sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them; and whosesoever sins ye retain, they are retained." John 20: 23.

Should, however, such a member that has trespassed, be not willing to bring his offering of acknowledgment of his fault, nor be willing to hear the church, then we may consider this as a rising, a scab, or bright spot, which eventually may turn into moral leprosy, Lev. 13: 2, and in this case the priest (the church) had to shut him up, or, as Paul says in Thess. 3: 6, "Now we command you, brethren, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw yourselves from every brother that walketh disorderly, &c.;" and as our Lord taught us, Matt. 18: 17, "If he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as a heathen man and a publican." This withdrawing, or shutting up from close communion with the church in the salutation of the kiss, the breaking of bread and the secret counsel, is continued, until it appears to the satisfaction of the priest (or the church) whether that spot is leprosy or not. Now if on examination the priest found that white spot somewhat dark, and that the plague did not spread in the skin, he was to pronounce him clean. So when a member begins to see and acknowledge his fault, as something dark, he may be reinstated again into full communion.

"But when the raw flesh appeareth in him, and the leprosy is thus confirmed, notice, he shall not be shut up, for he is unclean. And the leper in whom the plague is, his clothes shall be rent, and his head bare, and he shall put a covering upon his upper lip, and shall cry, Unclean, unclean. He shall dwell alone; without the camp his habitation shall be." Lev. 13: 14, 45, 46. So our ancient brethren considered, when the moral leprosy in a member was confirmed by raw works of the flesh, such as are described 1 Cor 5: 11; Gal. 5: 19-21, &c., that the direction (or command) of the (Lord and his) Holy Ghost by the mouth of the Apostle Paul was to be strictly and literally obeyed, namely, "not to keep company with such a one, no not to eat."

Our brethren were well aware of some commentators explaining these words as if they meant only not to have fellowship with such in spiritual matters, and not to eat with them the bread of communion. But they (our brethren) found it impossible to believe that the church at Corinth should have continued in full fellowship such a person as is described in 1 Cor. 5: 1, so that they should have still broken the bread of communion with him, &c., even until the apostle reproved them by this epistle. They (the brethren) also thought of the awful words, Rev. 21: 18, 19, and so they adhered simply to the word as it reads, had no intercourse, no dealings of any kind with such persons, and did not set with them at the same table, or out of the same dish, at any common meal, while they were in this state of avoidance. Only acts of charity toward them our brethren did not consider prohibited by the word of God. And these views we still hold in communion with our departed brethren.

Y. M. 1850. Art. 20. If a member commits a fault, whether the church has the power according to the gospel, to put that member in avoidance without the assistance of another church? Considered, that if there is a bishop in that church, they have the power in the case of a private member.

But whether it is best and expedient to undertake such a solemn work, where family connections might interfere much with a fair and impartial trial, without the assistance of another church and other bishops, the church should ser ously consider and decide in the fear of the Lord—a church like that of Philadelphia (it.v. 3: 8), where true brotherly love dwells; where the door is open for her sister churches at any time to enter; where hamility acknowledges of but little strength, and is therefore willing to avail herself of all the help her sisters, though they have but little strength too, may afford.

Y. M. 1850. Art. 24. Can a member that is cut off and kept in avoidance, be afterward released again from the bonds of excommunication without acknowledging the fault, or without coming and requesting to be released? And in case members are released without confessing their faults, or desiring to be released, how shall other members conduct themselves toward them? Considered, that where a member has committed one of those faults mentioned by the Apostle Paul, 1 Cor. 6 (or 5), and has been put in avoidance, the church having sufficient evidence that he has ceased from those evils, and by his earnest request he may be released out of the bonds of avoidance.—Art. 33. Whether members who have been put in avoidance, can be released without their request? Considered, that they cannot.—Art. 35. If a brother transgress so as to be deemed guilty of avoidance, should he not be cited to appear before the church in the presence of the witnesses, to hear the testimony given? Considered, that he ought to be particularly requested to attend.—Art. 36 In case such member be found guilty, by whom should he be informed? Considered, that this is a duty incumbent on the ordained brethren.

Art 37. If it is proved by two or three brethren (witnesses) that a brother has been drinking to excess, yet not so much as to disable him from keeping on his feet; but has often before been charged, and also before been set back or put in avoidance, and still denies the charge; would he not come under the class of drunkards, or would it be prudent to hold him as a brother, or should he be expelled by the proof of four or five witnesses, though not members of the church? Considered, that no member should be put in avoidance without positive proof from members that he or she has been guilty of one of those mentioned by Paul, 1 Cor. 5; 11.—Art. 38. Have we a sufficient right according to the gospel, to put a man in avoidance who has already been put back from the kiss, the communion and the council, and disowned as a brother? Considered, that the church has the power to do so .- Art. 40 Whether an ordained brother, who has been once in avoidance, can be restored again to his full office? Considered, that a brother can be restored again to his full office by the voice of the church (as in a choice).

Y. M. 1855. Art. 3. How is it considered, if a young brother and sister want to marry each other, and being opposed by their parents, members too, accomplish their design so late as to bring reproach upon themselves and the church? Considered, that the young members should be dealt with according to the circumstances, so as to prove that the church is not participating in evil; and the parents should also be admonished, if the church finds them in error.—Art. 23. How is it considered, if a church having no ordained elder, has a case of gross sin, such as is described 1 Cor. 5: 11, and application is made to ordained elders to assist them, the elders making an appointment, and fail to attend; has the church a right to put such members back, or ought the church to hold such transgressors as full members, until they can get ordained elders? Considered, that the church may and ought to put them back provisionally, when the crime is sufficiently proved, until ordained elders can attend.

BAILSHIP FOR CRIMINALS.

Y. M. 1848. (Indiana.) Art. 4. How would it be considered, if a man be put into the county prison for safe keeping until court, and a brother goes his security for his appearance in court, and releases him out of prison? Considered, that a brother ought not to meddle with such matters without counseling the church.

Becoming hail or surety for another was never thought advisable by the Brethren, from a consideration of the warnings contained in the word of God. See Prov. 6: 1-5, "My son, if thou he surety for thy friend, if thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger, thou art snared with the words of thy mouth, then art taken with the words of thy mouth (or with the signing of thy name). Do this now, my son, and deliver thyself, when thou art come into the hand of thy friend; go, humble thyself, and make sure thy friend. Give not sleep to thine eyes, nor slumber to thine eye lids. Deliver thyself as a roe from the hand of the hunter, and as a bird from the hand of the fowler." See also Prov. 11:15, "He that is surety for a stranger shall smart for it; and he that hateth suretyship is sure." Prov. 17:18, "A man void of understanding striketh bands, and becometh surety in the presence of his friends." Prov. 22:26. "Be not thou one of them that strikes hands, or of them that are sureties for debts."

BAN. (See "Avoidance or Excommunication.")

BAPTISM.

We hold baptism, with the generality of Christian professors, as the initial ordinance appointed by our Lord Jesus Christ, Matt. 28:19 &c., but cannot baptize any but such who profess to have repented of their sins, and to believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, Mark 16:16, &c. With regard to the action, we believe that the word baptism means only immersion, as all Greek scholars are ready to admit, if they are candid and honest. The Greek term βαπτίζω, βαπτίσμα οr βαπτίσμος, means, however, being in the frequentative form, a repeated action. Hence, we adhere to thing immersion as the most ancient and original action. We are confirmed in this respect by the fact, that single immersion was first introduced full 600 years after A. D., and that only in Spain, while trine immersion, even in the Roman Church, prevailed in all other countries till about the time of the Reformation, and is continued indeed to this day in the Roman Church at Milan; that the Greek Church, numbering more than sixty millions of professors, has always practiced it until now; and that the Church of England has trine immersion indicated in her Book of Common Prayer to this very day; and that we have evidence that trine immersion was also the action in baptism practiced in the Lutheran Church in the days of Reformation.

Whether such as had been baptized by single immersion among other denominations, could be received among us without that baptism, we believe fully required by the gospel.

Y. M. 1804. Art. 6. About persons, who are among the English Baptists, and have been baptized by them, and come now, and desire to be admitted (in our church); whether they ought to be baptized again, according to the true order of baptism, or if they should prefer it, whether we would receive them without being haptized again? In consideration of the Scriptore, and especially because the Lord said to Moses, "Look that thou make them after their pattern, which was showed thee in the mount" (Exod. 25: 40), it has been concluded with one accord, that when such come to us, we should give them in all things good instruction according to the gospel, yea, according to the Scriptures; and when they believe, and are willing to obey from the heart, that form of doctrine according to the counsel of God, they ought to be haptized in the proper order, because there have occurred different examples, that heretofore persons had been received by the Brethren, who thought then they could be satisfied with their single backward immersion, but afterward they were more enlightened, have deemed their baptism as imperfect, and to put their conscience at rest, they requested and had to be baptized in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, by a trine immersion.

- Y. M. 1821. Art. 6. Whether members (persons) might be received into the church, who have been but once immersed (without baptizing them in the manner we believe it ought to be done according to the gospel)? It was considered, that a threefold immersion is the true baptism; but if such persons would be content with their baptism, and yet acknowledge the Brethren's order as right, we would leave it over to them, and receive them with the laying on of hands and prayer.
- Y. M. 1828. Art. 6. Whether a person may be received into the church, having been immersed but once? it is the counsel to be better that they should be baptized again in the true order.—Art. 7. Whether we had a right to cause a candidate for baptism to make a vow? it was considered, that it is according to the gospel to receive them in the order of the Brethren as usual.

Y. M. 1833. Art. 1. Whether we are to immerse at baptism once or thrice? It was considered, that we cannot deem any other baptism as valid according to the word of God, but a threefold immersion.

- Y. M. 1834. Art. 4. Whether we could receive into our church a person that has been immersed once backward, without baptizing him again? Considered, that though it has been done before, still we believe that the best and safest way is to baptize them right and according to the proper order (as we believe), and that hereafter it should not be done otherwise.—Art. 10. How it is considered, when a member who was received after having been baptized with only one immersion backward, without receiving baptism according to our order, moves into another church, and there is required to be baptized? Answer in foregoing article 4.
- Y. M. 1835. Art. I. How it is viewed to receive colored people (into our church)? Considered, to make no difference on account of color.
- Y. M. 1835. (Miami.) Art. 13. What is the order to receive applicants for baptism? It is necessary that there should be self-knowledge, repentance and faith, together with scriptural instruction, and then that it may be done with the counsel of the church.
- Y. M. 1837. Art. 8. When persons desire to be received by baptism into the church, whether it be necessary to instruct them before baptism with regard to the swearing of oaths, to the going to war and the like, that according to our views are forbidden in the gospel? The advice is, that such persons ought, if possible, to be visited before baptism, and by all means to be previously instructed in the following points, viz. of the taking of oaths, going to war or to master, to use the power of the law contrary to the gospel, and to conform to the fashions of this world in apparel, and the like; and that they ought to state before their reception their willingness to refrain from all such things.—Art. 12. How it is viewed to receive persons into the church in case of sickness and bodily infirmity, without baptism? Considered, that we have no express word for it, and that it would be more advisable and more safe to direct them simply to the mercy of God in Christ. Yet in certain (extraordinary or) singular cases, we would not set bounds, but advise all teachers (ministers) to be careful to do nothing without the counsel of their fellow laborers, and if it can be possible, of their church.

Y. M. 1844. Art. 4. In regard to the difference in the form of words, which the Brethren use in baptism, it was after a free discussion considered, since in the practice of a threefold immersion of the kneeling candidate, and in the use of the words of our Saviour, Matt. 28:19, "IN THE NAME OF THE FATHER, AND OF THE SON, AND OF THE HOLY GHOST," we are all perfectly agreed to lay the matter down as heretofore, and to bear with one another in love, yet so that the teachers of one and the same church or district ought to use the same form. See 1 Cor. 1:10.

Y. M. 1845. Art. 4. Where is the proper place for asking the candidates for Laptism concerning their faith in Christ—in or out of the water? Considered, that the most proper place for making a public confession of our faith in Christ, is in the water, immediately before baptism. See 1 Tim. 6:12.

Y. M. 1848. (Ohio.) Art. 3. How are we to receive members into the church from their first application until they are baptized according to the gospel? Considered, that inasmuch as there has been hitherto a difference in the practice and in the form of words used in this ordinance, and inasmuch it is desirable to be in all such matters of one mind, and do and speak the same things, this meeting has unanimously agreed upon the following course and form of words, and recommend the same for adoption in all the churches:

First, the applicant to be examined by two or more brethren; then the case to be brought before the church council, before whom the applicant is to declare his agreement with us in regard to the principles of being (non-resistant) non-swearing, and non-conforming to the world; then in meeting or at the water to read from Matt. 18:10-22, in public, the candidates being asked if they will be governed by these gaspel rules. Then prayer at the water, and in the water the following questions to be asked:

Dost thou believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God, and that he has brought from beaven a saving gospel? Answer—Yea.

Dost thou willingly renounce Satan and all his pernicious ways, and all the sinful pleasures of this world? Answer—Yea.

Dost thou covenant with God in Christ Jesus to be faithful until death? Answer-Yea.

(Then the administrator continues)—"Upon this thy confession of faith, which thou hast made before God and these witnesses, thou shalt—for the remission of thy sins—be baptized in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost." After baptism, while in the water, the administrator to lay his hands upon the head of the candidate, and to offer up a prayer to God in his behalf; and then the member is to be received by hand and kiss (if a brother by the brethren, and if a sister by the sisters, and by the opposite sex only by the hand) into church fellowship.

Y. M. 1848. Art. 5. Ought we to receive any person into the church without baptism, having been baptized by any other order of people? Considered, that this yearly meeting advise to be very careful in this matter, and give it as their unanimous conclusion, that it would be better to admit no person into the church without being baptized by the Brethren.

Y. M. 1851. Art. 17. Whether the form of words used in the ordinance of baptism, as laid down in the annual meeting, A. D. 1848, could not be reconsidered? Considered, to leave it as the minutes of 1848 have it.

Y. M. 1853. Art. 45. Inasmuch as there had been a difference in the form of words in administering baptism, settled and brought to a union (?) some years ago, could we not also come to a full union and agreement with regard to feet washing, the Lord's supper, &c., so that a member from one section would find in every other section the same celebration in manner and form as at home? Considered, to refer this to the next yearly meeting.

Y. M. 1855. Art. 6. Is it consistent with the gospel to receive persons into the church with hand and kiss, when circumstances will not permit baptism to be performed? Considered, that it is not according to the gospel to consider persons as members of the church without baptism; yet they should be encouraged, and if they wish it, their cases may be taken into consideration by the church in council, and they be received as candidates for baptism, which is to be performed as soon as circumstances will permit.—Art. 26. How is it considered best to do with a brother or brethren, that will not use the words in administering baptism, as it was decided at the yearly meeting near Wooster, Ohio, in 1848, "for the remission or forgiveness of sin?" Considered, that the decision of said council should be observed, as it was observed by many brethren from time immemorial, and that those brethren who will not submit to it should be admonished for love sake (for union's sake) and (more than all) for the word's sake, to comply.

Y. M. 1857. Art 20. Do not those administrators of baptism, who make the candidates for baptism renounce all the world, require too much of the candidates, since we all have more or less to do with the world? Would it not be more proper to require of them to renounce only what is contrary to the gospel? Ans.—The third article of the minutes of 1848 contains the proper renunciation of the world. The passage in that article, referred to here, reads thus: "Dost thou renounce all the sinful pleasures of this world?"

Y. M. 1858. Art. 1. Can a person be received into the church, who is uncle to his wife? Or do the brethren think the gospel will not allow of such a person becoming a member of the church? Considered, that if he is uncle to his wife by marriage, he may be received, if by blood relation, he should not be -- Art. 21. Is it contrary to the gospel for brethren to hold meetings for a number of days in succession, in one place, in order to preach the pure word of God, and to administer the ordinance of baptism to those who believe the word and receive it? Considered, not contrary to the gospel, if the believer is proceeded with according to the gospel, and the order of the brethren as given by the annual meeting of 1848, Art. 3.—Art. 41. Inasmuch as there has been great confusion in various branches of the church during the past year relative to the manner of taking in members, as this has been done in many different ways, would brethren not consider it prudent and consistent with the gospel, to have a unity of practice throughout the church, and if so, what shall that practice be? Shall it be the order laid down in the minutes of 1848, or will the brethren draft a new order? Considered, that we will continue the order laid down in the minutes of 1848, which is as follows: (see page 38.)

Y. M. 1859. Art. 3. How is it considered if a minister would buplicly teach that water haptism is not for the remission of sins, but that a person must have an evidence within that his sins are pardoned before he is a fit subject for baptism; and also would differ with brethren in the mode of electing brethren to the ministry, and likewise claim that all members, both male and female, have a right to admonish and exhort? Aus.—Considered, that it is not according to Acts 2: 38, and 22: 16, to teach that a person must have an evidence within that his sins are pardoned before he is a fit subject for baptism; and that we know of no better way for the brethren to elect their ministers than that which has been practiced heretofore. And concerning members exhorting without being authorized by the church, we think they should not do so is the church in our public or general meetings, according to 1 Cor. 14: 33-35.

Art. 5. Inasmuch as the ceremony used by the brethren in receiving members into the church is thought by a large proportion of the brethren to be of too great length, might it not be shortened? And instead of the questions being asked in the water, would it not be more consistent to ask them in the house or on the bank of the river or stream? Ans.—We do not consider it good to make any alterations from the present practice of the brethren.

Y. M. 1860. Art. 4. Shall it be an order among the brethren, to receive persons into the church as members, when they are sick, without baptism, with the promise that they will be baptized when they get well? Aus.—Let persons who wish to be received into the church, and who are too sick to have the ordinance of baptism administered to them, be considered as candidates for baptism to receive the ordinance as soon as circumstances will permit, but not in full membership until they are baptized.

Art. 11. Is it consistent with the order of the brethren and the gospel, to receive a member into the church without the counsel of the church, when it is possible to have a council? Aus.—It is not consistent.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 21. Would it not be better, instead of asking the consent of each individual member concerning the reception of an applicant, to make the request general, that is, ask the church as a body whether they are willing to receive such applicant, and if they are, let silence give consent, and if not, that member who is not willing to receive such applicant shall have full privilege to state his or her objections? Answer.—This is left optional to each arm of the church.

Y. M. 1862. Art 27. A person was baptized and thus became a member of the church; afterward thought he was not in the right state of mind when he had been baptized, and felt that if he would die in this state, he would be lost, and then made application to be re-baptized. The brethren in the congregation tried to reconcile him, and could not; and (they) also sent strange and elder brethren to talk with him, who also failed to satisfy him. After repeated and continued application for re-baptism, a brother, without the counsel of the church, baptized him over again, when he became reconciled. Now did the brother who re-baptized the person do his duty? Answer.—We think he did not de his duty, but did wrong.

Art. 63. Will the brethren in annual council consider it right for ministering brethren to receive members into the church without requiring them to lay off the fashions of the world in regard to apparel, and to conform to the order of the brethren? Answer.—We consider it would not be right to do so; see Romans 12: 3.

Art. 67. When a person, having received baptism in the same way that we perform it, but by a member of a different denomination, wishes to be united to the Brethren, must such a person be re-baptized in order to be received into our church? Answer.—We refer to the minutes of the annual meeting of 1848, Art. 5. ["Ought we to receive any person into the church without baptism, having been baptized by any other order of people? Considered, that this yearly meeting advise to be very careful in this matter, and give it as their unanimous conclusion, that it would be better to admit no person into the church without first being baptized by the brethren."

Y. M. 1864. Art. 12. Inasmuch there is a difference of opinion relative to the applicant for baptism declaring his agreement with the church in regard to the principles of non-resistance, non-swearing and non-conformity to the world, whether this should be done in the presence of the whole congregation, or of the church only. We wish a decisive answer, and not only a reference to the minutes of 1848 and 1858, as we have referred to them, but still get into difficulty. Answer.—We think it should be done in the presence of the church only.

Such questions seem to proceed either from new churches or young members, who are somewhat unacquainted with the ancient established order of the church.

The answer is exactly according to that order; and the reason why the brethren would rather refer back to former occasions, is simply this, that our brethren, even the oldest, instead of loving and assuming authority for themselves, would rather submit to another authority.

Art. 17. Is it wrong to baptize or immerse sick persons in a house? Answer.—We consider it is not advisable to do so whenever it is possible to avoid it.

Art. 25. Is it in accordance with the gospel and the order of the brethren, for the church to receive and take candidates in with (or, by) hand and kiss previous to the reading of Matt 18, and then baptize them upon their public confession? Answer.—We think it is neither in accordance with the gospel or the order of the brethren to do so.

Art. 20. Is it according to the gospel and the order of the brethren, to receive and baptize into the church such as are in the military service, bearing arms in this war, or to go into the camps and baptize such, and let them remain in the service; or, should they not first get a full discharge, before they can be received into the church by baptism? Answer.—We cannot encourage such proceedings; but in case of extreme sickness, and when there is a promise to shed no more blood, we will let the churches applied to decide what shall be done; but let the privileges of the church be acceded to by all candidates.

BAPTISM OF THE HOLY GHOST.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 37. How is it when one brother preaches that there is no baptism of the Holy Ghost now, but that it is only the gift of the Holy Ghost which believers receive, while another brother prays for the Lord to baptize with the Holy Ghost? Answer.—We think it best for no brother to preach that there is no baptism of the Holy Ghost now, but in praying we should pray for the gift of the Holy Ghost.

It would be advisable for old and young ministers to heed the adnonition of the Apostle Paul, I Cor. 1: 13, when he says, "Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, &c.," and to abide by the simple declaration of the word of God, and whatever truth can be fairly and directly educed from it. By this we might escape from all apparent jarrings and contradictions in our discourses. Most of our differences and disputes arise from not heeding said admonition of the apostle. When John the Ba; tist told the multitude, speaking of Jesus, "He shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost," Matt. 3: 11, Mark 1: 8, Luke 3: 16, and the Saviour just before his ascension promised the same thing, Acts 1: 5, and fulfilled it on Pentecost not only to the disciples, but not long after to those who had become believers, Jews in Jerusalem, Acts 4: 31, and Gentiles in Cesarea, Acts 10: 44, and 11: 15: and when we consider that God is unchangeable, and that Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, to-day and forever: and that the Holy Ghost operates now as effectually in the conversion of sinners and sanctification of believers, though perhaps in a leas degree—we believe that the promises of God belong to us and our children, as well as to the primitive age, and that if we were united in spirit, heart and soul, as the apostles were at Pentecost, we might expect similar Pentecostal blessings.

BEARDS.

On this head we give an extract from the history of the Greek Church, in which men, especially priests and bishops, always were their beards, until the Russian Emperor Peter, in the seventeenth century, forbade its use. "The beard was indeed one of the fundamental characteristics of the ancient Eastern faith, Michnel Cerularius had laid it down in the eleventh century as one of the primary differences between the Greek and Latin Churches. To share the beard was pronunced at the council of Moscow, in the seventeenth century, a sin which even the blood of the martyrs could not expiate. It was defended, it is still defended, by texts of Scripture, by grave precedents; by ecclesiastical history. The Levitical law commands as not to cut the hair or the beard. Man was made in the image of God; is the image of God to be defaced? Our Saviour was (undoubtedly) bearded." Stanley's Lectures on the History of the Eastern Churches, page 512, &c.

Y.M. 1804. Art. 4. Whether upon request a brother might be ordained as a bishop, who shaves off his beard? it was considered, that inasmuch God made man with a beard; and again, God commanded his people in the law not to cut off the beard; and it was especially required of the priests of God not to mar the corners of the beard; and also Christ, our Master and precursor, together with his disciples, has left us an example herein—in consideration of these and other scriptures and examples, it (the ordination) could not readily be done in a sound faith and with an unoffended conscience.

Y. M. 1822 Art 1. Whether a brother might be set forward to baptize and break bread, who does not wear his beard; it was considered, that according to the image of God (in which man was created), and according to the image of Christ, we ought to (leave our beard undisturbed or) wear our beard (at least in part), and that no brother should be so far advanced who could not deny himself in this matter.

Y. M. 1835. Art. 3. On same subject, and decided similarly.

Y. M. 1846. Art. 11. How it is considered by this yearly meeting, whether brethren, who do not wear their beard, are to be advanced to administer baptism and the breaking of bread, or may even be ordained? Considered, that we are much grieved, how also in this respect a deviation and want of self-denial is becoming apparent here and there, and it would be well and laudable if we would not only keep in remembrance, but put also in practice the example and advice of our beloved old brethren. In 1822—twenty-four years ago—the query had been asked; see in full above. In 1804—forty-two years ago—the query came up; as given also above.

Y. M. 1854. Art. 19. How will it be considered, if a brother serving in the office of a deacon does not let his beard grow, and when admonished, opposes and asks scripture on that question? Considered, that brethren should bear and forbear (one another) in love, and give him the best scripture ground they can.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 12. How it is considered for brethren to wear the beard on the upper lip, they being conscientious in doing so? Answer. If a brother does not shave any, we would leave it with his conscience; but if he lets it stand on his upper lip only, we consider it wrong.

BISHOP, OR ELDER.

By these terms we understand that officer in the church, who after having served as a minister, first simply as a preacher of the word, and secondly as an administrator of the ordinance of baptism and the communion for a longer or shorter term of years, as the church saw and sees fit, and doing so to the accept-ance and satisfaction of the church—has been chosen by the unanimous choice of all the members of the church, present at the occasion, in presence of at least two elders from adjoining churches, to be overseer of his church, and also to exercise his office wherever he may come-the field is the world-for the converting of sinners and the building up of the church of Christ. Concerning unauimity, it was always considered prudent in such case (and would be also in other cases), if any valid objection would be raised and substantiated by at least two members of good standing, that the ordination had best be postponed, inasmuch as the word of God says. Acts 20: 28, "Over the which (all the flock) the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers to feed the church of God," &c. Now, since we could not know in case of a division in the church by a majority and a minority, whether "man" or "the Holy Ghost" had made the overseer (or in any other case the decision), we aim at unanimity. If, therefore, those who conduct the choice upon examination find that the objections presented are well founded in Scripture, in this case for instance on 1 Tim. 3: 1-7, Tit. 1: 6, &c, and in fact by sufficient evidence, then it is best to stop proceedings, and postpone until the objectious may have ceased to exist. On the contrary, if not well founded, the objectors should be admonished to withdraw them, and unite with the church in consenting to the ordination, and if they should refuse to do so, the conductors of the choice must exercise their own best judgment, without partiality on either side and in the fear of the Lord, whether to go on with the ordinat on or not, and by taking uo account of unfounded objections, declare the voice of the church unanimous in case of only one or two dissenters. The still better way would be, if the church would be informed of the case, and the church, in the absence of the objectors, would decide it unanimously, and then the ordination proceeded with in the usual way by the laying on of hands.

Y. M. 1804. Art. 4. (See "Beard.")

Y. M. 1821. Art. 1. Whether an ordained brother (bishop) may collect debts by the power of law? It was considered, that no brother, much less one ordained, has a right to do so according to the gospel doctrine, not even for another.

Y. M. 1821. Art. 2. Whether an ordained or private brother may serve as executor, when he knows before that the law must be used, was likewise considered, that according to gospel doctrine it should not be. But inasmuch many brethren are involved in this way, the counsel is to have patience with them, until they can extricate themselves, yet meanwhile not to break bread with them. But since an executorship is very burdensome, it has been deemed necessary to adopt a remedy to lessen the burden; and since every father has a right to make a will as he sees proper, without hindrance from the powers that be, to divide and distribute his property, and also to select his executors, and to charge them what and in what manner they should do—they might put in their wills something like the following clause, namely: I nominate and appoint A. B. to be sole executor of my estate (this my last will and testament), to acttle, pay off, and collect, as far as the rules of our church and the gospel will admit of, &c.

Y. M. 1836. Art. 4. When a bishop is old and too feeble to serve in his office fully as he ought, whether (the church) would have a right to select another? the counsel is, to go to counsel with the nearest churches, and if, looking on the proposition favorably, and the old bishop and his church would be of one mind, then it might be done.

Y. M. 1846. Art. 11. (See under foregoing heading, page 43. See also, "Authority of a Bishop.")

Y. M. 1846, Tennessee. Art. 4. How is it considered for a bishop, with a few members, to expel a member without taking the counsel of the church? Considered, that in all such important matters the church must be counseled.

Art. 6. Whether a deacon can be ordained to the office of a bishop? Considered, that we have no authority for so doing. See 1 Tim. 3: 1-7; ch. 5: 22.

Y. M. 1849. Art. 9. What is the duty of a bishop toward his church, and the duty of the church toward the bishop or bishops, in case the bishop commits an error; is it to be overlooked more in him than in another brother in office, or in a private member? Considered, that elders who rule well should be counted worthy of double honor, and that overseers should not undertake anything of importance without counsel of the church; and if there should be a general complaint of the church against him, he is to acknowledge his fault before the church like another member, and should not be spared; for "if the eye be evil, the whole body shall be full of darkness." Still it was always the advice of our old brethren, that in any case where laboring (ministering) brethren were in fault, strange and impartial brethren of experience should be called to assist in the investigation and justification of the same.

Y. M. 1849. Art. 36. (See page 25.)

Y. M. 1850. Art. 40. Whether an ordained brother, who had been once in avoidance, can be restored again to his full office? Considered, that a brother can be restored again to his full office by the voice of the church (as in a choice).

Y. M. 1851. Art. 6. A query concerning the ordaining of elders Considered, that the ordination of elders is of the utmost importance to the church, and should always be under the special guidance of the Holy Spirit, who will teach and remind a church of the right person and the proper time for ordination; that there should be a full union of the church and the elders present on the subject; and that where there is any serious objection according to the word of God (see 1 Tim. 3:1-7; Titus 1:7), the elders and the church should be cautious (not) to proceed, if the objection could not be removed.

Y. M. 1852. Art. 9. What is the duty of a bishop, who has the over-sight of an adjoining congregation, in which there is no householder and only one speaker?—and has that church liberty to call elders, and have a bishop or speaker appointed? Considered, that it is the duty of a bishop to attend to the necessities of such church, and if he neglects his duty, such church, if unanimous, may call other elders to assist them.

Y. M. 1853. Art. 4. Is it consistent with the gospel and its principles, as professed by our brotherhood, when a brother is chosen to the ministry only, not being authorized to baptize, that the ordained elder of the congregation should forward such brother, without consulting the church? Considered, that all power, under God, is vested in the church (composed of elders, ministers, deacons and private members), and that therefore the church should in all such cases be consulted.—Art. 11 What is the most proper or scriptural mode of ordaining an elder or bishop? By the voice of the church, over which the elder is to be ordained (or preside), or by the wish or declaration of the elders or bishops of neighboring churches? Answered, by referring to the minutes of 1851, Art. 6. (See above.)

Y. M. 1855. Art. 17. If two brethren were chosen at one and the same time as ministers in the first degree, and some time afterward advanced together to the second degree, and in course of time the church is in need of an overseer or bishop, can these two brethren both be ordained as such, or only one? Considered, that is such a case both brethren may be ordained, provided there be no sufficient cause known to prevent it.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 56. Is it advisable for ordained brethren to ordain a ministering brother to the office of elder or bishop, who permits his children, even while under lawful age, to wear all manner of jewelry, and to learn instrumental music at boarding schools, &c.? Considered, not advisable. 1 Tim. 2:9; 3:4, 5.

BONDS OR NOTES, BUYING AND SELLING.

Y. M. 1810. Art. 1. About brothren who intend selling bonds, it was considered, that it should not be done without the counsel of the church.

Y. M. 1817. Art. 6. Whether we may sell a note (or bond) or not? Considered, that no member should sell a note without the consent of the debtor.

Y. M. 1827. Art. 7. With regard to selling bonds, it was considered, that none should be sold by which poor people might be oppressed; but since circumstances are so different, the church should be connseled (asked for counsel in any case.)

Y. M. 1858. Art. 21. Is it right according to the gospel for brethren to purchase notes from brethren or others, and shave them at fifteen per cent. or more? Considered, that it is not according to the gospel for brethren to do so.—Art 30. How is it considered, if a brother has a note against another poor brother, who cannot pay, and the brother who has the note sells it to his son, who is no member of the church, and he collects the debt by law, and causes the poor brother's property to be sold, the brother who sold the note justifying himself in doing as he did? What is to be done in such a case? Considered, that the brother who did so, committed a great fault, and that he should make restitution to the poor brother to the satisfaction of the church.

Y. M. 1864. Art. 16. Is it right and according to the gospel for a brother to invest money in government bonds? Ans.—We consider it not wrong to do so.

BORROWING FROM BANKS.

Y. M. 1847. Art. 8. Whether it may be proper and agreeable with the gospel for a brother to borrow money from banks or speculating moneylenders, for the purpose of buying and droving cattle, sheep and horses, or for buying wheat or other produce, and transporting the same to the Atlantic cities or other public markets, for the purpose of making gain or profit? Considered, that we in general council (assembled) would advise any (and every) brother not to engage largely in trading, as there is great danger, both in a temporal and in a spiritual point of view. See 1 Tim. 5: 9, 10.

BREAKING OF BREAD. (See "Communion.")

BREWERY KEEPING.

Y. M. 1827. Art. 11. How it is considered, if a brother keeps a brewery, and makes strong beer? Considered, though it could not be directly forbidden to a brother, but ought to be left to his own conscience, and (yet we wish) to advise him, that the safest way would be, not to carry on such a business from which may arise so many and great disorders.

BUTCHERING.

Y. M. 1850. Art. 7. Is a brother, being a full member in the church, allowed to purchase cattle and other animals, and following butchering, hire or rent a stall in a market house, and attend market as a butcher every market morning? Considered, that a brother engaged in butchering in the manner stated in the question is surrounded with many difficulties and temptations, and that we would advise brethren not to do so.

CAMP MEETINGS, ATTENDING.

Y. M. 1848. Art. 11. Can it be considered prudent or profitable for members to frequent camp meetings or protracted meetings from time to time? Unanimously considered, not to be profitable for members to do so.

CARPETS.

- Y. M. 1827. Art. 8. How it is considered to lay carpets in (our) houses? It was considered, that it belongs to the grandeur (highness) of this world, and that it will not become a follower of Jesus to garnish his house in this manner, but rather that he should adorn his house as may be consistent with lowliness.
- Y. M. 1828. Art. 9. Whether brothren may have carpets in their houses, was considered, that it cannot and should not be, because it leads to elevation (pride).

48 CARRIAGES—CERTIFICATES OF MEMBERSHIP.

While such improvements were yet new, and only found in the houses of the great and rich in the world, it was proper for brethren to advise as above; but after such improvement had become a common thing, and it was a convenience generally known, there was no further objection to their introduction. Thus it was almost in all cases.

CARRIAGES.

Y. M. 1828. Art. 2. Whether we may conform ourselves to the world with unnecessary things on our carriages? Considered, that it cannot be. (See foregoing note.)

CERTIFICATES OF MEMBERSHIP.

Y. M. 1738. Art. 2 The next was almost equally inportant, inasmuch it has happened that members have moved from one section of the country to another, and improprieties had been committed by them in the place from whence they moved, which are such as reflect no honor on the doctrine of the Lord, nor either on (our) Christian profession, so that we had to withdraw from them the kiss of charity, and they concealed this at the place where they had moved to, and sometimes it was discovered afterward, so that offence of tender minds might result therefrom; we conclude likewise, and find it more proper and perfect, that such removing family or member should bring a certificate from the church where they leave, to the church to which they move.

Y. M. 1834. Art. 5. Concerning a certain brother's certificate —Art. 15. Whether a certificate could be given to a brother minister, who moves away from his church, without paying his debts? Special advice given, but not noted.

Y. M. 1841. Art. 12. What is to be done with a brother or member, who removes into another church without bringing a certificate of membership along, and upon being asked for it, is offended by the request? Considered, that, as it has been decided often heretofore, it is requisite for members that remove from one church into another, to bring a testimonial or certificate along of their standing in the church whence they came, and that they ought not to be offended at being asked for the same. Should they refuse still to procure a certificate, the church to which they came would have a right to (inquire further and) ascertain their standing, before receiving them to full membership.

Y. M. 1849. Art, 12. Concerning the propriety and necessity of recommendations for members that move from one church to another? Considered, that the ministers in the various churches should see (to it) that none of their members should move away without a recommendation; that no church is bound to receive (such) a member without recommendation, and that the recommendation be signed by not less than two or three witnesses, according to the gospel. That the apostles gave written recommendations, see Rom 16: 1, 2; 1 Cov. 16: 10, 11; 2 Cov. 8: 23; Eph. 6: 21, 23; Col. 4: 7-9; 1 Thes. 3: 2, &c.

Y. M. 1853. Art. 24. Is it right to give a certificate to a brother, when he moves out of the church district without paying his debts, or giving general satisfaction to his creditors? Considered, that if the church is satisfied of the brother's having been houest, and having done all he could to pay his debts and satisfy his creditors, he ought to have a certificate. But should the brother be able and not willing to pay his debts, or give, or try to give satisfaction to his creditors, he should by no means have a certificate of full membership in the church.

T. M. 1862. Art. 20. What shall be done in such a case as follows: There are a brother and sister living here who claim to have stood in full tellowship with a church called Dunkards, in Lycoming county, Pa. When asked for a certificate, the brother said the church from which they moved did not give certificates, allowing that their conduct should suffice, and this (conduct) has been quite satisfactory to the members of this church? Answer.—We consider it right in all cases, when members move from one arm of the church to another, that they shall present to the church wherein they wish to reside, a certificate to prove their membership in the church from whence they came, or give satisfaction to the church of which they wish to become members.

CHOICE AND INSTALLATION OF MINISTERS, &c.

Y. M. 1835. Art. 2. How it is viewed to elect brethren for the ministry by lot? Considered, to abide the manuer of holding a choice hitherto observed. (Given from memory, as a witness present.)

Y. M. 1837. Art. 4. How it is considered to hold an election without an or ained brother (older) being present? As to holding elections, it is considered, that no election ought to be hold without the presence of (two or) at least one ordained brother.

Y. M. 1838. Art. 12. Whether in case that brethren, who are called to some ministry, move from one church into another, and are received with their office by the church to which they have removed, whether the sisters, their wives, ought to be received with them, as in the case of an election? Considered, that it would be good to receive the sisters also with them.

Y. M. 1838. Art. 9. Whether we have the right to appoint deacons, wishout laying hands on them according to the example of the apostles, Acts 6:6? Considered, and resolved to postpone the further consideration of this query to the next annual meeting.

Y. M. 1839. Art. 8. With regard to the laying on of hands on deacous, it was concluded to leave it as heretofore. See also Y. M. 1844:1; 1845:11; 1846:3; Tenn. 6.

Y. M. 1840. Art. 1. Whether it be agreeable to the gospel as the brethren do hold elections for teachers and deacons? Considered, that our mode to hold elections is according to the gospel, and that we do not see how to improve it.

- Y. M. 1848. Art. 4. How to forward a brother to the ministry as speaker according to the gospel? Considered, that the church is exhorted to prayer to guide them in a proper choice, not discussing the subject with each other, but keeping their thoughts before God only; two ordained elders to be invited by the church to hold the election, who shall preside (at the election) and declare the one having the highest number of votes as chosen; the brother so chosen, having declared his willingness to fulfill the duties laid on him, is then received with hand and kiss.
- Art. 7. How to make arrangements that in every church breth ren be authorized to baptize and serve at communion tables? Considered, to leave this to the judgment of the churches, with the advice of neighboring ordained elders, whether they think it necessary or expedient.
- Y. M. 1848. Art. 16. About the laying on of hands on deacons, it was unanimously considered, to postpone the discussion of this subject indefinitely, until there is reason to hope that it may be done calmly and without prejudice.
- Y. M. 1858. Art. 42. How is it considered if a member moves off some distance and be absent a while, and then return on a visit, and then while at the place at which he formerly resided, conducting himself either becoming or unbecoming a follower of Christ, the church gives him permission to exhort or preach, by taking silence for consent? Considered, not according to the order of the brethren to do so.
- Y. M. 1862. Art. 4. In installing official members into office in the church, is there to be any difference observed between near relations? Answer.—There is no difference to be observed.
- Y. M. 1862. Art. 50. Is it advisable to hold an election for a minister or deacon in one part of a congregation, in that in which it is most needed, and none but the members in that part voting, it being too small to form a separate church, providing the whole church consents to hold such an election? Answer.—We consider it advisable to do so.

CHURCH COUNCIL

- Y. M. 1845. Art. 8. How is it considered, if a brother will rebel against the counsel held at council meetings, and say it is an abomination to God? Considered, that such a brother should be visited and exherted, and if he would not hear and obey the admonition, he could not be held as a brother.
- Y. M. 1848. Art. 26. Whether it is proper in all cases to ask counsel before giving a letter of recommendation? Considered, to be best always first to take the counsel of the church.
- Y. M. 1848, Indiana. Art. 7. How it is viewed, when persons living in one district request to be baptized and received into church-fellow-ship in the other district, whether it is proper to receive them without counsel of the district in which they live? Considered, that we deem it advisable, and it has been the general course of the brethren, in a case where a person made application for baptism in a meeting out of the district in which the applicant lives, to hold counsel with the members of that church in whose bounds he resides.

Y. M. 1856. Art. 9. How is it considered, where there is a church with a bishop and two speakers, one authorized to baptize, &c., and the other not, and a case of difficulty occurs between two members, and is brought before the church, those three ministers being present; but the two first being relatives to the parties, they authorize the third to attend to the case, and present it before the church; the question is, would it be considered legal? Considered legal.

The apostle informs us, that though things may be lawful, they are not always expedient. The position of the old brethren was accordingly, and they would in such a case have called brethren from other churches to act in it.

Y. M. 1857. Art. 13. What right have any two or three churches to reconsider the action of another church, and that without any representation from the church upon whose decision they sit in judgment, and then reinstate members which said church had excluded? Answer.—We consider that one branch of the church has no right to restore a member to his place in the church, when he had been excluded by another branch of the church, without the concurrence of the church which excluded him.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 14. How is it considered, when a church has several ministers of equal standing, and none of them ordained; has the housekeeper, or have the ministers a right to call to their assistance an ordained brother, without the counsel of the church? Answer.—They have not the right to do so without the counsel of the church.

Art. 55. Which is the most advisable in holding council meetings, to ask each individual member for his consent, or to take silence for consent? Answer.—In all weighty matters it is best for each member to answer.

CHURCHES, TOO LARGE, to be subdivided.

Y. M. 1810, or rather of a special meeting, we find the following record: "August II, 1810. We, the undersigned brethren, upon request of some members and upon our own approbation have made a general visit and investigation of almost all the members in the Conococheague church, whether there could not an arrangement be made, that the visit in said church and other necessary things could be carried out better, inasmuch as the district of the church is rather extensive, and for the better satisfaction of the church than has been for some time done? To this end we have presented our views and judgment to all the members that had assembled in manner and form, as follows: have asked them whether they felt satisfied, if the church were divided in so far that bro Nicholas Martin should have the oversight on that side of the Conococheague, where he lives? The visit and all necessary things, such as baptizing and breaking of bread, &c., in said, church on said side of the water should by upon him, and he should also have the oversight over the members in M'Connell's Cove and those who live near where the beloved brother Ohlinger lives. Brother Ohlinger should undertake nothing of importance without seeking counsel with brother Nicholas Martin. Just so should brother David Long have the oversight on the other side of Conococheague, where he lives, as far as the district of said church extends, to attend to the visit and overything that is necessary, as baptizing and breaking of bread with the counsel of the church important matters should occur to require the judgment of the church (in criminal cases) or otherwise, on either side, and the brother who was set as housekeeper thought, as also the members thought, that it would be better to call the other brother to be along with them in the counsel, they should have entire liberty to do so; and we think it would be proper, and also according to smity and love, that both brethren should stand on an equality in their office, and be considered as stewards in said church. Yet they should not divide the meetings (by this we apprehend is meant, that they should not have separate meetings on one and the same day), but should continue to hold the meetings together (as heretofore). Is the meeting on brother Nicholas' side, he should see to it, in case brother David had a call elsewhere, or for some other cause could not come, that the meeting is attended to as usual; and if the meeting is on brother David's side, he should be careful, in onse brother Nicholas had another call or could not come, that the meeting is properly held and continued (by a new appointment). But when both brethren come to meeting, then the brother in whose district it is shall commence and also close the meeting, unless upon his request and urging the other brother relieve him of this duty, to the end that all things may be done decently and in order, to which the whole church have given their sanction (at least), as many as were present.

In testimony whereof, the following brethren signed (the paper).

HERMAN BLASER, MARTIN GARBER, &c.

This, though not strictly an act of general counsel contains such excellent advice for mini ters even in our own day, that we could not refrain from inserting it here. Study it, my dear mini-toring brethern, and not only that, but practice it, and you will find that much of the jealousy, temptation, and often very severe trials might be obtained, if we were heading such simple rules as here laid down, and especially the go-pet principle, to esteem others more highly than our (so very dear, and still so very bad) selves!

CLASS MEETINGS, &c.

Y. M. 1838. Art. 10. Whether it be right for members to take part in Sunday schools, class meetings, and the like (under the control of other denominations)? Considered, most advisable to take no part in such like things.

COLLECTING ALMS. (See "Alms.")

COLONIZATION SOCIETY.

Y. M. 1851. Art. 14. Whether it would be contrary to our profession and the doctrine of Christ, to make contributions to, or become members of the American Colonization Society, with the view of the furtherance of the liberty of the African race? Considered, that a person may contribute to the Society, but not become a member.

This distinction was undoubtedly made from the consideration that the colorization of free persons of color from this country was rather calculated to enhance the value of poor slaves, and make their liberation more hopeless.

COLORED PERSONS.

Y. M. 1835. Art. 1. Flow it is considered, to receive colored persons into the church? (The object of the question was not, whether they should be received at all, but whether they could or must be received or treated altogether like white members.) It was considered, that inasmuch the gospel is to be preached to all nations and races, and if they come as repentant sinners, believing in the gospel of Jesus Christ, and apply for baptism, we could not consistently refuse them. But inasmuch we receive our fellow members with the holy kiss, and there is a repugnance in some of our white members to salute colored persons in this manner, the colored members should bear with that weakness, and not offer the kiss to such weak members until they become stronger, and make the first offer, &c. Otherwise, if they (the colored members) prove faithful, they should be considered on an equality of full membership.

Y. M. 1845. Art. 2. In regard to receiving colored members into the church, it was considered, to leave it to the counsel of every individual church, as it is done in all cases; but if colored persons are once received as members into the church, the members should be at liberty to salute them in like manner as (we do) white members; at the same time having patience with those who may be weak in the faith, and cannot do so. The assembled elders, however, consider it as the more perfect way, to which we all should strive to come, namely, that love which makes no distinction in the brotherhood in this respect. See James 2: 1-10.

Y. M. 1849. Art. 31. How are we to conduct with colored members at communion? Considered, that this ought to be left to the individual churches, in which such members are, only that they ought not to be debarred from the Lord's table on account of their color.

COMMUNING WITH OTHER DENOMINATIONS.

Y. M. 1821. Art. 3. How far brethren have liberty to commune with men who do not strictly adhere to the truth, was considered in council thus: that it is very dangerous to commune with such people as do not hold entirely the doctrine of Christ, since the apostle says, "If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not in your house, neither bid him God speed," (2 John 10); and the counsel is, to give them no liberty to speak in our meetings.

COMMUNION.

Y. M. 1819. Art. S. Whether we could break the bread (of communion) without having a supper? We hold, that we ought by all means in all the exercises (ordinances) look to the testimony of Jesus and his example; for the Lord Jesus, shortly before his suffering, when he instituted the Lord's supper, &c., after he had washed his disciples' feet, he did eat the supper with them, where he also dipped the sop, and gave it to Judas; see John 13: 26. And Mark 14: 18, "And as they sat, and did eat, Jesus said, Verily I say unto you, One of you which eateth with me shall betray me." And v. 22, "And as they did eat, Jesus took bread, and blessed, and brake it, and gave to them, and said, Take, eat: this is my body, &c."

Y. M. 1830. Art. 1. Whether a minister may break the bread of communion and communicate the cup of thanksgiving to a sick person, who is not a member? Considered, as contrary to our faith and conscience, and as more advisable to point or direct the sick to Christ and inward communion.—Another question presented and answered, that sick persons, who wish to be baptized, but feel too weak, might be received under the promise, that if restored to health they would submit to the command and ordinance of Christ, and in case of their death they may find comfort in the reflection, that God sees their good intentions, and may accept them for the deed.

Y. M. 1831. Art. 2. Similar to the foregoing.

Y. M. 1834. Art. 12. How it is considered, when a brother, not yet ordained, should administer the communion in presence of ordained brethren? (If the ordained brethren desire him to do so, there can be no objection; on the contrary, it is desirable for young hands in any work to have more experienced friends near to advise or assist.)

Y. M. 1841. Art. 8. Whether a minister has a right to break the bread of communion to a sick person that is not a member of the church? Considered, that a minister has not any authority in the gospel to do so; but that he should direct such a soul to the mercy of God in Christ Jesus, and to the terms and promises of the gospel.

Y. M. 1844. Art. 9. What to do in case a member on a sick or deathbed requests to have the bread of communion broken unto him? Considered, that the word of God does not seem to us to justify the breaking of the bread of communion to an individual member, for where there is but one there can be no communion; and that therefore we would be more safe to direct such a member to the grace and mercy of God in Christ Jesus, and the advice of the apostle, James 5: 14, where he says, "Is any sick among you, let him call for the elders of the church, and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord, &c." (This is the ordinance, it seems, specially instituted for the sick.) If they still insist upon partaking of the bread and wine in remembrance of their dying Saviour, they might be gratified, as it has been done here-tofore, when there should be a love feast in the neighborhood, by sending to them of the blessed bread and wine, or by holding a small love feast at their houses, in the right time and in the proper order.

Y. M. 1851. Art. 12. Whether it is according to the gospel for brethren to administer the communion to a sick or disabled member in the daytime, and without celebrating the other ordinances connected with it? Considered, not to be according to the gospel.

Y. M. 1861. Art. 8. Is it according to the gospel for brethren to administer the communion to the sick or disabled members in the day-time, and without celebrating the other ordinances connected with it? Considered, not according to the gospel, because the Master instituted it in the night. However, there is no impropriety in attending to it, if done in the regular way, and at the proper time, in connection with the other ordinances instituted with it.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 68. How shall we proceed in case a sick member requests the communion? Will any time do? And must feet-washing and the supper accompany the communion? Answer.—We consider it best to administer it in the evening, according to the example of Christ. John 13.

COMPLAINT AGAINST A MEMBER.

Y. M. 1843. Art. 10. Whether a complaint against a member may be taken up in the church, that is of several years standing? Considered, that this depends in a great measure upon circumstances. In complaints of a private nature between brother and brother, the course which our Saviour prescribes, Matt. 18, ought to be pursued, and when we have taken the two first steps toward a reconciliation, without being satisfied, then "tell it unto the church" is the Saviour's command; and when the yearly visit has gone round, and the bread of communion has been broken, and we neglected to obey this command, the church is not bound afterward to take up our complaint. But in case a fault had been committed by a member, and was not known to the complaining member until after a length of time, it is still his duty to tell it unto the church, and the complaint is to be taken up by the church.

CONFESSION. (See "Acknowledgment.")

CONFORMITY TO THE WORLD.

Y. M. 1804. Art. 8. Further, it has been discussed about the evil, offensive to God and the holy angels in heaven, and also to the faithful souls on earth, namely, about the new fashions which are in vogue with the world, and there are here and there even believers who obey the lust of their eyes, and herein conform themselves to the world, especially the young, having gone so far astray that the Lord has cause to complain that almost ail flesh have corrupted their way. Therefore, it has been deemed good, that the bishops and ministers, as well as all fathers and mothers of families, should use all diligence to resist such things, that they may not spread further, but rather might be done away; especially when there are persons desiring to be received into the church, it should be laid before them, that such is contrary to the doctrine of salvation, and that it is their duty to deny themselves, and when they are willing to lay such things aside, then we may baptize them cheerfully, hoping that they will continue to receive further instruction, &c.

Y. M. 1817. Art. 2. Concerning conforming to the world in wearing fashionable clothing and everything that is high, without exception, it was considered, that when a member should herein be found guilty, he should be admonished, and if the admonition would not be heeded, we could not hold such in full fellowship, inasmuch the Saviour says, "That which is highly esteemed among men is abomination in the sight of God." Luke 16: 15.

Y. M. 1822, Canton. Art. 6. How it is considered, when members will not heed the counsel of love of the brethren, with regard to conforming to the world in clothing, &c.? It was considered, for the third time in the great council, that when a member has been admonished in love once and again, we would not break bread with such. But at this meeting it has been considered, that when they will not receive counsel in love, we could not hold such member in full fellowship according to the gospel. Also such who permit those high fashions in their children who are yet under their control, and especially the bishops and ministers in the church should be examples of the flock.

Y. M. 1834. Art. 11. Concerning high and fashionable clothing, &c., and conformity to the world, it was considered a great evil as heretofore, which is not to be tolerated in the church.

Y. M. 1840. Art. 7. Concerning the lamentably prevailing evil, that members conform themselves so much to the world in building, house furniture, apparel, &c., and even in sleighing have bells upon their horses? It was considered, that all brethren and members, and especially ministers, should withstand and labor against this growing evil, and that anything unbecoming for brethren should be avoided.

Y. M. 1845. Art. 6. In regard to members conforming too much with the world in fashionable dressing, building and ornamenting houses in the style of those high in the world, it was considered, that it is a dangerous and alarming evil, and ought not to be among the humble followers of the lowly Jesus.

Y. M. 1846. Art. 10. About pride in its various forms, which is creeping into the church, it is thought highly necessary that the yearly meeting instruct and urge it upon all the overseers of the church to see especially to that matter, and pretest strongly against all manner of superfluities and vanity, such as building fine houses, having paintings, carpeting and costly furniture, &c., together with the adorning of the body too much after the fashion of the world. We believe that we should deny ourselves, and abstain from these things, especially the laborers in the world, who are called to be examples of the flock.

Y. M. 1849. Art. 25. Whether it would not be agreeable to the gospel, to advise those members who have been in the church two or three years, and are still conformed to this world, not to come to communion, until they deny themselves and become transformed from the world, after being admonished thereto? Considered, that conformity to the world presents itself in such various ways, that we cannot erect a standard in regard to it, so as to authorize the church to prohibit such members from partaking of the communion, but such members should be admonished and reproved by the church again and again.

Y. M. 1861. Art 3. Inasmuch as the brethren have decided in conference, that members who would not conform to the order in dress as generally practiced by the old brethren and sisters, that they could not have the privilege to the communion. But as this does not restrain them into the order, we wish to know whether the church has the right to deal with them as offenders, when they will not conform in dress or to wearing caps, and leave off wearing hoops? Considered, that such members should be admonished, and that warmly too, to lay aside all superfluities, and conform to the order of the church. Otherwise they must and will be regarded as disobedient members. See Rom. 12.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 22. How is it considered for sisters to wear hoops, and to conform themselves to the new fashions of the world? Shall we tolerate it or not? Answer.—The answer to the third query of last yearly meeting is re-adopted.

Y. M. 1868. Art. 3. How are we to deal with sisters who are wearing hoops? They should be admonished once and again, and if they will not heed the admonitions, they should be dealt with according to Matt. 18. (See Min. 1861, Art. 3.)

Y. M. 1864. Art. 7. When the apostles prohibited the wearing of gold and pearls (1 Tim. 2: 9, 1 Pet. 3: 3), are gold watches to be included? Answer.—As the earrying of gold watches may and is likely to load to pride, we think it advisable not to wear them.

Art. 8. How is it considered by the brethren in yearly council assembled, in relation to the members who do not conform to the order of the brethren in the wearing of apparel, and in the wearing of their hair, but follow the fashions of the world? Answer.—We think that the ministering brethren should heartily admonish and urge the members to conform to the order of the brethren, and set them a good example, and if those who are admonished again and again, and that by the church too as well as by the ministers, will not hear, the word of God directs us what to do with them. Matt. ch. 18.

Art. 10. Is it considered right, according to the gospel, for a minister to wear a soldier's overcoat when in the pulpit, or at other times; and if it is not, how is such a brother to be dealt with, if he should continue to wear it after being admonished? Answer.—It is considered not advisable for any brother, whether a minister or private member, to wear military clothing, and if he is admonished, and still persists in being disobedient, he should be dealt with according to the 18th chap. of Matthew.

CONGREGATIONAL.

Congregationalism is defined by Webster "as that system of church government which vests all ecclesiastical power in the assembled brotherhood of each local church as an independent body." Charles Buck describes Congregationalists, "as a denomination of Protestants, so called from their maintaining that each particular church or congregation is authorized by Christ to exercise all the acts of ecclesiastical power and privilege within itself, without being subject to the jurisdiction or control of any bishop, synod, presbytery or council composed of delegates from different associated churches." Now it happened that nearly one hundred years ago a certain writer, Morgan Edwards by name, and an English Baptist minister, it his "Materials toward a History of American Beptists," made mention of our Brethren, and among other things, that our churches were "Congregational," and this was republished again and again in other works, without being contradicted.

There are three systems of church government in vogue among the Protestant denominations in this country: the Episcopal, the Presbyterian and the Congregational. Neither of these answers or corresponds with our system, which we will call the province system. True, we have bishops, though the title is not assumed by those who are intrusted with that office, but they are calling themselves simply elders, and they are nothing like the great prelates of the Protestant Episcopal Church, who exercise authority over all the churches of a whole State or other large district. Neither are our bishops like those of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who have power, every year or two, to transfer all their subordinate ministers from one place to another, according to their own personal judgment, so that after every conference a general moving takes place among their clergy, with few exceptions. Our bishops are simply overseers over that one church where they reside, and over the one or two churches that may be destitute of an overseer in their immediate neighborhood; but it was always considered, that they should exercise their duty only by and with the consent of the respective church. And though be has the privilege and duty to exercise his office any where he may come, in a properly established church, he can do so only by request or invitation of that church. So it is evident that we are not Episcopalians in the common acceptation, but only in the seriptural sense of the word.

The same is the case with regard to Presbyterionem. Whatever authority may

The same is the case with regard to Presbyterionem. Whatever authority may be claimed by modern presbyteries (elderships) separate and spart from the church (membership), no number of presbyters or elders in our church can exercise any authority, lay down any rules for the church, without the consent of the church. So then we are not Presbytorians.

If any one will say now, Then of course you must be Independents or Congregationalists; are you not? To this we answer emphatically, No. So far from feeling ourselves being independent, we know we are dependent, as in our natural condition, upon God for our life and every thing we have and are, and unto our fellow mortals, who prepare for us those things we cannot prepare for ourselves; so we are dependent upon God for every spiritual blessing, and upon our fellow Christians to assist as in obtaining those blessings. And that our churches were not founded on the Congregational principle, as defined above, is evident from the following historical PACTS.

1. The first and oldest of our churches in America is in Germantown, near Philadelphia, Pa. It was established in 1723, Peter Becker being the first minister. If they had wished to act upon the "Congregational" principle, they might have done so, without asking any person outside of their immediate neighborhood, and as yet there was no other church of our faith on this side of the Atlantic. But before they took any step in organizing themselves into a church, and establishing weekly meetings for public worship, or before they ever held a public meeting for worship in this country, we are informed, they visited all their dispersed brethren and fellow believers as far as Skippach, Falconer Swamp, Oley, &c., undoubtedly to seek their advice and consent to the important step they were to take, and only after they had got this, they commenced to hold weekly meetings, we are told, alternately, "at brother Peter Becker's and Gomorry's." And this principle, that a local church should not undertake anything of importance without counsel and consent of the brethren generally, outside of that locality, has ever been upheld to this day, with very few exceptions, and these exceptions have most always proved calamitous to such churches as ventured upon such an exceptional course.

2. The second fact to prove that local churches among us do not pretend to act independently of other churches is this, that to every love feast that is held in any church (excepting where a sick member requests a little love feast to be held in his house), members and ministers are invited from other churches to this day.

3. No choice is held in any church, even only for a single deacon, without two or more elders being present from other churches to conduct the choice.

4. No case of censure against an elder, minister or deacon, is taken up in counsel before a local church, without the presence of elders and as many ministering and private members from other churches.

5. No case, of which avoidance may be probably the result, is undertaken in a local church without some elders from other churches.

Now these facts prove very evidently that a local church among us does not lay claim to possessing all power, unless in contradiction to the fundamental principles and practice of our brotherbood.

Y. M. 1863. Art. 20. Can an arm of the church (or a local church) be congregational, or act independent from all the churches of our fraternity, and still be in full union with the church? Auswer.—It cannot, according to the gospel and the order of the brethren. See Rom. 12:4,5; 1 Cor. 1:10; Ephes. 5:2,4,&c.

COUNCIL OF THE CHURCH.

Y. M. 1846, Tennessee. Art. 4. How it is considered for a bishop, with a few members, to expel a member without taking the council of the church? Considered, that in all such important matters the church must be counseled.

Y. M. 1848, Ohio. Art. 26. Whether it is proper in all cases to ask counsel (of the church) before giving a letter of recommendation? Considered, to be best always first to take the counsel of the church.

Same year, Indiana. Art. 7. How it is viewed, when persons living in one district request to be baptized and received into church followship in another district, whether it is proper to receive them without counsel of the district in which they live? Considered, that we deem it advisable, and it has been generally the course of the brethren, in a case where a person made application for baptism in a meeting out of the district in which the applicant lives, to hold council with the members of that church in whose bounds he resides.

Y. M. 1856. Art. 9. How is it considered, where there is a church with a bishop and two speakers, authorized to baptize, &c., and the other not, and a case of difficulty occurs between two members, and is brought before the church, those three ministers being present; but the two first being relatives to the parties, they authorize the third to attend to the case, and present it before the church. The question is, would it be considered legal? Considered, legal.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 14. How is it considered, when a church has several ministers of equal standing, and none of them ordained, has the housekeeper, or have the ministers, a right to call to their assistance an ordained brother (to a church council) without the counsel of the church? They have not the right to do so without the counsel of the church. (Should this not be reconsidered?)

Art. 55. Which is the most advisable in holding council meetings, to ask each individual member for his consent, or to take silence for consent? In all weighty matters it is best for each member to answer.

COVERING OF THE HEAD.

Y. M. 1848, Ohio. Art. 6. Whether the Scriptures require that women praying or prophesying, should have any other covering than their hair, and whether it includes alike married or unmarried women? Considered, unanimously, that they all should have a covering on their heads (besides their own hair). Read 1 Cor. 11: 2-15.

In cases like the present, which concern the female portion of the church, would it be out of the way or contrary to the gospel to appoint a committee of elderly sisters (perhaps with an aged brother elder), to consider such questions and report thereon? It would seem to be consistent with the principles of equality, see Gal. 3: 28, and their verdict would perhaps have more weight with their younger sisters.

Y. M. 1856. Art. 26. Would it be proper to reconsider the 6th query of 1848? Seeing it is admitted that sisters should wear a covering, what should that covering be according to the gospel? We are satisfied, with our ancient brethren, that the plain cap worn by our dear aged sisters is a covering, as required by the Scriptures according to Paul.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 19. Inasmuch it is the order of the brethren, that sisters should wear caps, what should be done with a sister in case of stubbornness? And should there be any allowance made for the unmarried? We consider it is the duty of all the sisters to have on a plain covering at the time of worship.

DEACONS, THEIR OFFICE AND DUTY:

Y. M. 1835, Ohio. Art. 4. What is the duty of a visiting brother? First, as visiting brethren and overseers of the poor in the church, they have to assist and attend to the yearly general visit from house to house; and it is necessary and their daty, when the church is divided into different visit-districts, to take the lead in the visit as well as that of the ministers; and in case the ministers could not assist on account of sickness, it is the duty of the deacons to carry out the visit with other brethren, and to bring before the ministers and the church what they have found. Further, when anything of importance is to be investigated in the church, the ministers have the right to request them (the deacons) to accompany them, or if the case is not of special importance, to send them (the deacons) to investigate the matter and bring it before the ministry. ther, it is their duty, inasmuch as they have been elected to be overseers of the poor, to visit the sick, especially if they are poor, who may be in distress by reason of sickness or other causes, to examine their case, and to report to the ministry, and, if necessary, the ministers to hold a council with the church what is further to be done. When money or grain is contributed in the church for the poor in the church, it is their auty to keep a regular book account of what they receive, and what they lay out for the poor or otherwise for the church, so that they are able at times to render an account with and to the church. Upon the whole, all that may occur in the church and is to be investigated, is committed to their care, and if they bear of anything, to bring it before the ministers, to connsel whether it is to be examined, and to see it done if found necessary.

Further, it is their calling to assist the ministers at meeting, by reading the Scriptures, by using freedom in prayer, and to bear testimony to what was spoken; and if it should happen that no minister (of the word) could come to meeting, it is their daty to lead the worship by singing, prayer and reading the Scriptures, and if they feel so, to exhort to the edification of the congregation; yet it was the counsel of the old brethren that it is not their calling to rise on their feet in order to exhort; and thus to conclude the meeting in the usual order, and to make the ordinary appointments for meeting. Again, when a minister is called to hold meetings in another district, and he requests the visiting brethren to give him company and assistance, it is their duty to assist, and one or the other to go with him.

Further, it is their duty to serve at tables; when a love feast is held, to make the necessary preparations, to call as many other brethren as they need to assist, and at the time of the love feast to see to it that the sisters can get all things roady at the proper time, and themselves setting the tables, and so in all things see to it that everything is done decently and in order.

Y. M. 1841. Art 9. Whether a deacon or visiting brother may give testimony to what a deacon has said, while there is one or more uninisters present that have not spoken, and request him to speak? Considered, that he may if requested.

Y. M. 1843. Art. 1. Is it agreeable with the word of God for a deacon or visiting brother to stand up in public meeting and exhort, when sufficient time has been spent already? Considered, that according to the word of God "all things shall be done decently and in order," and as teaching is the proper office of the teachers, and not of deacons, they ought not to go any further than their calling requires of them where it is not necessary, and it would not be advisable for a teacher to urge them—the deacons—any further than duty calls them.

Y. M. 1838. Art. 9. Whether we have the right to appoint deacons, without laying hands on them according to the example of the apostles? Acts 6:6. Considered and resolved, to postpone the further consideration of this query to the next annual meeting.

Y. M. 1840. Art. 8. The question about laying on of hands on dea-

Y. M. 1844. Art. 1. About the laying on of hands on deacons. This query has been before the annual meeting of 1838 and 1839, and the brethren generally considered, that since there is no direct command to do so in the New Testament, and on the contrary the apostle gives advice, 1 Tim. 5:12, "Lay hands suddenly on no man," it would be best to proceed in this matter as the brethren of old have done. This is, however, laid down with this provise, that if any brother could throw more light on the subject, it might be presented again at the next annual meeting.

Y. M. 1845. Art. 11. The question about the laying on of hands on deacons having been brought again before the yearly meeting, and being of such consequence and importance, it was considered, that since our churches are not generally represented (at this time), not one brother from Pennsylvania or Maryland, and also not many of our elder brotheren, whose counsel had been given last year on this article, being present at this time, it would be best to refer this question to the next annual meeting, recommending the same to the (prayerful) consideration of all the churches.

Y. M. 1846. Art. 3. About the laying on of hands on deacons. On this much and long agitated question it was finally laid down as the safest way to continue as heretofore. The objection, that it was an apostolical order, which ought to be observed, was answered, that (even) supposing the apostles had laid their hands on the heads of the deacons, which in our apprehension cannot be made evident, as little as a single walk of a few men through a wilderness will make a road or beaten track, just as little a thing once done makes it an order; and that if the example of the chosen seven (Acts 7) having had hands laid on them, would have to be observed, as some of our beloved brethren understand it, then we would also have to imitate the example of the same church, "who had all things common, and sold their possessions and goods, and parted them to all men, as every man had need." Acts 2: 44, 45. But since we do not find in any other church established by the apostles any thing similar, and since there is also no testimony that the apostles ever after practiced the laying on of hands on the heads of deacons, our beloved brethren will not think hard of us, if under these and other considerations we abide by that practice with which so many faithful brethren in our churches have been introduced to the office of deacons and (ministers) speakers of the word.

Y. M. 1846. (Tennessee.) Art. 6. Whether a deacon can be ordered to the office of bishop? Considered, that we have no authority for so doing. See 1 Tim. 3:10 and 5:23.—Art. 7. Whether a deacon should fill up appointments in the absence of the minister? Considered, that he may by singing, praying, exhorting, and reading the Scriptures; but that he is not to preach until he is legally authorized by the church. Art. 11. Whether a deacon has a right to appoint meetings and preach without being authorized by the church? Considered, that he has no authority for so doing, but that he should try to discharge the duties incumbent upon him in the office for which he has been set apart.

Y. M. 1847. Art. 4. A request that the present yearly meeting reconsider the third query as it stands on the minutes of Y. M. 1846, concerning the laying on of hands on the deacons. It was almost unanimously concluded, that it would be better for the present to leave this subject rest as it is.—Art. 5. Would it be considered expedient for a church to elect a brother for the office of deacon, whose wife is not a member? Considered, that if he be a brother of good report, and one in whom the church may have confidence, this circumstance ought not to hinder the church from electing him to the office of deacon, provided there be no other objections. 1 Tim. 3:12.

Y. M. 1848. Art. 16. About the laying on of hands on deacons it was unanimously considered, to postpone the discussion of this subject indefinitely, until there is reason to hope that it may be done calmly and without prejudice.

Y. M. 1859. Art. 27. About the laying on of hands on deacons, when installed into office. Considered, that the brethren, after a long continued and attentive investigation of the word of God on this agitating subject in question, have come to the following

CONCLUSION.

Whereas, it is plain from the Acts and the proceedings of the apostles, that there must have been deacons in those days, and that these deacons must have been active in their office, before the seven teachers or evangelists were chosen and installed into their office; see Acts 2: 45, and 4: 35, "Distribution was made unto every man, according as he had need," from which we conclude, if distributions were made to every man, there must of course have been those that made them. Hence it is the opinion of the brethren in this council assembled, that the seven chosen and set before the apostles (Acts 6.5), were selected from among, as we might say the first class of teachers, (see Acts 6: 3, 8; ch. 8: 6, 7, 36–38; ch. 21: 8), and hands laid on them by the apostles to establish them, to settle the difficulty that had arisen among the deacons about the daily ministration, and that the seven were not deacons in the restricted sense of the word, and were never called such, the word "deacon" not once occurring in the whole book of the Acts. Therefore, the laying on of hands ought to be practiced on such old teachers that are set apart (for the office of overseers or bishops); and deacons ought to be received into their office by hand and kiss, as the practice has been hitherto with the brethren.

The following was added to the minutes of the same year in an appendix on the same subject:

Whereas, The brethren of the various churches have taken into serious consideration the subject of the laying on of hands on deacons, and could therefore come to no satisfactory decision, we have now come to the following

CONCLUSION.

First, that the seven brethren elected, Acts 6, were not elected from the common (private) members, but from the teachers and evangelists; see Acts 21:8.

Second, the business for which they were elected must have been to settle the disputes that had arisen among the then existing deacons, as such must have been already among them, since we read that "there were distributions made, as every one had need," see Acts 4:35. Therefore, as we have no evidence that hands were laid on deacons elected from among the common brethren, it is thought proper and good to proceed as the brethren have heretofore done in the election of deacons. That there were such (deacons) in the churches in the time of the apostles, see Phil. 1:1; 1 Tim. 3:8, 10, 12, 13; and we now have need of them in the church too, that is, if deacons are necessary in a church. That the church come together with the elders and bishops, and with prayer and fasting let the church proceed to choose such an one as may be pointed out to them by the Spirit of God, and receive him by the holy kiss and the right hand of fellowship. We hereby also exhort our brethren everywhere, no more after this to cite as authority for deacons the seven elected from among the evangelists, Acts 6, but only the office itself. From this mistake has originated the vexatious question which has agitated our brethren (in some parts) so long and so grievously. This, or something similar, we desire our brethren in council to place on our minutes, so that the subject may once be settled.

In citing Acts 6: 1-8, when a choice was to be held in a church for any officers, our ancient brethren were not mistaken, inasmuch as they referred simply to it as the first and in fact the only example of the apostles on record, how they proceeded in conducting the choice; at the same time, they held the principle that the church had authority from the Lord to define the duties of every officer, and to hold them responsible in their respective office for neglecting or transgressing their duties. It was only from a misapprehension of some brethren, both as to the proper application of Scripture declarations and examples, and to the proper limits of every office as understood by the old brethren, that the vexatious question above alluded to originated. If brethren in every office are truly humble, they will be satisfied with that degree of authority intrusted to them, and the manner and form by which the church has inducted them into office, and indeed it is desirable such questions would remain settled for good, and 2 Tim. 2: 23 and Titus 3: 9 were more heeded, when queries are formed, and repeatedly presented to yearly meetings.

- Y. M. 1858. Art. 16. Is it right for a brother that is a deacon to give out a hymn and sing it, ten or fifteen minutes before the time appointed for commencing the meeting, when the house or room is full of people, or is it more advisable to remain silent till the time for commencing meeting arrives? Ans. Considered, that we see no impropriety in singing, when in the estimation of the church it is done to its own edification, and to the honor of God.
- Y. M. 1862. Art. 6. Is it proper for the visiting brethren at our public meetings, when there are from three to six laboring brethren present, to rise to their feet, and line out a hymn and exhort in preference to the laboring brethren, or are they to keep their seats? Ans. The laboring brethren are to conduct the meeting, and it is the duty of the visiting brethren to exhort, when liberty is given them.

Same year. Art. 89. How is it considered, when visiting brethren will, in meeting, get up on their feet and speak, when there are elected speakers present, and sometimes speak thirty minutes or upward, and that without liberty from the speakers? If that is not in order for visiting brethren, what is the order? Is it to stand upon their feet when they have anything to say, or to keep their seats? Ans. We consider it out of order for visiting brethren to do so, without liberty being given by ministering brethren, if such are present.

Though there has been a good deal said above, at different times and on different occasions, on the office of "deacon," with which we feel agreed fully and cordially, a few thoughts, occurring to us while we transcribed the foregoing pages, may not be amiss, and we will try to put them in the form of a direct

ADDRESS TO THE DEACONS, OR VISITING BRETHREN, OF THE PRESENT TIME.

BELOVED BRETHREN—Allow us to say a few words concerning the importance of your office, and first of all, to lay before you the word of God concerning it as recorded in 1 Tim. 3:8-13, "Likewise must the deacons be grave (serious), not double-tongued, not given to much wine, not greedy of filthy incre, holding the mystery of the faith in a pure conscience. And let these also first be proved; then let them use the office of a deacon, being found blameless. Even so must their wives be grave, not slanderers, sober, faithful in all things. Let the deacons be the husbands of one wife, ruling their children and their own houses well. For they that have used the office of a deacon well, purchase to themselves a good degree, and great boldness in the faith which is in Christ Jesus."

From the very first word of this passage, "likewise," you will perceive that your office, though different in its duties, is equally important in the church as the office of a bishop If it may be said, that the bishop or overseer is or should be the right eye of the church, and he with the other ministers the mouth of the church, you are or should be the right ear and the right hand of the church. THE RIGHT EAR-to hear the faint lancatations of the poor, sick and otherwise distressed members and others-to give attention to evil reports of the moral conduct of members, which, if founded in truth, would injure the character and usefulness of the church; and "holding the mystery of the faith" and the established principles and order of the church "in a pure conscience"to watch the public ministrations of the brethren, that none but sound dectrine may be preached by them in union, and that all public meetings may be conducted to edification," decently and in order." THE RIGHT HAND-to dispense the charities of the church according to its direction discreetly and impartially-to act in all cases of complaints against members, investigating, visiting and reporting to the church—to support your faithful ministers in the legitimate exercise of their duties by your prayers, by your testimony and defense in their behalf in and out of meeting, and to present their case to the church not only for consideration, but also for active sympathy, when duty cells them too frequently from home, spending their strength, time and money in the service of the Lord, so that their families may suffer, seeing things going wrong at home, and feeling distressingly the absence of their husband and father. state of things in the families of ministers should not be overlooked by thoughtful and loving brethren, especially not by you, dear brethren deacons, whose particular province and business it is to extend your right arm to those in distress.

These few thoughts might be sufficient, together with the word of God preceding them, which inculcates the qualifications required for your office, and the great reward for a faithful discharge of your duties promised therein, to convince you, dear brethren deacons, of the great importance of your office, and the high calling to which the church has called you. But there is a still higher duty, which you may have to exercise. We are all poor fallible beings, subject to like passions as other men are, whether we be preachers, deacons or private members. Already in the primitive churches, planted by divinely inspired apostles, it happened sometimes that even the ministers became involved in disputes and difficulties with each other, and that there were such "doting about questions and strifes of words whereof cometh envy, strife, railings, evil surmisings, perverse disputings of men of corrupt minds and destitute of the truth, &c." (1 Tim. 6:4, 5.) If such a sad state of things should occur in your church, that your ministers could not agree, would not speak the same thing, and cause confusion and disunion in the church, then, brethren deacons, you that stand right between the ministers and the private members, by standing up unitedly and manfully and without partiality for the right, for order and for union, may become mediators and peace-makers by calling elders of other churches to assistance, and thus restore union and good feeling; and you know the peace-makers have been blessed with a special blessing by our Saviour.

DEALING WITH MEMBERS UPON COMPLAINTS BEFORE THE CHURCH

Y. M. 1841. Art. 13. Whether a brother or member could be judged (dealt with) consistently with the gospel, without having a hearing before the church with privilege to defend him(or her)self? Ans. Considered, that no brother or sister ought to be brought before the council of the church for any accusation, without having previous information thereof and without having the privilege of being present at the examination of the witnesses, and also of defending himself or herself according to the gospel.

This answer is good and right as far as it goes; but the question again arises: If the member has been properly not fied and invited to come before the council, and he refuses to come, or at least does not come at the time appointed, what then? Is the course of righteousness on the part of the church to be stopped in this case? We will try to answer in the fear of the Lord, according to the general practice in our churches. As the cases may be different, and the causes of the non-appearance of the member to be dealt with may also be different, the church where the case has occurred can best judge whether to go on with it or not. We will suppose three cases, such as have actually occurred in our presence. An aged brother had committed a trespass against one of the principles of the gospel to which we hold steadfastly, though other denominations do not, and wou d call the act of the brother just and right; in this case, considering the age of the brother, and not knowing whether he had been well enough in health or not to attend, the matter was postponed to another time. In another case, a crime had been committed, which brought scandal upon the church. When the guilty member was visited and invited to come before the council, and elders had been invited from a distance specially for assisting in this case, and the member did not come for very shame, sending word that the church should deal with her according to the word of the Lord, and the courch did so after the crime was established by two or three witnesses, and confessed by the member before the visiting brethren. In a third case, a similar crime had been committed, but much aggravated by the circumstances. Again and again off ires had been made to bring the matter before the church; but for a considerable time justice was baffled. At last the church felt compelled to bring it to an issue. Direct and circumstantial evidence had accumulated, brethren from a considerable distance were invited, and brethrea had specially been sent to the guilty member, but he won.d not and did not come. However, the case went on, and the ends of justice were attained to the almost unanimous, though sorrowful, satisfaction of the church; thus deciding that when a member refuses the privilege of being present at the examination of witnesses, and also of defending himself, the church cannot be prevented of doing her duty.

DEBTS, ABOUT BRETHBEN GETTING INVOLVED IN.

Y. M. 1804. Art. 3. About such brethren, who so easily and heed-lessly involve themselves in debts, and do not seek counsel, until they do not know any more how to counsel or help themselves; then they want at last counsel, when they desire and need help. It has been unanimously deemed good, that every church where such brethren live should endeavor diligently to instruct such brethren also in temporal or bodily things, that they should act considerately, and make no more debts than they can pay; and when at times their circumstances should be such that they could not see through, they should seek counsel of prudent brethren, and even the whole church is in duty bound to give counsel when requested; and if the counsel of the church should not be sufficient, it is also her duty to assist as far as possible in a case of necessity. At the same time such should be informed that if they would not receive good counsel, they should not expect or hope that the church would feel bound or willing to assist much.

Y. M. 1825. Art. 5. Whether a brother minister, that involves himself in debts, and assigns his property to his children, could serve in the ministry of the word, was considered, that when the creditors should be defrauded thereby, he should give himself over to the (judgment of the) church, and without doubt ought not to serve (in the office of a minister).

Y. M. 1832. Art. 6. How to do when a brother is indebted to another, and becomes insolvent? Ans. The church should deal with him according to the circumstances or degrees of aggravation, according to the word.

Y. M. 1841. Art. 5. Whether a brother consistently with the gospel can take the benefit of the law for insolvent debtors? Ans. Considered, that there may be cases where the involving at first, and the consequences thereupon, are not at all compatible with the gospel, and where the church could not hold such as brethren; and that there may be cases where a brother by misfortune may be brought to such extremity, and, if he were honest in his declaration, his application for the benefit of the law might even be excusable. In all such cases, however, the church has to investigate the matter, and judge according to the circumstances and nature of the case, and if the church is at a loss (in the case), to call in, as in other cases, the assistance of elders from other churches.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 30. What shall we do with brethren, of whom the world complains to the church for neglecting to pay their debts, and for causing disappointment to their creditors? Ans. If the brethren can and will not pay their debts, they should be dealt with according to the gospel as offending members.

Same year. Art. 64. How is it considered, if members owe a just debt and suffer themselves to be sued? Has the church a right to bring such members before the church (council), and investigate the case, to see whether such members have done their duty? Ans. We consider it has.

DEFENDING OUR ORDER.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 18. The brethren assembled in council in (the district of) the Valley of Virginia, being impressed with the importance of having the public more fully enlightened upon (the subject of) the ordinances, have agreed to adopt the plan at our communion meetings, when it is expedient in the afternoon service, to occupy the time in discussing these subjects before the commencement of the evening exercises. Will the annual meeting approve of this plan, insert it on the minutes, and recommend it? Ans. While we strongly recommend the defense of the ordinances, we leave it to the direction of the churches to decide the time and place of their defense.

It seems it would be always best not to infringe on the liberty of the ministering brethren to select their subjects, with which they may feel impressed at any time or place. "Where the spirit of the Lord is there is liberty." Any prescribed plan will curtail that liberty, and may prevent the utterance of such truths that might be timely, useful, and of the utmost importance.

DEVIL, HIS PERSONALITY, AND ANGELS.

Y. M. 1856. Art. 14. (1) The question concerning the reality of a devil was considered, and after comparing opinions and sentiments on the subject of the reality of such a being and his nature, we agreed upon the following view: that the Scripturos recognize a devil or an evil spirit that manifests itself in the flesh.

To assist the careful reader in forming a proper judgment in this matter, the word of the Lord is added here. The name "devil" (Greek, $\Delta \iota a \beta o \lambda o \varsigma$,) occurs no less than thirty-eight times in the New Testament, to wit:

Matt. 4:1, 5, 8, 11. Here are the facts of Christ's temptation related. If there was no personal tempter there outside of Christ, and still the temptation is admitted, then the temptation must have manifested itself in the flesh of Christ, which would be blasphemy of our most holy and sinless Saviour, and destructive to our hope of salvation through him.

Matt. 13: 39. The enemy that sowed them is the devil.

25: 41. Depart . . . into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil, and his angels.

Luke 4: 2, 3, 5, 6, 13. Compare with Matt. 4: 1, 11.

8:12. Then cometh the devil, and taketh away the word out of their hearts.

John 6:70. Have not I chosen you twelve, and one of you is a devil-

8: 44. Ye are of your father the devil.

13: 2. The devil having now put into the heart of Judas, &c.

Acts 10: 38. Healing all that were oppressed of the devil.

13: 10. O full of all subtlety and all mischief, thou child of the devil.

Ephes. 4: 27. Neither give place to the devil.

6: 11. That ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil.

1 Tim. 3: 6. Lest . . . he fall into the condomnation of the devil-

7. Lest he fell into reproach and the snare of the devil.

11. Not slanderers (Greek, Διαβολους, devils).

2 Tim. 2: 26. Out of the snare of the devil.

3: 3. False accusers (Greek, devils).

Tit. 2: 3. Not false accusers (Greek, as above).

Heb. 2: 14, Destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil.

James 4: 7. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you.

1 Pet. 5: 8. Your adversary, the devil, as a roaring lion.

1 John 3: 8. Here the word occurs three times.

8:10. In this the children of God are manifest, and the children of the devil.

Jude, verse 9. Contending with the devil.

Rev. 2: 10. The devil shall cast some of you into prison.

12: 9. And the great dragon was east out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan.

Rev. 12: 12. The devil is come down unto you.

20: 2. The dragon, that old serpent, which is the Devil, and Satan.

20: 10. And the devil that deceived them was cast into the lake of fire.

A close examination of the above passages, and many others relating to the same being—the name "Satan" occurring also some thirty times in the New Testament—will assist any sincere inquirer after truth to overcome every difficulty on this subject. The objection, that these appellations are sometimes applied to men in Scripture, will vanish as soon as the reader learns that the literal meaning of the term devit (Aiaβoλog) is an accuser, calumniator, slanderer, or an adversary, an enemy. A greater difficulty is to recoucile the existence of such an evil, ma'ignant and powerful being with the goodness and perfect character of God the Father Almighty, the Creator of heaven and earth, and who made all things good. But even this difficulty is obviated in Scripture, and by the fact that evil, wicked men do exist, and that God permitted such monsters of iniquity as Nero, Caligula, &c., to exist in times past. If we have fallen from our first estate of purity, and become sinners, and God still permitted us to live, while we were still sinners, why should we find it unreasonable that even angels, though superior to us in wisdom and power, still finite creatures of God, should have fallen from their first estate and become devils, and God permits them to exist for wise purposes known only to himself? The fact that there are angels which kept not their first estate, is expressly declared in the word of God. See Jude 6: 2: Peter 2: 4.

But while some believe too little with regard to the existence and personality, or reality as it is above expressed, of a devil, there are others who beleve too much, making of him almost a second God, all powerful and everywhere present. True, he is called the "God of this world," 2 Cor 4: 4. Admitted, also, that he is very powerful knows a great deal, is very cunning and crafty, and, what is more than all, immortal. His empire is far more extensive than our globe; for he is "the prince of the power of the air," the atmosphere which surrounds the earth, Eph. 2: 2, and has under him "principalities—powers—the rulers of the darkness of this world," Eph 6: 12. itemember, also, that he is not alone, not a single individual, but a prince or chief of devils, Matt. 10: 25; Luke 11: 15, &c.; that he has under him other angels, Matt. 25: 41—multitudes of them, for he "drew the third part of the stars of heaven" after him in his fall, Rev. 12: 4, and when "thousand thousands ministered unto him, and ten thousand thousands the great Judge on the throne), Dan. 7: 10—we may surmise that the number of falen angells amounts to many millions, united under one head; and if mankind have been enabled, by their ingenuity and the help of electricity (the telegraph), to overcome time and distance in such a manner as to bring almost all the world into immediate correspondence and connection, then it does not seem unreasonable to suppose that the ingenuity of devils is sufficiently great, and "the power of the air" (electricity) enables them to be in constant rapport with one another and with their prince, and learning all human affairs of interest to them, not only as soon as they occur, but as soon as they are spoken of by mankind, the greater part of which being under the immediate control of evil spirits, with the exception of those who have really renounced the devil and all sin, and become truly the obedient subjects of Christ, the Almighty King of kings, to whom even devils are subject. Hence, great as the power of the devil and his hosts among angels and men is, Christians with Christ on their side need not fear that power of darkness, if they are children of the light, and always on their guard and prayerful. As Christ overcame the tempter by rejecting his temptations through the word of God, and through submission to the will of his heavenly Father, even unto death, even to the ignominious death of the cross, so even the weakest Christian, standing in union with Christ and his church, will be enabled to withstand the powerful enemy of souls, and to be faithful unto death, even through Christ, and through him alone. But to deny the existence and to despise the power of the devil, and to neglect the means to escape from this power, is dangerous and foolish indeed.

DIFFERENCE IN DOCTRINE.

Y. M. 1844. Art. 7. How is considered the difference in doctrine, that some teach faith before repentance, and others repentance before faith? Ans. This query had been before a council meeting some years ago, and was answered thus: "Considered, that the difference arises when the word is not rightly divided. The apostle teaches us that the righteousness of God is revealed in the gospel from faith to faith, Rom. 1:17; and again, That he who cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him. Heb. 11:6. Out of this faith, when it is quickened, repentance will come, and when the repenting sinner hears and receives the blessed gospel, an evangelical and saving faith will issue therefrom, which worketh by love, and makes itself known by keeping the commandments." To which the brethren present fully assented.

DIFFICULTIES IN CHURCHES.

L. has done grossly wrong against brother Z., and also against brethron A. M. and M. U's. transactions, and against J. L. and J. St., and whatsoever else might have been done (of the same nature).

Further, we believe also that wrong has been committed by J. Z. against L., but not so grossly as brother L. has done. Hence it is our unanimous conclusion, that when C. L. believes in his heart and cordially makes acknowledgment before this present brotherly and member meeting, and also before - (his own) meeting, and asks for pardon, and also makes heartfelt confession for the suspicious (and offensive) expressions against the old brethren, and against L. and J. St, then we will, and it is hoped the members will bear with him in patience, and he may continue to serve as overseer in W. church. And what concerns Z., we have agreed, that when he makes acknowledgment before the members that he has also done wrong, and asks pardon, he shall also serve as overseer with L., yet so that in important matters, such as baptism, breaking of bread, receiving and excluding (members), he should not go on without L's. knowledge and consent; but with regard to holding meetings, attending funerals, and solemnizing marriages, he shall have equal liberty with brother L. Now, whoever of them will not submit to this above stated counsel and conclusion shall stand still in his office, until he is willing to accept it, and when it is accepted of both, there shall be hereafter no more heard of those things which are past. Unanimously concluded by us, the subscribers: Martin Urner, Martin Gaby, Henry Danner, Peter Leibert, Jacob Danner, Philip Engler, Michael Pfoutz, Martin Garber, John Greib, Martin Garber, Daniel Utz, Philip Levy, Valentine Pressel, Stephan Ulrich.

Y. M. 1803. Our cordial and united greeting of love to all our beloved brethren and members of the W--- church. We wish much grace, mercy and blessing from God, the Father of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, to all our fellow-members united with us in love and faith, as also especially to our dear brethren C. L. and J. Z. It is our hearts' desire that the good God would make us all faithful laborers in his vineyard; for all that were hired by that householder were hired to labor in his vineyard, to which we wish you all much grace, blessing and salvation from The cause of our present writing is this: Since we, or some of us, have been informed by our dear brother Martin Gaby, who, on his journey to us, passed through W-, and also had meeting there, that brother C. L., since the big meeting, has only been a few times at meeting, and now for a considerable time has not come any more at all to meeting, so that some brethren feel oppressed in their minds on account of the word or expression which is found in that conclusion made at the big meeting, namely, "that brother J. Z. should not go on with baptism, breaking of bread, receiving and excluding, without L's. knowledge and consent:" hereupon we, the undersigned brethren, have conversed on the matter, and are of one mind on it, and now the same as it was at that time (three years before), and is in part also expressed in said conclusion, though briefly, that we all considered that brother L. had done wrong grossly. and if he would believe it from the heart, and confess and make acknowledgment, we and hopingly the members would bear with him in patience. and then he should serve as overseer in W-, and thus should brother Z. in such important matters not go on without his knowledge and con-But if brother C. L. withdraws from the service, or from the duty of his office, contrary to the doctrine of the apostle, when he says, "If any one has an office, let him attend to the same" (German translation, Rom. 12:7), if now brother L. withdraws himself from the service of the church as overseer, so as not to attend the meetings, then he deprives himself of this honor, that brother Z. cannot counsel with him if he (bro. L.) does not attend meetings according to his duty. So it is our unanimous mind, that on this account brother Z, should not be bound or hindered to go on in his office, and faithfully discharge its duties, and prove himself a faithful laborer. But if brother L. acknowledges according to said conclusion, and endeavors to be faithful in his office, then we desire and hope the members will receive him, and not lay obstacles in his way—we mean, on account of things that are past. (Signed by most of those that signed the foregoing.)

Y M. 1814, May 28. It has been publicly treated at the big meeting, on Pipe Creek, about the lamentable disturbance and dissension which have arisen some time ago between bro. C. H. and some members of this church with him, of one part, and the old ministers and bishop, and especially P. E. and other members, of the other part. This disturbance and dissension have existed already several years, and after said old brethren and ministers and overseers in said church had made many efforts with the church to settle the difficulty with the assistance of God, the troublesome affair has got worse still, so that said old brethren and overseers of said church had no other prospect but to counsel with other or strange brethren, and have charged the beloved old brother Henry Danner to see to it, that the matter might be settled and put to rest.

Now the loving brother was concerned about it according to his duty, and has, with other strange brethren, paid a visit at Pipe Creek, and has bro. C. H. with his adherents invited to come to the council meeting. But bro. C. H. objected; he could not come on account of his sore hand, and they came not. To the loving brother Henry Danner, to whom as aforesaid was intrusted this important affair, it was a heavy burden; so he appointed another time, and requested old brethren from afar, and paid with them another visit at Pipe Creek, especially to bro. C. H. and some of his adherents, and invited them again to come to the (council) meeting. Bro. C. H again would not consent to come, and they i.d not come again, with the objection that it was not yet the time to settle the matter, and secondly, that they had not had sufficient information about the council meeting, and so they had not prepared their testimony. Then the dear brethren that had come from afar, counseled with the loving brother Danner, that this case should not remain thus, while there were members suffering under it, and some even had to depart this life under this pressure and sorrow; under these considerations, and with the advice of some brethren (of the church probably), they appointed again another meeting some mouths hence, and at once wrote and signed a letter of information to bro. C. H., and appointed some brethren to bring the letter to bro. C. H., and to read the same to him.

When the appointed time of the meeting came near, that strange brethren should have come, at least twelve, then bro. C. H. before the time went and made reconciliation and settlement with bro. P. E. externally with hand and kiss before the church, so that many rejoiced over it, and the meeting and appointment for the strange brethren was recalled. But that settlement and peace, alas! did not last long, and bro. C. H. with his adherents began again to complain against the church, and brought not only new complaints against the church, but raised also again the dispute about the land here and there, and without counsel and investigation in the church of the new complaints, and without counsel of other old brethren and bishops, and entirely contrary to the word of God and to the order of our Chief Shepherd and Bishop of his church and Head of his members, caused a division, and tore himself with other members from the church and the members, whom he had brought into confusion and mistrust against the old brethren and church with the hard and suspicious complaints which he, and others, against the order of God, have scattered far and wide; while, with all the invitations when strange brethren came, they never came to this day, in order to prove them with sufficient testimony, as it is required by the holy Scriptures or God in his word.

He has now, with those members he led astray, formed a separate congregation, and broke bread with them, not at the proper time, inasmuch as we are not to keep the feast with the old leaven, neither with leaven of malice and wickedness, but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth. Bro. C. H., with the others, have known that he was not in peace with the church, and especially with the housekeepers, nor they with him; and the Lord Jesus teaches us in these his precious words, "If thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath aught against thee, leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way; first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift." (Matt. 5: 23-24.) Those whose eyes are anointed can clearly see that the whole thing is perverse. For the Spirit of God leads into alt truth and union, and "as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons (children) of God," and "by this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if you have love one to another."

And not only this, but at said supper he has introluced strange exercises, which our dear old brethren have not had, who indeed, as we believe, walked in the light, and in the pure knowledge of the truth kept house, and entered, as we hope, into blessed rest. And as some have heard, there has been drawn a shallow reason from Christ's words to that practice, whereby that practice cannot be established, and it is to be feared that said new practice is more calculated to cause disturbance, trouble and division within, and rejoicing without among other denominations, as if the old Baptists and brethren would have now to learn from them, that they had opened our eyes, and thus seeking persons who are yet in the twilight, may be confused, thinking the old bretherhood must not have had the full light, else they would not begin new practices, and thus this would serve more to scatter than to gather, and more to the dishonor than to the honor of God

Now since this matter has thus worked from time to time, as has been briefly related, we (the undersigned) upon the request of said church, and more for the sake of (fod, have found it our duty to take the case in consideration at this occasion, namely, in said big meeting; and several brethren have visited bro. C. H. and his wife, and others of his members, before the meeting, and have invited him to come with his company, and bring his testimonies to prove his heavy complaints or accusations, in order that those members who might have committed a fault could be convinced, that there was hope, if they would, that all could be brought to rest and reconciliation. But he would not come to lay the case before the big meeting, and said there were too many judges at the big meeting—it would be better to have too few judges than too many. However, on the second day he came to the place of the meeting, and said if the matter was to be settled, the land would have to be altogether measured, and they would bear the expenses.

But the council of the big meeting considered, that with further deferring the case could not be improved, and slowly or never be brought to an end, and the measuring would scarcely contribute to that end. Yet they shall have perfect liberty to have the land surveyed, as it has been spoken about. And upon the whole of said case it has been mutually concluded by the whole council of the big meeting, inasmuch as brother C. H. was never willing to come and bring sufficient testimony to prove said accusations, we will hear and accept the testimony of brother P. E. and of all those who were accused, on their good conscience, in hope and trust as being true, until sufficient testimony should come, as the Scriptures require; and if sufficient testimony should come against one or the other, then shall be, who is concerned, submit to the council of the church, which brother P. and the accused have agreed to and promised before the big meeting. Upon this condition we declare the beloved brother P. E. and the other accused, as absolved, and intend at this and other occasions to break the bread of communion in confidence and love with them, and to hold with them full fellowship, as the Gospel of Jesus requires, and we wish them light, grace and power from God to hasten forward on the way of peace to the land of blessed rest.

Further, it was mutually concluded, that the case as above stated is wrong and contrary to God's order according to the example and testimous of the Old and New Testament of the Lord. From these weighty causes the big meeting concludes, that impartial brethren should be selected, and they should give themselves up for God's sake, to pay the church a general visit from house to house, and before the meeting takes place to visit also brother C. H., and all those who have cut off themselves with him, in a friendly manner, and to urge them to take steps toward peace, concord and reconciliation with the church and with God, in as far as mistakes have been made, and all those who should thus come should be cordially forgiven by the whole church.

But if one or the other would not accept or receive counsel according to the doctrine of Christ and his apostles, and not abstain from their error, with such we could not break bread, and would have to deny to them the kiss and church council after a long-suffering and sufficient admonition; and if brother C. H., with all his adherents, should oppose themselves, we would have to hold them, as the Lord Jesus says, "If he shall neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as a heathen man and a publican." The whole big meeting, yea, all members should be engaged and prayerful, that God would meet us with his blessing and salvation. Amen. Signed, Samuel Garber, Benjamin Bowman, George Preiss, Daniel Stober, Nicholas Martia, Jacob Besher, Samuel Arnold, Martin Garber, David Pfoutz, John Eby, Christian Long, John Schleifer, Daniel Long, Daviel Garber, Michael Etter, Heary Gibbel, Herman Blaser, George Petry, Daniel Arnold, David Albaugh, John Diel, Jacob Shenetelt, John Price, Isaac Long.

In the year 1814, November 17, the strange brethren have come again to us on Pipe Creek about the difficulties with C. H. and his adherents, and have visited and admonished them again to peace, and union, and acknowledgment; and with these lines we inform our dear members of Pipe Creek church, briefly, how we found it on our visit to C. H., and the members that have turned away from the church. What concerns brother C. H., the visiting brethren have proposed he or they should elect six brethren on their part whom they would, and they should search out their true testimonies; and the old brethren on Pipe Creek should also elect six brethren and prepare their testimonies, and then the difficulties should be settled with the help of God according to the testimonies.

Brother H. said he would have nothing to do with it, and that he would have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness. This was the amount upon the whole, upon which we told him the conclusion made at the big meeting. Likewise we have told brother J. W., upon his insolent and untrue asseverations, said conclusion. The said conclusion is, that if after patient admonition they would not return to union according to the truth of Jesus, we must deny to them according to the gospel the communion, in so far as not to break bread with them, and to refuse the kiss and counsel, until they should become repentant. We must observe here, that we have not seen any more of brother Benjamin Bowman and Nicholas Martin, after they had visited their part, and know not whether they have told the conclusion to any members. As concerning the other members, who are with C. H., it was found different; yet several have declared, that they would not fall away or separate from the old brethren; still they are halting at several points. We have told some, by hearsay and suppositions, they had got off from the church thus far. Now they should only believe what can be testified; in this way they might be restored and put right again. In this manner all the members should labor in this case with prayer and supplication to God, that by his co-operating grace all, and especially those who long after peace, could come again to peace and union with the church according to the mind of the Spirit of God and his soul-saving truth, in hope that they will reflect and choose that, what is counseled them according to the gospel, namely, to strive after peace with the church. Thus we have told the other members we visited the conclusion only in this form, that those who would continue to adhere to C. II., and go on with him in his strange works, all such would be held as is expressed in the conclusion until they would return repentant; that is, all such who would continue to break bread with him, and justify his strange baptism. Signed, &c.

We have given the above two lengthy records of an interesting part of the history of the Brethren, showing with what care, patience and long-suffering they dealt with erring members; and what are the fearful consequences of a stubborn resistance to the connect of the church and of God, became specially evident in the after life of said C. H., whom the writer was personally some thirty years ago. One by one his adherents left him and returned to the church. For a living he followed the distilling business, and at last he died in obscurity and poverty.

Y. M. 1815. In the big meeting of the Brethren's church, which was held in White Oak church with brother Joseph Hershe, May 13, 1815, the following was discussed, and held counsel on the complaints arising in different parts of the church of the Brothren concerning strange views of some members, which are deemed by us as erroneous and not founded on the holy Scriptures, which holy Scriptures indeed shall be the sole foundation of our faith. And since we live now in perilous times, in which arise many and manifold temptations, and also many errors, so that weak minds may be easily led astray and in confusion, not knowing what or how to do in order to salvation. And inasmuch now, at this time, among the many religious parties and denominations there are such whose doctrines on repentance, on baptism, and on the forgiveness of sins, through the atoning sacrifice of Jesus, and on sanctification through the Holy Spirit, seem to differ not much from those of the old brethren. only that they, according to our views, as the word teaches us, do not put every thing in the right place.

They require of a man, before he is to be baptized, that he should have passed entirely through repentance, and should have a lively experience of the forgiveness of sins, and that he should have obtained the new birth completely before baptism, so that they must confess such and be enabled to say how they came to it; and that only then they were fit to be received by baptism into the covenant of the grace of God. should have been made even such expressions in public meeting, that a man must have obtained complete sanctification first, else he would be baptized too soon, as has been credibly testified. Now for such a confession or doctrine we see no foundation in holy writ, nor a single example in the whole New Testament. Candidates for baptism were directed to repent, or to a change of mind; they were exhorted by John to bring forth fruit meet for repentance, that is, to lead such a life as would be consistent with a change of mind; and of Christ and his apostles we do not find that any more was required of candidates than besides repentance, faith in the gospel, item, faith in Jesus Christ as the Son of God. Hence we find no authority to ask more of candidates but what is founded in the word of God. We believe that haptism is the entrance into the new covenant according to the Scriptures. We also believe that the foundation which was laid by Christ and the apostles is the only foundation on which we have to build, and that we have no right to change or amend anything We believe also that the (individual) cases of repentance are very different-that some have much greater difficulties to overcome than others; therefore we make (establish) no rule herein, because the Scripture does not give any.

And since we cannot agree in the above named points, with such who hold those points as articles of their faith, inasmuch the word of God does not teach us thus, it happens sometimes that harsh expressions are made about the old brethren; for instance, "that they were a crowd of dead men who had not yet come to a new life;" "unconverted, who knew nothing yet of conversion;" "a dead heap of flesh;" "as laying all in a heap in death;" that not one (of them) had come to a newness of life, or he could not remain among them; and on account of their baptizing too soon, the life of God commenced in them was presently again extinguished, so that they could not come to the (new) birth, and so forth.

Such expressions do not proceed from love, nor will they build love. We would let these good people willingly (to enjoy their sentiments) in peace, if they would also permit us to enjoy (ours) in peace. It does not work unto union according to the command of Christ. It causes schisms and divisions. It seems as if it was the object and purpose also in our churches to fill weak members with their notions, and to cause confusion, so that many members become doubtful of their old brethren, since they are represented to them so cold and dead. And such we counsel and admonish out of heartfelt love, that they should hold fast to the word of God, and not be carried about with every wind of doctrine. And it is our advice to all overseers and householders to admonish all the members to this, that they should take fast hold of the written word of the gospel; and if it should happen that some of our members should unite with such, break the bread of communion with them, receive them in their houses to hold meetings, so long as those stand in such separation against us, they (our members) should be admonished, and if they would give heed to it, we ought to have patience with them; but if they would not hear or be advised, they could not stand in full fellowship with us. For the Lord Jesus and the apostles teach us that we should be one, of one mind, speak the same thing, and that there should be no division among us, and to this end we also labor to be obedient to the gospel of Jesus Christ by the grace of God.

Y. M. 1820. In the counsel of the assembled brethren at the big meeting in Lancaster county, Pa, in Concstoga church, at brother Joseph Royer's, May 19, 1820, was proposed for consideration in church council the disturbances or troubles arising in the State of Ohio, in Mill Creek church, by diverse doctrinal points, which have been there introduced, viz , it has been taught by brother A. M., who is a colaborer in the word, that a man must have a real experience of the forgiveness of sins, and that he must be entirely born anew before he is baptized, which has been credibly testified. And it was considered at this moeting, that there is no gospel evidence for such doctrine, and it was concluded with one accord and unapimity, that if a brother will preach and persist in such doctribe, he could not be permitted to teach; for it is not consistent with the teaching of the apostle, when he says, Acts 2: 38, "Repent, and be baptized every one of you, in the name of Jesus Christ, for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost." This is thus laid down until such brother will prove his or such doctrine on the ground of the word of God. It was also considered, that brother J. K. went too far with the harsh expressions he made against brother A. M. in presence of the brethren, and it is required of him to make acknowledgment for such hard expressions, or else we could not be well with him. The expressions were these, that he is to have said, from the teaching of brother M., there was apparent a spirit of Methodism and of the River Brethren, and an Antichrist, &c., &c.

Y. M. 1835 (Miami). Art. 1. Concerning the trouble between brother M. L. and the church, L. was carnestly admonished by the old brethren to amend his ways, not to errop into houses in order to bring members into confusion, and cause division in the church, inasmuch they (the old brethren) saw and understood what manner of spirit was in him. For if he should come so far as to speak in a traducing and railing spirit against the church, he would have to be put in avoidance.

Y. M. 1848 (Indiana). Art. 3. How is it considered, when a part, say a minority of a church, disowns the other part, or a majority of the members, without taking a legal or scriptural course, and without giving a legal notice to the lody of the church, and not showing or informing the disowned members wherein they transgressed? The difficulties in this case occupied the greater part of Monday and Tuesday, and lastly were postponed for decision until Wednes lay morning.-Art. 12. In regard to the third query of the difficulties of Bachelor's Run church with brother Oyman, Patton, and others, the brethren in general council considered, that there had been committed errors on both sides, in consequence of which many members on both sides made satisfactory acknowledgments before the meeting; and it was concluded, that with such all that is past be forgiven and forgotten, and with as many as may yet come and make satisfaction, and that they all should be received into full fellowship and brother David Fisher in his office as a speaker; furthermore, this meeting considers and counsels, that brothers O. and P., and such others that hold yet with them, should have still time to reflect, and should they come also in a reasonable space of time, and make satisfactory acknowledgments, the church should also be willing to forgive them. But if they should persist in their contrary course, going on in holding meetings in opposition to the church, and even become railers of the church, there would be no other way than to put them into full avoidance, according to 1 Cor. 5 .- Art. 13, A long letter about difficulties in the Eel River church, and requesting the a-sistance of this meeting. Considered, that this meeting feels a deep concern for our brethren on Eel river, who are aggrieved and distressed on account of those difficulties existing among them, and that we would, if possible, most willingly investigate their case fully and impartially. But having spent already three days in council, and many members having already left this meeting; being also assured that those difficulties could not be settled here, and that there would be a small hope of making a final settlement just now; and on the other hand, a hope being expressed that the time might soon come when they could be settled satisfactorily to all parties-a result most devoutly to be desired-it was concluded, to lay down this case with our most solemn warning and earnest advice to our beloved brethren on Eel river, that they should lay aside all uncharitableness, envy and evil speaking, and in all private matters of difference to take the gospel rule for a guide (Matt. 18: 15, ff.); for while ill feeling and a neglect of the word of God exists, it will be impossible to restore peace. But when they have laid down all private and family and party affairs, and are willing again to walk together in the gospel road, yet do not feel confident of being able to get into it without assistance, let them choose those who are to assist them in the work of reconciliation. Should they, however, fail in this let them apply to the next annual meeting for a reconsideration of their case.

Y. M. 1849. Art. 15. About the still existing difficulties in Bachelor's Run church, Carroll county, Indiana. Concluded in general council, that brother Peter Nead and Michael Moyer, of Montgomery, and brother Daniel Miller, of Preble, (all of) Ohio, with such other brethren as they may see proper to call to their assistance, should be a committee to visit said church, and try once more to settle the difficulties there existing.

Y. M. 1850. Art. 1. A request that counsel be given to the church on Eel river, Ind., in order that the difficulties there existing might be settled. Concluded, that inasmuch as the said church is in an unreconciled state toward one another, this meeting doth appoint brother Peter Nead, David Bowman, Jr., Daniel Miller, and Ab. Erbaugh, of Ohio, and Jacob Miller, James Tracey, and David Hartman, of Indiana, as a committee to visit said church, and assist in settling the existing difficulties.

Y. M. 1851. Art. 1. A letter from Knob Creek church, East Tennessee, concerning a confusion and division in that church. Concluded, that a committee should be appointed by the Y. M. to go to East Tennessee to assist the brethren there in adjusting their difficulties, and that this committee and others of the same character be appointed by the general committee. The following brethres were appointed for this business, viz.: B. Bowman, John Harsbberger, John Klinc, and Daniel Brower, all of Rockingham, and B. Moomaw, of Roanoke, Virginia. Art. 4. A request from brethren in Shelby county, Ohio, for a committee to examine into the proceedings of the Logau church in a case of excommunication. Concluded, that brethren George Shively and Joseph Showalter, of Stark, John Molsbaugh, of Knox, John Shoemaker, of Mohegan church, and Jacob Kurtz, of Wayne county, be a committee to visit said churches in Logan and Shelby -Art. 5. A letter about the difficulties in Salamony church, Indiana. Concluded, that brothron John Miller, of Elkhart, Henry Neff, of Turkey Creek, David Shoemaker, of Huntingdon, Nich. Frantz, of Kel river, and Abraham Moss and John Bowman, of Wayne county, Ind., be a committee to visit said church. Art. 11. An appeal to this yearly meeting from Whiteoak church, in Lancaster county, Pa., to appoint a committee to investigate, and, if possible, to settle the difficulties existing there. Considered, to grant the request, and to appoint brother Andrew Spanogle, Peter Long and Samuel Lehman, of Pennsylvania, and brother Phil. Boyle and D. P. Sayler, of Maryland, to be the committee.

Y. M. 1852. Art. I. See "Far Western Beethren."—Art. 15. The committee appointed last year to visit Salamony church, in this State (Indiana), in order to settle the difficulties there, reported that they could not yet accomplish the object of their appointment; but that there was now a prespect of doing it, and request some more brethren to be added. Concluded, that the committee should be reappointed with the addition of James Tracey, of Elkhart, and Jacob Miller, of Portage.—Art. 16. Request of a committee to go to Tiffin church, Seneca county, Ohio (to examine and adjust a case), concerning a sister, whose husband left (deserted) her, and she remained thus forsaken for seven years, but has now got a bill of divorce, and is married again. The following brethren were proposed and appointed as a committee to investigate and settle this business: Joseph Showalter, of Stark, John Molsbaugh, of Knox, John Shoemaker, of Mohegan. Elias Dicky, of Ashland, and Jacob Kurtz, of Wayne county, all in Ohio, -Art. 25. A call for a committee to be sent to Jonathan's Creek church, Ohio. The following brethren were appointed for this business, viz: John Molsbaugh, John Shoemaker, John P. Ebersole, Jacob Kurtz and Henry Davy .-- Art. 26, A request for a committee to visit two church districts in Montgomery county, Ohio. A request from the church in Fayette county, Pa., to have our dear brother, James Quinter, ordained for the office of an overseer at this yearly meeting. Concluded, that inasmuch this brother had not been able to be present here, brother Joseph Showalter, of Stark, and Henry Kurtz, of Mahoning, Ohio, be appointed as a committee to attend to this business .- Art. 30. Request from the church on Owl creek, Knox county, Ohio, for a committee to settle some difficulties.-Art. 31. R. quest from Hunterdon county, N. J., for a committee to investigate certain matters in the church there (Both requests were granted)-Art. 32. In regard to the still existing difficulties in the Coventry church, Chester county, Pa., we could see no other remedy, than either the whole church unite sincerely to submit to the advice given by the Y. M. and the committee sent there in 1854, or to establish that part of the church which is so inclined as a separate body or church; and in order to accomplish either a true reconciliation or peaceable separation, the last named committee be also appointed for this business, and likewise for that on Indian creek, referred to in Art. 21 above.-Art. 35. Concerning difficulties in Covington church Miami county, Ohio, brethren were appointed as a committee .- Art. 36. Y. M 1×58. Art. 13. If the churches demand committees by the annual meeting to visit them and to settle difficulties among them, would it be advisable for such churches to defray the expenses of said committees? Ans. The churches calling committees should defray the traveling expenses. Art. 15. Would it not be agreeable to the gospel and the order of the brethren, when the standing committee appoints committees, to go to other churches to settle difficulties, to authorize such brethren that circumstances will not permit to attend such council, to send some other ordained brethren in their places, so that there will be a full committee? Considered, that it is the duty of such brethren that cannot go to appoint others in their places, that the committee may be full—Art. 59. Requests for committees: 1st, to visit Concstoga church, Lancaster county, Pa.; 2d, to visit Painter Creek church, Miami county, Ohio; 3d, to visit the Owl Creek church, Knox county, Ohio. (They were all granted.)

Y. M. 1860. Art. 13. Requests for committees: Ist, to visit the Limestone congregation in Washington county, Tenn., to settle existing difficulties; 2d, to visit the church in Cedar county, Mo.; 3d, to visit the Ridge church in Cumberland county, Pa., to investigate grievances therein existing. (All granted, and committees appointed.)

Insamuch this practice of appointing special committees for settling difficulties in churches, and the minates do not state either the difficulties, nor how they were settled, the menuoning of the above requests for the 10-12 years before 1860 has only so much of a general interest as to give the careful reader food for reflection, why it is that so many churches year after year have difficulties and grievances, for which they must have committees from afar, in order to have them settled, and that in some cases, after the committees have done all they could, the difficulties still continue to exist, and are as unsettled as before?

But ln order to draw out from the above records some useful lessons, we will think, in the first place, of the most common

CAUSES OF SUCH DIFFICULTIES.

When a physician is called in a case of bodily sickness, it is of advantage to him to know the cause of the trouble, in order to perform a cure. He will say, "if I can remove the cause, it will be an easy matter to remove the disease by proper remedies and treatment." But not only to the physician, who desires to fu'fill his highly responsible calling in the most faithful, most conscientious and most beneficial manner, but to every intelligent purent or child, nurse or patient, it is of advantage to know and understand the most common causes of disease, in order to guard themselves or others against them. Even so it will be highly proper and useful in church difficulties to trace them to their causes. And it is a remarkable fact, that the most difficult cases had the same origin, or proceeded from the same cause, as the first great difficulty in the Christian church did; see Acts 15:1, where we read, "And certain men who came down from Judea, taught the brethren: Except ye are circumcised after the custom of Moses, ye cannot be saved."

A CHURCH NOT TO BE BLAMED, WHERE A DIFFICULTY RISES.

The church where the first great difficulty arose was the first Gentile church at Antioch, of which we read, Acts 11: 19-30, how some of those scattered abroad by the persecution came there, "preaching the glad udings of the Lord Jesus, and the hand of the Lord was with them; and a great number believed, and turned to the Lord; "how Barnabas was sent torth from Jerusalem to go as far as Antioch, "who, when he came and saw the grace of God, rejoiced," and (as it seems, after his arrival) "a great multitude was added to the Lord." Then Barnabas went to Tursus to seek for Saul, and brought him to Antioch, and they were there "a whole year," and such was their success that "the disciples were first called Christians in Antioch. Here also the first more was made "to send relief to the brethren dwelling in Index. Here in Antioch also the first move was made of sending out brethren from heir midst (that would be called now a-days missionaries) to spread the go pel in other lands and nations. See Acts 13-1-2-3. And it appears that while Paul and Barnabas were absent from Antioch on their mission, teitain believing men from Judea had come there and being strict Jews and perhaps Pharisees, they preached Moses, as well as Christ a dithing caused disturbance and contained. Who will now blame the church at Antioch for this? Or who would blame our brethren, when soon after they had settled in this country, and were engaged in the same work like Paul and Burnabas of spreading gospel truth and planting gospel churches one of their new converts arose, and preached, "Except ye keep the seventh day, or Sabbath after the custom of Voles, ye cannot be my brethren?"

NOR IS A CHURLE TO BE BLAMED, BECAUSE A DIFFICULTY CANNOT BE SETTLED AT ONCE

Undoubtedly the church at Antioch had tried to oppose error, and maintain the truth before Paul and Barnabas returned but in restoring peace and union on the point arged by the Jewish prethren they had not succeeded. Neither did foul and Barnabas succeed to make an end of the 'no small discussion and disputation with those Judaizing brethren. "But they (who?—the brethren or church at Antioch) determined that Paul and Barnabas, and certain others with them should go up to Jeiusalem to the apostles and elders, about this question. Indeed after the council in Jerusalium was held and the question was settled to the satisfaction of all present, and of the church at Antioch especially, we find long after unmistable signs in the epistles of the spostle, of the continued existence of the same error. See Gal. 5.2, b. 13. &c.

THE GOSPEL PLAN FOR SETTLING DIFFICULTIES IN THE CHURCHES,

According to the example recorded, Acts 15, and according to the law of Christ by analogy and general application of Matt. 18, 15-20 seems to be this

The church of this is in the S riptures represented as a unity as a body, of which Christ is the head as a bride as the Lamb's wife, and particular churches or conglectations are as individual members or parts of the body, consisting of all individual persons who have professed repentance for their sias and futh in the Lord Jesus Christ and obedience to his laws

2 Now as all brothers and sisters are talible and liable to err and to commit trespasses and consequently, according to the law of Christ are bound to be epen to contiction and to take counsel not only from the church and not only from a select put of it but from the very least and most Lumble ment et that may feel offended, so each congregation, consisting of fallible men and women, must acknowledge to be bound by the same law of (hist, so that if a sister church should be grieved or offended by another sister church, it is her duty to take the same course as the private brother or sister has to take in such case

3 That this gospel rule is perfectly practicable between churches as well as between private members there is no doubt if the right spirit of faithfulness and humility in love prevals. Suppose the church in A --- gives offen e to the neighboring church in B-- by toleriting things among her members which those in B - deem burtful, and contrary to the principles of the gospel Now if the church willing to obey the same liw whose observince they require of every young member, as well as old and inspired by the same spirit of love, humility and faithfulness toward their sister churches they inculcate to their members to cherish toward each oth r then the church at B- vill select two of her ministering brethrea to go to the church at A- and tell her in pin ite (first to the leading members and, if required to the membership altogether) whit grieves their members at B-- It this first eten is taken and received in the right spirit as with individuals no further step need be taken. But if the sister at A --- will not bear thee then take with thee one or two (sister churches or their representatives) more as the second step, and if she (sister A---) shall neglect to hear them (her two or three sister churches) tell it unto the church (represented in a yearly meeting) who, as the br de of Chri t, will see his laws obeyed and exe used "as it is written"

Alast that this golden rule of thrist is so much neglected? If it were not so, if members and churches were all striving to carry it out faithfully, what glorious progress would we all make toward a still higher degree of purification, holiness and peace and union in love! How soon would every trouble vanish, every difficulty be overcome, and every schism be healed! But let us remember there is a condition sine qua non, and that is, we must follow strictly the apostolic example in settling difficulties, if we desire to meet with the same measure of success as they did. How do we read Acts 15: 22, "Then the apostles and the elders, with the whole church resolved, §c.?" Let us carefully and reverantly contemplate every word of this brief part of a sentence. Then, when, after much discussion. Peter had spoken (v. 7-11), and "all the multitude became silent," satisfied with the views Peter had expressed, and now giving ear to "Barnabas and Paul narrating" what God had wrought among the Gentiles (v. 12), and "then." when James had given his testimony to Peter's discourse, and brought the question to a still more practical issue, thus confirming the people still more in their union of sentiment with the apostles, "then" resolved, who? -"the apostles" - not only the two that had spoken, or whose words were at least recorded; not only a minority, or even a majority; not only some of them, but we are compelled to believe that all the apostics present without an exception agreed in the resolution, and not the apostles only, for it is said, "and the elders," from which words we must also conclude that all those present of that character were united in the same "resolve," whether they were elders residing in Jerusalem, or elders sent as delegates from other cities or countries, "with the whole church" -not without the church, not with a part only, not with a little less than half of the church, or a minority, nor with a little more than half, which would be called a majority; no, no, it was with the whole church resolved; what they did was done "with one accord;" they all agreed, "having become of one mind." And how did this happen? "For it seemed good to the Holy Spirit, and to us" (v. 28), This explains the mystery. The apostles and elders, with the whole church, tried to learn, first, not what seemed good to themselves, to their own spirits, but what seemed good to the Holy Spirit; and after learning that, they did not wish to entertain a different opinion, but what seemed good to the Holy Spirit seemed a.so good to themselves. Will our dear brethren of this latter age learn the solemn lesson inculcated by word and example of primitive Christianity?

DISCIPLINE OF CHILDREN.

Y. M. 1789. Art. 2 Inasmuch as many of our children and young people fall into a coarse life, and a great occasion of it seems to be a want that there is not sufficient diligence used in instructing the children according to the word of the Lord given by Moses in Deut. 6:7, where we read: "And thou shalt teach them (these words which I command thee this day) diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thy house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up;" and also, the apostle Paul says, Ephes. 6:4, that parents should "bring them (their children) up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord;" it is our opinion (and advice) that there should be used more diligence to instruct our dear youth and children in the word of truth to their salvation, and that it is the special duty of the dear parents, as well as of the pastors and teachers, to be engaged herein, inasmuch as the apostle teaches, "Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof" (1 Pet. 5:2); and inasmuch as the children of the faithful belong to the flock of Christ, just as naturally as the lambs belong to the flock of sheep; and inasmuch as the word can be brought nearer to the hearts of children in a simple conversation or catechization, or however it may be called, than otherwise in a long sermon, so that they apprehend the word of divine truth, believe in Jesus Christ, and accept his doctrine and commandments, and walk therein to their eternal salvation—hence we admonish in heartfelt and humble love all our in God much beloved fellow members, dear fathers and mothers of families, as also pastors and teachers, our in God much loved fellow laborers, in the dear and worthy pame of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has given himself unto death for us, that we should die to ourselves, and live to him forever, that they would use all possible diligence, that our dear youth might be provoked to love God, and to appreciate his word from their childhood. Do not spare any labor and toil to convince them by our teaching and by our life, not after the manner, which is almost too common now-a-days, where the young are made to learn something by heart, and then to rehearse it in a light (thoughtless) manner, and then are permitted to go on in a life as thoughtless as before—but that they may give themselves up to God in an earnest life. The great Rewarder of all good will undoubtedly well remunerate you; for those that have done right shall live forever, and the Lord is their reward, and the Most High provides for them; they will receive a glorious kingdom and a beautiful crown from the hand of the Lord. Sap. 17:17.

Y. M. 1831. Art 1. Whether it was considered advisable for a member to have his son educated in a college? Considered, not advisable, inasmuch as experience has taught that such very seldom will come back afterward to the humble ways of the Lord.

Y. M. 1857. Art. 10. How is it considered for brethren, and especially ministering brethren, to adorn their children with ear-rings, breast pins, finger rings, and jewelry in general, and send them from home to have them taught music, and to procure pianos for them? Ans. Brethren should not do so.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 34. Can this annual meeting allow brethren, and especially the bishops and ministering brethren, to suffer their children, while under their control, to follow all the foolish fashions of this world, such as wearing of hoops and unnecessary ornaments of the body? Ans. We consider such things should not be tolerated by the brethren, where they can reasonably be prevented.

DISCIPLINE OF THE CHURCH. See "Order of the Church."

DISTILLERIES. See "Ardent Spirits."

DISTRICT MEETINGS.

Y. M. 1856. Art. 23. A proposal of forming districts of five, six or more adjoining churches for the purpose of meeting jointly at least once a year, settling difficulties, &c., and thus lessening the business of our General Y. M.; we believe this plan to be a good one, if carried out in the fear of the Lord.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 58. Inasmuch as the brethren in annual council of 1856 have recommended the churches to hold district or council meetings, and with this we have complied, now we wish to know whether we should take minutes of our proceedings? Ans. We consider that no question of importance acted on by the sub-district meeting should be confirmed until presented to the annual meeting for its sanction.

Y. M. 1863. Art 23. Would it not be better for the church, if this Y. M. would adopt the district meetings, so that the different States may form their districts as they may see proper? Considered, to leave this matter as it stands on the minutes of 1856, Art 23.

Y. M. 1864. Art. 13. As the annual meeting has recommended the holding of district meetings, we wish to know from it, whether it would be advisable to make a record of the proceedings of such district meetings? Ans. We would advise to keep no record of proceedings but what is to be submitted to the annual meeting.-Art 14. Does the decision of the annual meeting of 1862, Art. 58, prohibit us from taking the minutes of the proceedings of our district meetings for our own benefit? Aus. Yes; we consider that it does .- Art 31. Since the yearly meeting favors district meetings for the purpose of adjusting local difficulties, and lessening the labor of the yearly meeting, would it not be advisable to form regular districts in each State, and close them with lines, that individual churches may know to what district they belong? And if so, should not this Y M. appoint brethren in each State to form such districts in their respective States, and close them by making such lines? Ans. Yes, but we will leave the districting of the States to the churches in the respective States.

Y. M. 1866. We recommend that each State form itself into convenient district meetings. These meetings shall be formed by one or two representatives from each organized church, and we recommend that each church be represented in the district meeting, either by representatives or by letter We think it best to hold those meetings in simplicity, and as much like the common council meetings are held as possible. record of the district meetings may be kept, but not published. should endeavor to settle all questions of a local character But those of a general character, or those that concern the brotherhood in general, should be taken to the annual meeting. And all questions that cannot be settled at the district meetings, should be taken to the annual meeting. In taking questions from the district to the annual meeting, they should be correctly and carefully formed. And all queries from district meetings should be accompanied with an answer. But in case those meetings cannot agree upon any questions, then they shall be referred to the standing committee, and this shall form answers to the questions before they be read before the general council. And it is considered very desirable, and indeed necessary, that in all cases, in answering questions both in district and annual meetings, some Scripture authority, or reason, be given for the decision, though it should be done as briefly as possible.

No business can come before district meetings until it has passed through the church in which it originated. It is understood that any member falling under the council of the church, and being dissatisfied with the decision, may appeal to the annual meeting by presenting a petition signed by a number of the members of the church. Nothing in this arrangement shall be so construed as to prevent any member from presenting himself before the standing committee of A. M. to offer anything that cannot be brought before it in the manner prescribed, and the committee shall hear his case, and dispose of it according to its judgment.

DIVISIONS. See "Deficulties in Churches."

DIVORGE. (See "Adultery," where many counsels refer to this matter.) Here are some facts :

In the year 1865 eight hundred and thirty-seven divorces were granted in the single State of Obio, and if we take this as a fair average of all the States, the number of divorces in the United States in that one year cannot have been less than ten thousand. This fact is elicited from a respectable religious paper in

A correspondent in another paper, either from Missouri or Kansas, as both names are given in the article incidentally, complains "that divorced persons marrying again are treated by the church (what church is not stated) as though they were not adulterous, and frequently sim at more than ordinary excellence. A petush prude (woman), thrice divorced and four times married, seeks divorce again, with a view to (a fifth) marriage, and still retains her church connection. Should these things be?"

That this evil of frequent divorces exists not only in the West, but also in the East, is evident from the report of a special committee of unuisters in New England, appointed to inquire: "In what degree do the State laws of fivorce deviate from the law of the New Testament?" The result of this inquiry is given in a religious paper of New York, as follows:

"I. According to the word of God, there is but one legal cause for divorce, namely, fornication, by which is here to be understood either adultery after marriage, or perhaps also fornication committed before marriage with a third person. But when this latter sin was known to the other party before their marriage, it cannot afterward give a cause for divorce any more.

"2. This so defined sin justifies the offended party to seek a dissolution of the marriage covenant, though in all cases where repentance appears, it is more becoming to the Christian to forgive and forget.

"3. Christian churches in their discipline should acknowledge no other cause for divorce as legal. They cannot be guided in this matter by the civil law, but must, notwithstanding all difficulties, obey the divine law.

"4. According to the word of God, the innocent party may be allowed to separate from the guilty party in bed and board; yet both parties remain in such case bound, and neither can marry again, while both shall be living, without committing a fultery."

Without giving any more opinions of men, let us look up the word of the Lord on this delicate and important point at once.

- Matt. 5:31, 32. Here the Lord from heaven spoke in his sermon on the mount, thus: "It hath been said, Whosoever shall put away his wife, let him give her a writing of divorcement; but I say unto you, That whosoever shall put away his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, causeth her to commit adultery; and whosoever shall marry her that is divorced, committeth adultery."
- 2. Matt. 19: 3, 9. "The Pharisees also came unto him, tempting him, and saying unto him, Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife for every cause? And he answered and said unto them, Have ye not read, that he which made them at the beginning, made them male and female; and said. For this cause shail a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife: and they twain shall be one flesh. Wherefore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore God has joined together, let not man put asunder. They say unto him, Why did Moses then command to give a writing of divorcement, and to put her away? He saith unto them, Moses, because of the hardness of your hearts, suffered you to put away your wives: but from the beginning it was not so. And I say unto you, Whosoever shall put away his wife, except it be for fornication, and shall marry another, committeth adultery; and whoso marrieth her which is put away doth commit adultery."

- 8. Mark 10: 2-9, corresponds with Matt. 19: 3-6, above; vers. 10-12. "And in the house his disciples asked him again of the same matter. And he saith unto them, Whosever shall put away his wife, and marry another, committeth adultery against her. And if a woman shall put away her husband, and be married to another, she committeth adultery."
- 4. Luke 16:18. "Whosoever putteth away his wife, and marrieth another, committeth adultery; and whosoever marrieth her that is put away from her husband, committeth ad litery."
- 5. Rom. 7: 1-3. "Know ye not, brethren (for I speak to them that know the law), how that the law hath dominion over a man as long as he liveth? For the woman which hath a husband, is bound by the law to her husband so long as he liveth; but if the husband be dead, she is loosed from the law of her husband. So then, if while her husband liveth, she be married to another man, she shall be called an adulteress; but if her husband be dead, she is free from that law; so that she is no adulteress, though she be married to another man."
- 6. 1 Cor. 7:10-11. "And unto the married I command, yet not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart from her husband: but and if she depart, let her remain unmarried, or be reconciled to her husband: and let not the husband put away his wife."

From all the gospel teaches, as here stated, our brethren could not come to any other conclusion but the following: That in the New Testament there is no warrant at all for a divorce with a view to marriage, or to marrying again; that in the exceptional case, where fornication has been committed by the one party, the unocent party may separate from the guilty, but is "to remain unmarried, or be reconciled" again to the former companion, upon repentance shown by genuine fruits; that the church of Christ is bound by the above stated declarations of Christ and his apostles to guard and testify against the increasing evil of frequent divorces in our land, by discountenancing and disallowing any transgression of the law of Christ in this respect, as far as our own members are concerned. "But them that are without God judgeth." I Cor. 5: 13.

DOCTRINES, STRANGE AND ERRONEOUS.

Y. M. 1785. Our cordial and united wish and greeting of love and peace to the beloved members, brethren and sisters on South Branch, especially to the loving brethren Valentine Power and Martin Power, and all the members in your vicinity. We wish you all much grace and peace from God the Father through Jesus Christ, his dear Son, to be faithful to him from the bottom of the heart according to the guidance and direction of his hely and good Spirit, even unto a blessed and Godpleasing end Amen. Inasmuch as we have in part seen, and also heard, that there has arisen some difference in several doctrines among some brethren of your church and others, and having also seen the letter of the loving brother Valentine l'ower, which he has written to the big meeting, and heard from it his views about "carrying on war," which are to be proved especially from the words of Peter (1 Peter 2:13, ff.), so we have considered and weighed the matter in union and, we trust, in the fear of the Lord; but yet, for the sake of the word of God, we could not agree with such view, because we do not see it so, and do not understand so the loving Peter in that self-same chapter, nor in his other discourses; but God grant that we may be directed, according to his good pleasure.

First, we do not understand at all from the words of Peter alluded to, that we can give ourselves up to do violence, or that we should submit to the higher powers in such a manner as to make ourselves their instruments to shed men's blood, however it might be done. It is indeed difficult to believe that Peter, what he teaches in one place, should have rejected in another place. Therefore we cannot understand him thus, but that his mind and admonition to "submit to every ordinance of man, &c.," is something different. The question arises, How far or wherein are we to submit ourselves? and this question the loving Peter may answer himself. We find (Acts 5:28) that the higher power to which Peter and John were subjects had commanded them straitly (in our German version, earnestly) that they should not teach in this name (the name of Jesus) any more, but they (the apostles) did not obey herein. And when they were asked again, "Did we not straitly command you, &c.," then Peter and the other apostles answered and said, "We ought to obey God rather than men." It will be well, when we attend always to the sense of Holy Writ strictly; and in the very same chapter of Peter alluded to, we see clearly that Peter exhorts for conscience toward God to endure grief and to suffer wrongfully, and says even that Christ became in this our example, that we should follow his steps. Now we see that Christ always in all his sufferings endured them, and that with great patience, and never resisted or defended himself, but, as Peter says, "he committed himself to him that judgeth righteously." We see further, that our loving Saviour, though innocent, was attacked in a murderous manner by just such men as brother B, has mentioned in his letter. But the Saviour stood fast in the covenant of faithfulness, as the brother stated. In a murderous manner he was attacked, and Peter was quick and ready to draw his sword according to the legal justice of God, and struck a servant, and smote off his ear. But what says the Saviour? "Put up again thy sword into his place; for all they that take the sword shall perish with the sword." Here indeed was the greatest necessity (for self-defense), but all this time the Saviour resisted not, but he suffered patiently, and even healed the one whose ear was smote off, acting as it is written: "The righteous shall live by faith," and again, "I believe, therefore I speak, &c." Thus our Saviour had said before, "That ye resist not evil," for so he believed, and thus he spake, and thus he did.

Further says the loving Saviour: "He that believeth on me, as the Scripture has said, &c." Now we will consider a little what already at that time the Scripture was teaching about Christ and his kingdom; so we see that the holy min of God, Isaiah, says of the time of Christ: "They shall beat their swords into plough shares, and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more" (Isa. 2:4). Again says Isaiah (9:5, Ger. version): "All war, with confused noise and garments rolled in blood, shall be burnt with fire, &c." So we believe, where that fire which Christ came to kindle, where that fire burns, there will be burnt all war, as predicted; for the love to God constrains to the obedience of his commandments, as John teaches, and as Christ requires and says, "If ye love me, keep my commandments;" and his commandments aim throughout at non-resistance.

So we hope the dear brethren will not take it amiss, when we from all these passages of Scripture, and especially from the words of Peter, cannot see or find any liberty to use any (carnal) sword, but only the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God, by which we cast down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bring into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ, as Paul (2 Cor. 10:5) says.

But that the higher powers bear the sword of justice, punishing the evil and protecting the good, in this we acknowledge them from the heart as the ministers of God. But the sword belongeth to the kingdom of the world, and Christ says to his disciples: "I have chosen you from the world, &c." Thus we understand the beloved Poter, that we are to submit ourselves in all things that are not contrary to the will or command of God, and no further.

And as to the succaring of onths, we believe the word of Christ, that in all things which we are to testify, we shall testify what is yea, or what is true, with yea, and what is nay, or not true, with nay; for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil. And herewith we will conclude for this. This we intended to send you in writing with our dear brethren Daniel Leatherman, and Jacob Danner and Henry Danner. Written May 15th, 1785, at the big meeting on Big Conewago, from your brethren united in love, Jacob Saur, Valentine Pressel, Mich. Bosserman, Martin Reinhart, David Studebaker, Peter Dierdorff, Martin Urner, Jacob Stoll, Christian Longenecker, Henry Neff, Lorenz Beckner, Philip Lewig.

- Y. M. 1790. Unanimously concluded, that we desire and pray that the beloved brother Valentine P. would desist from his strange notion, because he has renounced with us before God, angels and men, all things that are contrary to the wholesome doctrine, and we believe and confess that Christ has forbidden to his followers the swearing of oaths and partaking of war. Hence we must keep to his word and truth, and withdraw ourselves from every brother that returns again to swearing and war. It is impossible for us to break the bread of communion with such a brother who pretends the higher powers were requiring such of him. For they cannot compel us, if they would, because we are to obey God rather than men. But now, thanks to God, we have such a government, that will not require of us what is against our conscience. But should there be any among us having such a conscience as to be able to fight and to swear ouths, such a one would not be of us; neither would we break the bread of communion with a minister that would baptize backward contrary to our faith.
- Y. M. 1794. We hear that there arises a strange destrine, or rather opinion, among the brethren in Carolina, and that some brethren are grieved about this matter, because some believe, say and teach the following, viz.:
 - 1. That there is no other heaven but that in man.
 - 2. That there is no other hell but that in man.
- 3. That God has no form or shape; and if a person would worship God, and would conceive in his mind God as in a human form, would imagine or believe that God had an appearance like a man, such person would do the same as one who would worship a horse or any other beast.
- 4. That God had no anger, and would punish no person on account of his sins.
- 5. That the dead rise not; for out of the grave nothing would come forth.
- 6. That they will have nothing to do with the ban (or excommunication.)

For this cause some brethren des re to hear the views or minds of the brethren (in general council), and therefore we inform the loving breihren, that the view or doctrine of the old brethren is, that we are to believe as the Scripture has said. For Christ says, "He that believeth on me, as the Scripture has said, out of his belty shall flow rivers of living water." John 7:38. Further he says, "The Scriptures cannot be broken." John 10:35. Again we see, that Christ in his whole life has looked upon the Scriptures, and has fulfilled it in all things. For when they came, and would take him, and Peter struck with the sword, the Lord said, "Put up again thy sword into his place, for all they that take the sword shall perish with the sword. Thinkest thou that I cannot now pray to my Pather, and he shall presently give me more than twelve legions of angels? But how then shall the Scripture be fulfilled, that thus it must be?" Matt. 26:50-54.

Now, to come to the before mentioned points or propositions, our dear brethren will not think hard of us because we believe, as it is written, and believe also with David, that the word of the Lord is well refined, and a true doctrine, and that we also believe with Paul, that it is our duty to bring into captivity every thought (all reason, says the German) to the obedience of Christ, &c.

- 1. Now, to come to the word about heaven. Says Moses, Gen. 1:1, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth; and the earth was without form, and void." Then no man was created yet, and Moses calls something heaven, that is not in man. And Acts 1:9. If we read, "And when he had spoken these things, while they beheld, he was taken up; and a cloud received him out of their sight. And while they looked steadfustly toward heaven as he went up, behold, two men stood by them in white apparel, which also said, Ye men of Galileo, why stand yo gazing up into heaven? This same Jeaus which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven." Here we see that there is a heaven up on high.
- 2. "That there be no other hell but that in man" We read Luke 15:22, ff. about the rich man, that he died, and that he also was buried. Now it is without contradiction, that when he died his soul and spirit have departed from the body, and have found, it seems, according to the word, the belt in which he suffered torments. So we think it would be well for us if we would on this point or word "hell" apply the doctrine of Paul, not to dispute about words. For we can notice in holy writ, that the word hell is used for different things. But we believe, as it is written, that there is a lake of fire or place of torment, in many places mentioned, which according to the word is outside of man, as we read plainly, Matt. 25:41, where Christ says, "Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels." Here we see clearly that the lake of fire is not in man, because men are sent into the lake of fire, and it says not that the fire should go into the men.
- 3. "That God has no shape or form, and if a person would worship God, and would conceive in his mind and believe God having a form like a man, such person would do the same as if he worshiped a horse or any other heast." This, it seems to us, is speaking very derogatory of God, or against God, though we believe also from the heart, that God is a Spirit, as Christ himself says, and that the true worshipers worship God in spirit and in truth. But not at all contrary to this says John, "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God." And further on, "And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, and we beheld his glory," &c. Here God has put on a visible form. Now to be sure, in his worship wan should not imagine a form or likeness of God; but if it should happen, that a person or disciple would in his worship in simplicity and sincerity toward God look to God in the person or appearance of Christ, we consider it far less culpable than for a man to worship a horse or some other beast, and deem this a very unbecoming expression.

- 4. "That God has no anger, and punishes no person for his sins" Now we believe also with John, "that God is love; and that he that dwelleth in love, dwelleth in God, and God in him;" and that God is not angry like an unconverted man, but that penal judgments proceed from love to the human family. Yet notwithstanding the Holy Scriptures or the men of God in holy writ call God's judgments God's wrath, as Psalm 90:11, "Who knoweth the power of thine anger? Even according to thy fear, so is thy wrath." Again, John the Baptist says, John 3:36, "He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life; and he that believeth not the Son, shall not see life, but the wroth of God abideth on him." And that the Lord would punish no man for his sin, we deem to be an error. Christ says himself, "Suppose ye, that these Galileans were sinners above all the Galileans, because they suffered such things? I tell you, nay; but except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish." Luke 13:2, 8.
- 5. "That the dead rise not, for out of the grave nothing would come forth." We believe, as Christ says, John 5:28, "The hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth," &c. So we read Matt. 27:51,52, "The earth did quake, and the rocks rent, and the graves were opened, and many bodies of the saints which stept arose, and came out of the graves," &c.
 - 6. Concerning the ban, see "Avoidance.
- Y. M. 1798. It has been made known to us, that last fall at the great council meeting of the brethren in Virginia there was some discussion on account of the different views of the brethren, especially those in Carolina, where a brother minister, by name John H., has defended himself in the name of his whole church before many brethren in public, and brought to light many of his own sentiments, in so far, that the brethren who still hold fast to the word of truth, according to their best knowledge, could not break the bread of communion with said John H.: would however in such serious circumstances not lightly make a full conclusion, without hearing first also the mind of their beloved old, and by many temptations, established brethren, bence this is to inform our dear brethren in North Carolina, that the case has been presented to the brethren by those brethren who have seen John H. himself, and have heard from him many of his what can scarcely be called doctrines, but rather perverse apprehensions of holy writ, and have quite unanimously concluded, that we cannot hold said John H. and all who are of his mind, as brethren, as long as they do not acknowledge the doctrine of Jesus and his apostles as a true doctrine, sent from God unto salvation, and publicly confess, according to which doctrine we are to prove all the spirits and powers operating in us, and necessarily must. lieve and confess with David, that the word of the Lord is a true doctrine and well refined; therefore we cannot acknowledge such as our brethren any more, while they contradict the Holy Scriptures in many points. This we the undersigned brethren confess and testify to hold them as other people out of the church, as long as they do not seek and keep house according to Scripture. Signed by the brethren.

P. S. (COPY.) This is to certify that I heard John H. say in his preaching, that it would be no more sin to him to get upon the top of the barn, that he was in and preaching in, and swear and blaspheme all the new found oaths and curses, than to pray to God to forgive him his sins, or to bless him in any respect; and he said, he had not served such a God that required the prayers of human creatures to forgive them their sins, or to bless them in any manner, these seven years, nor never would. Those are the words I heard, as near as I can remember.

Per me, Samuel Van Etten, Johannes Keller.

Y. M. 1800. Art. 1. (On account of the brethren in Carolina) It has been made known to us that the brethren in Carolina desire to be informed more plainly concerning the conclusion made at the big meeting on Little Concwago, May 26, 1798, where it was concluded in union about brother John H., and all who are of his mind, that we could have no followship with him (and them) as long as they persisted in their erroneous doctrine, contrary to Holy Scripture. And since it is requested to inform them why and for what cause it was done, we should specify by name the causes, for which we can have no more fellowship with John H and his sympathizers—this is to further inform them, that the chief causes were already mentioned in a letter from the big meeting held on Shenandoah, Virginia, October 20, 1794, as follows, viz: that there arises a strange doctrine or rather opinion among the brethren in Carolina, and that other brethren are grieved by the same. (The six points are given above, Y. M. 1794.) These six chief points have been specified in the above mentioned letter of the big meeting with the answer, as the old brethren have given their views and doctrine in refutation, which letter. as we presume, has been sent to the brethren in Carolina, and they are all desired to read the same at pleasure. Then again at the big meeting which was held on Little Conewago, May 26, 1798, the same case was once more viewed by the old brethren, and also the Germantown brethren have sent their opinion by letter from br. Sander Mack, wherein it is sorrowfully lamented, that among the little flock of the Taufs-Gesinnte in America there should arise men who deny the resurrection of the dead. and that among brothers and sisters some had to have the misfortune to have their eyes smeared by that old, mouldy and horribly stinking leaven of the Sadducees. And in addition a written testimony has come to hand about John H., that he should have said in his preaching, which two truthful men have heard him say it, and have testified to it. postscript above.)

Behold, much beloved brethren, in view of all the unscriptural doctrines and expressions, we have been moved (compelled) to exclude from the fellowship and membership of the Lord Jesus at that big meeting of May 26, said John H., and all that are in union with him in such views, and we confirm again that conclusion unanimously in our great meeting of the brethren to-day, renouncing all fellowship with each and all such persons as hold such doctrines and views, as are stated above, until they acknowledge their error and repent. Still we look upon this case with sadness and heartfelt grief, and wish them (grace) of God in Christ Jesus, whose mercy endureth forever, that they may earnestly reflect and consider what may make for their peace and everlasting sulvation, while yet it is the accepted time, and the day of salvation. This we desire from the bottom of our hearts, that the good God through the tender mercy of Jesus Christ would give and bestow to them and us for his merciful love's sake. Amen. So much from us, the undersigned brethren, assembled with one accord, and delivered to the hands of our loving brothren, who also in words will make it known to you in the name of the whole fraternity.

Y. M. 1815. See under the heading of "Difficulties in Churches."

Y. M. 1846. (Tenpessee.) Art. 1. How would it be considered for any brother to declare in public that God did not foreknow all things, and that the plan of salvation was not laid before the fall of man? Considered, that no brother would preach that doctrine, in that it is dangerous and anti-gospel: "for known unto God are all his works from the beginning of the world." Acts 15:18.

Art. 12. How is it considered, if a brother, in preaching, declare that our Saviour in speaking to Nicodemus (John 3:8), where he says, "the wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh or whither it goeth: so is every one that is born of the Spirit," means a spirit of delusion or error? Considered, that it is an erroneous view, and that it ought not to be preached, and that Christ undoubtedly had reference to the same Spirit spoken of in the preceding verses, and that the things of the Spirit are spiritually discerned by those that are born of the Spirit.

Y. M. 1847. Art. 6. How is it considered, if a brother preaches up the doctrine that Jesus Christ himself baptized, and contends so hard for it, that it has already caused a division in the church? Considered, that the brethren present at this Y. M. unanimously believe that Jesus did not baptize, but his disciples, as recorded John 4:2; and they also admonish such a brother not to speak so any more, and if he should still persist in so doing, that he shall not do it in the name of the brethren. Art. 7. How is it considered, if a brother preach a sentiment on a part of Scripture, that would not be in accordance with the general views of the brethren, yet made good doctrine; whether it would be agreeable to the rules of the brethren to make it a question at the general council meeting, and forbid him to preach it, or condemn him for it as erroneous, without first reasoning with him, or taking the counsel of the church wherein he lives? Considered by the brothren present, that no accusation should be brought before the general council meeting against a brother in such a case, unless he first have had a hearing before his own church.

Y. M. 1849. Art. 24. How is it considered, when a brother, who is a deacon of the church, holds and defends the views of the Romanists and other sects? Considered, that such a brother should be visited by the brethren, and admonished; and if he still persist to hold and defend such views and practices, contrary to the views of the brethren, he could not be continued as a brother:

Y. M. 1853. Art. 15. How would the brethren hold a teacher that had preached, "there was no such a being as a devil, and that there was no serpent that beguiled Eve in the garden of Eden; that it was only the lust that tempted her and every one;" but after being admonished, promised not to teach nor argue said doctrine, yet still harbors the same belief? Considered, that such a teacher was admonished right, that he should not preach such doctrine; and if he should still persist in holding such sentiments, the brethren could not hold him as a teacher or even as a member. He should be admonished to search the Scriptures, which are able to make him wise unto salvation.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 37. How is it considered, when one brother preaches that there is no baptism of the Holy Ghost now, but that it is only the gift of the Holy Ghost which believers receive, while another brother prays for the Lord to baptize with the Holy Ghost? Ans. We think it best for no brother to preach that there is no baptism of the Holy Ghost now, but in praying we should pray for the gift of the Holy Ghost.

Y. M. 1859. Art. 3. How is it considered, if a minister would publicly teach that water baptism is not for the remission of sias, but that a person must have an evidence within that his sins are pardoned before he is a fit subject for baptism; and also would differ with brethren in the mode of electing brethren for the ministry; and likewise claim that all members, both male and female, have a right to admonish and exhort? Ans. Considered, that it is not according to Acts 2:38, and 22:16, to teach that a person must have an evidence within that his sins are pardoned before he is a fit subject for baptism, and that we know of ao better way for the brethren to elect their ministers than that which has been practiced heretofore. And concerning members exhorting without being authorized by the church, we think they should not do so in the church in our public or general meetings, according to 1 Cor. 14:33-35.

DUTIES, GENERAL, OF ALL MEMBERS, WHETHER OFFICIAL OR PRIVATE.

Inasmuch there is no minute of our yearly meetings extant, specify ing the duties of members generally, we copy the word of God.

I. Matt. 22:37, 38; Mark 13:29, 30, "The first of all the commandments is, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength." Luke 21:36, "Watch ye, therefore, and pray always, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and to stand before the Son of man." Phil. 4:6, "Be careful for nothing, but in every thing, by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known unto God." 1 Thess. 5: 17, 18, "Pray without ceasing. In everything give thanks." Eph. 5:20, "Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ." Matt. 4:10, "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve." Matt. 6:6, "But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father who is in secret; and thy Father who sees in secret will reward thee openly." Heb. 10:25, "Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as is the custom of some, but exhorting, and so much the more as ye see the day approaching." Rev. 15:4, "All nations shall come and worship before thee."

11. Matt, 22:39, Mark 12:31, "And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." 1 Pet. 4:8, "Above all things, have fervent charity among yourselves." John 13:34, 35, "A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another: by this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another." John 15:12, "This is my commandment, that we love one another, as I loved you." Heb. 13:1, "Let brotherly love continue." 1 Pet. 1:21, "See that ye love one another from the heart fervently." 1 John 4:20, 21; Mark 9:50, "Be at peace with one another." 2 Cor. 13, 11, "Be of one mind, live in peace." 1 Thess. 5:13, James 5:16, "Pray one for another." Eph. 6:18, "Praying always, for all maints." 1 Thess. 4:18, " Comfort one another." 1 Thess. 5:11, " Edify one another." Heb 3:13, " Exhort one another daily." Rom, 15:14, "Admonish one another." Matt. 18: 15, " If thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell kim his fault.' Luke 17:3, "If thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him." Eph. 4:2, "Forbearing one another in love." Eph. 4:32, "Forgive one another." Heb. 13:16, "To do good, and to communicate, forget not." Matt. 5:44, "Love your enemies." Let this suffice as a very imperfect sketch of Scripture precepts of duty.

ELECTIONEERING AND ELECTIONS (POLITICAL).

- Y. M. 1813. Art. 2. Further, it has been considered in union concerning electioneering, namely, giving votes for officers or men for the assembly or congress, in order to elect them to their several offices. Inasmuch as the appearance of the times into which we have come are grievous (it was the time of the war with England), and inasmuch as party spirit has risen so high in the kingdom of this world, that men, and even the heads of government, are among themselves at variance, therefore it has been viewed in union, that it would be much better if no votes were given in at elections for such officers (by the brethren); for so long as there is such division of parties, we make ourselves suspicious and unpropitious on the one side, on whatever side we may vote. Thoreby every one that desires to be defenseless (or non-resistant) may readily see what might be best (for him to do). Moreover, is (not only) our land and (but also) almost all empires engaged in war (in Europe especially); hence it was considered to be best to give in no vote, else we might perhaps assist in electing such that would afterward oppress us with war. To pray diligently for our government we believe to be our duty, and to call upon the Lord we think will be most acceptable.
- Y. M. 1828. Art. 2 Whether brethren may go to the elections? It is the opinion of most of the brethren that we should keep ourselves free (clear) of them.
- Y. M. 1835. (Miami.) Art. 7. Concerning going to elections and serving as jurymen. It was considered in both cases, that brethren should hold themselves loose as much as possible, or entirely, which is best. Particularly, no brother should take part in electioneering at an election, which is deemed very hurtful, and should not be among brethren, &c.
- Y. M. 1837. Art. 7. How is it considered, if members go to the public election and vote, or even previously electioneer for the annidates of office? It is the advice of the old breshren to keep ourselves also in this respect as free as possible, and rather not go to the election; and as regards electioneering, it is the sense of the brethren, that according to the word no brother ought to interfere (or entangle himself) so far with the offices and government of this world.
- Y. M. 1839. Art. 5. Whether a brother may give his house for halding a (political) election in it? The answer was, No; it should not be.
- Y. M. 1849. Art. 33. Is it safe and proper for the humble followers of Jesus to go to the elections, and take an active part in the political affairs of the country? Considered, as it was always the advice of the older brethren, and as the anointing (I John 2:27) will teach every sincere follower of Jesus, that it would be safest in regard to political elections to remain as neutral as possible, and rather than go to the election, to commit the matter in prayer to the care of Him who setteth up and removeth rulers.

- Y. M. 1859. Art. 17. Concerning going to political meetings and elections. Considered best not to attend any such at all, inasmuch the true Christian belongs to another kingdom.
- Y. M. 1863. Art. 18. Inasmuch as some brethren manifest a desire to prohibit brethren from voting at our common political elections, do not the brethren in yearly council see it the best to make no change differing from the counsel and practice of our ancient brethren in these days of trouble? In the present crisis we recommend that brethren abstain as much as possible from attending elections, according to John 18:36 2 Cor. 6:14-17.
- Y. M. 1864. Art. 1. In no less than four papers the question is presented, whether it is right and proper for a brother to go to or take part in political elections, it being specially stated that it had caused hard feelings and disunion? Ans. We have been led to think that at all times it would be best and most consistent with our profession, and specially most proper and safe in the present critical state of things, to have nothing at all to do with politics, and entirely to abstain from voting. See 2 Cor. 6:14-17; also Min. of A. M. 1863, Art. 18.

ELECTIONS FOR OFFICERS IN CHURCH. See " Choice."

EMANCIPATION OF SLAVES.

- Y. M. 1782. Concerning the unchristian negro slave trade, it has been unanimously considered, that it cannot be permitted in any wise by the church, that a member should or could purchase negroes, or keep them as slaves. But concerning brother John Van L. who had bought a considerable time since a negro wench, and the same has given birth already during that time to four children by fornication, it is the united and cordial counsel of the brethren, that the said brother L. shall let the old negro weach go free from this time on, and shall tell her that she is free. But if she will not leave him, after he has given her liberty, then he may enter with her into a contract for her wages. But this setting free or emancipation shall be done before some brethren as witnesses of the transaction. Concerning the children, it is also unitedly considered, that he is to give the children free at the age of twenty-one years, and is to have them schooled and provided with (food,) raiment and bedding during the time, as it is just and proper; and when they are twenty one years old, he is to give them a free (new) dress. Still it is our cordial desire and counsel, that if the old negro wench would not like to go away, he (who was her master) should use all diligence to prevent such unchaste life, and lay it before her earnestly, and if she would be free, to give her her free papers, &c.
 - Y. M. 1797. (Virginia.) It was considered good and also concluded unanimously, that no brother or sister should have negroes as slaves, and in case a brother or sister had such, he (or she) has to set them free. And in case a person is drawn by the grace of God, who has negroes, and desires to be received into the church, then it is to be laid before him (or her) before being received by baptism into the church, that it is the brotherly and united counsel, that brethren and members having negroes for slaves, and thinking that they could not at once emancipate them, may hold them so long as the nearest church may deem that they had earned the money, and then according to the counsel of the church to let their slaves go out free with a good suit of wearing apparel (frei kleid) as is given to a white serve. And if they (the slaves) have children, they shall stay with the brother as servants, until they are twenty-five years old; he is to have them taught reading and writing, and bring them up in the fear of the Lord, and when they enter upon their (26) twenty-sixth year, to let them go out free with a good suit of clothing (frei kleid). Further it is considered, if a brother, contrary to this conclusion, would purchase negroes, and would not emancipate them, he would have to be considered as disobedient, and we could have no fellowship with him until he sets them free.

Y. M. 1812. Art. 5. Concerning the slave trade and slaveholding, it was considered, that it is a most grievous evil, and should be abolished as soon as possible.

Y. M. 1813. Art. 1. With regard to the slave trade and slaveholding, it was unanimously considered, that it is wrong, and that it belongs to the iniquities of Babylon, making merchandise of souls of men (Rev. 18:13), and that it is carried on by the spirit of this world, and is contrary to the good and holy Spirit of God, by whom all the faithful souls, dedicated to God, are ruled, and led into all truth, and are to come out according to the counsel of God, of Babylon, not touching the unclean thing, that they be not partakers of her sins, and receive not of her plagues. Hence it is unanimously and in union considered, that no member, neither brother nor sister, shall purchase or sall negroes, and keep none for slaves; members should also with all diligence restrain their children from it, as far as it is possible, while they are yet out of the church. Further it was concluded, if there were members having slaves, or persons who wish to be received into the church, and have slaves, that they might hold them in a proper way so long as the church near which they live may deem it necessary for the slaves to earn the money they had cost, and then, with the counsel of the church, they are to be set free, with a good suit of clothing; and if there are any who have not bought, but inherited their nagroes, they are to be liberated as soon as the church consider it right and proper. And if members have negro children under their care, or even as slaves, they shall bring them up in an orderly manner, teach them also to read, and keep them, if males, to the age of twenty-one years, and if females, to the age of eighteen years, and then, with the counsel of the church, emancipate them, with a good suit of wearing apparel. Further it has been unanimously concluded, that if members having negro slaves, will not set them free, and thus oppose themselves to the order of God and the loving counsel of the old brothern, who are indeed servants and stewards of God, and even the united counsel of the whole yearly meeting, then after sufficient admonition they would have to be held bound (according to the word). We would have to deny such members the breaking of the bread of communion, the holy kiss and the brotherly counsel, yet according to the word of the apostle Paul to admonish them as brethren or sisters.

Y. M. 1837. Art. 10. How is it considered, if a brother buys and keeps slaves, and also sells them again? Considered, that it could in no wise be justified in a brother according to the gospel.

Y. M. 1853. Art. 9. Concerning slavery. How shall any branch of the church proceed in ease an individual wishes to become a member who is in possession of a slave or slaves, and the law of the State in which they reside is such, that they cannot manumit them in safety without transporting them beyond its (the State's) limits, and as we are aware that the several States where slavery does not exist are contemplating and passing streamous laws prohibiting their emigration thither, &c.? It seems indispensably necessary for us to adopt some other plan than hitherto practiced, in order that the church should be kept clear from the evils of slavery, and that such persons may be enabled to come into Christ's kingdom. The questions involved were considered too important to be decided upon at once, and therefore (it was) concluded, to intrust this matter to a committee to report thereon as soon as possible. The committee to consist of the following brethren: Joseph Arnold and B. Moomaw, of Va.; John H. Umstad, Sam. Lehman, Isaac Price and David Bosserman, of Pa., and D. P. Sayler and Henry Koontz, of Md. Art. 14. How is it considered for a man who is a brother to purchase a man or woman upon condition that such slave shall be free or emancipated after serving the purchaser a certain number of years, agreed upon by the slave and his purchaser without consulting the church? Considered, that no brother should do so without the counsel of the church, and we believe the better way would be to have nothing at all to do with slavery in any shape or form whatever.

Y. M. 1854. Art. 1. Report of the committee appointed last year on the subject of slavery (see Min. 1853, Art. 9). The question having been, How shall any branch of the church, &c.? (see above). Agreeably to the ninth query of Y. M. 1853, concerning slavery, the committee appointed to report on the same have had this subject under serious consideration in the fear of the Lord, and do report as follows:

First. Under no circumstances can slavery be admitted into the church. Secondly. In all cases, where a holder of a slave or slaves wishes to become a member in the church, he be required to manumit all his slaves before baptism, upon the following conditions: the males to go out free at the age of twenty-one years, and the females at the age of eighteen years. All those over and above these ages when manumitted, are to be paid by their former owner such a sum, either in money or goods, as may be judged right by the church in which the case may occur, and which is considered as the best judge, being acquainted with all the circumstances, as a compensation for their services over age. This will enable the manumitted to emigrate to a land of liberty, and will relieve the conscience of the liberator from the burden of taking with him to the bar of God the wages of oppression. This report was adopted after a lengthy discussion by the meeting.

Y. M. 1857. Art. 6. As the subject of slavery has often been before the annual meeting, and as it has always been considered that no brother can, according to the gospel, hold a fellow-creature in bondage, to which we say, Amen—what then is to be done with brethren who do not observe the advice given by the yearly meeting in this or any other respect? Ans. That such churches or members should be visited, and if not willing to liberate their slaves, they shall be dealt with according to the gospel manner of dealing with all gross transgressions.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 15. How is it considered, if a minister defends and justifies slavery, even in a public debate? Ans. It is utterly wrong for any brother to do so, according to Matt. 7:12.

Y. M. 1863. Art. 5. What should be done with a brother who would preach that slavery was right according to the Scriptures, and cause discord among the brethren? Inasmuch as the brethren always believed, and believe yet, that slavery is a great evil, and contrary to the doctrine of Christ, we consider it utterly wrong for a brother to justify slavery either in public or private, and that he should be admonished, and if obstinate shall be dealt with according to Matt. 18.

EXCLUDING MEMBERS.

Y. M. 1848. (Indiana.) Art. 3. How is it considered, when a part, say a minority of a church, disowns the other part, or a majority of the members, without taking a legal or scriptural course, and without giving a legal notice to the body of the church, and not showing or informing the disowned members wherein they transgressed? The difficulties in this case occupied the greater part of Monday and Tuesday, and lastly were postponed for decision until Wednesday morning. See Art. 12. Art. 12. In regard to the third query or the difficulties of Batchelor's Run church with brn. Oyman and Patton and others, the brethren in general council considered, that there had been committed errors on both sides, in consequence of which many members on both sides made satisfactory acknowledgments before the meeting, and it was concluded, that with such all that is past should be forgiven and forgotten, and with as many as may yet come and make satisfaction, and that they all should be received into full fellowship, and brother David Fisher in his office as speaker. Furthermore, this meeting considers and counsels, that krn. Oyman and Patton, and such others that hold yet with them, should have still time to reflect, and should they come also in a reasonable space of time, and make satisfactory acknowledgment, the church should also be willing to forgive them. But if they should persist in their contrary course, going on in holding meetings in opposition to the church, and even become railers of the church, there would be no other way than to put them into full avoidance, according to 1 Cor. 5:11.

Y. M. 1852. Art. 17. How are churches to proceed in the following case? A brother being cut off from the church with an excluded party, and afterward becomes guilty of adultery. Considered, to hold him as the church does such party. See 1 Cor. 5:13, "But them that are without, God judgeth."—Art. 19. How is it considered, if a brother is legally expelled from the church, and afterward is taken sick, when he calls for the brethren and requests of them to be anointed, and the brethren do anoint him, knowing that he is excluded from the church? Considered, that according to gospel we have no right to anoint such as are not in fellowship with the church. The word (James 5:13, ff) goes only to the faithful.

Y. M. 1859. Art. 29. Can a minister who is not ordained, with the counsel of the church, expel a member, or must there be an ordained elder present? Ans. It is not necessary for an ordained elder to be present, if the member to be expelled is a private member.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 40. Has a church a right to exclude a member before informing him of the charge they have against him; and if not, what course should a member pursue, that has been disowned that way? Ans The church has no right to do so without duly notifying him, and if they do so, he is entitled to a rehearing, with the assistance of elders from other churches.-Art. 45. Is it in accordance with the gospel for the standing committee of the yearly meeting to send a committee into a church, if desired by such that are expelled from the church according to Matt. 18, the church having no knowledge of it? Ans. No; but the church which has expelled him should call a committee, if the expelled member requests it .- Art. 46. Is it according to the word of God, for such persons as are excommunicated from the church council, the salutation, and the communion, according to Matt. 18, to come before the committee, and can their complaints against members be received as evidence? Ans. No -Art. 47. How is it considered, when two members of the church, a visiting brother and his wife, see another visiting brother intoxicated; afterward these two brothers visit the church and commune together, and some two months afterward, the first brother named and a private brother saw the same brother again, as they thought, with too much liquor. Still there is no complaint made to the church until some six or seven months after the first transgression, though there have been two or three church meetings held in the time. Then the first brother named lays in a complaint. What is now the duty of the church in this and like cases? Ans. We consider both parties are in fault, and . they should be dealt with according to (the word). Matt. 18 .- Art. 49. Should the hand be withheld or offered as connected with the admonition, in admonishing a brother? Ans. We consider that the right hand of friendship may be offered, supposing it to be included in the admonition. (The question is not very explicit, but was enswered probably under the supposition that the question was referring to an excommunicated member.)-Art. 56. Is the testimony of one witness sufficient authority to expel a member under any circumstances, when the accused denies and objects to the testimony? Ans. One witness is not sufficient in general, but we will not say that under no circumstances one is not sufficient.

EXCOMMUNICATION. See "Avoidance," &c.

EXECUTORSHIP.

Y. M. 1821. Art. 2. Whether an ordained or private brother may serve as executor, where he knows beforehand that the law must be enforced, has been likewise considered, that it should not be according to the gospel doctrine. But inasmuch as many brethren are in such a position, the counsel is, to have patience with them, until they can get through with it, yet so as not to break the bread of communion with them. Since, however, an executorship is very difficult for brethren, it was deemed necessary to adopt measures to obviate or lessen the difficulties. And inasmuch as every parent (or other person of sound mind) has a right to make a will according to his own pleasure without being interfered with by the authorities, to divide and distribute his property, and also to select his executors, and to order them what they are to do, and how to do it (the testator may insert in his will the following clause), namely: "I nominate and appoint A. B. to be sole executor of my estate, to settle, pay off and collect, &c., as far as the rules of our church and the gospel will admit of," &c.

Y. M. 1834. Art. 8. How is it considered, if a brother, being a minister, is, as executor of an estate, obliged to put the law in force? Considered, he should do nothing without the counsel of the church.

FAR WEST BRETHREN.

Y. M. 1850. Art. 25. There is a body of people or brethren in the fur West, whose dectrine and practice is somewhat different from ours. Some of our brethren live near or almost among them. Now the question arises, are the brethren privileged, according to the gospel, to hold communion with them under existing circumstances? Considered, that according to the gospel and the constant practice of the church, it would not be advisable for brethren to commune with them until a union is effected, and they are agreed to practice according to the ancient order of the church, 1 Cor. 4:17.

- Y. M. 1852. Art. 1. Proceedings of a council meeting, held Nov. 22, 1851, in Adams county, Illinois, by the brothren known as the Western brothren, with propositions for a re-union with the body of our brothcrhood, represented in this meeting. After the differences having been stated, and considerable conversation had on the subject, it was finally concluded, that this meeting does not feel satisfied, how a full and true union can be obtained on the propositions made by the Western brethren, and that therefore this matter should be postponed until the dear brethren in the West become better acquainted with the grounds of our practice, and meanwhile we should exercise charity and Christian love toward them .- Art. 2. A letter from Jefferson county, Iowa, referring to the differences existing between the brethren called the Western brethren, and those of our brethren settled around and among them from the East, and wishing to be guided in their intercourse with them by the council of this meeting. Considered, and answered by the foregoing decision.
- Y. M. 1855. Art 29. Request for a committee to (go to) Illinois to confer with the Far Western brethren or a committee of them, to investigate the differences in doctrine and practice existing between them and us, and report to next annual meeting. Granted, and brother A. Mass, Christian Long, John Metzger, Samuel Lehman, James H. Tracey, David Hardman, John Bowman, Daniel Fry, D. P. Sayler, John H. Umstad and James Quinter, appointed for this business.
- Y. M. 1856. Art. 14. The committee appointed last annual meeting to visit and confer with the Far Western brethren or a committee of them, to investigate the differences in doctrine and practice existing between them and us, submitted the following REPORT.

- May 8, 1856. We, the brethren who constitute the committee appointed by the German Baptist church at our last annual meeting to visit the Western brethren (who recognize brother Wolfe, of Illinois, as their bishop), by the grace and favor of God, were permitted to meet at their meeting house, where we were received on the most friendly and Christianlike terms, and after different queries were proposed for our deliberation, the three (or four) following being considered the most important, we proceeded to make our report accordingly as follows.
- 1. The question concerning the reality of a devil (which seems to have been doubted by some of them) was considered, and after comparing opinions and sentiments on the subject of the reality of such a being and his nature, we agreed upon the following view, that the Scriptures recognize a devil or an evil spirit, that manifests itself in the flesh.

- 2. On the doctrine of universal salvation, which denies punishment hereafter (a doctrine which never obtained foothold in our brotherhood, and while a good many of our ancient faithful brethren may have beld the doctrine of restoration, and many of our dearly beloved brethren may still hold it, the prenching of such doctrine was, as far as our information extends, never countenanced in our church), we cordially agreed with brother Wolfe, "that all men shall receive hereafter according to the deeds done in the body, whether they be good or bad."*
- 3. On the subject of feet-washing, brother Wolfe is firm in the opinion that one person should both wash and wipe the feet of a number of brethren (or among the female part of the congregation, one sister the feet of several sisters), and then another, and so on, until all are washed; but he is willing to conform to the practice of the brethren in general when in communion meeting with them, and begs for forbearance on the part of the brethren in general until they shall all come to see alike.
- 4. Brother Wolfe is likewise strongly of the opinion, that no time should be spent between the eating of the supper and the breaking of the bread in the communion, but that the whole ceremony should be prosecuted without intermission or delay.

It is the sincere desire of brother Wolfe, that however these sentiments may clash with the general practice of the brethren, they may not be considered a sufficient cause why they should not be received in communion and fellowship with the brethren, with which views we, the committee, unanimously agree, and present this our report to the brothren in general council met, for their deliberation and concurrence. Signed by David Hardman, J. H. Umstad, J. H. Tracey, A. Mass., John Metzger, S. Lehman, C. Long. (Thus it was entered upon the minutes without note or comment.)

Y. M. 1859. Art. 35. Several communications were sent to this annual meeting from the brethren hitherto distinguished as Western brethren. From these communications we shall give some extracts, as we have not room upon the minutes to give them entire.

* It is somewhat singular, that this report is so worded, that by it the fact cannot be ascertained on which side the error has been entertained, and which party stood up for the truth, as the Scriptures say. Indeed it would appear rather by the statement allove, as if our committee had been in favor of Universalism (on the shady side of the truth), and finally had to agree with brother Wolfe in the express declaration of inspired light and truth. Now out of love to the truth, and to the church that has always professed to abide by the sure word of truth, and out of love to the brethren forming that committee, who would certainly not wish to leave their report to posterity open to misapprehension, also no less out of love to those Western brethren who have so nobly come forward to promote the cause of union among us, we must merely state, that the impression among our brethren, of the Western brethren holding and preaching Universalist doctrine and denying future punishment, was one of the causes that their re-union with us was somewhat retained.

"Beloved brethren: We, the brethren in Adams county, Illinois, met together in council, to take into consideration the course we had best adopt in respect to the yearly meeting. On account of the great distance we are from the place of meeting, and none of us being in a situation suitable to take up such a journey, we have concluded to send you these lines, to inform you that after we received the minutes of last conference, held in Indiana, we called a church council, and we concluded for the sake of union in the brotherhood to adopt the minutes of the last Y. M., and we intend to carry them out as near as circumstances will admit of. . . . We further state, that we are willing to counsel and be counseled by the Y. M." Signed by elder George Wolfe and others, by order of the church.

The following extract is from a letter from Sugar Creek church, Sangamon county, Ill: "We have unanimously agreed to be fully united with our beloved elder brethren, to counsel and be counseled. And we have put in practice the order of receiving and baptizing members, non-swearing, and non-conformity to the world." Signed by elder Isham Gibson and others, by order of the church.

From the brethren in Hurricane Creek district, Bond county, Ill.: "Dear brethren in the Lord: Considering your love and care for us as manifested by your kind forbearance and long-suffering to usward, we in love to you and all saints, thought it good to send to you this epistle, and also brother Daniel B. Sturgis, delegate from this district, witnessing that we desire full fellowship and union. And we unanimously agree to be counseled by the brethren, and submit to all the decisions of our beloved brethren in conference. We believe the best good of all is maintained by a full subjection to the decisions of the yearly meetings published in the minutes." Signed by Daniel B. Sturgis and others, by order of the church.

The following is the expression of this annual meeting upon the subject referred to in the above communications:

"Whereas, it is known that what have been called the Western brothren have not heretofore been in perfect union with our charches in observing the ordinances and regulations in the house of God; and, whereas, a number of communications have come before this council meeting from said brethren, expressing a strong desire to be in full fellowship with our brotherhood, and promising to submit to and to be governed by the rules by which we think the house of God should be governed, therefore, considered, that we have cause to thank God that the efforts made to bring about a union have been so successful, and we are now happy to recognize them as being in full fellowship with us."

FASHIONABLE GARMENTS, &c.

Y. M. 1804. Art. 8. Concerning the evil which grieves God and angels in heaven, and also the faithful souls on earth, namely, the new fashions which are in vogue in the world, and also here and there are believers who gratify too much the last of the eye (Num. 15:39), and conforming therein themselves to the world, and especially our youth is corrupting itself herein so much, that the Lord has almost cause to complain, that all flesh has corrupted its way; therefore it has been unanimously deemed good, that the bishops and ministers, as also all fathers and mothers of families, should use all diligence to counteract such things, that they might spread no farther, but rather be put out of the way; especially when persons desire to be received (in the church), it should be laid before them, that such things are contrary to the wholesome doctrine, and that it is their duty to deny themselves, and when they are willing to lay them aside, then they may be baptized in hope, that they will permit themselves further instructed, &c.

Y. M. 1822. Art. 6. How is it considered, when members will not receive the loving counsel of the brethren on account of high fashions of the world, which had been considered for the third time in the big meeting, that if a member had been admonished in love once and again (without effect), we could not break bread with them. But now at this meeting it was considered, that if they would not accept the loving counsel, we could not have full fellowship with such members according to the gespel. Also such who permit or approve the high fashions in their children, who are still under their control, especially housekeepers in the church, who should be examples of the flock (could not be fellowshipped in this).

Y. M. 1834. Art. 11. Concerning high fashions and conformity to the world. Considered, a great evil in many respects.

Y. M. 1840. Art. 7. About the more and more increasing evil, that members conform so much to the world in building, house furniture, raiment, &c., and even to have a string of bells upon their horses at sleighing. Considered, that all the brethren and members, and especially teachers (ministers), ought to oppose and labor against this growing evil, and to avoid the tinkling of bells as improper for brethren.

Y. M. 1846. Art. 10. About pride in its various forms, which is creeping into the church, it is thought highly necessary that the yearly meeting instruct and urge it upon all the overseers of the churches, to see especially to that matter, and protest strongly against all manner of superfluity and vanity, such as building fine houses, and baving paintings, carpetings and costly furniture, &c., together with the adorning of the body too much after the fashion of the world. We believe that we should deny ourselves and abstain from these things, especially the laborers in the word, who are called to be examples of the flock.

Y. M. 1847. Art. 9. How is it considered, if a brother or a sister should have two suits of clothes, one of them plain to go to meeting in, and one after the fashions of the world to go to other gatherings in? Considered by the brethren present, that it is very unbecoming for members to do so, and that it would be the duty of the teachers faithfully to admonish such brethren and sisters, again and again, if necessary, not to conform to the world in their dress and habits, as the apostles also have warned as. See Rom. 12:1, 2:1 Tim. 2:9; 1 Pet. 3:3, 4.

Y. M. 1849. Art. 3. Can it be allowed for brethren to wear fur or cloth caps, and sisters to wear trimmed straw or leghorn bonnets? Considered to be inconsistent with the word of God, and therefore it ought not to be.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 6. How are we to proceed with members that come to our love-feasts from other congregations, and who when they leave home are dressed after the gay fashions of the world, and during the day change their dress several times, and put on in the evening a plainer dress to go to the communion table? Is it enough simply to admonish such members, or should the church in which they live be informed? And must we indeed commune with such members, when some of the members in the church are much grieved by their conduct? Considered, that it is wrong for members to do so, but they should not be debarred from the privilege of communing until the brethren of the district in which they live have been informed, and until they have been reproved, and afterward continue disobedient. (A new question might arise from the above questions, which should be deeply considered according to the word of God, namely: Can faithful and earnest members, who are grieved at such frivolous conduct as stated in the first question, having seen and noticed it during the day and before the communion, sit down in the evening at the Lord's table, and at the time of self-examination see such members at the same table; can those faithful members then say to themselves, that they have done their duty toward these failing members, without having given them a note of warning? Perhaps you think they are in danger of eating and drinking of the sacred emblems of a Saviour's dying love unworthily, and still you do nothing to prevent it.)

Y. M. 1861. Art. 3. Inasmuch as the brethren have decided in conference, that members who would not conform to the order in dress as generally practiced by the old brethren and sisters, that they could not have the privilege to the communion; but as this does not restrain them into the order, we wish to know whether the church has the right to deal with them as offenders, when they will not conform in dress or to wearing caps, and leave off wearing hoops? Considered, that such members should be admonished, and that warmly too, to lay aside all superfluities, and conform to the order of the church; otherwise they must and will be regarded as disobedient members. See Rom. 12.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 34. Can this annual meeting allow brethren, and especially the bishops and ministering brethren, to suffer their children while under their control, to follow all the foolish fashious of this world, such as wearing of hoops, and unnecessary ornaments of the body? Ans. We consider such things should not be tolerated by the brethren where they can reasonably be prevented.

Y. M. 1863. Art. 3. How are we to deal with sisters wearing hoops? They should be admonished once and again, and if they will not heed the admonition, they should be dealt with according to Matt. 18. See Min. 1861, Art. 3.

Y. M. 1864. Art. 7. When the apostles prohibit the wearing of gold and pearls, 1 Tim. 2:9, 1 Pet. 3:3, are gold watches to be included? Ass. As the carrying of gold watches may, and is likely to lead to pride, we think it advisable not to wear them .- Art. S. How is it considered by the brethren in yearly council assembled, in relation to the members who do not conform to the order of the brethren in the wearing of apparel. and in the wearing of their hair, but follow the fashions of the world? Ans. We think that the ministering brethren should heartily admonish, and arge the members to conform to the order of the brothren, and set them a good example, and if those who are admonished again and again, and that by the church too as well as by the ministers, will not hear, the word of God directs us what to do with them, Matt. ch. 18th .- Art. 10. Is it considered right according to the gospel for a minister to wear a soldier's overcoat when in the pulpit, or at other times; and if it is not, how is such a brother to be dealt with, if he should continue to wear it after being admonished? Ans. It is considered not advisable for any brother, whether a minister or private member, to wear any military ctothing; and if he is admonished, and still persists in being disobedient, he should be dealt with according to the 18th chapter of Matthew.

Y. M. 1866. Art. 27. Inasmuch as pride and an inclination to follow the fashions of the world are still increasing among us, in wearing fine apparel, frock and sack coats, dusters, shawls, &c., with the hair parted off to one side, or shingled and roached, mustaches, &c., the sisters also wearing fine apparel, going without caps, wearing hoops, hats, veils, overcoats, jewelry, &c., and as admonition in some cases has not effected anything, cannot this yearly meeting propose some plan by which this growing evil may be arrested? Ans. We think members of the church conforming to the fashions of the world as above stated, should be admonished again and again, and if they will not hear the church, the Saviour has given directions in Matt. 18, how to deal with them -Art. 47. The following resolution was proposed to the annual meeting by a district meeting, with a request that it be adopted: Resolved by this annual meeting, that the churches throughout the brotherhood enforce plainness of dress, and a plain manner of wearing the hair and beard, upon the preachers and officers of the churches. By plainness of dress we mean the common order of giving shape to dress as practiced by the old brethren and sisters generally, and by plainness of hair we mean the hair parted on the top of the head, or all combed back in a plain manner, or combed straight down all around the head, and not having the hair and beard trimmed according to the custom of the world. Considered, that the annual meeting unanimously adopt this resolution, according to Rom 12:2; 1 Pet. 1:14, 1 John 2: 15, 16; and that all preachers and officers that follow the fashions of the world in the foregoing particulars, violate the order of the gospel by doing so, and render themselves liable to be brought under the council of the church.

FAST DAYS.

Y. M. 1850. Art. 42. Is it consistent with the gospel for the brothren to recommend to the churches a day of fasting to be observed annually, and to have it published in the minutes of the annual meeting? Considered, inasmuch as the gospel teaches us to fast and pray, to always pray, and never faint; and the great Teacher says a certain species of evil spirits cannot be cast out but by fasting and prayer; we hope that every Christian shepherd will teach his flock to pray and fast oftener than once a year, as we do not know the time when he that gooth about as a roaring lion may tempt or deceive us. (The gospel does not appoint special times for meeting; but if we would not set a certain time, day and hour for meeting, how could the children of God meet at all? So if the perilous times into which we have come seem to require that all the children of God everwhere should unite in prayer and fasting, how could it be done with one accord and at the same time, unless the time is appointed and made-known beforehand? Should the example of the king and people of Nineveh, and its gracious answer by God, have been in vain recorded for our learning? See Jonah 3:6-10.)

Y. M. 1853. Art. 20. Whether brethren should observe days of fasting appointed by the President of the United States, or by the Governors of the respective States in which we live? Considered, that brethren should pray always and not faint, and also to fast as often as practicable. But considering Rom. 13:1-7, and also 14:5, 6, it shall be left optional with the churches and members to observe such days or not, as they are "fully persuaded in their own minds." (When the Lord said by the prophet to his people Israel, "Seek the peace of the city whither I have caused you to be carried away eaptives, and pray unto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shall ye have peace," Jer. 29:7, it would certainly be no offense to God now to unite with the people generally in fasting and prayer for our country.)

FEASTING AT FUNERALS. See "Funerals."

FEET-WASHING.

Y. M. 1812. Art. 2. Concerning feet-washing, inasmuch as it has happened sometimes that members are permitted to have their feet washed by other denominations, who also practice feet-washing at their breaking of bread, yet not quite according to the word as we can understand it, it is considered advisable that it should not be proper to take part in such imperfect exercises, &c.

- Y. M. 1822 (Miami.) Art. 3. Whether there should be something of the supper on the table at feet washing, it was the unanimous agreement in the council of the great meeting, that it should not be.
- Y. M. 1833. Art 5. Whether the supper must be on the table at feel washing? Answered as before.
- Y. M. 1841. Art 2. Whether the brethren practice feet-washing strictly according to the gospel? Considered, after much conversation and reflection, that feet-washing as practiced hitherto by the brethren is according to the word, and that the mode as far as we could learn until now, could in nowise be improved.
- Y. M. 1845. (Virginia.) Art. 12. About practicing feet-washing more according to the example of Christ, it was considered as in 1841, that our practice hitherto was according to the word, and that we could not improve it.
- Y. M. 1846. (Tennessee.) Art. 8. Is it obligatory for all the members of the church to wash feet, to follow the example of Christ? Ans. That we should make no change in the observance of this ordinance; but that every member should as soon as possible fulfill this command, "Ye ought to wash one another's feet."
- Y. M. 1848. (Ohio) Art. 21 Whether it would not be more according to the word in St. John's gospel, 13:15, that a brother should both wash and wipe his brother's feet? Considered, that the brethren still think as they did seven years ago in this respect. See Min. of 1841, Art. 2 (above).
- Y. M. 1849. Art. 89. Whether it would not be more according to the gospel in the observance of fict-washing, for the brother at the head of the table to wash and wipe the feet of the brother on his right hand, and that brother to wash and wipe the feet of the next, and so on around the table? Considered, that as this question has been so often before the council, and (decided) that the manner of its observance could not be amended, we are still of the opinion, that the command is fully obeyed if we wash our feet (inter cinanden) among one another, as rendered by the German translation. But we would recommend to each brother and sister, at the earliest opportunity to obey the command to wash, and that in washing the members should change frequently.
- Y. M. 1854. Art. 10. As there is some difference of opinion respecting John 13:5, the question arises, whether one and the same member shall perform the double act of washing and wiping the saints' feet? ('onsidered in the same light as it was in 1849, Art. 39, that the manner of feetwashing could not be amended, inasmuch as the command is fully obeyed in the way we observe it. See about feet-washing under the heading, "Far Westera Brethren"

FORM OF AFFIRMATION

- Y. M. 1821. Art. 4. How far a brother is at liberty in giving testimony to speak the truth before the higher powers, inasmuch different forms are presented to brethren? Considered, that a brother by no means should take the liberty to lift up his hand, but should obey simply the counsel of the gospel, saying yea, if it is yea, and nay, if it is nay; "for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil."
- Y. M. 1822 (Canton.) Art. 5. Concerning the form or proposing oaths in order to save one's conscience for the gospel's sake, whether we could answer with yea such a form, "And this you do under the pains and penalties of perjury;" it was considered, if a brother were grieved herein, let him counsel whether there was no other form for us.

FORM OF WORDS IN BAPTISM. See "Baptism."

FORM OF WORDS IN SOLEMNIZING MARRIAGES.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 9. Would it not be advisable for the annual meeting to make a form for the brethren to perform (solemnize) matrimony; Ans. It is thought not advisable.

FREE-MASONRY, &c.

- Y. M. 1804. Art. 5. What is to be done with brethren who join the Freemasons? Though we are not sufficiently acquainted with this (secret) association to judge in the case, still there are revealed many trifling things, frivolities and unfruitful works, so that it is considered to be highly improper for brethren to be members in their association, or to have fellowship with their works. Therefore it has been manimously concluded, that in case there are brethren defiled therewith, they should be admonished in heartfelt love, and informed, that if they wanted to be (remain) in fellowship with these (masonic) brethren, we could not have fellowship with them; and if after such admonition they would not hear or receive counsel, we would have to avoid them, and could have no fellowship with them; but if one were contaminated with this, and would repent from the heart (and renounce all further fellowship with that association), in faith and hope, he might be received again in the name of Jesus Christ.
- Y. M. 1828 Art. 1. Whether a brother can belong to the Freemasons and still be a brother (in the church)? Considered, that it cannot be.
- Y. M. 1848. (Indiana.) Art. 5. Whether brethren, and especially teachers (ministers) can consistently with the gospel and our holy profession attach themselves to the Freemasons and the society popularly called the Sons of Temperance; and if not consistent, how is the church to proceed in such a case? Considered, that whereas the Holy Spirit testifies by the apostle Paul, 1 Cor. 11:39, "He that eateth and drinketh unworthely, caseth and drinketh demanation to himself, NOT DISCERN-ING THE LORD'S BODY,"—and, whereas, we are informed in holy writ, that the Lord's body is his church, of which we desire to be members, as he is the Head; from such and other considerations and declarations of the word of God, the brethren have always believed, and still believe, that it is not only unbecoming and wrong, but highly dangerous for brethren to attach themselves to such secret societies or any association of this world, and if they should do so, they should be visited in love, as the advice was forty-four years ago in a yearly meeting at Pipe Creek, and admonished to withdraw themselves from such; and if they should acknowledge their fault before the church, the members might bear with them. But in case of a minister of the word having gone so far as not only to attach himself to such secret societies, but also to act as their chaplain and orator, it was considered, that such a brother ought to be silent in the church, until the members should feel renewed confidence in him again.

- Y. Y. 1852. Art. 27. Is it according to the gospel to receive a man into the church, belonging to the order of Odd Fellows? Considered, that it is not, unless he is willing to withdraw from and renounce that order.
- Y. M. 1855. Art. 19. What to do with a person wishing to become a member, and confessing to be a Freemason, yet not willing to renounce them? Considered, that no person could or should be admitted into the church unless he shall previously renounce all connection whatever with Freemasonry, or any and every other secret society with which he may have been connected.
- Y. M. 1859. Art. 4. As secret societies seem to be multiplying, and as many young men around us join them, and as some undertake a defense of them, it seems necessary that our minds need to be frequently stirred up upon this matter. Then as we profess to be followers of him who said, "In secret have I done nothing," will the yearly meeting through its proceedings come up to the side of our Lord? Ans. We consider that members should not participate in any secret or oath-bound societies whatever, and if after they have been duly admonished, they persist in such participation, we consider the church is justifiable in excommunicating them .-- Art. 10. If a brother has held meetings according to the 6th article of the minutes of 1858-there being few members, and none of the ministers of the district in which the meeting was held, present-and would to his knowledge receive a person that is a Freemason into the church, without renouncing more of Masonry than just the wearing of the badge and the marching in parade, and the ministers and members of the district in which said member resides would afterward require a full renunciation, and he would refuse, and still claim the privilege of attending lodges, &c., justifying himself by saying be had made no such promise at his reception. What shall be done in such a case? Ans. If such a brother shall refuse to hear the church, he shall be dealt with according to Matt. 18:17.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 11. Inasmuch as there are so many secret societies, such as Freemasons, Odd Fellows, Sons of Temperance, &c., and as the members of Christ's church are not allowed to belong to any of them, would it not be best to ask all applicants for membership, whether they belong to any secret order, and if they do, to inform them that they must renounce all such before they are received into the church? Ans. If there is a suspicion of any applicant for membership having followship with such societies, we think it not wrong to ask such question.

FUNERALS.

- Y. M. 1819. Art. 6. Whether it is not displeasing in the sight of God, that there is so much conformity to the world at finerals, with the superfluity of drink as well as the superabundance of catables, besides what is needful and proper? Considered, that all superfluity in meat and drink, together with all extravagance in clothing, is an abomination in the sight of God, which we ought to avoid by all means, that the body of Christ may not be mixed up so much with the body of the world (especially at such solemn occasions as funerals).
- Y. M. 1844. Art. 11. Whether our brethren have the liberty in cases of functals to let preachers of other denominations preach in their houses? Considering circumstances, such as a burying-ground on the farm of a brother, the weather being inclement, &c., such liberty could not be denied to brethren.
- Y. M. 1851. Art 19. How are the brethren, when called upon, to proceed in holding funeral services? Considered, that according to the general and ancient practice of the brethren, we would advise, that in all cases the services should be begun and concluded by singing and prayer.
- Y. M. 1856. Art. 8. How is it considered, when a brother of another district is solicited to preach a funeral sermon, and fails to attend, and the brethren who reside in the district attend and preach the funeral of the decease, and afterward the elder, who is a relative of the deceased, has the funeral preached over again? Considered, that elders ought to be careful not to wound the feelings of their fellow-laborers by sending for others to do their work over again.
- Y. M. 1859. Art. 29. Is it right to give liberty to other denominations to preach funeral sermons in our meeting-houses? Ans. It is right, especially if preached on the day of the funeral.
- Y. M. 1866. Art. 7. Is it according to the order of the gospel for brethren, being mourners, to keep their hats on in time of funeral services, at prayer, and preaching, &c.? And should brethren dress their dead after the fashion of the world? Ans. We think not, for the apostle says, "It is a shame for a man to pray or prophesy having his head covered," I Cor. 11. And we think a white shroud becomes our dead the best.

GRAIN SELLING TO DISTILLERS.

Y. M. 1835. Art 9. How is it viewed for brethren to sell grain to distillers? Considered, that it should not be, especially if grain is scarce and high in price. Besides, it was mentioned of the abuse and harm which comes from what is made by the distiller, and that brethren should take no part in it, and by no means use distilled liquors for a common beverage, nor offer it to those that work for them.

HIRING SLAVES.

Y. M. 1845. Art. 3. In regard to hiring slaves, it was considered, little better than purchasing and holding slaves, and that it would be best for a follower of Jesus Christ to have nothing at all to do with slavery.

HOOPS IN FEMALE GARMENTS. See "Fashionable Garments."

HOUSE-KEEPING IN CHURCHES. See "Difficulties in Churches'

Y. M. 1799, 1803, &c., also, "Order and Discipline of the Church." Y. M. 1804. Our cordial and united greeting of love to our beloved brethren, especially to brothers C. L and J. Z., and also to brothers Jacob H and John G. We desire and wish you all that may tend to the glory of God, to the salvation of souls, and in the edification of the church asmuch it appears that brother C. L. assumes more authority in the service of the church than it pleases us and the church, and brother J Z. has given more out of his hands than is pleasing to us and the church, so that it causes pressure and offense, therefore it is our loving counsel to you, that you should keep house in the service of the church in union and concord, so that brother C. L. should make the commencement in meeting (preparatory) to prayer, and then it is all the same who is speaking first; and when the meeting is to be brought to a close, then the beloved brother John Z. is to make the conclusion. At the next meeting the loving brother J. Z. is to make the beginning, and it is immaterial who may speak first, and when the meeting is to be closed, the loving brother C. L. shall conclude, and so on. In important matters brother Z. should do nothing without counseling with brother L., and so likewise should brother L. do nothing without counseling with brother Z., so that union is preserved. But he who will not keep house thus, and give satisfaction to the church, and will not accept the apostolic counsel of love of the beloved old brethren, such should be silent, and cannot serve the church in his office. Further, if a person desires to be baptized, and makes known a preference by which brother he would like to be baptized, then that brother, with the counsel of the church, is to satisfy the candidate and forward him. With these lines we have given nothing new, but adhere to the conclusion which has been laid down already six years ago by the beloved old brethren. We have further to notice, that there were very rude expressions made by brother L., saying that there is gone forth a spirit of Satan, and rules in the church, and of this J. Z. is the head, &c., and even the church has been compared to the rebellious company of Korah. Such should be acknowledged and recalled by all means.

HYMN BOOK.

Y. M. 1849. Art. 38. Whether our hymn book now in use could not be improved by a better selection? Considered, that the hymn book we have answers our purpose very well.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 23. What does the annual meeting think of taking the preparatory steps for producing a new hymn book? Referred to next annual meeting.

Y. M. 1860. Art. 9. We the brethren assembled in general district council at the Valley meetinghouse in Botecourt Co, Va., desire that the brethren in the annual council meeting of 1860 devise some plan or way to remodel, or enlarge by appendix, our hymn book, so as to satisfy the wants of the brethren. Ans. To comply with the above request, this annual meeting appoints a committee of five to make a new hymn book, with the understanding that as many of the hymns in the present book as possible be retained. The following brethren constitute the committee: James Quinter, O., Samuel Garber, Ill., John Mezger, Md., John H. Umstad, Pa., John Kline, Va.

Y. M. 1861. Art. 14. That we are in favor of postponing the revision of our hymn book. Considered, since a committee was appointed by last yearly meeting to attend to this business, and circumstances preventing their action, we are in favor of extending the same committee to consummate the work assigned them at their earliest convenience.

INFARES.

Y. M. 1827. Art. 11. Whether we may be allowed to hold infares? Considered, that it (such things) belongs to pride, extravagance and vanity, and should not be among members.

INSTALLATION OF MINISTERS. See also " Choice and Installation," &c.

Y. M. 1846. Art. 9. (Pennsylvania.) Is a brother, that was a speaker or deacon, and has moved into another church, properly re-installed in his office, if an ordained brother takes the counsel of the chu.ch, and announces the same to him, without he being received by the members with hand and kiss? Considered unanimously by the elders, that inasmuch as he was properly received into his office by the church in which he was chosen, he would be sufficiently established.

INTEREST FOR MONEY TAKING.

Y. M. 1783. Art. 2. Concerning taking interest, it is considered, that no member should take interest for his money, inasmuch in the law of God it was expressly forbidden, and Christ says that the Scripture cannot be broken (John 10:35); and inasmuch the dear and chosen vessel and faithful apostle Paul says, that Christ became the end of the law, and yet the word of God and also divine knowledge teaches, that in order to become partakers of Christ it is required to deny ourselves entirely of all those things which are contrary to the word and command of God: therefore, we exhort again heartily and unitedly, that such members, who might be involved in this point, should think of better things, and have more regard and respect for their denied Lord Jesus and his truth, and wish them faith and the grace of God heartily.

Y. M. 1822. (Canton.) Art. 10. Whether it be right for a follower of Jesus to take interest, was considered, that neither the law nor the gospel gives us such privilege, and that it should not be among the membership.

Y. M. 1834. Art. S. Whether we may take interest from a brother? Considered somewhat differently, but our (charity) moderation should be known, and we should be willing to lend to the poor without interest.

Y. M. 1835. (Miami.) Art. 2. Concerning taking interest. Considered not allowed by the gospel, and brothren should beware of usury (unlawful interest) especially.

Y. M. 1837. Art. 9. How is it considered, if members take more than lawful interest? Considered, that this ought to be by no means, and if a brother should do so, he ought to be visited, and if he would not take advice, we could not be satisfied with him.

Y. M. 1845. (Virginia.) Art. 4. In regard to usury and increase, it was considered, that it was against the law of Moses, and could not be otherwise than against the gospel of Christ, which commands us "to lend where we hope for nothing again." We should be very careful not to ask or take more than lawful interest, and keep an open hand for the poor, and to lend them even without interest.

Y. M. 1850. Art. 29. Is a member, brother or sister, not as justifiable in buying lettery tickets, as in purchasing bank stock, or taking 8 or 10 per cent. interest on money loaned to a brother? Considered, that buying lettery tickets is very wrong; taking more than lawful interest is worse still; and taking stock in a bank ought to be avoided also by brethren. One wrong can never justify another.

Y. M. 1856. Art. 1. What is to be done, according to the gospel, with brethren who take more than lawful interest, and are not willing to be subject to the decision of the annual meeting of 1836? The gospel directs the subjects of Christ's kingdom to be subject to the laws of the laud; therefore, no brother should take more than the law allows. If he doth, he should be dealt with according to Matt. 18, and required to restore what he has taken unlawfally.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 61. Is it consistent with the gospel and the order of the brethren, for wealthy brethren to make it a rule or custom, when they lend money to poor brethren or others, to make those who borrow the money pay the tax on the money, when they receive interest on the money? If not consistent with the gospel, what is to be done with such a brother? Ans. We think it is not consistent with the gospel to take more than lawful interest. See Luke 3:13. We think such a brother should be admonished by the church, and if he will not hear the church, he should be dealt with according to Matt. 18.

Y. M. 1863. Art. 9. If one brother should demand and receive more interest from another brother than the law allows, and the latter acquiesces for years, but finally becomes dissatisfied, must be make the complaint to the church, or commence in the ordinary way, by going first privately to the offending brother, &c.? Ans. The dissatisfied brother should proceed according to Matt. 18, and the offending brother should refund the lawful interest as far as the church in which both reside may judge equitable.

The different views expressed at different times on this subject of "taking interest." requires a note of explanation. The circumstances of brethren and others prior to the settlement of the Western States of our country were similar to those of ancient Israel, that is, in both cases there was little occasion for borrowing money, except when the borrower was in absolute want and distress. In Canana the land was distributed by Joshua among all the tribes and families of Israel, without money and without price, enabling every one to dwell under his own vine and fig tree, and possessing a nook of land sufficient to airnish all the necessaries of a simple and frugal life by proper entitivation. In our own country from its first settlement wild land could be bought at nominal prices of even a fraction of a dollar per acre, and at a long credit without interest, until the purchaser could raise the money out of the land itself. And not only wild land, but also well improved farms could be bought some fifty years ago in the Atlantic or old States, by making a first payment of perhaps the fourth, fifth or sixth part of the per-chase money, and dividing the balance into twelve or more small annual payments, all without interest, at least until the bonds became actually due. This being the general custom of those primitive times, we can readily understand, why the brethren then discountenanced the taking of interest in toto, simply because in nine cases out of ten the cause of one's horrowing money was, as stated above, actual distress. But times, customs and circumstances have changed. Population and wealth have most wonderfullyincreased; towns and villages have grown into cities, and are multiplying daily; land and every other kind of property became more and more valuable, at least in the thickly settled parts of the country, and could no longer be bought on a long credit without interest. Even the public lands in the great Northwest could not be had any longer on credit, since it was found that many settlers in the new country, who had paid one-half of the purchase money, forfeited that by being unable to pay the balance of their dues, and lost eventually the land, with the improvements they had made thereon. Thus it came to pass that ready money became so valuable, that even farmers found it sometimes advantageous rather to pay interest than to do without the money. At any rate, with the increase of trade and commerce the custom of borrowing and lending money on interest became almost universal, and after brethren had been paying interest for years, when their circumstances became changed, so that instead of borrowing money they had money to lend, the question was seen in a different light, from what it was seen before, and the old saying became true in this mat-ter, that circumstances alter cases. If it is wrong to take interest for money lent, it is wrong to pay or promise to pay interest for money borrowed, too; but it is more wrong still to break our promise, and refuse or neglect to pay or fulfil what we engaged to do, or on the other hand, to exact what is due to us too severely, and become oppressors of the honest poor, because we have a legal claim on them. God forbid that brethren should do either.

INTOXICATING DRINKS. See "Ardent Spirits."

INVITING MINISTERS OF OTHER DENOMINATIONS. See "Admitting Strange Ministers."

Y. M. 1846. (Tennessee.) Art. 5. Whether we should give liberty to preachers of other denominations to speak in our stated meetings? Considered, that it would not be allowed according to the gospel. See 2 John 9:10.

JEWELRY FOR MEMBERS TO WEAR.

Y. M. 1853. Art. 8. How shall we proceed in case we have a love feast, and a sister or sisters come from another congregation to our love feast who wear (g dd) ear-rings or jewels, whether we have a right to take them in council, and if not willing to lay it (them) off, whether we are privileged to keep them from the communion-table? The committee was decidedly of opinion, that as it is positively forbidden by holy writ, see 1 Pet. 3:3, 1 Tim. 2:9, it should not be tolerated except in cases of actual necessity (for medical reasons); and that the church where such members propose to participate in the communion, has the right (if it is not the daty rather) to take them into council, and if they are not willing to be admonished. so advise them to withdraw until they are willing to sacrifice those forbidden things.

Y. M. 1864. Art. 7. When the apostles prohibit the wearing of gold and pearls, 1 Tim. 2:9, 1 Pet. 3:3, are gold watches to be included? Ans. As the carrying of gold watches may and is likely to lead to pride, we think it advisable not to wear them.

JUDGING HARSHLY.

Y. M. 1820. Art 2. A brother had used hard expressions against a brother in presence of the brethren, such as "from the preaching of brother M. there was apparent a spirit of the Methodist and River-brethren and an Antichrist?" Considered, that the brother is to make proper acknowled ment for these harsh expressions, otherwise we would not be satisfied with him.

JURIES, SERVING ON.

Y. M. 1832. Art. 1. How is it considered, if a brother serves on a grand jury, and bears testimony against a brother, by which the latter is caused to suffer costs, and the testimony is not given from accessity or duty, but from want of love? Considered, that serving on juries was ever deemed improper for brethren; but in this special case the church where it occurred, and who should know and weigh all the circumstances, should judge according to the law of Christ and according to the testimony.

- Y. M. 1834. Art. 13. Whether a brother can serve on a jury, where a man is tried for his life (as a murderer)? Considered, no, that it cannot be at all.
- Y. M. 1835. Art. 7. Concerning serving on juries at trials for life or death? Answered as before.
- Y. M. 1841. Art. 11. Whether it is becoming for a member of the church of Christ to act as a juror in the courts of our country? Considered, that it would be best not to serve at all even in civil cases, but by no means (can a brother serve) in criminal cases.

KEEPING THE LORD'S DAY.

- Y. M. 1817. Art. 7. Concerning working on Sunday, it was concluded, that members should do no work on Sunday except in cases of great necessity, inasmuch the apostle writes to "give none offense, neither to the Jews, nor to the Gentiles, nor to the church of God." 1 Cor. 10:32. See also Y. M. 1810, Art. 6. [See Sabbath Breaking]
- Y. M. 1828. Art. 4. Whether we may do labor on Sunday, it was deemed good that we should refrain from it.
- Y. M. 1834. Art. 2. Whether we may work on Sunday, such as sawing (on sawmills), shooting, moving, &c. It was considered, that it should not be by any means, but that we ought to spend the Sunday in stillness and in the fear of God, in order to be offensive to no one.
- Y. M. 1836. Art. 6. Concerning work or moving on Sundays, it was considered improper to do so.
- Y. M. 1863. Art 28. With regard to the question whether a brother minister was rightly dealt with who has taken the liberty to do servite work on the Lord's day repeatedly, and notwithstanding he has been admonished again and again, and continues to defend and pursue his course, to the offense of many in and out of the church, it appears that the church, with a chosen committee of elders, has decided that the brother has either to quit this practice, or the exercise of his ministry. The standing committee unanimously confirms this decision.
- Y. M. 1864. Art. 15. How are we to hold a brother that keeps Saturday for the Sabbath, and works on Sanday, and strongly contends that he is right. Ans. Inasmuch as the old brethren have always observed the first day of the week as a day of rest and public worship, we think such a brother should be heartily admonished to conform to the order of the brethren and the gospel, and if he does not do so, he should be dealt with according to the gospel.

KISS, THE HOLY.

Scriptural foundation for the same: Rom. 16:16, "Salute one another with an holy kiss." 1 Cor. 16:20, "Greet ye one another with an holy kiss." 2 Cor. 13:12, "Greet one another with an holy kiss." 1 Thess. 5:26, "Greet all the brethren with an holy kiss." 1 Pet. 5:14, "Greet ye one another with a kiss of charity."

Y. M. 1797. Art. 4. It was in union concluded, that the holy kiss and the kiss of charity should not be neglected, since in some places it is almost entirely omitted; but according to the words of the apostles, we should prove ourselves on all occasions as disciples of Jesus, and be steadfast in brotherly love; and notwithstanding all disgrace, we should not be ashamed of the word and following of Christ.

Y. M. 1810. Art. 4. Concerning when brethren or members get at variance or in difficulty with one another, no one is allowed to refuse to the other the kiss for himself, without counsel of the church, unless there had been committed an obvious crime.—Art. 5. Concerning when a member has been put back from the communion, and some from kindness or relationship continue to salute such with the holy kiss, before they are received again by the church, was considered as a fault, and should be by no means.

Y. M. 1828. Art. 8. Whether the holy kiss should be observed at feet-washing and the breaking of bread? Considered, that it is right and proper.

Y. M. 1831. Art. 3. Whether it could be approved of when the brotherly kiss is so often omitted, even at meetings and love-fcasts? Considered, no, not at all.

Y. M. 1832. Art. 4. Concerning the omitting of the hely kiss among members? Considered, that it should not be, and that it is an evidence of a want of love.

Y. M. 1835. Art. 10. How is it considered, when members wash the feet or salute with the holy kiss those who are not members of the church? Considered, we should not do so, if it gives offense.

Y. M. 1843. Art. 2. Whether a brother may refuse the kiss to a brother who has committed a fault, for instance, getting intoxicated, ere he has been brought before and judged by the council of the church? Considered, that though a member could not be required to salute a brother with the kiss, while in a state of intoxication, it is still our duty first to tell the fault unto the church, and to await its decision, before we withdraw ourselves from a member.

Y. M. 1845. (Indiana.) Art. 3. Whether a brother has a right to withdraw the kiss from a brother without the decision of the church? Considered, that inasmuch as our Saviour directs us in a case of offense to use all means to gain our brother (see Matt. 18), the gospel allows no brother to withdraw the kiss, until the church has so decided.

Y. M. 1849. Art. 4. Concerning the holy kiss, how often should it be practiced? Considered, if we have love for one another, we should not dispense with it, especially at our meetings for worship.

Y. M. 1851. Art. 22. How do the brethren in general pass the kiss at the communion table; is it to the brother who sits at the administrator's right or left? Considered, that we see no difference, but leave it to the administrator as he sees proper, or as circumstances will admit.

Y. M. 1853. Art. 39. Would it not be more consistent with the gospel and the practice of the apostles, to extend the kiss, termed the holy kiss and the kiss of charity, to each other only when coming together and separating from each other, and not at feet-washing, and at the communion? Or did our Lord and Master indeed institute such a thing in that night in which he was betrayed? Considered, that we feel perfect liberty in the gospel to continue as we always heretofore have done.

Y. M. 1856. Art. 27. Does Christian fellowship, according to the gospel, forbid, or require, or leave it optional for brethren, when meeting in cities, towns or at public gatherings, when extending the salutation of the hand, to accompany the same with the salutation of the holy kiss? Considered, optional.

Y. M. 1857. Art. 29. The Marsh Creek church in Adams Co., Pa., requests a re-consideration of Art. 39 of Min. 1853, relating to the salutation of the kiss at baptism, the communion, and at ordination. Ans. It is neither expedient nor desirable to make any change in the aforesaid article of the Minutes.

Y. M. 1859. Art. 34. Is it according to the gospel and its principles for brethren of our fraternity to salute with the holy kiss those who do not stand in the faith with us, nor practice or keep the ordinances of the Lord as we do? And is it according to the gospel to call such "brethren," and give them liberty to take part in our public worship? Ans. As a general thing we think it is not expedient to do so.

KNOW NOTHINGS.

Y. M. 1855. Art. 3. How is it considered, if a brother or brethren belong to the party of "Know Nothings," so-called, and take an active part in it, trying to persuade brethren to join said party? Considered, that no brother, who is a member of the so-called Know Nothings, or any other secret society, can be a member of our communion.

LAMB'S MEAT AT LORD'S SUPPER.

Y. M. 1853. Art. 21. Have we a right to put away the lamb at the Lord's supper, and use beef in the place thereof? Considered, that we would rather see a lamb prepared, but inasmuch as Christ has made us free from the ceremonial law, and as there is no command in the New Testament that it must be so, we should bear with each other in love in such matters.

Y. M. 1854. Art. 24. Is it more in unison with the gospel to use a lamb at our love-feasts instead of beef? Considered, that this query is answered by Art. 21 of Min. 1858.

Y. M. 1855. Art 20. What is the advice of the general council to individual members, say four, five or more, who cannot commune with the church, because they have beef instead of a lamb at their love-feast? Considered as good advice for such members, to submit to the order of the church where they live, and to reflect on the admonition of the apostle, Col. 2:16, 17, "Let no man therefore judge you in meat, or drink, &c., which are a shadow of things to come, but the body is of Christ." Again, to learn of his example, Phil. 4:11, where he says, "For I have learned in whatsoever state I am, with whomsoever I um—according to the German translation—therewith to be content."

Y M. 1863. Art. 4. Is it contrary to the gospel to have lamb's meat at the Lord's supper? We think not; but since the gospel does not give a precept or example of what the supper did or shall consist, the members should try to be in union, love and forbearance in this matter. See Min. 1853, Art. 21, and 1855, Art. 20.

LANGUAGES, USING DIFFERENT, AT MEETINGS.

Y. M. 1841. Art. 4. Whether it is proper for teachers to speak both German and English in meetings, when there are only a few English members, the majority of the church being German? Considered, that it is right and our duty to preach the gospel to every nation as far as we are able, yet so that is such a case not too much time ought to be taken up in English.

Y. M. 1845. (Indiana.) Art. 5. How is it viewed, when there are persons and members in a meeting, some not understanding the English, and others not the German (language), and there are some members still opposing the use of both languages? Considered, that the commission of our Saviour, Matt. 28:19, commands us, and the love of Christ constrains us, 2 Cor. 5:14, to preach the gospel to all nations, and in every tongue as far as we are able. See also Y. M. 1841, Art. 4.

LAW, TAKING THE BENEFIT OF.

Y. M. 1822. (Miami.) Art 2. Whether it is right for a brother to take the benefit of the law, was considered, that when a brother is so imprudent that he falls under the power of law, he is not to have privilege to take the benefit of the law, but to seek counsel from the church. Yet it would be always best to seek counsel before a member comes so far.

Y. M. 1841. Art. 5. Whether a brother, consistently with the gospel, can take the benefit of the law for insolvent debtors? Considered, that there may be cases, where the involving at first and the consequences thereupon are not at all compatible with the gospel, and where the church could not hold such as brethren; and that there may be cases, where a brother by misfortune may be brought to such extremity, and if he were honest in his declaration, his application for the benefit of the law might even be excusable. In all such cases, however, the church has to investigate the matter, and judge accordingly; and if the church is at a loss, to call in, as in other cases, the assistance of elders from other churches.

LAW, USING IT AGAINST DEBTORS.

Y. M. 1810. Art. 2. Concerning brethren who use the law for collecting debts, was considered, that it is unbecoming for brethren to do so, that it cannot be permitted, and if they should do such a disallowed thing, they are to be left over to the counsel of the church.

Y. M. 1821. (Pennsylvania.) Art. 1. Whether an ordained brother may collect debts by the power of the law? Considered, that no brother, much less one that is ordained, has a right to do so, according to gospel doctrine, neither for himself nor for another.

Y. M. 1833. Art. 2. Whether there is any difference in using the law for our own benefit or only as executors or administrators? Considered there is none in reality; it is wrong for ourselves, it is wrong if we do it for others.

Y. M. 1834. Art. 8. How is it viewed when a ministering brother, as executor or administrator of an estate, is compelled to use the law? Con sidered, he should do nothing without the counsel of the church.

Y. M. 1842. Art. 11. Whether it be allowable for brethren to collect debts by force of law, and what is to be done with a brother who uses the power of the law, and justifies himself in the same? Considered, as always was done by the brethren, that we have no right, according to the gospel, to use the rigor of the law in collecting debts, and that a brothe who has done so, falls into the judgment of the church.

Y. M. 1844. Art. 7. Whether it be allowable for brethren to collect debts by force of law, it was again considered, that no brother has any right in the gospel to sue at law. Luke 3:14, Matt. 5:38, 6:12, &c

Y. M. 1848. (Indiana.) Art. 9. Whether brethren can, according to the gospel, use the force of the law, and collect money from brethren, and thereby cause considerable costs, and whether brethren causing such costs should not at least pay the same? Considered, that the gospel gives us no right to use the force of the law against a brother; and as to the other point in regard to the costs, the church can judge best in each individual case.

Y. M. 1849. Art 28. Whether a brother, who considers himself injured by any public improvement, such as a turnpike or a rail road passing through his land, can without a violation of the gospel make use of the provision of the law, which government has enacted for the recovery of damages in such cases? Considered, as the matter has been fully stated that it would not be a violation of the gospel to make use of the provisions of the law in such cases.

- Y. M 1851. Art. 24. With regard to the 28th query in 1849, a more definite answer is required, how far a brother may go in order to recover indemnification for losses sustained from a rail road, turnpike and the like passing through his land? Considered, that we might use the provision of the law, that is, petition court for what it will make at damages, but should use no violence by putting the law in force for recompense.
- Y. M. 1852. Art. 3. Have we a right to help making the political government, and to serve as officers; also, to put the law in force against any of our fellowmen in any case whatever? Considered, that the brethren should be careful, and not betray their profession in helping to make and serve the civil government, and if they give in their vote, they should do it in a quiet and peaceable manner, without taking part in electioneering, and return immediately from the ground: that brethren should hold no office under the civil government, that would cause them to betray their faith; and as respects using the law against our fellow creatures, brethren should use lenity and Christian forhearance toward our fellowmen, and not compel them by the law, unless forced so to do by stern necessity. But before so doing they should always take the counsel of the church.
- Y. M. 1853. Art. 16. Concerning going to law. Considered, that it should be left as it was decided last year. See Min. of 1852, Art. 3.
- Y. M. 1857. Art. 16. Inasmuch as it is considered by the brethren, that we have no right, according to the gospel, to use the law in collecting debts, or to sue at law; would not a brother who has done so, or may do so, fall into the judgment of the church? Ans. This subject has frequently been discussed in our annual meetings, and we cannot, we think, come to a better conclusion than our dear brethren came to in 1852; and as no brother should be his own judge in this matter, the brethren very wisely added the proviso, that in all cases the church should be consulted, and if its counsel is disregarded, those who disregard it will fall into the judgment of the church.
- Y. M. 1858. Art. 20. Is it right, according to the gospel, to enforce the law in any case whatever, and if so, where is the gospel authority? Concluded, to adopt the decision of the annual meeting of 1857. See above Art. 16.—Art. 30. How is it considered, if a brother has a note against another poor brother, who cannot pay, and the brother who has the note sells it to his son, who is no member of the church, and he collects the debt by law, and causes the poor brother's property to be sold, the brother who sold the note justifying himself in doing as he did? What is to be done in such a case? Considered, that the brother who did so committed a great fault, and that he should make restitution to the poor brother to the satisfaction of the church.
- Y. M. 1858. Art. 32. If any man be in Christ, and Christ in him, can he institute and prosecute a process in law against any person or persons, and all the time still continue in Christ, and Christ in him? Considered, that he cannot, especially if gone into without the counsel of the church in which he lives. Art. 49. A brother buys a farm that is sold by executors that are not members of the church, and fails to make payment according to contract; the heirs being members of the church, who after waiting a long time and being in great need of the money, and living over one hundred miles distant from the brother who bought the farm, receive a letter from him stating that he will pay them $500, if they will throw off the interest. The heirs being unwilling to do so, send word to their executors to collect their money by law—now are the heirs under obligation to pay the cost of collection? Considered, that they are not under such obligation, (unless the church being acquainted with all the circumstances shall judge so.)

Y. M. 1862. Art. 62. Has a brother the right to put the law in force against his brother to collect money, in any shape or form whatever, without giving him notice before? Ans. In no case whatever.

LECTURING ON TEMPERANCE, &c.

Y. M. 1842. Art. 7. Whether it be right for a brother to deliver a lecture on temperance, if requested? Considered, as our commission is to preach the Gospel, that we should do so, and inculcate temperance as well as other virtues, but to hold lectures on the subject of temperance exclusively was considered not to be advisable for a brother.

LIGHTNING RODS.

Y. M. 1851. Art. 7. Should brethren have the privilege to put up lightning rods? Considered, that we would not advise brethren to do so, nor would we say to those who have them, to take them down; but advise all our dear brethren to bear with each other in such matters, and try to put their chief trust in God.

Y. M. 1856. Art. 25. Would it be proper to re-consider the 7th query of 1851, concerning the putting up of lightning rods? We would not advise brethren to put up those rods, but that the brethren should bear with one another in love in such matters.

LORD'S SUPPER.

By this we understand, not the communion of bread and wine as it is understood and used by many denominations, but we understand by it that meal immediately preceding the communion, called in the New Testament $\delta\epsilon i\pi\nu o\nu -supper$, the principal meal of the Hebrews, and taken by them in the evening; see Luke 11:12, &c., particularly 1 Cor. 11:21, or that feast of charity to which Jude, v. 12, is alluding.

Y. M. 1827. Art. 6. Whether there should be no other meat but mutton at the supper, was generally considered as most agreeable (to our feelings "gemuthlichste") to take mutton, as it has been always customary with the ancient brethren, yet to make no law herein, and to bear with one another.

Y. M. 1832. Art. 2. Whether such may participate in the (Lord's) supper who are not members, if there is room? Considered, to leave it to the churches, when there is such room. (N. B. This is not to be understood of the communion of bread and wine.)

Y. M. 1833. Art. 4 Whether a person may be admitted to our (communion or) breaking of bread, who is not baptized according to Gospel (as we understand it)? Considered, No. Art. 5. Whether the supper must be on the table at feet-washing?—(No; there is no such command in the Gospel, and if the example of Christ is urged, it is also a mooted, doubtful question on this point. It must be recollected that the translators of our modern version of the New Tostament did not believe or practice feet-washing, or know any thing about the real Lord's supper, calling the communion of bread and wine the Lord's supper. We all believe, that John 13: 2, is wrongly translated by saying. "Supper being ended" before feet-washing is mentioned, while it is evident from verses 26-30, that supper was not ended then.)

Y, M. 1834. Art. 1. How it is considered to sing at or during the breaking of bread? Considered, as not proper, but at the distribution of the cup very proper. It was also remarked, that there should be no drinking without necessity while the supper is served, until all is served up, and a blessing asked of God, because we are to "tarry for one another."

Y. M. 1839. Art. 2. How the supper should be held? Considered, as it was always observed.

Y. M. 1841 Art. 3. Whether the brethren have a right to admit friends, who are not members, to sit down with us at the Lord's supper, if there is room? Considered, that making a proper distinction between the supper and the communion of the body and blood of Jesus Christ, there could be no objection to admit friends to the supper, when there is room.

Y. M. 1848. Art. 24. Is the Lord's supper observed by the brethren according to the Gospel? Doth the Gospel require a supper in holding communion meetings? Considered, that we have ample testimony in the Gospel to enable us to conclude, that a supper was eaten by the Saviour and his disciples in the same night he instituted the communion. See Matt. 26:20; Mark 14:17, 18; Luke 22:20; John 13:1-30; Jude v. 12. And the Apostle Paul, after reproving the brethren at Corinth for their disorder in observing the supper, and speaking of it as the LORD'S supper, expressly declares, that he had received of the Lord what he had delivered unto them, telling them how to observe it in proper order. 1 Cor 11: 28-34.

Y. M. 1849. Art. 14. Is the supper which the brethren eat in connection with the communion, sacred or common? As there seems to be some reason to believe that the Apostle Paul alludes to the supper with other means of grace in the term, "ordinances" used in 1 Cor. 11:2; and as we view it as a practice of the Apostolic church to promote the spiritual edification of its members, we consider it a sacred institution, and as such it ought to be observed, especially as it is emphatically called "the Lord's supper." 1 Cor. 11: 20. Art. 19. Should the supper or part of it be on the table at the time of feet-washing, or not? Considered, to leave the matter as hitherto practiced by the brethren. Art. 21. Is the Lord's suppor a divine or sacred ordinance, and if so, have the children of God a right to invite such as are not members to eat of it with them at the same table and time? Considered, to be a divine and sacred ordinance, as all the Lord's ordinances are, and should be caten by the members only. (Is not preaching and praying also a divine ordinance, and should we therefore exclude all from our meetings but the members?) Art. 32. Is it material what the supper is composed of at communion? Considered best not to deviate from the order of the old brethren. (The word oslavov, deipnon requires a full meal.)

Y. M. 1850. Art. 34. Would it not be better and more corresponding with the Gospel, if the brethren would hold the Lord's supper more in unison with each other; for it appears that some have bread and cheese, and some have meat and soup, &c. Considered, that uniformity would be better.

Y. M. 1856. Art. 19. Would it not be nearer to the word to have the supper prepared and on the table before commencing to wash feet? Referred to Min. of 1849. Art. 19.

Y. M. 1857. Art. 2. Is it according to the Gospel to have the supper on the table at the time the feet are washed? Answer. Inasmuch as it is not expressly declared that Jesus rose from the table, he may probably have risen from a prepared supper, and as the brethren have the supper prepared before they proceed to the washing of feet, with their past practices in relation to those things we are satisfied.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 33. Is it according to the word of God to make use of beef instead of lamb in eating the Lord's supper? Answer. It is. (It should have been said, where?)

Y. M. 1862. Art. 43. Is it in accordance with the word of God to have the supper on the table before washing feet? Answer. We consider that it is (?) (See the next following.)

Y. M. 1863. Art. 21. Whereas, there has obtained of late years some difference in observing the Lord's supper among different churches, some setting the supper on the table before feet-washing, while some do not till after—the latter being the old universal practice;—and whereas, the proceedings of Annual Meeting of last year in the Art. 43, have grieved some of our brethren; and whereas, a conciliatory course should always be pursued when brethren have a preference as it regards the mode or way of observing an ordinance, so that it is properly observed—we therefore recall the decision of the Annual Meeting above referred to, and let the subject of the time of putting the supper on the table stand precisely where it stood previous to the decision of 1862, with the understanding that the churches may and should continue without making any change either way, until we have further light on the subject to bring about a more full union.

LOTTERIES.

Y. M. 1804. Art. 7. Concerning buying lottery-tickets with a hope of gain, it was unanimously concluded, that such cannot be approved in members, and parents should by all means prevent their children from it, because it cannot be viewed any better than other gambling for gain.

Y. M. 1841. Art. 1. Whether it would be right and allowable according to the Gospel for members to buy lottery-tickets? Considered, that as a species of gambling for gain's sake, whereby others must necessarily lose, it is wrong, and not allowable at all for a brother.

Y. M. 1850. Art. 29. Is a member, brother or sister, not as justifiable in buying lottery-tickets, as in purchasing Bank stock, or taking eight or ten per cent. interest on money loaned to a brother? Considered, that buying lottery-tickets is very wrong, taking more than lawful interest is worse still, and taking stock in a Bank ought to be avoided also by brethren. One wrong can never justify another.

Y. M. 1853. Art 19. Concerning brethren purchasing and drawing lottery-tickets. Considered, that brethren should not have any thing at all to do with this or any other species of gambling.

LOVEFEASTS.

By these we understand those festivals celebrated from time to time in our churches, at which there generally assemble ministers and members from all the surrounding districts, and sometimes from far and near, and where most of the ordinances of the house of God are administered, viz: Baptism, when there are applicants, and always feet washing, the Lord's supper and the communion, &c. These generally attract great crowds, hence the following queries.

Y. M. 1828. Art. 13. Whether we might hold small (private, not publicly announced) lovefeasts? Considered, in cases where there are but few members (or where a member is on a sick bed, desirous to partake once more), provided that one ordained brother would be present, and that everything would be done at the right time and in proper order, there could be no objection at all, and it would not be contrary to the (word of) truth; yet care should be taken that it may not cause grief (pressure) or loss of affection.

Y. M. 1842. Art. 3. Whether our lovefeasts could not be held more privately and more often? The advice (in connection with the foregoing) was to select such times and places as experience may teach to be most suitable for this purpose.

Y. M. 1849. Art. 5. Some members think there is too much feasting at our lovefeasts, in providing so much for those who come to feast and make disturbance at our meetings. Considered, that we are to feed the hungry, if we are led by Christ's example; and the apostle says, "Therefore if thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink: for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head." Rom. 12:20. (Christ's example was to feed the hungry multitude: "Because they continued with me (Christ) now three days, and have nothing to eat." Matt. 15:32. There was no previous preparation, nor announcement what Christ was going to do.)

Y M. 1862. Art 52. Would it be against the order of the Gospel or of the brethren, for a church, if the members agree to do so, to hold a lovefeast without tendering an invitation to any of the members of the adjoining churches but the ministering brethren? Answer. We consider if a church for want of room, or for other good reasons, thinks it proper to hold a lovefeast without giving a general invitation, it may be permitted to do so.

MANUSCRIPT LETTERS OF OLDEN TIME.

MANUSCRIPT LETTERS OF OLDEN TIME, (the original hand-writing of part of them being in possession of the author of "Encyclopedia.")

LETTER FROM MICHAEL FRANTZ, IN CONESTOGA, dated Dec. 9, 1747. Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ, who has loved us with his pure love, and loves us still and always with his fervent love; from him I wish you in his pure love peace, union, holiness, and steadfastness in faith, to persevere, and to continue laboring in the work of the Lord with all the laborers and warriors of Jesus Christ. Amen. All my very worthy and much beloved brethren in God, old and young, together with the whole church, brethren and sisters, be heartily greeted with the love of Jesus. Amen.

Moreover, dear brothren, I would let you know, that I have duly received in love your loving letter and respectful inquiries by the dear brother Conrad Hartman, and since the brother was anxious to hasten away again, I could not counsel much with other brethren upon what you desired an answer, viz: Whether you would have authority according to the Gospel to break bread (of communion) or not without (the presence of) elders? My simple answer is not (intended) that it should stand conclusive or as an article of covenant, what I write, but I can well leave it over to other brethren, yet so that it is my understanding, mind and counsel, namely, when it happens from want of an elder (being present at a communion), it might well be allowed when there is a brother in a church, who has been put on trial by the church to serve in place of an elder (has been advanced to administer the ordinances, as we express it in the present day), after being approved, (that he should so serve). But if there is in a church no brother thus advanced, as stated just now, then the church may select two brethren, or as many as may be thought prudent, and then have it decided by lot in the name of the Lord, who is to serve, and let him upon whom the lot falls, serve in the fear of the Lord, as much as is required at that time-not as if he was confirmed (or ordained) for such service, but the same course would have to be repeated at another time. But when a brother is on trial for the office of an elder, let him "also first be proved; then let them serve-being without reproach," as Paul says, I Timothy, 3d chapter.

I let you know, dear brethren, from (my own) experience, that some years ago it came to pass once here with us in Conestoga, that baptism was to be performed; I was at that time sick, and could not attend to this work. Then two of the ministering brethren drew lots among themselves, and the one thus assigned did baptize at that time, and all passed off well. Then there was a brother who was proved in the office of providing for the poor. After some time there was a communion held, and it was entrusted to a brother without lot, and things went in a disorderly manner. Reference has been made to the ancient church at Corinth, that Paul permitted them to break breal without elders, and my belief is, that it was done for want of elders. For Paul charged Titus afterward, that he should appoint olders in each city. 1: 5. It is easily perceived that things with the Corinthians went on in a very disorderly manner, because they had no elder or overseer. But I hope concerning you for the best, and not for such things as occurred with the Corinthians. Therefore I wish you much peace and love, to be endeavoring to keep the unity of the Spirit, and "to continue steadfastly in the apostle's doctrine and fellowship, and in breaking of bread, and in prayer." Acts 2.

With this I close, and greet you with mine, and commend you to the word of his grace; yea to God and to the living word, to give to you and us through his Spirit, according to the counsel and word of God, to keep house in the love of Jesus. Amen.

MICHAEL FRANTZ.

Remaining by the grace of God yours in love, bound together as brethren and co-laborers according to the doctrine of Jesus Christ. Amen. A LETTER dated December 28, 1758, written by Alexander Mack, jr., and others.

This day, the 28th December, 1754, we, the undersigned brethren, have consulted together in the fear of the Lord concerning the unreconciled difficulties between brother Schwartz and brother Peter, and have deemed it right and just, that brother Peter should give to brother Schwartz in money six pounds ten shillings, because it so happened that brother Schwartz could not keep his share in the contract about land which they had purchased together, and he had been a party concerned from the commencement. Afterward it turned out that the advantage of the cheap bargain slipped from his hand, and he had to pay for his field, comparatively with the other, too dearly, and brother Peter has not been quite guiltless, which he himself confesses. But in order that we may be satisfied with his acknowledgment, we have laid the above upon him, and give him time for reflection. If he can do it, and will then be at peace and reconciled with us and with brother Schwartz, all shall be forgotten and buried, and no man shall have a right to draw forth something of it again. Until then (that he shall do so) we will give him in hope the (salutation of the) kiss, but cannot break the bread (of communion) with him. But if he does so as stated above, then we can also break the bread of communion with him, if nothing else should be made manifest that would make him unfit for it. Yet with this proviso, that if it would go too long (before said Peter will do what is laid upon him), we will upon counsel of the church make again inquiry about this matter. On the other hand we have concluded, that if brother Schwartz will be able to be at peace with us, and make no (further) complaint or demand on brother Peter concerning those old matters, then we will be satisfied with him also. CONCERNING THE VISIOUS OF CATHARINE HUMMER, ABOUT ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO.

In order to understand more fully to what the brothren had reference in the following conclusion, we give an extract of the report, taken from her own statements, and recorded in the "Chronicon Ephratense," page 131 ff. according to which it seems, that in the year 1762, the 3d of October, said Catharine Hummer, she had the first vision in the night, between 10 and 11 o'clock, while she was sitting in the kitchen by the fire. At first she heard a knocking at the door, upon which she looked out, but there was no person. Soon after she heard a second knocking, and went out again, but found nobody. At last it knocked the third time, and when she went out and looked around, an angel stood near her on her right, who spoke: "Yes, my friend, it is midnight and late, &c." and then sang, and thus a conversation and singing was continued, until the angel disappeared. From that night, Catharine relates herself, that she was for seven days and nights most of the time in an ecstacy, that her spirit was separated from her body, and was led about through strange places, and saw and heard strange things. Again, November 12, 1762, and December 6th and 18th of the same year, she had visions, which are recorded at length in said "Chronicon," and it is stated there these visions have continued until April of the year 1765, and that the father of this person, who was, it appears, a minister among the brethren, after the noise of these visions had brought people to his house from a distance of sixty miles, finally went abroad with his daughter, and preached to the awakening of many souls. But it appears that these movements were also accompanied by disorder, confusion and offenses, and hence the brethren wrote the following letter of

CONESTOGA, May 28, 1763.

The undersigned brethren from their different places (of abode), have been here assembled in the fear of the Lord, in order to see, in heartfelt and compassionate brotherly love, how we might advise our brethren, in God beloved, concerning the many woundings and different transgressions that have occurred since the exercises, visions and doings of and with the sister Catharine Hummer, in the White Oak country, have happened. After we have yesterday heard the accusations of the brothren against one another, and their testimony, that they would not seek any division, but were willing to hear our brotherly counsel of love-we have (in the next place,) all, every one of us, carefully heard and considered the mind of each and every one of us, the undersigned brethren has declared his mind and advice freely, one after the other, and then we have further united in the fear of the Lord on this, that we would in union counsel our brethren as follows: First, we believe and judge, indeed, that brother Hummer has brought too much of his humanity (or human nature) into this movement, from which different fruits of disunion have grown. In the second place, however, we consider that both sides have gone too far in words and judgments against one another, and hence it is our brotherly counsel that brother Peter Hummer should needs make acknowledgments, where he might have offended with regard of brotherly obedience, and if there are on both sides conviction and acknowledgment, then we advise out of brotherly love, that on both sides all judgments and harsh expressions might be entirely laid down, though we have not the same opinion of that noted (singular) occurrence, so that those who think well of it, should not judge those who are of the contrary opinion, and those who do not esteem it, should not despise those who expect to derive some use and benefit from it.

For the rest, we advise you, beloved brethren, receive one another as Christ has received us, and pardon one another as Christ has pardoned us also, and let us everywhere consider, that all disputing, judging and despising should be entirely laid aside, and thus remain, that every one leave to the other his own opinion, in the fear of the Lord, and altogether for conscience' sake. Moreover, it is our advice that all unnecessary and too frequent visiting should cease, and every one should earnestly abstain from all appearance of evil, and aim in all things after truth and uprightness, in order that truth may make us free from all that might still keep us in captivity, and prevent us from coming to a oneness of mind in Christ Jesus according to the will of God. If now one or the other should think we have not sufficiently judged the occurrence, let him consider, that we cannot see the least cause of a separation for conscience' sake. Hence, we have felt constrained not to criticise or judge this (strange) affair, but rather to advise every one to a godly impartiality and patience, that none may judge any thing before the time until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the heart, and then shall every man have praise of God according to his faith and Signed by Jacob Meyer. AN INTERESTING LETTER TO A BROTHER PRINTER.

In Jesus Christ, our only and true Saviour, much beloved brother Christopher Saur. Love and a desire for the salvation of us all in Christ causes us many inward afflictions in these dangerous days and times. Our ever kind God would in mercy take care of our souls, that we may not miss the right road, nor by a secret approval of commandments of men may get on the way of the murderer. Our souls are justly prostrated to the dust, and cry for divine mercy: Spare, oh Lord, spare thy inheritance, and take charge of thy scattered sheep!

Dear brother, it appears to us as if hidden and very politic powers of the spirit of this world had laid a secret snare for thy soul, trying to bring thee into their net by the well meant printing of Catechisms. May God himself grant thy soul new strength, making thee young as an eagle among those who hope in the name of the Lord, and put their trust in the Lord of lords, who can save even from death. Yes, dear brother, the Lord Jesus Christ make thee whole in the faith and in the love towards thy weak fellow-members; may He make thy feet like hart's feet to escape from all the snares of the enemy. Oh, how happy will our souls be, when we come with a good conscience to the end of our pilgrimage, and can hear the most blessed and glorious words: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." Now the Lord still calls unto us: "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life!"

Dear brother, as it appears to us, thou hast committed a fault already, or (rather) hast been overtaken in a fault, which may often happen before we are aware of it, if we are not strictly attentive to the excellent and most perfect form of doctrine. According to our apprehension it was indeed already a fault, that thou hast ever printed a single H—catechism: for he who will teach the commandments of God, must teach no commandments of men; otherwise by the human commandments (or traditions), his whole religion will become a vain religion. So likewise thy printing-office, if it is to serve to the honor of God, must not honor human traditions; for God's commandments and human traditions do not agree together.

We had, however, some time since cause to hope, that by grace in the testimony of thy conscience, that fault was healed and amended, especially when thou "didst promise so willingly to members not to print any more of that catechism." But since we now see with grief that also the beloved brother Justus has been overtaken in the same fault with thee, and thou sayst that thou wouldst not promise any more what thou hadst promised formerly of your own accord. This matter has become to us very grave and serious; and we find ourselves constrained by our own consciences, to lay before you both, dear brethren, this matter according to our own view to your mature consideration, in hope that God and his grace would awaken once more your consciences, to consider, and as it were address yourselves and say: What have we done?

Christ has commanded to teach all nations and then to baptize, but you print (in said catechism) that infants should be baptized.

Christ has said that we should "swear not at all;" but you print we ought or might indeed swear an oath by the name of God in a godly manner.

Christ says, "He that loves me keeps my commandments;" and the Apostle John says, "Ris commandments are not grievous;" but you print that even a converted man could not keep God's commandments.

Christ says, "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall ent'r into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." You print that to him who has never kept any of the commandments of God, and is still inclined to every evil thing, to him the merits of Christ were imputed in such a manner as if he himself had fulfilled all obedience, if he only accepts such with a believing heart.

Dearly beloved brethren, the more we reflect on these things, the more inconsistent they appear to us. Oh do consider but once with us what James says: "Above all things, my brethren, swear not, (but let your yea be yea, and your nay, nay;) lest ye fall into condemnation?" Consider deeply what hypocrisy that little book contains! teaches that we might swear in a godly manner, though He who is alone able to save has commanded we shall swear not at all? What kind of godliness was there over found in disobedience? Christ, the cternal truth, calls those hypocrites who made the commandments of God of none effect, in order to observe their own traditions. deed, both repentance and baptism is made of none effect by their miserable infant sprinkling. It is, however, not our object to specify particularly all hypocrisy which is sown by this little book as a fruitful seed into the hearts of tender youths; yet we believe, as in ancient times, that, from false prophets in Jerusalem hypocrisy spread through the whole land; so from the seed of human commandments in Babylon comes up hypocrisy, and grows and blossoms among the great multitude of those who call themselves Christians. Oh that we might depart entirely from all hypocrisy!

Of course, you have not had that impression of this little book; for then it would have been impossible for you to print it. But we wish that none of you may have offended his own conscience in this matter. and that you might yet see how you have not at all obtained your well intended object by the printing of this little book. For as far as we have understood from thee, brother Christopher, you have to show no weightier reason than that we should not be offensive to any one, and indeed if this were correct, it would be nothing strange if you deemed that catechism a useful book; but oh far different is the case! have already offended your members thereby, and the offense taken by the tude world on it is different; some say, the catechism must be right because Saur prints it; others say, Saur prints every thing for money And oh how easily may we become offensive unto young babies in the truth, if they should learn that we are getting into difficulties among ourselves on account of that catechism. But unto peace we are called of God, and thus we are to follow "peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord."

Therefore receive us, dear brethren; we will not require of you to make any special promise against your will, but this we desire, that if you or one of you in the future should undertake to print again that little book, you would let us know in love, in order that we may call a big meeting of all the Elders in the land to hear their mind, whether we have done right or wrong in admonishing you on this matter, and whether it be possible that after such admonition a follower of Christ could print such a book or not?

Further, have we understood thee to say to us, that it is thy desire to know whether we could bid thee God speed in the good undertaking with thy printing-office to make thyself useful among all sorts of men? In reply, we bid thee from the heart, God speed; namely, that the word of Christ dwell richly in thy heart, in thy house, and in thy printing office; but concerning the word of the serpent, which men want to be honored instead of the commandment of God, in that we bid thee God speed, that the Lord may deliver thee from it, and that also thy printing-office may be purified from the same. "For whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." Now, if thou wilt sow good seed by thy printing-office, then thy children, and also thy fellow-believers who wish thee well, may hope to reap a good harvest from it, according to the saying, "One soweth, and another reapeth." Thus it is the will of the Lord that we should reap a full harvest in truth and righteousness, that both may rejoice together, he that soweth and he that reapeth.

Written in the month of August, Anno 1764. (Signed) Henry Slingluff, Anthony Schneider, Alexander Mack, Philip Weber, George Schreiber.

(Postscript in the same hand-writing.)

In consideration of my mortality, I testify that though I stand yet in all points in the views as expressed above, still I will not insist that for this cause by us the subscribers, or in our name, a big meeting should be appointed, lest we might thereby with the good intention to seek peace, indeed, cause dissension and distraction.

May 17, 1767.

SANDER MACK.

That we are united with the sentiments here expressed, we testify. George Schreiber, Philip Weber, Henry Slingluff.

NOTE.

It is evident that the postscript, written nearly three years later than the letter itself, modifies the latter considerably. Though both the letter and the postscript breathe a spirit of the kindest love, and a watchful care for the good of the individual members and the church at large, the first seems to have been written under the pressure of a prevailing sentiment, while the last was the result of calm reflection Probably brother Saur plead somewhat effectually, that as a man may make a copy of a letter, agreement or any other instrument of writing, without becoming personally concerned or responsible for the sentiments or conditions contained therein, even so a printer may make hundreds and thousands of copies of a book without endorsing its contents in part or in the whole. Of course, profane or immoral publications would not be made by a printer who feels his responsibility to God and mankind, and is guided more by principle than self interest. We might multiply such letters to a considerable extent, but let these suffice as a fair sample of "Letters of olden times," expressing the views and sentiments of our brethren more than a hundred years ago.

MARRIAGE. See also Divorce, Adultery, &c.

Y. M. 1804. Art. 2. It was concluded, in concord and union, that ministers should be uniform in solemnizing marriage according to the law of our country, by publishing the bans of every couple three times, and this in the section where they live or reside, as near as possible, so that if there were any sufficient cause or impediment of such intended marriage, it might be brought to light, and all things might be conducted decently and in order.

Y. M. 1818. Art. 1. Concerning trouble arising in some churches on account of the marriage of young people, and their solemnization. Inasmuch some desire to hold fast to the counsel or conclusions of the old brethren, which was, that previous to marriage the bans were published three times, which they think is a good order and not at all inconsistent with the Gospel; but now some assert, that this publishing at the close of the meeting was against their conscience, and think that the effect of the word preached before was thereby interrupted; while on the other hand brethren think that there is danger in solemnizing marriage without publishing before, inasmuch we cannot know how matters stand with young folk, and there might be danger, even if they are neighbor's or brother's children; and we think, if we were so closely restricted by our conscience not to publish the bans, then we would also marry none. Yet we desire to control no man's conscience, provided he acts for peace, and as they say, for conscience' sake. We desire all housekeepers in churches might be united in one mind to hold fast to the counsel of the old brethren; for unto peace God has called us.

Y. M. 1819. Art. 4. How it is considered, that brethren receive other preachers (from other denominations) into their houses, in order to solemnize the marriage of their children after the manner of the world? Considered, that matrimony is a solemn matter, whether we commence it with or without a blessing, and hence we think we should have so much love for our children as to be concerned that they might enter upon that state with a blessing; and we believe no man can communicate such but he that is animated by the Holy Spirit, by whom he will also be led into all truths. Hence we should have our children married by a brother who is authorized to do it, with a blessing and brief exhortation; also without too great superfluity of meat and drink, so that we can believe to be pleasing to God; for all extravagance is sin. Art. 5. Whether a member is permitted to marry without counsel of the church, and without publishing the bans? Answer. We know that all who have entered into the covenant of grace, have promised also to receive counsel, and it seems to us, in such an important matter as marriage is, we should by all means seek counsel of our fellow believers. And concerning the publishing of the bans, it is our loving counsel, and daily experience teaches us, that it is very good to hold to a good order, inasmuch by the publishing the bans, many an accusation is cut off, while on the other hand much deception is prevented, which would have free course without the bans.

Y. M. 1848. (Ohio.) Art. 9. Whether a brother may be allowed, according to the Gospel, to take pay when offered for performing the ceremony of marriage? Considered, that this meeting cannot advise brethren to take a fee, and would leave it as a matter of conscience to the ministering brother, with the advice of the church in which he lives.

Y. M. 1849. Art 29. How is it considered, when a brother solemnizes a marriage contract between a sister, whose first husband is not known to be dead, and another individual? Considered, that under such circumstances a brother ought not to act. (Should he not rather warn earnestly the sister from such a rash step?)

Y. M. 1850. Art. 16. What is the duty of a minister, when called upon to solemnize marriage, when one of the parties is the child of members, and these parents not consenting to the match, yet the minister knows of no other objection but the daughter's going from home to get married? Considered, as not advisable without the consent of the parents. Paul says, "If it be possible as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men." Rom. 12:18; Heb. 12:14.

Y. M. 1855. Art 11. Is a speaker allowed to take any amount of money for solemnizing marriage that may be offered to him, and if so, how much? Referred to Y. M. 1848. Art. 9. (See above.)

Y. M. 1857 Art. 14. How is it considered if ministering brethren take as much as ten dollars as a fee for performing the marriage ceremony, and does the Gospel allow ministers a fee under any circumstances? Ans. The Gospel does not allow ministers to take a fee.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 18. Whereas, we are aware that the decision of the last annual meeting in relation to the subject presented in Art 14, of said meeting, has given a great deal of dissatisfaction, and is to a great extent disregarded, thus bringing the decision of the annual meeting into disrepute; we therefore recommend that this meeting reconsider that subject, and if the decision of the last meeting is sustained, it is desirable that some scriptural authority should be given for it, as should be done in all cases. Reconsidered, and concluded to adopt the decision of the annual meeting of 1848. See above, Y. M. 1848. Art. 9.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 17. Is it considered right according to the Gospel for a brother to marry a woman, not a sister, that is divorced from her husband, when it is not known whether that divorced husband is dead; and the ordained elder, who performed the marriage ceremony, contends that all's right? Ans. We consider it wrong for any brother in the ministry to perform such a marriage, and also wrong according to the Gospel for any brother or sister to be married to any such party.

MARRIAGE OF TOO NEAR RELATIONS.

Y. M. 1789. Art. 5. Concerning marriages of near relations, especially cousins, was unanimously considered and deemed good, that such marriages should not at all be, and that parents should warn their children earnestly in this respect, so that offense and scandal might be prevented, which have been so often occasioned by it, and that our dear youth may not in ignorance be led into something, where, perhaps, afterwards their thoughts might be accusing one another about those things which cannot be altered any more, and therefore should be well considered previously in the fear of God.

Y. M. 1819. See Adultery, and also Matrimonial. Y. M. 1854. Art. 16. Is it allowed by the Gospel for a sister, after her husband-is dead, to be married to her step-son? Considered, not to be allowed according to the following passages 1 Cor. 5:1-12. Lev. 18:3. Churches should be watchful to purge out such a leaven from among them.

See also Matrimonial. Y. M. 1858. Art I.

MATRIMONIAL.

Y. M. 1812. Art. 4. Concerning a woman who was deserted by her husband, and being informed that he was dead, married again; when afterwards her first husband made his appearance again, he showed no concern about her and went away again; and now he is said again to be dead, and she makes application to be received into the church. Considered, that this cannot be done according to the word of God, before there is sure evidence that the first husband is dead, and then upon sincere repentance and acknowledgment she might be received.

Y. M. 1819. Art. 1. Concerning a woman who married a man who had deserted his wife because she had committed carnal intercourse with another man, as he says, proved by the time of her delivery. Considered, if there can be found no evidence as his (the husband's) assertion, it is not sufficient to decide that it was or is no true wedlock, consequently the woman he has now, with himself, will be considered as adulterers as long as the first wife lives, according to the declaration of the Apostle Paul, Rom. 7: 2, 3. This is left over to further investigation. So we find no liberty to receive persons who live in adultery, into the church, as long as the first marriage is not dissolved by death, and then only upon sincere sorrow and repentance they may be received into the communion of the faithful. But if those who are in such case would resolve firmly for God's sake to live separate, and would also indeed do so, and lament sincerely their former state—then there might be mercy in store for them, and they might be thereby reconciled to God.

Y. M. 1830. Art. 3. Whether a brother may take a wife who has already a husband, but is deserted and set free by him? This has long since been considered that it cannot be according to the word and Gospel.

Y. M. 1842. Art. 8. Whether a person who was married, and whose partner broke the marriage vow by formation, may marry again according to the Gospel, after obtaining a bill of divorce? Considered, that according to the word of God, Matt. 5:31,32; 19:3-10; Mark 10:2-12; Luke 16:18; 1 Cor. 7, 10, 11, 39—a person cannot marry again while the first companion lives; and that the Gospel considers not only the person that would marry again after being divorced, but also the person who would marry the divorced party, as adulterers.

Y. M. 1847. Art. 2. Whether a brother or sister whose companion has broken the marriage-vow by fornication, may marry again according to the Gospel, after obtaining a bill of divorce? It was concluded by the brethren present that a brother or sister may not. See Min. of Y. M. 1842. Art. 8.

Y. M. 1848. Art. 15. If a sister married a man, and learns afterward that he had already a wife, and she immediately forsakes him—has she the liberty to get married to another man while the first man is yet living, according to the Gospel? Considered, that we submit the case to her own judgment, and advise her that in the future she should be cautious and take counsel of the church.

Y. M. 1850. Art. 4. How is it considered if a sister marries an unbelieving husband who afterwards does maltreat her by slandering and debauchery, and in many ways abuse and grieve her, so as to forbid and prohibit her from going to meeting or to any of her friends and relations; she then upon the advice of her friends—members of the church—leaves him and tries to get rid of him by law, upon which he offers to give himself up to the church, and is willing to do what the church lays upon him, acknowledging that he has done wickedly, and promises to do better; but he having made such promises before, and did not come up to them, the friends of the sister do not think it proper for her to unite with him again? Considered, that we could not advise the sister to leave her husband; but if she did so, she ought to remain unmarried, according to Paul, 1 Cor. 7: 11, 12. Art. 10. Whether we can hold as members a man and wife that live together in strife, that have been parted on that account, and now live together, but not as man and wife should? Considered, that we could not hold such as members. Art. 17. How is it considered, when a sister has an unbelieving husband who gets drunk and abuses her, and attempts to kill her with an axe; she then leaves him, and returns to her father who then goes to the house-keeper in the church for advice, upon whose advice a bill of divorce is obtained? Considered, that a house-keeper has no right to give such advice without counseling the church, neither has a sister a right to get divorced without such counsel. See Matt. 19:6-9: 1 Cor. 7:11. Art. 23. If a woman leaves a husband for his extreme cruelty, and he obtains a bill of divorce and marries another woman, and his first wife afterward marries another man, both being unbelievers (at the time), can such persons be received into the church of Christ according to the Gospel? Considered, that we could not receive such according to the Gospel. Rom. 7:1-3; 1 Cor. 7: 10, 11, 89.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 1. Can a person be received into the church who is uncle to his wife, or do the brethren think the Gospel will not allow of such person becoming a member of the church? Considered, that if he is uncle to his wife by marriage, he may be received; if by blood relation, he should not be. Art. 5. Is it required of those who are so unfortunate as to have their companions put in avoidance, not to accompany with them as man and wife? Considered, that as the apostic says, we are not to eat with them, we think his prohibition is sufficient. (Does he not expressly say "not to keep company?") Art. 10. How is it considered, when a difficulty arises between husband and wife, and the wife depart from her husband, is it the duty of the husband to pursue the course prescribed in Matt. 18: 15-17? We consider it is.

Y. M. 1860. Art. 10. A brother has a wife who is not a member of the church, and she refuses to live with him peaceably, and having been living apart from him for more than two years, the brethren acquainted with the circumstances, believing the wife to be the cause of the trouble. She now demands a divorce. Now, brethren, we would be very glad if you will give us an advice in this case. Ans. We think a brother cannot grant or accept a divorce for any cause but that of fornication—"But I say unto you, that whosoever shall put away his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, causeth her to commit adultery: and whosoever shall marry her that is divorced, committeth adultery." Matt. 5: 32. (1 Cor. 7: 15.)

Y. M. 1862. Art. 3. If a sister is married to a man, who after living.

with her awhile, leaves her, and she not hearing from him for several years, marries again, can she be held as a member? Answer-No; she could not be held as a member. Art. 59. If a man and his wife leave one church and go into another, with a recommendation from the former, which is received by the latter-after awhile the sister leaves her husband, the brother, and returns to the church which she first left, charging her husband with crimes committed before the recommendation was given. Not bringing a recommendation from the church from which she last came, the former receives her or retains her as a member, and acts on the case of her husband, and expels him. Did this church do right? Answer-We consider that no church should receive a member from another without a certificate, or expel a member without a hearing.

Y. M. 1864. Art. 2. If a sister has a husband that is not a member in the church, and it is known that he is an adulterer, is it consistent with the gospel for her to live with him and be his wife? And if it is not consistent for her to do so, has she a right to get a bill of divorcement according to law? Ans. As to the first part of the query, we think it should be left to her choice whether to live with him or not. And as the second, we say with Paul, 1 Cor. 7: 10, 11, "But and if she depart, let her remain unmarried."

MEETING-HOUSES.

Y. M. 1828. Art. 12. Whether we may build meeting-houses? Considered, to leave it over to every church to do as they deem good.

Y. M. 1855. Art. 14. Is it conforming to the world to build meeting houses? Ans. No; if built without unnecessary ornaments, and only for the worship (and service) of God.

MEETINGS, PROTRACTED.

Y. M. 1842. Art. 2. Whether it will be for the edification of the church of God, to hold protracted meetings, and to introduce mourningbenches, in imitation of the new measures adopted by different sects and denominations? The brethren generally considered that it was advisable to be very cautious, and at all times to keep good order, in accordance with the doctrine and example of the apostles, and not to introduce such innovations, like mourner's benches, &c.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 31, Is it contrary to the Gospel for brethren to hold meetings for a number of days in succession in one place, in order to preach the pure word of God, and to administer the ordinance of baptism to those who believe the word and receive it? Considered, not contrary to the gospel, if the believer is proceeded with according to the gospel, and the order of the brethren as given by the Y. M. of 1848. Art. 3. Art. 50. Is it agreeable to the gospel to hold a protracted meeting, say for one week or ten days in succession? Ans. As to the phrase "protracted meetings," we know nothing of it in the gospel; but as touching the frequency of the saints meeting together, we find no limits in the gospel, so that they are held in the order of the house of God.

MEETINGS, REGULAR.

Y. M. 1849. Art. 23. What should be done with such members as neglect attending our meetings for six or more months, and when the yearly visit is paid them they seem or feel satisfied with the church, and when there is a love-feast, they generally attend and commune? Considered, that the ministering brethren in the church, in which such members are, should (visit and) earnestly admonish them to adhere to the advice of the Apostle Paul, Heb. 10:25.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 10. How are we to proceed with members who will neglect to attend council and public meetings, and that for months? Answer—Such members should be admonished again and again, and their reasons for non-attendance ascertained, and the danger of living in such a manner set before them. See Heb. 10:25.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 41. What will the annual council advise in the following case, viz: A number of brethren in district A become prejudiced against the body of the church, and will not attend council and other meetings, after being cited frequently to do so? But they will attend meetings and councils in district B or the adjoining district, and they also will contribute means and money for the benefit of the said district B, to the entire neglect of their own district? Also, what will annual council say of the brethren in district B, who encourage those brethren of district A to continue in such a practice? Answer.—We consider it wrong for brethren to aid other districts and to neglect their own; and we also consider it wrong for a neighboring church to pursue such a course as district B is said to have done.

MINISTERS HOLDING MEETINGS, &c.

Y M. 1848. (Indiana.) Art. 2. Whether it is proper, if more than two or three ministers should rise in a common meeting to speak (preach)? Considered, that a due sense of order and propriety will teach us how to conduct our meetings, so as to edify and not to weary the congregation. See 1 Cor. 14:32, 33, 40.

MINISTERS MOVING FROM ONE PLACE TO ANOTHER.

Y. M. 1833. Art. 3. Whether a brother, who was chosen to the (ministry of the) word, in one church, and moves into another with a good testimony, can be relieved from his office (or rather literally put back from it)? It was always considered, when a ministering brother moves out of the church who chose him, he moves out of his office; that is, before he is fully ordained; and that it was at the option of the church into which he moves, to receive him with his office or not. If his life and conduct inspires love and confidence, it will not be long before he may be called to exercise his ministry again. Have patience!

- Y. M. 1835. Art. 6. How is it considered, if ministers move into churches where there is no ordained elder, whether they can be received where no bishop is present? No; there ought to be one or more bishops invited for the occasion, or the matter postponed to another time. Meanwhile those new comers may serve in their office as guests.
- Y. M. 1838. Art 7 Whether a teacher (minister) has the right to remove out of the church without the counsel of the same? Considered, that it is right and good that a brother in such an important undertaking should seek the counsel of his church.
- Y. M. 1848. (Indiana) Art. 8. How is it considered, if a brother that is chosen for an office in the church, should move from one church and neighborhood to another without bringing a testimonial along, whether he can be received in his office before a testimony arrives? Considered, that if such brother moves only a little way into a church, where his standing is generally known, there would be no need of a written testimony, (still a sufficient testimony, by word of mouth of witnesses from his former church, and after council being held in that church, would be requisite.) But if a brother should move a considerable distance, it is right and proper to require a testimonial before such is received in his office.
- Y. M. 1859. Art 15. How is it considered when a bishop movefrom his district into a third district, and takes no letter of recommendation along with him, but wants to retain the oversight of the church he has left, and says he will still keep his standing in that church during his life, although he is frequently absent from their regular meetings? Answer. He should have a letter of recommendation from the church from which he moved, and if the distance is not too great, he may still retain the oversight of that church, while his doing so may produce no difficulties.
- Art. 30. If a brother in the ministry, or deaconship, move from one congregation to another, having a certificate of good standing in his office, has the congregation to which he moved, a right to refuse to receive him with his office? Answer. We consider they have not.
- Y. M. 1862. Art. 9. When official members move from one district to another, should they be received with hand and kiss, or is a letter sufficient? Answer.—Art. 9 of Min. of 1846, re-adopted, and here to be ep rinted.

["Is a brother that was a speaker or deacon, and has moved into another church, properly re-installed in his office, if an ordained brother takes the counsel of the church and announces the same to him, without he being received by the members with hand and kiss? Considered unanimously by the elders, that insamuch he was properly received into his office by the church in which he was chosen, he would be sufficiently established."]

MINISTERS SERVING ON ARBITRATIONS, &c.

Y. M. 1842. Art. 6. Whether it be proper for a brother who is elected to speak the Word (chosen for the Ministry,) to serve at arbitrations or on juries, &c. Considered, as it has been often heretofore, that brothren would do best at all times, if it be avoidable, not to serve, except there is reason to hope that peace may be promoted thereby.

MINISTERS TAKING PAY.

Y. M. 1827. Art. 10. Concerning taking pay for solemnizing marriages and preaching funeral sermons. It was unanimously considered. that it should not be among brethren. (See also Marriages)

MINISTRY.

Y. M. 1845. Art. 7. How it is considered, if brethren will force themselves into the ministry without consent from the Elders, and some of the members encourage them in it? Considered, that inasmuch it appears by the words of James, chapter 3: 1, by the words of our Saviour, John, 10:1, and of Paul, Heb. 5:4 and 7; there is a right way, and also a wrong way, to enter into the ministry; the wrong way being, when one is taking this honor unto himself, and the right way, when one is called of God by the Church, which is the body of Christ; and the order of which calling to the ministry is found described in the Acts of the Apostles. Brethren ought to be very cautious, when they feel a desire to preach the Gospel, that they do not take the wrong way; rather humble than elevate themselves, and be fully assured, that if the Lord wants their services, he has all power in heaven and on earth to bring about their calling to it in the right order and in due time; but if such brothren would still go out of the way, appoint and hold meetings against the counsel of the church, the church will have to hold them as disobedient members according to Matt. 18; and members generally ought to be very careful not to encourage and support such brethren in their disorderly proceedings.

Y. M. 1848. (Indiana.) Art. 1. Whether a private brother has a right to speak in public? Considered, that inasmuch as there is a way appointed in the gospel to enter into the ministry, those who feel an inward desire or call to preach, (should exercise their gift faithfully in their own family, and at the family worship where they may happen to be, and in speaking privately to such individuals, as opportunity may offer to their soul's welfare, but) should wait patiently until (God by) the church sees fit to appoint them to the public ministry. See John's Gospel, 10:1, 2. Heb. 5:4,5.

MINUTES OF Y. M.

- Y. M. 1848. Art. 17. With regard to the printing of the Minutes of the Y. M., it was concluded to have as many printed as to supply cach church with two copies, but that on no condition they should be sold to such as are not members.
- Y. M. 1849. Art. 6. Would it not be well to have a committee appointed at this or some future annual meeting, whose duty it should be to collect all the (minutes) advice of councils, bearing on all points of duty, and put it in the form of a book, and bring it before the council of the following year for their approbation; and if approved of, get it printed, so that each member might have a copy, not as a creed, but as (a record of) advice, and as a testimony of the truths as we understand it? Considered, to let this matter lay over—Art. 48. Whether each elder, teacher, or visiting brother should not have the privilege of having a copy of the Minutes of the Y. M? Considered, that we are in favor for each ministering brother to have a copy, and they be advised to keep them if possible from coming before the world; and we will further recommend that they should be sent sealed (in letter form), as we know them to have been opened in Post Offices.
- Y. M. 1850. Art. 2. How it is considered, inasmuch as our beloved brother, H. K., is not present at this meeting—for to appoint a committee to have the Minutes of this meeting printed, and to receive all moneys appropriated to defray the expenses of printing. It has been agreed upon by this meeting, that bro. Benjamin Bowman, of Va., Daniel Summer, of Ohio, and David Hardman, of Indiana, be this committee.
- Y. M. 1858. Art. 55. Would it not be well for the Standing Committee of this Y. M. to appoint a number of intelligent and pious brethren to collect all the minutes that can be still obtained of our yearly meetings, and have them printed in a volume, for the use and satisfaction of the churches? Considered, we think it not advisable so to do.
- Y. M. 1861. Art. 6. Will this yearly meeting grant the privilege to re-print all the minutes of the yearly meetings (still extant), so that those wishing to have them may have a full copy? Resolved, By this annual meeting that this subject should be attended to, and we therefore recommend that a committee be appointed to gather up all the minutes as far back as can be had, and bring them together in such a way and form as may be thought best, and we hereby appoint brother Henry Kurtz, of Ohio; Andrew Spanogle, of Pa.; John Kline, of Va.; Christian Long, of Illinois, and Philip Boyle, of Maryland, to attend to said business, and report to the next yearly meeting. (On account of the War and other hindrances, this committee has not yet been able to meet or do any thing, except individually.)

MISSIONARY.

Y. M. 1852. Art. 8. Whether the commission of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, Matt. 28:19, 20; Mark, 16:15, does not require of the church to send brethren to preach the Gospel, where the name of Christ is not known? Considered, that the brethren acknowledge the great commission of Christ to its full extent, and that it is the duty of the church, the ministers and every private member, to do all that is in their power to fulfill that commission in accordance with apostolic practice.

Y. M. 1856. Art. 22. A letter from Virginia urging that this Y. M. devise a plan, how the church could fulfill the command of the Saviour, Matt. 28:19, more effectually, so that the Article 8, on our Minutes of 1852, should not remain a dead letter. This meeting recommend the subject to the serious consideration of all the churches.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 58. Whereas, there is a strong desire among the brethren in various places to have a more general exertion made on the part of the church to have the truth more universally spread; and, whereas, the subject has been frequently talked of without any definite plan being proposed; we, therefore, have concluded by way of introduction, to offer the following outlines of a plan, subject, however, to such amendments as may from time to time be thought best. That is, let each State where there is a respectable number of brethren, form a district; let the brethren then hold their annual meetings; let each of these divisions (districts) have its treasury; let the churches that feel favorable have their treasury; let the churches be called upon as often as may be necessary to cast in their mite as a free-will offering. Then let these contributions be put into the district treasury, and let the district meeting appoint ministering brethren, say two or more, if necessary (such as are willing to go), to travel through the respective States for one year, their expenses being paid, and such provision made for their families as may be thought necessary. What does the annual meeting think of this proposition? Considered, that we think it not good to adopt this proposition; but we believe it is a subject worthy the serious and prayerful consideration of the brotherhood, and we recommend the brethren to give it such consideration.

Y. M. 1859. Art. 28. Seeing the great necessity of having the gospel as held and practised by the brethren more extensively spread and known, we desire that the brethren in this annual council reconsider Art. 58 of Minutes of 1858, and adopt it with such amendments as in the fear of the Lord may seem best.

As it was recommended by the last annual meeting to make the subject of spreading the gospel one of prayerful consideration, it appears it was done; and several churches have expressed their wish to this innual council meeting, to have it take a favorable action upon the subject. The following is the conclusion this annual meeting has come to in relation to what is referred to in this article.

This meeting recommend and give liberty to any of the districts or States to make a move on the subject of spreading and sustaining the gospel as preached and understood by the brethren, so that the same may be done in the order of the gospel. And we recommend to those churches who may adopt this, to make a report to the next annual meeting upon their success. And in view of the importance of the subject, we appoint the following brethren as a committee, to propose some plan by which the brotherhood in general may take a part in this good work; said plan to be reported to the next annual meeting: Daniel P. Sayler, John Kline, John H. Umstad, Samuel Layman, John Metzger, and James Quinter. Daniel P. Sayler is the corresponding member of the committee.

Y. M. 1860. Art. 12. Whereas, the brethren in California and Oregon have earnestly desired and requested a delegation of two or three brethren to be sent by the Annual Council of the brethren, to encourage and strengthen them, and to "set in order the things needed" for a proper organization of churches, according to the Gospel of Christ, as well as to preach the Gospel where Christ is not known; the meeting, therefore, receiving with favor the request, came to the following conclusion concerning the subject:

It was decided that the standing committee of this Annual Meeting form a board for the purpose of corresponding with brethren, and of ascertaining if any seem to be called to the work, and of judging of their fitness for it, and for making the necessary arrangements for carrying out the purposes of this Annual Meeting to comply with the request from the brethren in California and Oregon.

And in order to obtain the necessary pecuniary aid, this meeting recommends to all the churches to make contributions for the purpose, and to report to the board the result of their operations. James Quinter, Columbiana, Columbiana Co., O., was appointed corresponding Secretary, and Daniel P. Sayler, Double Pipe Creek, Carroll Co., Md., Treasurer.

Y. M. 1861. Art. 7. Queny 7. Contains a remonstrance from the Sugar Creek church, Allen Co., Ohio, as follows: "Having assembled in council, and having under consideration the Missionary question, we the church aforesaid enter our remonstrance against all plans that have been recommended through the Visitor, save the one on page 279, in September No. last.

All business upon this subject is referred to the next Yearly Meeting.

Art. 13. Resolved, That we are opposed to a treasury for the exclusive benefit of the ministry, but that every church should encourage their ministers to be active in their calling, and also to support them in all cases of necessity.

Considered, that we fully concur in the sentiments above expressed.

MORTGAGE, TAKING OF BRETHREN.

Y. M. 1825. Art. 2. Whether a brother may take a mortgage or judgment bond of another brother, was considered, that brethren should be as careful of the interest of their neighbor as of their own, and not be selfish; and inasmuch to take bail for large sums is deemed wrong, it is not improper to secure a debt by mortgage or judgment.

MOVING AWAY UNRECONCILED.

Y. M. 1849. Art. 13. When a member offends in a church, and then moves away without being reconciled, can he obtain a certificate by writing, without personally presenting himself? Considered, when a member removes under such circumstances, and is so far away, or unfavorably situated for coming back to make reconciliation, when he wishes to do so, if the church from which he removed is satisfied with his acknowledgments made in writing, it (the church) may signify this satisfaction in a letter to the church where he (now) resides.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

- Y. M. 1852. Art. 11. Has a brother a right to have or keep in his house costly musical instruments? Considered, that members could lay out their money to better advantage. (Was it wrong, "that David took a harp and played with his hand, so Saul was refreshed, and was well, and the evil spirit departed from him?" (See 1 Sam. 16:23.)
- Y. M. 1857. Art. 10. How is it considered for brethren, and especially ministering brethren, to adorn their children with ear-rings, breastpins, finger-rings and jewelry in general, and send them from home to have them taught music, and to procure pianos for them. Answer. Brethren should not do so.

MUSTERING.

- Y. M. 1785. See "Erroneous Doctrines." Y. M. 1789. Art. 5. Further it was discussed and unanimously considered, that no brother should permit his sons to go on the muster ground, much less that a brother go himself.
 - Y. M. 1815. Art. 2. See "Non-resistance;" also, "Warfare."
- Y. M. 1817. Art, 5. Whether brethren or their children may go on the muster ground or not? The counsel was, that no member may go there, and prevent also their children from going on that ground, and not willingly permit it to them, as long as they are under parental authority; should a brother do so, he could not be in full followship with the church; for the Saviour said to Peter, "Put up thy sword into his place; for all they that take the sword, shall perish with the sword."
- Y. M. 1822. (Miami.) Art. 6. Whether a brother may take the liberty to go on the muster ground or take part in the festivities of Independence-day? Considered, that no brother should take the liberty to go to such places.
- Y. M. 1835. Art. 5. How it is considered when brethren go to muster and drill. Considered, that it is contrary to our baptismal vow, contrary to the Word of God, and contrary to the professed principle of the church, and can by no means be permitted or tolerated.
- Y. M. 1840. Art. 9. Whether it could be permitted for brethren to attend a mustering in the militia? Considered, that mustering is a preparation for war; and since we by the gospel of Jesus are called unto peace and to a non-resistant state, it would in no wise be proper (consistent) or allowable for a brother to learn war. Isa. 2:4. Mic. 4:3.
- Y. M. 1859. Art. 23. In those States where muster fines are high, and where the fines are the only means whereby the military musters are kept up, would it not be better for brethren to muster a few times, and thereby cause the military system to be abolished, than to pay an oppressive fine and thereby keep up the regimental muster? Ans. It would not, inasmuch as our Lord and Saviour teaches non-resistance in his gospel throughout. And when we go to musters, we there learn the art of war, and the most appropriate method of shedding our fellow-creatures' blood. See 2 Cor. 6:17. John 18:36.

NAME OF OUR FRATERNITY.

Y. M. 1836. Art. 6. What should be the name of our fraternity, when a title for a meeting house is made and recorded in the public offices? Unanimously concluded to call ourselves the Fraternity of German Baptists.

NEAREST FRIENDS IN COUNCIL.

- Y. M. 1817. Art. 3. Whether the nearest friends of a member, that fall under the censure of the church, or a candidate wishing to be received into the church, may be present at the council of the case? Considered, necessary that the nearest friends should withdraw.
- Y. M. 1832. Art. 13. Whether at a council concerning candidates for baptism, their nearest friends should withdraw? Decided as before.
- Y. M. 1838. Art 8 Whether in case a member falls into the judgment of the church, the nearest relatious should withdraw while the counsel is taken? It has always been considered best to let such relations withdraw.

NON-CONFORMITY TO THE WORLD.

See "Conformity," &c.; also, "Fushionable Garments," and "Our Three Principles," &c.

NON-RESISTANCE.

- Y. M. 1845. (Virginia.) Art. 5. In regard to our being altogether defenceless, "not to withstand the evil," but "to overcome evil with good," the brethren consider, that the nearer we follow the bright example of the Lamb of God, who willingly suffered the cross, and prayed for his enemies; who, though "heir of all things," had on earth "not where to lay his head,"—the more we shall fulfill our high calling, and obtain grace to deny ourselves for Christ and his gospel's sake, even to the loss of our property, our liberty and our lives.
- Y. M. 1855. Art. 4. Has a brother a right to defend himself with a deadly weapon at the appearance of his being in danger? Considered, that he has not, inasmuch as the Saviour says to Peter, "Put up thy sword into his place; for all they that take the sword, shall perish by the sword." Matt. 26:52:

(A more full exhibition of this principle, see Y. M. 1785, under the heading, "Doctrines, Strange." Also, Y. M. 1789. Ibid. See also "Mustering" and "Warfare," and "Our Three Principles.")

OATHS, SWEARING OF.

- Y. M. 1785. See "Doctrines, Strange." Y. M. 1790. See "Doctrines, Strange."
- Y. M. 1821. Art. 4. How far a brother has liberty in giving testimony to speak the truth before a magistrate, since there are different forms presented to brethren, was considered, that by no means a brother should take the liberty to raise his hand (or kiss the book), but to obey the counsel of the Gospel; to affirm yea that is yea, and nay that is nay, "for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil."

Y. M. 1822. Art. 5. Concerning the form or manner of swearing oaths to save our consciences for the gospel's sake, whether we could answer with yea such a form, viz: "And this you do under the pains and penalties of perjury." It has been considered, that if a brother were oppressed or troubled herein, let him consider or seek counsel, whether there is no other form for us.

OFFENSES, PUBLIC.

- Y. M. 1797. Art. 2. It was in union concluded, that if a brother or sister should commit a fault or sin, that were not between brother and brother, but open before the world, then the church is to examine, and if the fault is not so criminal that the church is compelled to cut him off entirely, according to the word of the Lord, and the failing member acknowledges and repents for his sin, such should make a public acknowledgment in presence of believers and unbelievers. But if he should harden his heart, and would not be obedient to the counsel of the church, then the members could not have fellowship with him until such time he becomes willing to acknowledge and to obey, and then the whole church should heartily pardon and forgive him, in the name of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. (See also "Acknowledgments.")
- Y. M. 1821. Art. 8. What is to be done when a member commits a fault, which is not between brother and brother, but publicly against the gospel? Considered, that such a member (provided it is no crime, such as stated in 1 Cor. 5,) should always make acknowledgment before the church.
- Y. M. 1828. Art. 11. Whether if a member sees another member commit sin publicly against truth, the first is in duty bound to speak privately to the failing member, or (at once to) present the case to one of the leading brethren? Considered (whether to do the first), it is as a member may choose (but to do the latter remains his duty, inasmuch public sins cannot be atoned for between member and member).
- Y. M. 1840. Art. 10. Whether a public fault can be atoned for and forgiven, between brother and brother? Considered, that a fault publicly committed can only be settled before the church, and not between brother and brother, according to the word of the Lord.
- Y. M. 1850. Art. 15. Whether it is according to the gospel, for a church to lay a public acknowledgment on a brother that has made a public offense? Considered, that the acknowledgment is to be made before the church alone, and before all the members present. See I Tim. 5:20. "Them that sin, rebuke before all, that others also may fear." Art. 37. If it is proved by two or three brethren, that a brother has been drinking to excess, yet not so much as to disable him from keeping on his feet, but has often before been charged, and also before been set back or put in avoidance, and still denies the charge—would he not come under the class of drunkards; or would it be prudent to hold him as a brother, or could he be expelled by the proof (evidence) of four or five witnesses, though not members of the church? Considered, that no member should be put in avoidance without positive proof from members, that he or she has been guilty of one of those sins mentioned by Paul in 1 Cor. 5:11.

[Love to truth and righteousness in Christ, and the prosperity of the church and of the individual souls, constrains us to make a few serious remarks on a very unpleasant subject. A question, such as the one given above, under Article 37 (the whole number of articles presented in that same year was sixty-four), would alone require, in order to answer it rightly and scripturally, more space and time than can be devoted at the Y. M. to the consideration of all the (64) questions presented in this one year. If the case presented in the query has actually occurred as presented, the sad fact is proved, that a brother may be convicted again and again of drunkenness by two or three brethren, and may have been dealt with by the church (according to the word of God), and he still deny the charge, thus adding the sin of lying to the other sin, and still by some means, but not by true repentance, for then he would confess instead of denying his sins, he is still held as a member, and still continues to be a drunkard, only taking care that no brother shall see him drunk. Is there no remedy for this?]

Y. M. 1855. Art. 24. If two brethren or members should raise a quarrel before or in presence of others, so as nearly to come in bodily conflict, or to fight, can such matters be settled between those members, or ought it to be brought before the church? Considered, that such public crimes must be settled before and by the church.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 27. Would it not be well for the brethren to come upon some plan to acquaint all the bishops and housekeepers of the various branches of the church with the rules and regulations concluded upon by the general council for the more perfect union and prosperity of the church? And if these rules and regulations be violated by a minister, with some of the members composing his district, should they not fall into the hands of the brethren of the adjacent districts as offenders, and he dealt with as such; and if the above should be considered expedient, what plan should be devised to carry it into effect? Answer. We are fully satisfied, that the means long had in practice by the brethren, namely, the Minutes of our Annual Meetings, are sufficient to give the teachers and housekeepers, and members generally, the decisions of our annual councils for the perfecting of love and union throughout the brotherhood. And if it should so happen that a housekeeper, with a part or all of the members of his district, could not be satisfied with the decisions of the general council, as we were advised and instructed by our beloved elder brethren, and unanimously concurred in at the Annual Meeting held in 1850, in Montgomery county, Ohio, they should bear with the annual council, and with one another, until the next annual meeting, and then bring their grievances to the annual council where they proceeded from, and we believe full satisfaction will be obtained.

[This article ought to have been inserted under some other heading, for instance—"Minutes," or "Opposition to Y. M."]

OFFICES, HOLDING WORLDLY.

Y. M. 1779. See " Attest, taking the."

Y. M. 1789. Art. 3. Further it has been discussed and unanimously deemed good and evangelical, that all brethren in all places should shun all worldly offices, so as not to serve in any of them, provided it is possible to be relieved from them, such as Supervisor, Overseer of the Poor, Collector, Constable, Assessor, or also Juryman, &c. Yet it is considered, with some difference, such as Supervisor or Overseer of the Poor, might be served perhaps with least objection; provided, there is no suing or something else contrary to the Word of the Lord. If a brother should be elected to one of these offices contrary to his will, then only that what he would have to do contrary to the gospel, should be rebuked in love and compassion, according to the word of the Lord.

Y. M. 1812. Art. 6. Concerning brethren who are sometimes prevailed upon to serve in the office of Constable, it was considered, that a follower of Jesus could not serve in such office, and if a brother should accept of it, take the oath of office, and serve in it, or by some person else as his substitute, such a brother would exclude himself from the breaking of bread, holy kiss, and brotherly council.

Y. M. 1822. (Canton, O.) Art. 2. Whether a brother might serve in a worldly office or as a juryman, was considered, that no follower of Jesus can serve in such, and if he could get relieved with money (by paying a fine), he should not serve herein.

Y. M. 1825. Art. 6. Concerning a brother holding the office of Justice of the Peace, has been twice before the big meeting, and was always considered, that it was not at all consistent with the gospel; but as something more definite is requested, the counsel is now, if such an one has been admonished already before to give up that office, and is once and again admonished (in the name of the church) to do so, and will not give it up, such an one we could not hold as a brother.

Y. M. 1884. Art. 9. Concerning the office of Supervisor and other worldly offices, was considered, that brethren should keep themselves clear of them as much as possible.

Y. M. 1837. Art. 5. Whether a brother is at liberty to serve as cryer or clerk at public vendues? It is the counsel of this meeting, that no brother should take the liberty to act as a cryer at vendues, because it is unbecoming for a brother so to serve. As to the clerkship at vendues, it would not be considered quite so unbecoming, yet so that brethren ought to refrain from such things as much as possible.

Y. M. 1839. Art. 1. Whether a brother could serve in the office of a Constable? No. (See above, Y. M. 1812.)

Y. M. 1841. Art. 11. Whether it is becoming for a member of the church of Christ to act as juror in the courts of our country? Considered, that it would be best not to serve at all (even) in civil (cases), but by no means in criminal cases.

- Y. M. 1844. Art. 3. Whether a brother may go to the Legislative Assembly as a representative of the people, agreeably with the gospel? Considered, that though we look upon the higher powers of this world as being of God for the protection of the pious, &c, and desire to be thankful to God for the benefits we enjoy under our government, and feel it our duty to pray fervently and daily for the same, (still) we cannot see how a follower of the meek and lowly Saviour can seek or accept an office of this kind consistently with the gospel he professes. See Matt. 20:25-28; Mark, 10:42-46; Luke, 22:25; John, 17:16, &c.
- Y. M. 1849. Art. 34. Whether a brother being elected to the office of Constable contrary to his will, would be justifiable in taking the obligations of the office, and (then) transfer it to another person, who will discharge the whole duty of said office? Considered, while the brother would have to be under oath, and responsible for all the acts of his substitute, it would not be safe for him to do so (not to repeat what has been testified so often already, that such office is improper and unbecoming for a brother).
- Y. M. 1850. Art. 9. Is it allowed for a brother, especially one that holds an office in the church, to fill a workly office, and if not, what is the proper course to pursue with such a brother? Considered, that we could not advise brethren to crave worldly offices; but if the people of the world should impose an office on any of our brethren, they should, before acting in such office, lay the matter before the church, and act agreeably to the counsel of the same.
- Y. M. 1852. Art. 3. Have we a right to help making the political government, and to serve as officers; also, to put the law in force against any of our fellow men in any case whatever? Considered, (see "Law, Swing against Debtors," page 106.)
- Y. M. 1857. Art. 39. Is it consistent with the gospel for brethren to serve in the capacity of any of the civil officers under our government; and is there any material difference as to state, county, or township officers? Answer. We consider it wrong for brethren to accept of any office which requires them to administer an oath, or to use physical force in performing the duties of that office.

OPPOSITION TO Y. M.

- Y. M. 1805. Art. 2. Further, it has been considered, that when there is made a conclusion at the big yearly meeting, and there are members who would not heed, nor conduct themselves accordingly, it has been concluded unitedly, that when such persons cannot convince the church by evidence from holy scripture, and would or did rise up against such church conclusion, would not hear nor obey at all, in such case we could not well do otherwise, but after sufficient and friendly admonition to set them back from the breaking of bread until they learn to do better and become obedient.
- Y. M. 1845. Art. 8. How is it considered, if brethren will rebel against the counsel held at council meetings, and say, it is an abomination to God? Considered, that such a brother should be visited and exhorted, and if he would not hear and obey the admonition, he could not be held as a brother.
- Y. M. 1850. Art. 5. Whether it is right for brethren in different arms of the church, to go against the counsel of the Yearly Meeting? Considered, that it is wrong for brethren to go against the counsel of our great Annual Meetings; but should brethren not be satisfied with said counsel, they have liberty, with the consent of their church, to bring the matter before another Yearly Meeting for a reconsideration.
- Y. M. 1853. Art. 30. How is it considered when brethren preach a doctrine which is not in accordance with the decisions of the Yearly Meeting, and speak privately to or with members against such decisions? Considered, that for love and union sake they ought not to do so.
- Y. M. 1858. Art. 22. What should be done with a brother who holds the counsel of the annual meeting in disrespect, and who speaks lightly and disrespectfully of it? Considered, that he should be kindly admonished to do so no more, and if he will not hear the admonition (of the church) he should be dealt with according to Matt. 18.
- Y. M. 1858. Art. 27. (That belongs specially to this place, but is inserted above, under the heading, "Offenses, Public.") ORDER AT ANNUAL MEETINGS, &c.

Y. M. 1835. Art. 4. Concerning the commencement of Yearly Meetings on Saturday, or according to the ancient order. No change made at this time. (See further, "Annual Meetings.")

ORDER AT BAPTISMS.

See "Baptism," especially Y. M. 1848.

ORDER AT CHOICES FOR MINISTERS, &c.

Y. M. 1843. Art. 7. When a large church, by common consent. has been divided into several districts, and in one of these districts it is found necessary to hold an election for teachers (ministers) and deacons. whether the members of such district alone are entitled to vote, or whether the members of the other districts have a right to vote also? Considered, that when such division takes place by common consent, for the greater convenience of members and of meetings, we understand that benceforth these several districts are to form so many particular churches, though they may be under the superintendence of but one bishon; and that, consequently, when one of these districts or one of these particular churches, stands in need of laborers, and has to hold an election. it would be as improper for the members of the other districts to vote at such election, as it would be for members from other churches that never formed a part of the old and large district. In case there was no express word for such things, we think we may safely follow the Apostle Paul, when he says, 1 Cor. 11:14: "Doth not nature itself teach you" what is proper. Art. 8. How it might be considered, when at the election for teachers and deacons, absent members do send their votes with other members? Considered, that since the promise of our Saviour is given, "Where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them." Matt. 18:20. In such important church affairs, this promise belongs only to those that are assembled, and not to those that are absent; the brethren generally have acted upon that ground, and not taken any vote from absent members.

Y. M. 1853. Art. 4. Is it consistent with the gospel and its principles, as professed by our brotherhood, when a brother is chosen to the ministry only, not being authorized to baptize, that (afterwards) the ordained elder of the congregation should forward such brother without consulting the church? Considered, that all the power under God is vested in the church, and that therefore the church should be consulted in all such cases. Art. 44. How it is considered, when choices are held for teachers or deacons in a different manner from the general usage, choosing by ballot in presence of all the church, and without ordained elders from other churches being present? Considered, that a choice should be held by each and every member coming (one by one) before the elders, and giving their voice privately. The presence of two or at least one ordained elder from another church, has been deemed necessary always, so as to avoid the least appearance of partiality, &c.

Y. M. 1856. Art. 5. Would it not be best, in holding elections for the purpose of choosing ministers or deacons, that none of the ministering brethren of such district should take any part, or even be in the room where the votes of the members are received, but that brethren of other districts should be called for said purpose? Considered, that every member should have an equal privilege of giving their voices, and that the remainder of this query were best left to the control of the strange brethren.

Y. M. 1858. Art 24. When a church stands in need of speakers or deacons, should the bishop make it known to the members before, or only on the day of election? Considered, that we leave the churches to do as they have been accustomed to do, in relation to this subject. [But suppose a wrong custom has been introduced, such as voting by ticket, in imitation of the world, or such as invite and assist to electioneering practices, should such customs be continued?]

Y. M. 1862. Art. 33. Would it not be advisable when an election is to be held for both a speaker and a deacon at the same time, to hold the election for the speaker first, and make the result known, and then hold the election for the deacon or deacons, as the case may be? Ans.

We consider it would be advisable to do so.

ORDER AT COMMON MEETINGS FOR WORSHIP.

[The general order is: First, united prayer and praise by singing a hymn; then a brief exhortation to hambly worship God in spirit and in truth, followed by prayer upon our bended knees, two or three praying aloud, one after the other, the last repeating the Lord's prayer, each Amen repeated by the congregation. Then reading one or more portions of Scripture, followed by preaching, one, two or three speaking alternately; then, if candidates for baptism are presented. Matt. 18:10-21, is read and commented on, and every candidate is asked to assent to the rules laid down by the Saviour in that chapter; after that, the meeting is brought to a close, as it was commenced, by singing, exhortation and prayer. As meetings used to be held at the houses of members, the members would, out of love, prepare a refreshment for those who had come from a distance, and whoever would partake of the invitation. This latter particular was necessary to be mentioned for a better understanding of what follows.]

Y. M. 1822. (Miami.) Art. 9. Whether we might have two tables at lovefeast, and also at other meetings; that is, whether members night prepare something warm for the old brethron, and also elderly and weakly members, beside what is served up for all in general,—was considered, that members should be at perfect liberty to show their love toward their old brethren or weakly members, to set before them what they like; yet we would counsel in love to be careful that no bad distinction is made, so that friends and well-wishers are preferred to those that are weakly.

Y. M. 1840. Art. 12. How is it considered, when teachers at the beginning of meetings exhort so long, and consume so much time with speaking before prayer? Considered, that it would be more edifying to make the exhortation as brief as possible, since the Apostle teaches, that "first of all, supplication, prayers, intercession, &c, be made. 1 Tim. 2:1-4.

- Y. M. 1841. Art. 4. Whether it is proper for teachers to speak both German and English in (one) meeting, when there are only a few English members, the majority of the church being German? Considered, that it is right and our duty to preach the gospel to every nation as far as we are able, yet so that in such a case not too much time ought to be taken up in English.
- Y. M. 1842. Art. 2. Whether it will be to the edification of the church of God, to hold protracted meetings, and to introduce mourningbenches, in imitation to the new measures adopted by different sects and denominations? The brothren generally considered, that it was advisable to be very cautious, and at all times to keep good order in accordance with the doctrine and example of the Apostles, and not to introduce such icnovations, like mourning-benches, &c. Art. 9. How is it considered, when brethren who are not ordained, in the presence of ordained brethren, without being requested, take the lead at public meetings, and at morning and evening worship, seat themselves at the head of the table, and call upon ordained brethren to be free Considered, that order is an essential rule in the house of God, and that it would be most praiseworthy, if all the brethren did try in honor to prefer one another, and each one be faithful in his station, not seeking the uppermost seats, nor forgetting the advice of the Apostle, 1 Pet. 5:5: "Ye younger, submit yourselves unto the cider."
- Y. M. 1855. Art. 21. Is it according to the gospel, at the close of our meetings, to sing a hymn, and invite mourners to come forward; and if none will come, sing another hymn, and give another invitation; and lastly, to tell the congregation to rise upon their feet, and with raised hand speak a blessing over the people? Considered, that this is not agreeable with the gospel, and should not be done.
- Y. M. 1858. Art. 8. Does the gospel convey the idea, that the public practical use of the spiritual gifts, such as prayer, exhortation, teaching, doctrine and prophesying, &c., is alone confined to the chosen officers of the church; or does it extend that privilege to every member, especially male members of the church, if the influence of the spirit of Christ so dictate to him? Answer. As it regards prayer, it is considered that private members may pray in public, if liberty be given by elder brethren; but exhortation, teaching and prophesying seem to be duties and privileges belonging to the officers of the church. See 1 Cor. 14:32. Art. 39. How should brethren proceed, after preaching, relative to getting members in the church? Shall the preacher, while singing a hymn, give an invitation to those who wish to join the church to come forward, or shall he leave it to them to make their own application? Considered, that it is best to let them make their own application, as in Acts 2:37, and 16:30.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 69. How is it considered when ministering brethren, after preaching go into the congregation and invite persons to join the church? Answer. We consider it best to do as was done in Acts, 2d chap.

ORDER AT LOVEFEASTS.

(The order in general is, or was, as follows: If there is a day meeting, it is held as every other meeting; see " Order of Common Meetings." The evening exercises commence in summer time about one hour before sunset by singing an appropriate hymn. Then, I Cor. 11th chapter, is read entirely or in part, chiefly from verse 17 to the end, from which scripture is spoken by two or three brethren, chiefly treating on self examination; and this exercise closed with humble prayer, in which general liberty being given, private members, even sisters, sometimes join one by one to atter their hearts' desires for themselves, for the church, and for all mankind. In the next place, water is brought for feet-washing, and John's gospel, 13th chapter, is read, as far as time and the subject will permit and require. While the washing of feet is going on, in which work always two are engaged, two brethren to wash and wipe the brethren's feet, and two sisters to wash and wipe the sisters' feet, and those frequently relieved by other two, at large communions; the preaching is also going on upon that subject. Feet-washing being over, supper begins to be served on the table; and while the table servants are thus engaged, the ministering brothren in word and doctrine may speak something on the Lord's supper; and when all is ready, a verse or two are sung, and a blessing asked for this supper; and then all partake together of the frugal meal, consisting mostly of soup, boiled meat, bread and water; and after all have eaten, and thanks returned to God, the tables are cleared off. Now, the elements of the communion, bread and wine, are brought, and reverently set down at one end of the table, and a hymn to the praise of our once suffering and dving Redeemer is sung. Next, a part of the record of Christ's passion and death is read, such as Mark 15, or John 19, and spoken on according to the gospel and the injunction of Paul, I Cor. 11:26; during which the administrator prepares the bread (unleavened) for distribution, and then prepares the minds of the communicants still further for the solemn contemplation of what Christ has done for as, and what we ought to be willing to do and suffer also for his cause, and how we ought to be united as one in faithful love toward one another even unto death-which is scaled by the holy kiss going round in the whole congregation, among the sisters as well as among the brethren. Next, a blessing is asked over the bread, which is to be the emblem of the communion of the body of Christ, and then that bread is broken from brother to brother; and meanwhile by the administrator the same bread is administered to the sisters, each laying his or her portion before him or her on the table, until all are provided. Then all eat it at once in solemn silence, contemplating our Saviour's sufferings for our good. In the same manner thanksgiving is made and a blessing asked for the cup of the New Testament, which is the communion of the blood of Christ; then one cup is circulating among the brethren, and the administrator handing another cup to the sisters, while singing the praises of a Saviour's dying love is going on. And finally, the services are closed by singing a song of praise and prayer-all standing. was written nearly thirty years ago in Germany, by request of God-fearing friends.)

Y. M. 1822. (Miami.) Art. 8. Concerning breaking up in the morning after lovefeast, it was considered, that members and their children, who stay till morning, should not separate and leave until prayer and thanksgiving to God is made.

Y. M. 1828. Art. 8. Whether the (holy) kiss should have a place at feet washing (between those who serve and those who are served), and at (before) the breaking of bread? Considered, that it should be. (The new commandment, John 13:31, 35, brings it very near to both ordinances, and a lovefeast without this token of love would searcely deserve the name.) Art. 13. Whether we might have small lovefeasts? See "Lovefeusts."

Y. M. 1854. Art. 11. If one or more churches would so choose to come together in the evening to observe the ordinances of the house of God as delivered unto us by the Saviour, and continue public worship next day, believing that thereby some of the evils might be obviated which too often accompany our lovefeasts, would it be considered a departure from the Word? Considered, No; but at the same time we would advise, that the churches should be careful to observe the ordinances of the Lord, at the proper time and in due order, and to avoid all unnecessary changes. Art. 22. A request that the oldest bishop choose or appoint twelve brethren to hold a communion or lovefeast at the time (and place) of yearly meeting, as a model to show us the right order according to the Gospel. Considered, that Christ with his Apostles in that doleful night, when he (the Saviour) was betrayed, has given a model, and showed us the right order.

Y. M. 1855. Art 25. Concerning the difference in the time of coming together for holding lovefeasts. Does it not appear as if there was a division or disunion among us, when some churches meet and have public worship (according to the ancient order of the brethren) in the forencon; others at one, two or three o'clock, and others again in the evening, about the time when the exercises immediately connected with the Lord's supper should begin? Could there not a uniform practice be adopted in this, as it used to be among the brethren in bygone years? Considered, to be left to the consideration of the churches, and to let them decide when their lovefeasts are to be held.

Y. M. 1855. Art. 28. How ought the church hold a member who argues and contends that Christ was eating the Jewish Passover with his disciples, and at the same time the Jews did eat it; and also contends that it is not binding on the followers of Christ to observe a supper, or anything more than the bread and wine; and that feet washing ought to he observed after cating; neither can be satisfied with the brethren that preach otherwise? Considered, that as it appears evident from John 13:1-29: 19:14: 18:25. Christ's supper with his disciples was caten before the Jewish Passover; and it appears from a comparison of Mark 14:20, and John 13:26, that the supper recorded by Mark and that recorded by John, are the same. Again, Luke calls the meal which Christ ate with his disciples, at which he instituted the communion, a supper; and a comparison of Luke 22:23, and John 13:25, will show that they were the same; now as it appears plain that the supper in John 13, was before the Jewish Passover, that of Luke 22:20, was likewise before it, and therefore not the passover itself. Further, from the Acts of the Apostles, and from the epistles, we find that there was in the church a feast of charity. See Jude 12; 1 Cer. 5:8; 2 Pet 2:13; Acts 18:21. When we take all this evidence into consideration, we think it is sufficient to satisfy every sincere and candid mind that those who want to adhere to the practice of the church in the times of the Apostles, must have a feast of charity; and those breshren who oppose such a feast, oppose the gospel, and therefore should be admonished. And, concerning the washing of feet after the communion, we would say that it appears from the reading of the 13th chapter of John, that feetwashing was practiced before John leaned on the bosom of Christ (see John 13:23), but we find from John 21:20, that John leaned on the bosom of Christ at supper. Therefore, feet-washing was performed by Christ before supper, and certainly before the communion, as the communion was administered after supper.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 65. Would it not be more in accordance with the gospel, and the example of Christ, to omit returning thanks between the supper and the communion? Answer. We think it best to return thanks, according to 1 Thess. 5:18.

ORDER NECESSARY TO UNION.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 44. Is the gospel itself sufficient to preserve a union of practice throughout the brotherbood? Considered, that the gospel (being understood alike by and becoming a living principle in the members), with the practice or order consistent with the gospel, will preserve the union of the brotherbood.

ORDER NOT OBSERVED.

- Y. M. 1850. Art. 28. How is it considered, when a district of church do not observe the ancient order of the brethren, and have new orders among them? Concluded, that no district church has any right to make changes in anything whatsoever, contrary to the ancient order, without a proper investigation before and the general consent of the annual meeting.
- Y. M. 1856. Art. 21. How is it considered, when a branch of a church separates itself from the main body, forwards its ministers without a bishop being present, and pretends to act independent of the counsel of the church and the yearly meeting? Considered, that such proceedings are wrong and highly dangerous so that love induces us to charge a committee to visit that church and branch.
- Y. M. 1858. Art. 57. Can the brothern be in full communion with a brother or a community of brethren, who do not held a church council in receiving applicants for baptism, and who do not ask those who are baptized, to renounce the devil and all the sinful practices of the world or flesh, and who do not practically follow the doctrine of self-denial? Considered, that we think such cannot be in full communion with us. Acts 10:47; Prov. 15:22; 1 John 2:15-17; Tit. 2:12.

ORDER OBSERVED DIFFERENTLY.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 34. Whereas, there is a diversity of opinion among the brethren concerning the mode of celebrating the Lord's supper; we therefore wish the brethren, at the annual meeting, to devise some plan that we may all be alike in our practices. Considered, that inasmuch as the difference is not stated, we recommend the practice heretofore recommended.

ORDER OF THE CHURCH IN GENERAL,

As we understand it, sometimes called "the Order of the Brethren," and by some, "the Discipline of the Church." See APPENDIX.

ORDINATION.

Y. M. 1843 Art. 6. Whether the ordination of a brother can be frustrated, when the whole church is united on the subject, with the exception of one or a few members? Considered, that in case the ordination of a brother is judged as necessary and proper by the church and the ordained brethren from a distance, and there could be no weighty objection made by those that are of another opinion in this matter, they ought to acquiesce in it, and the ordination might go on according to the desire of the church.

PATENT RIGHTS.

- Y. M. 1841. Art. 7. Whether members may be permitted to obtain and sell patent rights for their own inventions? Considered, that (inasmuch as patent rights will be of very little benefit, unless we enforce the law against all transgressors, and inasmuch this would be contrary to our professed principles,) it is not advisable for members to take out and sell patent rights.
- Y. M. 1855. Art. 7. How it would be considered, if a brother obtains a patent for any invention? Considered, that it would be safest, in all cases, first to ask counsel of the church before obtaining a patent.

PENSIONS OF SOLDIERS.

Y. M. 1836. Art. 1 Whether a brother would have a right to take such money, which he had acquired as a soldier by war? Considered in union, that it cannot be according to the doctrine of Jesus. (It is uncertain whether this question has any reference to pensions at all, but if it had, it would need revision and reconsideration.)

PLEDGE OF TOTAL ABSTINENCE.

Y. M. 1842. Art 4. How it is considered, if a brother or sister sign the pledge of total abstinence? Considered, that inasmuch our churches have always been testifying against intemperance, and even against the free use, the making and selling of ardent spirits, it is not advisable for members to put their hands to the pledge, or to meddle with the proceedings and excitement of the world on this subject.

POLITICS.

- Y. M. 1840. Art. 10. Whether a follower of Jesus may attend political meetings? Considered, that it is not becoming at all for brethren who have renounced the world.
 - Y. M. 1852. Art. 3. (See above under " Law")
 - Y. M. 1854. Art. 23, A request to reconsider Query 3, on the Minutes of 1852, which read thus: "Have we a right to help making the political government, and to serve as officers, also to put the law in force against any of our fellow men, in any case whatever?" Considered, that this query was sufficiently and correctly answered in 1852. See Rom. 6:16; 10:1-3; 2 Pet. 1:19; 2:19; 1 John 3:8, 9; Matt. 6:24; 2 Cor. 6:5-8; John 18:36.

- Y. M. 1833. Art. 13. Inasmuch as some brethren manifest a desire to prohibit brethren from voting at our common (political) elections, do not the brethren in yearly council see it to be best to make no change differing from the counsel and practice of our ancient brethren in these days of trouble? In the present crisis, we recommend that brethren abstain as much as possible from attending elections according to John 18:36; 2 Cor. 6:14-17.
- Y. M. 1864. Art. 1. In no less than four papers the question is presented, whether it is right and proper for a brother to go to, or take part in political elections, it being specially stated that it had caused hard feelings and disunion? Answer. We have been led to think that at all times it would be best and most consistent with our profession, and specially most proper and safe in the present critical state of things, to have nothing at all to do with politics, and entirely to abstain from voting. See 2 Cor. 6:14-17, also Minutes of the A. M. of 1863, Query eighteen.
- Y. M. 1861. Art. 22. Is it right for a brother to go to an election, and there elect, or help to elect, a brother (who takes no part in elections) to fill an office in which he must either serve or pay his fine? Answer We consider it utterly wrong for brethren to do so.

(OUR POSITION WITH REGARD TO GOVERNMENT.)

Y. M. 1864. Art. 35. As our national troubles consequent upon the Robellion now existing in our country, have caused considerable difficulty in our church, and have tried our non-resistant principles, and have caused several questions concerning the paying of bounty money, voting, &c, to come before this council meeting, what counsel will this Annual Meeting give upon these subjects? Answer. We exhort the brethren to steadfastness in the faith, and believe that the times in which our lots are east, strongly demand of us a strict adherence to all our principles, and especially to our non-resistant principle, a principle dear to every subject of the Prince of Peace, and a prominent doctrine of our frateraity, and to endure whatever sufferings, and to make whatever sacrifice, the maintaining of the principle may require, and not to encourage in any way the practice of war. And we think it more in accordance with our own principles, that instead of paying bounty money, and especially in taking an active part in raising bounty money, to await the demands of the government, whether general, state, or local, and pay the fines and taxes required of us, as the gospel permits and indeed requires. Matt. 22:21; Rom. 13:7.

And lest the position we have taken upon political matters in general, and war matters in particular, should seem to make us as a body appear to be indifferent to our government, or in opposition thereto, in its efforts to suppress the Rebellion, we hereby declare that it has our sympathies, and our prayers, and that it shall have our aid in any way which does not conflict with the principles of the gospel of Christ. But since in our christian profession we regard these gospel principles as superior or paramount to all others, consistency requires that we so regard them in our practices.

PORTRAITS.

- Y. M. 1849. Art. 17. Whether brethren can be allowed to have their likeness or profile taken? Considered as not advisable.
- Y. M. 1857. Art. 15. Is it really considered a sin according to the gospel, for members of the church to have their likenesses taken? Answer. Members of the church should not have their likenesses taken.
- Y. M. 1858. Art. 52. Is it right for a brother to go about taking likenesses with a Daguerrean apparatus? Considered, that it is not right. See Rom. 1:23; Deut. 27:15.

PRAYER.

Y. M. 1805. Art. 4. Concerning praying (the Lord's Prayer) "Our Father," since some do not make the same expressions as given by the Evangelists from the mouth of Jesus, it was considered, that we should use the expressions according to the pattern of the doctrine of Jesus, our Master, and at the same time contemplate the meaning contained in these words, so that we may pray with the spirit and understanding of the heart, according to the mind of Christ and in truth.

PRAYER MEETINGS.

- Y. M. 1851. Art. 15. How is it considered for brethren to appoint meetings for prayer exclusively? Considered, that the brethren cannot recommend such meetings, as a general thing, except in cases of peril; but on the other hand they consider it a duty and privilege to pray in our families and in the closet and other secret places, as well as to join the public prayer in our regular meetings for worship. Art. 16. How is it considered for brethren that hold prayer meetings, and invite others that are of a different belief to take part in prayer, and call them brethren? Utterly wrong for brethren to do so.
 - Y. M. 1853. Art. 25. How is it considered, when brethren hold prayer meetings decently and in order? Considered, that every brother should meet daily with his family for worship in his own house; that when brethren meet together accidently or by appointment, they are at perfect liberty to sing and pray together, read the Scriptures, and exhort each other, which all should be done decently and in order; but we would advise our brethren to drop the name of Prayer Meeting, and call them simply—meetings.

Y. M. 1858, Art. 49. See " Social Meetings."

Y. M. 1859. Art. 9. Is it considered to be right to call prayer meetings social meetings? Answer. It is considered right to do so. Art. 20. Is it agreeable with the gospel for ministers to hold prayer meetings, or what are sometimes called social meetings, and to invite members of other denominations to unite with us in prayer? Answer We consider it agreeable with the gospel to hold such meetings when they are strictly held in order; but as we do not call upon our own members individually to pray, it is not in our order of holding such meetings, to call on those of other denominations to pray. Art. 22. it according to the gospel and the rules of the brethren, for a brother in the second degree of the ministry to appoint a prayer meeting without the consent of the bishop and other brethren in the church? Answer. We think it is not. The Apostle Paul declares that God is a God of order, and such a course does not seem to be in order. And the Apostle Peter's language, 1 Peter 5:5, would likewise seem to disapprove of such a course.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 2. With regard to prayer meetings—how should they be conducted? Answer. All our meetings for divine service should be conducted according to the gospel, which requires all things to be done decently and in order.

PRAYER MEETINGS OF OTHER DENOMINATIONS.

Y. M. 1843 Art. 4. Whether members may take the liberty to go to prayer meetings, &c., of other persuasions, to take part in them, and to permit and invite ministers of other persuasions to hold meetings in their (the members') own houses? Considered, that as we have come into very perilons times, according to the word of our Saviour, Matt. 24:23-26, and of his Apostles, 1 Tim. 4:1; 2 Pet. 2:1; and we therefore have the greatest reason to be seriously on our guard; that prayer is an important part of worship, which must be performed in spirit and in truth, in order to be pleasing in the sight of God; that consequently, true inward union in prayer with such that are not in one spirit and in the same truth with us, cannot be thought of; that under these considerations it would be the safest course not to go to such places, nor to take part in such exercises, much less to invite or receive teachers of whom we may know beforehand that they will not bring the whole apostolic dectrine, in order to hold meetings in our houses. 2 John v. 10.

PREACHING.

Y. M. 1843. Art. 12. How is it considered, when one teacher commonly consumes as much time as two, three and four hours in one meeting, speaking continually? The unanimous opinion of the brethren was, that inasmuch as God is a God of order, and such long continued discourses must needs be fatiguing both to the teacher and the hearers, cause disorder, and deprive other teachers of the opportunity to speak to the edification of the church, this conduct is out of all order, and ought not to be; and it would always be best not to prolong our meetings beyond the usual time.

PRIDE.

Y. M. 1846. Art. 10, 1966. Art. 27. See "Fashionable Garments."

PRONOUNCING A BLESSING.

Y. M. 1832. Art 53. Is it in accordance with the gospel to pronounce a benediction over the people at the close of a funeral service at the grave, and if so, what should be the form? Answer. We have no authority in the gospel for doing so, and no such custom among the brethren to sanction it.

PROVIDING FOR THE POOR.

- Y. M. 1812. Art. 3. Concerning a woman whose husband is dead, and having several children and no property, and her hands too weak to provide for them, was considered that the church should provide for her, and at the proper time to put out the children in good places, and to good people, and thus supply their wants.
- Y. M. 1849. Art. 2. How is it considered when poor members are left over to the overseers of the poor in the township to provide for them? Considered, that the church to which such members belong, should investigate the case, and provide for their poor according to the gospel.
- Y. M 1851. Art. 20. Whether it is according to the gospel to let any of our poor members go to the county poor house? Considered, that we know of no passage in the gospel authorizing this, but of many, where the duty of the church is expressly enjoined to support their poor members, and if not able, to ask aid from neighboring churches.
- Y. M. 1852. Art. 18. Whether members have a right by the gospel to go begging for money through the different churches? Consider-

- ed, that they have no right according to the gospel, and where there are poor members that are in a suffering condition, it is the duty of the church in which they live, to see to it and to supply their wants, and if that church is not able to support them, the church has a right to apply to the neighboring churches for help, and not the brother that is in want. See also, "Alms, Collecting."
- Y. M. 1854. Art. 20. Is it not the duty of each church to keep their poor, and not let them become a county charge; or, is it right to send a brother to the poor house at the expense of the county? Considered, that this question was fully and correctly answered in 1851 and 1852. See Min. 1851, Art. 20, and of 1852, Art. 18.
- Y. M. 1857. Art. 12. How is it considered if a poor brother becomes insane, and void of all reason, so much so as to become dangerous and very troublesome, and a place can scarcely be obtained for him in a private family upon any condition; a poor house being in the county, are the brethren bound to keep him according to the gospel, or are they permitted to deliver him to the trustees of the poor to take charge of him? Answer. A member of the church should not be put into the poor house if it can possibly be avoided.
- Y. M. 1862. Art. 29. Is it right for a son to put his father on the county to be kept, both being members of the church; and if not right, where does the father belong, in the district where he is on the county, or in that from which he was taken? Answer. We consider it wrong for a son or brother to do so, and the father, under the circumstances stated, would of course belong to the district from which he was taken.

PUBLICATIONS.

- Y. M. 1850. Art. 21. Whether there is any danger to be apprehended from publishing a paper among us? This subject to lay over till next annual meeting.
- Y. M. 1851. Art. 3. What is the opinion of the Yearly Meeting with regard to having a paper published under the title, "The Monthly Gospel Visitor?" Considered at this council, that we will not forbid brother Henry Kurtz to go on with the paper for one year, and that all the brethren or churches will impartially examine the Gospel Visitor, and if found wrong or injurious, let them send in their objections at the next annual meeting.
- Y. M. 1852. Art. 4. In regard to the continuation of the Gospel Visitor, it was concluded that inasmuch as there is a diversity of opinion upon the subject, some in favor and others opposed, we cannot forbid its publication at this time, and hope those brethren opposed to it will excroise forbearance, and let it stand or fall on its own merits.

- Y. M. 1853. Art. 3. In regard to Query 4th, of last year's Minutes, concerning the Gospel Visitor. Inasmuch as the Visitor is a private undertaking of its editor, we unanimously conclude that this meeting should not any further interfere with it.
- Y. M. 1854. Art. 14. Is it consistent with the example and doctrine of Christ and his Apostles, when brethren write and publish books, and afterwards revise and republish them, &c. Considered, that brethren should be careful in their publications, and especially of other men's books.

PULPIT OR STAND.

- Y. M. 1847. Art. 3. Whether it is advisable for brethren who are teachers to occupy a stand three or four steps high, when they are invited to hold meetings in the meeting houses of the different persuasions or seets through our country. Considered advisable that (our) teachers should practice discretion and humility in taking their stands for speaking, and that members should also use forbearance, and not take offense in such matters, if circumstances would make it preferable for teachers to occupy such a stand.
- Y. M. 1848. (Ohio.) Art. 2. Whether it be proper to reconsider Article 3, of last year's Minutes, relating to preaching from a stand? Reconsidered, that all our brethren should endeavor as much as possible to avoid (either) giving or taking offense.
- Y. M. 1851. Art 23. Is it right for our teachers to enter up into pulpits in other denominations' meeting houses and teach there? Considered, that brethren should give no offense neither to Jew nor Gentile, nor to the Church of Christ; but we would advise brethren not to go up when they can avoid it, as the brethren had considered once before.
- Y. M. 1868. Art. 15. Is it in accordance with the gospol to have stands or pulpits erected in our meeting houses? We have no direct gospel upon this subject, but we advise the brethren not to put pulpits or stands in their houses of worship, when by so doing confusion and disunion may be produced.

QUESTIONS OF MISCELLANEOUS CHARACTER.

(These will mostly be found under other headings, or in the APPET DIX.)

RE-BAPTIZING. (See also "Buptism.")

Y. M. 1827. Art. 3. Concerning receiving persons who have been baptized in the proper manner by other denominations. Considered, that those who have been received before with the laying on of hands (and prayer), we receive with hand and kiss; and those on whom the laying on of hands had not been observed, we should receive by the laying of hands, &c.

- Y. M. 1832. Art. 11. How is it considered concerning persons who wish to be received, and had already been immersed but once by other baptists? Considered, that some have been received without baptism as we believe it ought to be performed, and they afterwards came of their own accord to receive the baptism according to the word.
- Y. M. 1838. Art. 13. Whether persons that have been baptized formerly and elsewhere with a three-fold immersion, could be received among us as members without baptism or not? Considered almost unanimously, that when such persons are satisfied with their baptism having been performed in the right manner, they may be received as members without baptism, yet with stating to them the order (rules, principles.) of the brethren, and the laying on of hands (with prayer). If, however, they should desire baptism (by a brother), it might be granted to their satisfaction.

RECEIVING FALLEN MEMBERS.

- Y. M. 1834. Art. 14. If a brother, who is a minister, should transgress so that the church has to set him back, and if he is afterwards received again upon his acknowledgment, whether he is to be received with or without his office? Considered, that depends upon the church, and also upon the nature of his transgression.
- Y. M. 1838. Art. 6. Whether it be right to receive again, as a private member, a brother that was a teacher, and he had been put back, without entrusting him again with the office? Considered, that a (church) congregation has a right to do in such a case as it seemeth good to them.
- Y. M. 1840. Art. 13. Concerning receiving again members that had been put back, in what manner it should be done? Considered, that it was hitherto not done in the same manner as newly elected ministers and deacons are received, where the members do advance toward those elected; but that it was and is the manner of the old brethren—the members to remain in their places, and the member that is to be received back again, to go from one to another, and thus to be received; if a brother, by the brethren with hand and kiss, and by the sisters with the hand, and vice versa.
- Y. M. 1846. (Tennessee.) Art. 2. How, and whether a brother can be received who had been expelled from the church for selling and bill of saleing away his slaves, and afterwards wishes to be received again? Considered, that such a brother cannot be reinstated until he has used every exertion in his power to liberate them, and make full satisfaction to the church.
- Y. M. 1852. Art. 22. If a member leaves the church and joins another denomination, and after awhile leaves that denomination and makes application to be received back into the church again, has the church a right to receive that member again? Considered, that by acknowledging his or her fault, and giving satisfaction to the church (of a more steadfast mind), he may be received again.

Y M. 1858. Art. 47. How is it considered in case of a brother who has been expelled from the church, and then takes up with a woman that has a husband living, and lives with her fifteen years, then her husband dies, and the two get lawfully married, and now he has made application to be taken (again) into the church; and we desire the yearly meeting to give counsel what to do? Considered, that he may be received, provided he brings forth fruit meet for repentance.

Y. M. 1861. Art. 9. When expelled members upon application are re-admitted, how shall they be received by the church. Considered, that the applicating member be received by the hand of fellowship and the kiss of charity; but that the (reinstated) brother or sister go around to all the members, and (in order to) be received by them.

RECEIVING MEMBERS WITHOUT COUNSEL.

Y. M. 1845. Art. 1. How is it considered when a brother is excluded from the kiss, the communion and the council in the church where he lives, and the brethren in a neighboring church, with the knowledge of this fact, receive such an excluded brother in full fellowship? Considered, that whereas the whole Church of Christ is one body. of which we all are members, and which is to be directed by one Spirit, Ephes, 4:4, it seems to us as self-evident, if a particular church excludes a member from the church privileges according to Matt. 18, or from all communion according to 1 Cor. 5, the member ought to be so held in all the churches, until he has made satisfaction to that particular church where he has been excluded, otherwise the order of the house of God would be seen subverted, and discord, confusion and every evil would inevitably follow. Art 2. How would it be considered, when teachers go into other districts appointing and holding meetings, and even receiving members by baptism, without the counsel of the church in whose district such persons live. Considered, that teachers should be ever careful in the exercise of their office, to remember that it is appointed for the edification of the church, and that whatever might tend rather to disunion or dissatisfaction in the Church of Christ, ought to be carefully avoided. Sec 1 Cor. 14:1-4; 2 Cor. 10:8; Gal. 1:10; Phil. 1:15-17.

RECEIVING SICK PERSONS WITHOUT BAPTISM.

Y. M. 1827. Art. 4. Concerning receiving sick persons who cannot be baptized on account of their sickness and weakness, was considered, that they might be received, and if they should die, they might die as members, but if they should live and be well again, they should and would be baptized.

Y. M. 1837. Art. 12. How it is viewed, to receive persons into the church without baptism in case of sickness and bodily infirmity? Considered, that we have no express word for it, and that it would be more advisable and more safe to direct them to the mercy of God in Christ. Yet we would not set bounds in certain extraordinary cases, but advise all the teachers (ministers) to be careful to do nothing without the counsel of their fellow laborers, and if possible of their church.

REFRACTORY CONDUCT.

Y. M. 1848. (Indiana.) Art. 10. What is the proper course for a church to pursue with members that have been disowned by the church, and their office as teachers in the church taken from them, and yet, contrary to the counsel of the church, they still go on to hold meetings, and influence innocent members to go contrary to the rules and order of the church? Considered, that such a brother should be still lovingly and faithfully admonished (in the name of the church), again and again, to desist from such a course, but if he would notwithstanding continue therein, we would have, as a last remedy, to put him in avoidance. When the church disowns a member so that it is set back from the salutation of the kiss, and from church fellowship, how is the proper way to do with such members, as come from other arms of the church, and knowing the standing of such disowned members, yet will : till hold fellowship with such? Considered, that inasmuch as the Church of Christ is one body all over the world, and the Word even says, " Whatsoever ye shall bind on earth, shall be bound in heaven, and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth, shall be loosened in heaven;" then if one branch of this church (lawfully) disowns a member, members from other branches knowing this should hold them equally as disowned.

RESTORATION, THE DOCTRINE OF.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 2. Is it according to the gospel of Christ, for brethren, especially bishops, in speaking on the final destinies of the ungodly, to preach publicly that they shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and privately teach that all will be restored everlastingly, whether they know God and obey the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ or not; and if asked the question by an alien, whether the devil himself will be saved, make no reply? Answer.—We think brethren should be careful not to contradict privately what they preach publicly. Art. 3. Is it consistent to preach eternal punishment, and at the same time to peddle Winchester's Dialogues on Restoration?

Tell us how it is. Answer. If a brother preaches endless punishment, it would be inconsistent for him to distribute Winchester's Dialogues on Restoration.

SABBATH-BREAKING

- Y. M. 1810. Art. 6. Concerning working on Sundays, inasmuch there are some members who are so casily brought to work on Sundays, it has been considered thus, that it should not be by any means, except in cases of necessity, for it is a transgression of the law of God, and that of our rulers.
- Y. M. 1852. Art. 14. How is it considered, when brethren do any kind of servile work on the Sabbath or Lord's day? Considered, that brethren should by no means do any servile work on the Christian Sabbath day, nor engage in sporting, such as fishing, hunting, &c.; and in case members will do so, they should be visited in the name of the church, and heartily admonished to do so no more, and if they should persist in so doing, they should be dealt with as offenders. That necessary labor, such as feeding and watering our creatures, preparing food for the family, and the like, form an exception is obvious.

SCHOOLS, &c.

- Y. M. 1852. Art. 12. How is it considered by the brethren, if brethren aid and assist in building great houses for high schools, and send their children to the same? Considered, that brethren should be very cautious, and not mind high things, but condescend to men of low estates. See Rom. 12:16.
- Y. M. 1857. Art. 19. What are the views of the present annual council in regard to the contemplated school that was alluded to some time since in the Gospel Visitor? Answer. It is conforming to the world. The Apostle Paul says, "Knowledge putteth up, but charity edificth."
- Y. M. 1858. Art. 51. We desire to know whether the Lord has commanded us to have a school besides our common schools, such as the one contemplated in the Gospel Visitor. If we are, ought we not to have one; and if it is not commanded of the Lord, ought we to have one; and is it right to contend for or against such an institution publicly through the press, since our different views may become stumbling blocks before the world; and if it is once decided, ought we not to keep for ver silent about it? Answer. Concerning the proposed school in the Gospel Visitor, we think we have no right to interfere with an individual enterprise, so long as there is no departure from gospel principles.

Y. M. 1861. Art. 10. How is it considered, if brethren suffer their children to take an active part in school debates and exhibitions? Considered, that there can be no objection if conducted in an orderly manner; and we advise brethren (at the same time not to forget) to bring up their children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 16. Inasmuch as the Yearly Meeting has allowed of brethren's children taking an active part in school exhibitions if properly conducted, is it wrong for brethren to go with them to investigate such exhibitions? Answer. We consider it best to leave the answer to Query 10 of last Yearly Meeting, as it is; and in answer to the additional question, whether the parents may go to school exhibitions, we would say we consider it best for them not to go, if their going would be likely to encourage anything that is of an evil character.

SECRET COUNCIL.

Y. M. 1866. Art. 3. Is it according to the gospel to hold church meetings in secresy, or are we commanded to take Christ for our example and he said, "In secret have I said nothing?" John 18:20. Answer. It is according to the gospel, inasmuch as the Saviour only says, "In secret have I said nothing." Consequently, this does not prohibit us from transacting church business in secrecy, his language not applying to church meetings. In holding church meetings secretly, we act according to Matt. 18, where the Saviour says, "Tell it unto the church."

SELF-DEFENCE.

See " Non-Resistance."

SELF-EXAMINATION.

- Y. M. 1851. Art. 21. Whether a minister or any other member has a right, according to Paul's treating on self-examination, after being seated at the communion table, to order from the table any brother or sister; or whether Paul's sentiment is to leave the member or members until after the communion, and then take them into the council of the church? Considered, inasmuch as the Apostle Paul writes 1 Cor 11:29: "He that eateth and drinketh unworthily, eateth and drinketh damnation to himself," we think that no member should be permitted to remain at the communion table, when he is known to a member of the church to have been guilty of a violation of the order of the house of God.
- Y. M. 1862. Art. 32. Where ministering brothren have difficulties in the church, and when they are not in full fellowship with the church in breaking bread, &c., may they still continue to appoint meet, ings? Answer. We consider such brethren should be reconciled to the church before they make appointments to preach.

SINGING IN DIFFERENT VOICES.

Y. M. 1844. Art. 5. About singing in different voices at public meetings, it was considered that the singing of psalms, hymns and spiritual songs, is a part of divine worship, which we ought to perform always in the spirit and in truth, and with solemnity; to be watchful that nothing in our singing should detract our minds from the serious contemplation of what we sing; that we ought to avoid such light tunes which may make us merry rather than serious, and that our singing should always tend more to the glory of God than to the tickling of the outward ear. 1 Cor. 14:15; Ephes. 5:19; Col. 3:16.

SINGING SCHOOLS.

- Y. M. 1825. Art. 4. Whether a brother may teach singing schools, was considered, that the musical schools, as they are generally conducted, have nothing to do with the service of God, and that a brother should teach none.
- Y. M. 1838. Art. 2. Whether it is considered proper to hold singing schools in our meeting houses? Chiefly considered, that meeting houses are no proper places for holding singing schools therein.
- Y. M. 1849. Art. 22. Can a brother be allowed to teach singing schools on Sundays, and take money for the same. Considered, that much as we are in favor of correct singing, we still think it best for a brother not to teach singing schools.
- Y. M. 1857. Art. 23. Is it agreeable to the gospel for brethren to teach singing schools? Answer. We consider it best for brethren not to teach singing school on Sabbath or at night.
- Y. M. 1862. Art. 7. Is it allowed by the brethren in annual council for the members of the church to attend singing schools on Sundays, or at night, or in the week? While we would caution our members, especially the young, against the abuses of singing schools, we would not absolutely forbid them if conducted orderly, and if they do not conflict with the time of preaching.

SISTERS COMMUNING.

Y. M. 1849. Art. 35. Whether it would not be more consistent with the word, if at the communion the administrator would give the bread and cup to the sisters, and they divide it like the brethren among themselves, and the administrator to pass along to keep order? Considered unanimously, to go on in celebrating the communion as heretofore.

[Observation of more than thirty years teaches the writer that a considerable number of the sisters are young mothers with babes on their arms, who claim their constant attention, and employ even their hands. Hence, when such a thought as expressed in the above query presented itself, it was always dismissed by the reflection, that it would be next to impossible to preserve order and decency, by imposing on our dear sisters this additional duty, under their peculiar circumstan.es.]

Y. M. 1857. Art. 9. Why do not the sisters break the bread and pass the cup to each other in the same manner as the brethren do at the communion? Answer. Man being the head of the woman, and it having been the practice of the church from time immemorial for the officiating brethren to break the bread to the sisters, we know of no scriptural reason for making a change in our practice.

[There is scarcely any church or society, beside our own, where the rights and privileges of the female sex are better regarded. Not to speak of those churches whose principles were established in the dark ages, when woman was considered as an inferior being, and even manhood groaned under the tyrannical sway of popes and priests. With us, the sisters are on a perfect equality with the brethren. The youngest sister's voice counts one, and the oldest bishop's vote does not count more, in any ordinary question before the church, or in a choice for ministers or deacons. In all things, rights and privileges, there is no difference between the male and female portion of the membership, and the only exception is the service of the church, from which the sisters are exempted by the gospel, though the wives of ministers and deacons are also presented to the church, and charged to be helpers to their husbands in their service.]

SISTERS, COVERING OF THE HEAD. See "Covering of the Head." SLAVERY, SLAVE TRADING, &c. See "Emancipation." SOCIAL MEETINGS.

- Y. M. 1859. Art, 40. Is it according to the gospel for brethren to hold what is called social meetings, and to give liberty to all present to rise and speak, so that members of other societies feel themselves at liberty to admonish? Considered, that social meetings should be strictly held in order, and to give liberty to all present to rise on their feet and admonish, is not in order.
 - Y. M. 1859. Art. 20. See "Prayer Meetings."
- Y. M. 1861. Art. 1. Query 1. Are we to understand by the grant of social meetings, as decided in annual meeting of 1858, to make public appointments frequently, where there is an organized church and preaching every two weeks, and in conducting them liberty to be given to any brother or sister, or, if time admit, for all to rise to their feet by course, and to exhort; and if not so to be understood, what will the annual council say the order of social meetings shall be? Considered, that the order should be according to that rule laid down by the apostle, 1 Cor. 14:27—40. And to unite with other professors in worship in our meetings is inconsistent with the gospel and the practice of the church.

SOCIETIES, SECRET. See also "Free masons"

- Y. M. 1847. Art. 10. Would it be proper for brethren to join the secret association of the "Sons of Temperance?" Considered, inasmuch as we are to "prove all things, and hold fast that which is good," and as the nature of secret societies is such as to preclude the knowledge of them before a membership is obtained, we consider it improper for a member of the church to join such an order.
- Y. M. 1859. Art. 4. As secret societies seem to be multiplying, and as many young men around us join them, and as some undertake a defence of them, it seems necessary that our minds need to be frequently stirred up upon this matter. Then, as we profess to be followers of Him who said, "In secret have I done nothing," will the Yearly Meeting through its proceedings come up to the side of our Lord.

Answer.—We consider that members should not participate in any secret or oath-bound societies whatever, and if after they have been duly admonished, they persist in such participation, we consider the church is justifiable in excommunicating them.

SPIRITUAL KNOCKINGS.

Y. M. 1852. Art. 10. Has a brother, who is a speaker, a right to go to so-called "spiritual roppings," and ask such questions as these? "Are the ordinances of the gospel essential to salvation?" "Are cerrain deceased relatives happy?" &c -and to invite the so-called medium into his neighborhood, who thereupon calls at such brother's house, and neighbors, and also members attend there, asking and receiving information from such medium?-How is such a brother to be dealt with according to gospel? Considered, that such rappings are a lying wonder and delusion, and that these things have been strongly forbidden both in the Old and New Testament, as the work of the devil. See Deut. 18:9-16; Lev. 19:31; 20:6, 27; Is. 8:19, 20; Acts 16:16-18; Luke 11: 14; 2 Thess. 2:9-11; Rev. 13:13 And where any brother goes so far as stated above, he should be admonished, and ought to make satisfactory acknowledgments to the church, and all the members should be earnestly admonished to have nothing to do with it, and totally to debar it from among them.

STOREKEEPING.

Y. M. 1832. Art. 3. Whether it would be approved, when brethren engage in storekeeping and selling of strong drinks? Considered, the first might be allowed in cases of necessity, where a brother has no other way to make a living, but the latter in no case whatever. See also "Ardent Spirite."

SUBSTITUTE MONEY.

Y. M. 1781. Art. 1. Inasmuch at the big meeting in Conestoga last year it has been unanimously concluded, that we should not pay the substitute money; but inasmuch as it has been overlooked here and there, and some have not regarded it (sail conclusion), therefore we the assembled brethren exhort in union all brethren in all places to hold themselves guiltless, and take no part in war and bloodshedding, which might take place if we would pay for hiring men voluntarily; or more still, if we would become agents to collect such money. And inasmuch some brethrea have received written orders to tell the people, and afterward collect (such money), accompanied by a threat of a heavy fine-we exhort heartily, not to be scared to do that which is not right. Still, we exhart also heartily, that if a brother should be fined, there should provision be made for such brethren, and assistance rendered as far as concerns money. In case a brother or his son should be drafted, that he or his son should go to war, and he could buy himself or his son from it, such would not be deemed so sinful, yet it should not be given voluntarily, without compulsion. But where this has been overlooked, and the substitute-money has been paid voluntarily, and (the brother) should ackrowledge his mistake from the heart, and repent it, the church might be satisfied with him. But when a brother bears his testimony, that he cannot give the money on account of his conscience, and would say to the collector, "If thou must take it, then use your authority; I shall not be in your way,"-with such brother we should be also satisfied. But concerning the tax*) it is considered, that on account of the troublesome times (1781, the fifth year of the Revolutionary War, and in order to avoid offense, we might follow the example of Christ (Matt. 17:24-27):-yet if one does not see it so, and thinks perhaps, he for his conscience' sake could not pay it, but bear with others who pay in patience, we would willingly leave it over, inasmuch we deem the overruling of the conscience as wrong.

[This tax was very likely something like what we had in the recent War (1861—5), where towns and townships are laying a tax for means to prevent a draft.]

SUNDAY-SCHOOLS.

- Y. M. 1838. Art. 10. Whether it be right for members to take part in Sunday-Schools, Class Meetings, and the like? Considered, most advisable to take no part in such like things.
- Y. M. 1857. Art. 11. How is it considered for brethren to have Sabbath-Schools, conducted by the brethren?
 - Ans. -Inasmuch as we are commanded to bring upour children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord, we know of no scripture which condemns Sabbath-Schools if conducted in gospel order, and if they are made the means of teaching scholars a knowledge of the scriptures.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 1. Is it agreeable to the order of the brethren to hold Sabbath-Schools? And if so, how should they be conducted?

Ans.—The decision of the Annual Meeting of 1857, is re-admitted.

Art 31. Will the brethren at Annual Meeting consider it right to establish Sunday-Schools, and if they do consider it right, will they also consider it right for members of the church and their children to attend Sunday-School celebrations?

Ans.—We consider it right to have Sunday-Schools if conducted by brethren, but not to have celebrations.

SUPPER ON THE TABLE AT PEETWASHING. See "Lord's Supper."

Y. M. 1814. Art. 2. Whether there must be something of the supper on the table when feetwashing is observed? This query has been likewise presented several times before this, and the brethren do'still consider that they could not see a better way "to have all things done decently and in order," than the one hitherto followed. 1 Cor. 14:40.

SUSPENDING MEMBERS.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 12. Is it agreeable to the gospel for a church to grant the privilege to a member to do certain things, and at the same time debar him from the communion for so doing? Answer.—That no church according to the gospel has a right to do so.

SUSPENDING MINISTERS FROM THE MINISTRY.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 11. Is it according to the gospel to expel a brother from his office, whether deacon or minister, and yet leave him stand as a member? Answer.—We have a right—according to the gospel; inasmuch as he is put into office by the council of the church, by the council of the church the office can be taken from him. 1 Tim. 3.

SWEARING OF OATHS. See " Oaths."

TAVERN-KEEPING.

Y. M. 1804. Art. 1. Whether it should or would be allowed to a brother or sister to keep public tavern by or with a license, was unanimously considered, that it could not be allowed, because we are convinced that it cannot be done without disorder, and is rather a hindrance to a godly life and quietness of spirit? It has been deemed good in union, that if a brother or sister should undertake to keep tavern, they should be visited in friendship, and in love and seriousness, and in the name of the church be dissuaded and warned from it, and shown unto them what disorder and harm is likely to result thereof. Further it was concluded, that if a brother or sister would not hear, accept or obey such counsel and admonition, then we would have to consider such as disobedient, and could not have fellowship with them. Yet the sisters, who are bound in such matter by the urging of their husbands, and would gladly be relieved from it, but cannot without the consent of their husbands, they should be held less guilty.

Y. M. 1835. (Miami.) Art 11. How it is considered, when brethren keep tavern? Considered, as entirely unbecoming for brethren.

TAXES.

Y. M. 1781. Art. 1. See "Substitute Money."

TEACHING BY A PRIVATE BROTHER.

- Y. M. 1836. Art. 3. What is to be done with a brother who professes and claims to be urged by the spirit of God to preach the gospel, and who is not chosen by the church for it? He is counselled and allowed, after the elect brethren have spoken, to make known by exhortation, if there is anything on his mind; he may also use liberty in public prayer, when necessary, or in reading the scriptures, provided he is acceptable by the church.
- Y. M. 1838. Art. 4. Whether a common (private) brother has the right to go out, to appoint or let others appoint meetings for himself, or generally to teach publicly without the counsel of the church? Considered, that a brother, who is not entrusted with the office, is not justified so to do. James 3:1.
- Y. Y. 1839. Art. 4. What is to be done with a brother who wants to preach, and forces him into it without or contrary to the counsel of the church? Considered, that such a brother, having been admonished once and again, cannot be held as a member in full fellowship, if he is disobedient.
- Y. M. 1845. Art. 7. How it is considered, if brethren will force themselves into the ministry without consent from the elders (and the church), and some of the members encouraging them in it? Considered, that inasmuch it appears by the words of James, 3:1;—by the words of our Saviour, John 10:1;—and of Paul, Heb. 5:4.7—there is a right way, and also a wrong way to enter into the ministry;—the wrong way being when one is taking this honor unto himself,—and the right way, when one is called of God by the church, which is the body of Christ, and the order of which calling to the ministry is found described in the Acts of the Apostles; brethren ought to be very cautious, when they feel a desire to preach the gospel, that they do not take the wrong way; rather humble than elevate themselves, and be fully assured, that if the Lord wants their services, he has all power in heaven and on earth to bring about their calling to it in the right order and in due time;—but if such brethren would still go out of the way, appoint and hold meetings against the counsel of the church, the church would have to hold them as disobediert members according to Matt. 18; and members generally ought to be very careful not to encourage and support such brethren in their disorderly proceedings.

Y. M. 1848. (Indiana.) Art. 12. In regard to the third query on the difficulties of Bachelor's Run church with bro. O , P., and others, the brethren in general council considered that there had been committed errors on both sides, in consequence of which many members on both sides made satisfactory acknowledgments before the meeting, and it was concluded that with such all that is past should be forgiven and forgitton, and with as many as may yet come and make satisfaction; and that they all should be received into full fellowship, and brother David Fisher in his office as a speaker. Farthermore, this meeting considers and counsels, that bro. O., P., and such others that hold yet with them, should have still time to reflect, and should they come also in a reisonable space of time, and make satisfactory acknowledgments, the church should also be willing to forgive them. But if they should persist in their contrary course, going on holding meetings in opposition to the church, and even become railers of the church, there would be no other way than to put them into full avoidance, according to 1 Cor. 5:10.

TEACHING BY SISTERS.

Y. M. 1834. Art. 17. Concerning a sister's preaching. Not approved of; considering such sister being in danger, not only exposing her own state of grace to temptation, but also crusing temptations, discord and disputes among other members.

Y. M. 1859. Art. 7. Does the gospel admit of female preaching? And if it does, shall they not have authority from the church under whose jurisdiction they are?

Auswer.—As Paul recognizes a distinction, in Rom. 12:6, 7, between teaching, ministering, and prophesying, and as he evidently approves of females prophesying, 1 Cor. 11:5—we then think that a female cannot teach or preach, according to 1 Cor. 14:34; 1 Tim 2:12, in the ordinary acceptation of those terms, yet we cannot under all forbid them to prophesy.

TESTIMONY OF OUTSIDERS.

Y. M. 1817. Art. 4. Whether testimony against a member may be received from outsiders (persons not members), in case of a crime being laid to the charge of the member? Considered, that we could not pass judgment on a member upon testimony from outsiders; but in case one single member could testify with truthful outsiders, then we could and might judge according to the word of God, for "in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established"

- Y. M. 1837. Art. 2. How it is viewed, if a member is accused of a crime only on testimony from (such as are) out of the church? Whether it would be right, to take a member into judgment (before the church) on such testimony? The counsel is, to make a strict investigation, and if there should be nothing found, and the member continue to deny the charge, it could not be judged on testimony (from) out (siders) of the church alone.
- Y. M. 1841. Art. 6. Whether members may be brought before the council of the church, and be judged for a crime, only on testimony from without (the church); i. e. from persons that are not members of the church? Considered, that when there is some report abroad of a brother walking disorderly, or having committed a crime, it is the duty of the church, to send some brethren to the place where the report has originated to investigate the matter. If nothing be found establishing the charge, and the member denying the same after a close examination, nothing more can be done. If there should, however, some suspicion be created in the members by the general conduct of the arcused, the church may advise such a member not to approach the Lord's table until the matter is cleared up to the satisfaction of the church. But to disown entirely (put in avoidance) a member on (outside) testimony only from without, was not considered right and just according to the gospel.
- Y. M. 1845. Art. 9. How is it considered, if brethren are accused by the mouth of two or three witnesses of honest moral character, but not being members, and their testimony against those members agrees, that they were guilty of drunkenness or any other crime, and the church has cause to believe such testimony from other circumstances—but the brethren so accused deny the charge? Considered as in the year 1841, Art 6, that such members might be advised not to approach the Lord's table until the matter is cleared up to the satisfaction of the church; but to judge a brother on testimony from without alone, and without his own confession, would not be just according to the gospel.
- Y. M. 1862. Art. 5. In case a complaint is found against a brother because he was sued at court for an honest debt, and then took the stay, and when he is visited he denies the charge and says that he was not sued. But the brethren having evidence to the contrary, agree to send two brethren to the county clerk's office, and the clerk shows by his record that the brother was sued, and took the stay for nearly six months, and then paid the debt together with the costs. Now the question is, which is to be taken as truth, the brother's word, or the record in the clerk's office? And have the brethren a right, or have they not, to send brothren to the world to investigate church matters?

Answer.—It is not wrong for brethren to have such matters closely investigated, and to obtain all the light possible.

Art. 56. Is the testimony of one witness sufficient authority to expel a member under any circumstances, when the accused denies, and objects to the testimony?

Answer.—One witness is not sufficient in general, but we will not say that under no circumstances one is not sufficient.

Art. 57. Can a member who is accused of some fault, give testimony before the church?

Answer — While a person is a member of the church, his testimony cannot be altogether set at naught by the church.

THEATRE AND SHOWS.

- Y. M. 1835. (Miami.) Art. 3. How it is considered when brothren go with their children to shows? Considered, it should not be.
- Y. M. 1835. Art. 11, How it is considered, when members go to public shows, and even take their children along? Unanimously considered, that members ought to avoid such places, and to warn their children therefrom.
- Y. M. 1848. Art. 28. Whether church members have a right according to the gospel to go to public shows? Considered far better for members to avoid all such places.
- Y. M. 1859. Art. 14. What shall we do when brethren, and even speakers and bishops, attend yearly the county fairs?

Answer.—Such brethren should be admonished not to attend such places, and if they still persist in doing so, they should be dealt with according to Matt. 18.

TOBACCO.

- Y. M. 1817. Art. 1. Concerning the abuse of Tobacco, it was in union considered, that if a member should be contaminated with it, such should be admonished to quit it, and if it would not be told, such a member could not be elected to any office in the church. (But what is to be done with one already in the ministry?)
- Y. M. 1822. (Miami) Art. 5. Concerning the abuse of Tobacco. This has been before the meeting already before this, and was always considered a shamefully bad habit (German, Untugend)—and every thing bad, says the apostle, is sin, and sin defileth the body; and another. apostle says, that your bodies together with soul and spirit shall be holy.
 - Y. M. 1827. Art. 12. Concerning members who engage in the raising of Tobacco? Considered, that members should have nothing to do with such thiugs, by which so much mischief is done, and so many men (and women too) are led captive, as is the case with Tobacco.

Y. M. 1839. Art. 7. Whether a brother may be intemperate with strong drink or tobacco? No.

Y. M. 1864. Art. 9. Inasmuch as all that our annual meetings has hitherto done to suppress the excessive or intemperate use of Tobacco in smoking and chewing, has virtually proved a failure, could not this meeting adopt some method by which the excessive use of this growing evil could be suppressed in our brotherhood?

Answer — As the use of Tobacco is offensive to some brothren and sisters, and the excess of it an evil, we advise and counsel brothren not to use it in time of worship so as to be either filthy, or offensive to others; and we think our ministering brothren should admonish their members not to indulge in the excessive use of it in any way, because it is wrong to do so.

TOMBSTONES.

Y. M. 1855. Art. 8. Whether it is agreeable with the word of God to erect tombstones? Considered, that it would not agree with the principles of the gospel, such as humility, non-conformity to the world, &c. to erect large and expensive tombstones.

TRADITIONS.

The question is sometimes asked: You profess to have no law or discipline, no rule of faith or practice but the Bible, and more especially the New Tes ament of our Lord Jesus Christ. But are not the Minutes of your Yearly Meeting, to which you so often refer, something like the traditions of the elders of the Jews, something beside, and over and above the Word of God. To this we reply, No, no. The traditions of the Jewish clders caused transgressions of the commandments of God, and therefore our Saviour told the Pharisees, "Thus have ye made the commandments of God of none effect by your traditions" Matt. 15:8, 6. On the contrary, the counsels of the brothren, or if you please, the traditions of our brethren, have the very opposite tendency, namely to assist in keeping the commandments of God. There is a kind of traditions, which we are to keep according to the express command of the New Testament. Thus we read, "Now I praise you, brothren, that ye remember me in all things, and hold fast the traditions, as I delivered them to you." 1 Cor. 11:2. Revised version according to the Greck text. Again: "Therefore, brethren, stand fast, and hold the traditions, which we have been taught, whether by word, or our epistle." 2 Thess. 2:15. Again: "Now we command you, brothren, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw yourselves from every brother that walketh disorderly, and not after the tradition which ye received of us." 2 Thess. 3:6.

Y. M. 1842. Art. 12. Whether a church has the right to make resolutions framed by men, binding on its members? Considered by the elders and answered thus: If the resolutions are founded upon and in accordance with the gospel to which we are all bound, they are binding;—but if they are not according and even contrary to the gospel, we cannot be bound to observe them, and no church can make them binding.

UNION OF THE CHURCH. See Appendix.

UNIVERSALISM.

Y. M. 1849. Art. 30. Whether it is advisable for a brother to preach universal redemption publicly; that is, that all men, however vile they may have been, shall share alike in the fruition of happiness with the saints? Considered, that we could not approve, by any means, of such proceeding.

Y. M. 1856. Art. 14. (2) See "Far West Brethren," page 108.

VANITY IN DRESS. See " Fushionable Garment."

VISITING BRETHREN. See "Deacons."

VISITING THE CANDIDATES FOR BAPTISM.

Y. M. 1837. Art. 8. When persons desire to be received by baptism into the church, if it be necessary to instruct them before baptism (of our not being able) of the taking of oaths, going to war, and the like, that according to our view it is forbidden in the gospei? The advice is that such persons ought if possible be visited before their baptism, and by all means ought to be previously instructed on the following points, to wit: on the taking of oaths, going to war and muster, on not using the power of the law contrary to the gospel, and on not conforming to the fashions of this world in apparel and the like; and that they ought to state before their being received their willingness to refrain from all such things.

Y M. 1840. Art. 5. How it is considered about the visiting of such persons who apply for haptism, whether they must be visited in all cases before haptism? Considered, that this is a good order, and should be introduced and observed every where it possible, without debarring however (brethrea or churches) from making in certain cases an exception. But where this order is yet unknown, it would be proper to inform the members thereof, and by them such as wish to be received by haptism. See also "Baptism."

VISITING OF MEMBERS YEARLY.

Y. M. 1858 Art 4. Is it according to the gospel of Christ, in paying our annual visit, to collect from twenty to thirty of the brethren together in one place, and then the bishops pay the visit to them openly when they are all together, and then send them out two or three together and visit those that were not thus collected? Or is the duty restricted to the visiting brethren exclusively, and should the visit be made from house to house?

Answer.—As we have no direct rule in the gospel for making the visit, we think it best for the visiting brethren to go from house to house.

VISITING THE CHURCHES.

- Y. M. 1848. Art. 8. Would it not be right for the brethren in council at the annual meeting to appoint several brethren that are experienced and sound in the faith, and send them two and two with the decisions of the annual meeting, and let them visit all the congregations in the United States, and establish them all in the same order according to example in Acts 15:22? Considered, to leave this over for further consideration.
- Y. M. 1851. Art. 18 Would it not be advisable for the brethren assembled in annual meeting to establish (appoint) certain well established ordained olders, and send them two by two to visit certain districts appointed to them, &c.? The decision to lie over till next year.
- Y. M. 1855. Art. 27. Would it not be well for the brothren to come upon some plan to acquaint all the bishops and housekcepers of the various branches of the church with the rules and regulations concluded upon by the general council for the more perfect union and prosperity of the church? And if these rules and regulations be violated by a minister. with some of the members composing his district, should they not fall into the hands of the brethren of the adjacent district as offenders, and be dealt with as such, and if the above should be considered expedient, what plan should be devised to carry it into effect? Answer. - We are fully satisfied that the means long had in practice by the brethren, namely, the Minutes of our Annual Meetings-are sufficient to give the teachers and housekeepers, and members in general, the decisions of our annual councils for the perfecting of love and union throughout the brotherhood. And if it should so happen that a housekeeper, with a part or all the members of his district could not be satisfied with the decisions of the annual council, as we were advised and instructed by our beloved elder brethren, and unanimously concurred in at the annual meeting held in 1850, in Montgomery county, Ohio, they should bear with the annual conneil and with one another until the next annual meeting, and then bring their grievances to the annual council where they proceeded from, and we believe full satisfaction will be obtained.

VOTING, (POLITICAL.) See " Electioneering."

Y. M. 1866. Art. 1. A number of questions being presented upon the subject of voting and some asking for a repeal of former minutes, the following resolution as an answer to the questions, was adopted:

Resolved, That we think it most expedient not to repeal any minutes touching voting; that this Annual Meeting recommends to the members of the church to refrain from voting, fearing that by voting we may compromise our non-resistant principles. But we recommend forbearance towards those who vote, not making voting a test of fellowship, hoping that in time they will see with the body of the brethren upon this subject.

Art. 2. Inasmuch as the Annual Meeting has frequently decided against the brethren voting, is it not inconsistent, and even injurious to the brotherhood, for brethren to write and editors to publish any thing in opposition to those decisions? Answer.—We think that our brethren who write and print articles, should be very careful not to promote strife and divisions in the church, but peace, love, union, and holiness.

VOTING OF THE ABSENT AT CHURCH ELECTIONS.

Y. M. 1843. Art. 8 How it might be considered when at an election for teachers (ministers) and deacons, absent members do send their votes with other members? Considered, that since the promise of our Saviour is given: "Where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them." Matt. 18:20. In such important church affairs this promise belongs only to those who are assembled, and not to those who are absent, the brethren generally have acced upon that ground, and not taken any vote from absent members.

WANT OF UNION AMONG MINISTERS.

Y. M. 1799. Art. 1. See Difficulties in Churches.

Y. M. 1815. (See ibid.) That there is still a sad want of union among our preachers and members, became evident in the "Deacon question," "the Supper question," the question about "the Avoidance," &c. &c.

WARFARE. See also Non-resistance, Substitute-money, &c.

Y. M. 1790. At a (large and) numerous meeting of brethren on the Schuylkill, at (the place of) brother John Bach, May 22d, 1790, the following was unanimously concluded by the brethren, viz: We wish and desire, that the dear brother V. . . B. . . . would desist from his strange notion, because he has renounced with us before God, angels and men every thing which is contrary to wholesome doctrine, and we believe and profess that Christ has probibited to his followers the swearing of oaths and the partaking in war. Hence we must hold fast to His truth and word, and withdraw ourselves from every such brother who will justify swearing of oaths and warfare. It is impossible for us to break the bread of communion with such a brother, even if he would allege that the powers that be require us to do so. For our rulers could not do it, if they would, because we must obey God more than men. But now, thanks be to God, we have such a government that will not require of us such contrary to (the dictates of) our conscience. But if there should be some one among us that had such a conscience, that he could fight and swear oaths, such a one would not be of us.

Likewise, we could not break the bread of communion with a ministering brother who would, contrary to our views, baptize backward.

George Preiss, Martin Meyer, Michael Frantz, Daniel Bollinger, John Landes, Christian Lawshe, Justus Fuchs, Martin Gaby, Peter Keyser, Sander Mack, Nathaniel Schreiber, David Kuntze, Martin Usnez, Peter Leibert, Jacob Boeshor, Jacob Danner, Abraham Lawshe.

WASHING OF FEET. See also Feetwashing.

WILLS, MAKING.

Y. M. 1846. Art. 8. About brethren making a will, and treating their children very unequally without a cause. Considered, that though we would not by any means infringe upon the right of a parent to make a free disposition of his worldly goods in his last will—it would be advisable for a christian father not to make a too great difference among his children without a good cause, and that it would be best to treat children as much alike as possible, so that love and peace may be preserved among them.

WINE AT COMMUNIONS.

Y. M. 1858. Art. 36. Is it right to use at our communion meetings the article of wine frequently used and known by those who are judges of the article to be an adulterated article, and hence cannot properly be called the fruit of the vine? Considered, that it is (desirable) advisable to procure the purest article.

WITHDRAWING FROM THE CHURCH.

Y. M. 1837. Art. 1. How it is considered, if a member desires (to withdraw from or) to be no more with the church, and yet has committed no other offense? The counsel is, since circumstances are so different, there is also a difference (in judging such a case). If a member is desirous to be off, and does not commit any other offense, we could have patience somewhat longer with such a member, than if a member would speak contemptuously of the church. Then the church can judge best, how soon to let it withdraw, and place it according to its desire; yet there should be used all possible diligence to bring back again such souls to the flock. But if they will not hear (the church,) nor heed the admonitions, then there would be just cause to put them as they desire.

WIVES, OF MINISTERS OR DEACONS.

Y. M. 1862. Art. 36. Is the practice good and sustained in the gospel, for the church enjoining on the believing wives of teachers the duty of aiding by their humble example and chaste conversation, their humblends in the solemn duty laid upon them?

Answer.—We consider such a practice in perfect harmony with the spirit of the gospel.

Y. M 1862. Art. 37. Why are not the sisters who become wives of ministers after they are appointed to the ministry, called upon in the church to promise the same duties as the sisters who are wives at the time their husbands are appointed to the office?

Answer.—We consider they should be, according to the practice of the church touching those who are wives of brethren when the latter are appointed to office.

YEARLY MEETING. [See Note.] See Annual Meeting.

- Y. M. 1861. Art. 15. Would it not be better and give more satisfaction to the brotherhood at large, if the brethren serving or composing the standing committee at our annual meetings would be changed every year, so as to have at least two thirds of the same fresh members? Considered, that we do not think it advisable to make any change in the manner of choosing the standing committee, and are still satisfied with the decision of the Yearly Meeting of 1853. See Art. 1, in the Minutes of said year.
- Y. M. 1863. Art 6. Would it not be expedient and consistent, that the brothren forming the standing committee of the Annual Meeting of the brethren should open and examine all questions sent in by the several churches, and assort them, and thereby save an amount of unnecessary labor and time spent, as there are frequently two, three, and even more queries of the same import and meaning sent in, and acted upon and separately reported hitherto by different committees at the same conference, which we think could be avoided in a great measure? Considered, it is expedient.
 - Y. M 1864 Art. 36. It having been agreed upon at a former time that our Yearly Meetings should be held alternately in the East and West, the Allegheny Mountains being considered the dividing line, it is requested that this meeting change the line to the Ohio River. This request was granted. Art 37. Would it not be good to make some change in holding our Yearly Meetings, for the purpose of preventing so great a multitude of people from being present. And would it not also be better to have the conference more private, and not to name on the Minutes who were chosen on the standing committee, or who was clerk. Ac. Answer.—We think it not expedient to make any change at this time.

- Y. M. 1865. Art. 1. Could not this Annual Meeting make some change in the manner of holding our Annual Meetings, which would be advisable and acceptable to the brotherhood? Answer.—This meeting feels the importance of a change, but not to make any change too hastily, it appoints the following committee to take this matter into consideration, to propose the result of their wisdom and labor to the next Annual Meeting for its acceptance or rejection. D. B. Sayler, Philip Boyle, Benjamin Moomaw, Andrew Detrick, J. H. Umstad, John Wise, H. D. Davy, Jacob Hershey, John Miller, Hiel Hamilton, Christian Long, John Metzger, David Brower, and Frederick P. Lochr. Art. 34. Does the Annual Council make laws, or give advice only, in case where it has no direct gospel on the subject? Answer.—It gives advice only.
- Y. M. 1866. Page 1-3.—The deferred business of last Annual Meeting being the first business in order before the council, the committee appointed at that meeting to devise some plan for holding our Annual Meetings which will be more satisfactory to the brotherhood, was called upon for its report, and submitted the following:

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

The authority for holding General Conference Meetings is founded on the 15th ch. of the Acts of the Apostles, and a strict compliance with the example therein is advisable. By reference to said scripture, we learn that the question in dispute, and upon which the disciples differed, was not referred to a general council until all efforts had failed to settle it in the church in which it originated. The following language occurs in the chapter above referred to: "When therefore Paul and Barnabas, had no small dissension and disputation with them, they determined that Paul and Barnabas, and certain others of them, should go up to Jerusalem unto the apostles and elders about the question." Here seems to be authority to send questions upon which the brethren differ in their judgments to a General Council, and that the bishops ought to go, and also to have certain others with them. It is further said: "And being brought on their way by the church, they passed through Phoenice and Samaria, declaring the conversion of the Gentiles: and they caused great joy unto all the brethren." Here we see that those who were sent were brought on their way by the church. So should we do. That is, help such to go that we send. It is said further, that "the apostles and elders came together to consider this matter." Hence we see that the Council Meeting should be for conference only.

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

We recommend that the Annual Council be formed by the delegates sent by the District Meetings, and by all the ordained elders present; that the Meeting be held at the place designated by the Council the preceding year, to commence on the first Tuesday after Whitsunday, the previous Lord's day (Whitsunday) to be spent as it has hitherto been by the brethren, in worship at such places in the vicinity in which the meeting is to be held, and shall be desired, and as may be judged most profitable; that there be no public meeting for worship where the Council Meeting is held, though the meeting should be opened with devotional exercises, and the reading of the 15th ch. of Acts, and likewise closed with devotional exercises; that the Meeting shall be held alternately in the East and in the West.

THE DISTRICT MEETINGS. [See above, page $8]

The church holding the meeting shall make arrangements to receive and entertain all the brethren and sisters privately. There shall be no boarding tent put up at the place of meeting to entertain and feed a mixed multitude as heretofore.

All churches shall have the privilege to call on the General Council Meeting for committees to investigate grievances, and it shall be its duty to appoint such committees as heretofore.

THE ORGANIZATION OF THE ANNUAL MEETING.

The bishops and elders of the church holding the Annual Meeting, shall select from among the bishops present the standing committee. Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, shall each be entitled to three, if present, and two, if present, from each of the remaining states in which churches are established, and whenever said states shall contain ten bishops each, they also shall be entitled to three. The standing committee shall choose its own officers, and these shall be a moderator, two clerks, and a door keeper. It shall be the duty of the moderator to keep order among the members of the committee, and also in the public meeting. He shall not permit two brethren to speak at the same time, and he shall decide who is entitled to the floor. He shall also keep the speakers to the question, and declare the query passed, after general consent, by silence. It shall be the duty of the first clerk to keep a faithful record of all the queries and answers, and prepare them for publication. It shall be the duty of the second clerk to read distinctly all papers as often as requested. It shall be the duty of the door keeper to take charge of the room in which the committee meet for business, and shall allow no intrusion in time of session.

As soon as the standing committee has been named, they shall retire to a private room for organization, and the reception of the queries presented by the delogates from the District Meetings (or churches), after which all proper queries shall be read by the General Council Meeting for adoption or amendment, and sub-committees be dispensed with.

The proceedings of the Annual Meetings shall be published, and it is earnestly recommended that all the overseers of churches, whether ordained or not, have them faithfully read and observed in their respective charges. And if it be represented to the Annual Meeting, that this recommendation is disregarded, it shall be the duty of the standing committee to appoint faithful brethren, whose duty it shall be to visit said churches, and see that the Minutes are properly read and observed, and to set in order things that are lacking. The above is unanimously recommended to the Annual Meeting by the Committee.

Signed by the Committee. D. P. Sayler, Henry Koontz, of Md., Benj. Moomaw, of Va; David Derick, of Tennessee; John H. Umstad; John Wise, of Pa.; H. D. Davy, James Quinter, John Hershey, of Ohio; Jacob Miller, Hiel Hamilton, of Indiana; Christian Long, John Bowman, of Illinois; David Brower, of Iowa.

(Three members of the committee not being present, John Bowman, Henry Koontz, and James Quinter were appointed to fill their places.)

This report being read before the General Council, was adopted by the following resolution:

Resolved, That we try the committee's report for at least a sufficient length of time to give it a fair trial.

[Yearly Meeting.—The first people we know that assembled themselves together annually, and calling it "Yearly Meeting," were the Friends or Quakers. In their history we find the following account of its origin: "In the beginning of this year (1666), the members of this Society held a general Yearly Meeting at London, which since that time hath been used to be held there annually, in the week called Whitsun-week, because at that time of the year it is commonly best traveling, &c. Several are deputed from all places to this meeting, and what concerns the church in general is there treated on."—Sewell's History of the Rise, Increase and Progress of the Christian People called Quakers, &c. Vol. 2, page 168.

What Dr. Thomas Clarkson says in his "Portrait of Quakerism" about the Yearly Meeting: "As deputies were chosen by each monthly meeting to represent it in the quarterly meeting, so the quarterly meetings chose deputies to represent them in the yearly meeting These deputies are commissioned to be the bearers of certain documents—which contain (in part) answers in writing to a number of the queries (following):

- "I. Are meetings for worship and discipline kept up, and do Friends attend them duly, and at the time appointed; and do they avoid all unbecoming behavior therein?
- "If. is there among you any growth in the truth; and hath any convincement appeared since last year?
- "III. Are Friends preserved in love towards each other; if differences arise, is due care taken to speedily end them; and are Friends careful to avoid and discourage tale-bearing and detraction?
- "IV. Do Friends endeavor, by example and precept, to train up their children, cervants, and those under their care, in a religious life and conversation, consistent with our Christian profession, in the frequent reading of the Holy Scriptures, and in plainness of speech, behavior and apparel?
- "V. Are Friends just in their dealings, and punctual in fulfilling their engagements; and are they annually advised carefully to inspect the state of their affairs once in the year?
- "VI. Are Friends careful to avoid all vain sports and places of diversion, gaming, all unnecessary frequenting of taveras and other public houses, excess in drinking, and other intemperance?
- "VII. Do Friends bear a faithful and Christian testimony against receiving and paying tithes, priests' demands, and those called church-rates?
- "VIII. Are Friends faithful in our testimony against bearing arms, and being in any manner concerned in the militia, in privateers, letters of marque, or armed vessels, or dealing in prize-goods?
- "IX. Are Friends clear of defrauding the King of his customs, duties and excise, or of using or dealing in goods suspected to be run?
- "X. Are the necessities of the poor among you properly inspected and relieved; and is good care taken of the education of their offspring?
- "XI. Have any meetings been settled, discontinued, or united, since last year?
- "XII. Are there any Friends prisoners for our testimonies; and if any one has died a prisoner, or been discharged, since last year, when and how?
- "XIII. Is early care taken to admonish such as appear inclinable to marry in a manner contrary to the rules of our Society: and to deal with such as persist in refusing to take counsel?
- "XIV. Have you two or more faithful Friends, appointed by the monthly meeting, as overseers in each particular meeting; are the rules respecting removals duly observed; and is due care taken, when any thing appears amiss that the rules of our discipline be timely and impartially put in practice?
- "XV. Do you keep a record of the prosecutions and sufferings of your members; is due care taken to register all marriages, births, and burials; are the titles of your meeting-houses, burial-grounds, &c. duly preserved and recorded; and are all legacies and donations properly secured and recorded, and duly applied."

These questions, properly modified, might serve as a guide also to our local, church meetings, as well as to our district and yearly meetings, inasmuch we are apt to forget and overlook our duties, or at least some of them. The unswers to these questions would undoubtedly give a practical view of the condition of the church. But let the said author speak;

"These answers are made up from the answers received by the several quarterly meetings from the respective monthly meetings. The disputies are generally four in number for each quarterly meeting—to exercise the power of deputies, judges and legislators in turn, and to investigate and settle the affairs of the Society for the preceding year."

"Among the subjects introduced at this meeting may be that of any new regulations for the government of the Society. The Quakers are not so blindly attached to antiquity, as to keep to customs merely because they are of ancient date. But they are ready, on conviction, to change, after and improve. Such regulations or alterations may be, and sometimes are proposed by individuals, except in cases of removals and settlements, when it is expected that they should come through the medium of one of the quarterly meetings."

"It may be observed that whether such business as that which I have just detailed, or any of any other sort, comes before the yearly meeting at large, it is decided, not by the influence of numbers (as by a vote), but by the weight of religious character. With the brethren the weight of the express word of God or religious principle founded in the gospel, will decide questions. As most subjects afford cause for a difference of opinion, so individuals at this meeting are found taking their different sides of the argument as they believe it right. Those, however, who are in opposition to any measure, if they perceive by the turn the debate takes, either that they are going against the general will, or that they are opposing the sentiments of members of bigh moral reputation in the Society, give way. But in whatever way the question before them is settled, no division is ever called for. No counting of numbers (votes) is allowed. No protest is suffered to be entered. In such a case there can be no ostensible leader of any party; no ostensible minority or majority. The Quakers are of opinion that such things, if allowed, would be inconsistent with their profession. They would lead, also, to broils and divisions, and ultimately to the detriment of the Society. Every measure, therefore, is settled by those who are present at this meeting in the way I have mentioned, in brotherly love, and, as the name of the Society signifies, as Friends."

"The other remarkable circumstance is, that there is no estensible president or head (Christ is supposed by the Quakers to be the head, under whose guidance all their deliberations ought to take place,) of this great assembly, nor any estensible president or head, of any of its committees; and yet the business of the Society is conducted in as orderly a manner as it is possible to be among any body of men, where the number is so great." See Charkson's Portraiture of Quakerism. Vol. 1. Pages 162, 164, 167-173.

Another remarkable circumstance about the Yearly Meetings of the Friends, which the above named author did not notice, is this: that the way and manner of holding their Yearly Meeting is essentially the same as it was two hundred years ago. There was no material change or alteration in conducting said meetings from A. D. 1666, to this A. D. 1866. The reason of this seems to be: First, these people acted from the outset from and upon correct principles; and, secondly, there must have been among them from the lirst, men of business who understood the forms, proprieties and amenities in conducting public business, and who also were able to give a reason for every step they took; and the members generally were thus enabled to understand and acquiesce in it, and go along contentedly.

If one would say, What is all this about the Quaker Yearly Meeting to us, we would answer: Just as the great prophet Moses could learn something of his father-in-law, Exod. 18:14 24. —and as Christ taught the lawyer a lesson from the example of the Samaritan, Luke 10:33—37, telling him, "Go and do thou likewise;—even so, we might learn something from these people, and follow their example, in whatever they followed Christ and his gospel, and tried to do right.

Having been asked what plan we considered best to follow in conducting Yearly Meetings, we will in humility repeat what we said to the committee a year ago in substance when on the subject: "Finding that the committee, as all the brethren from the earliest period of their history in this country, were inclined to follow the example of the apostles in their first general council at Jerusalem (see Acts 15), in the conduct of our Yearly Meetings, with which we were most cordially agreed, we merely suggested, that by observing as strictly as possible that illustrious example and the principles inculcated by the gospel, such as 1, Simplicity; 2, Liberty; 3, Order; 4, Subordination of our reason TO THE WORD OF GOD in its letter and spirit in all matters of difference; 5, A DUE REGARD to the conclusions of former Yearly Meetings; 6, A SINCERE LOVE OF THE BRETHREN consistent with the love of God, and Truth and Righteousness; 7, A CONSTANT AIM FOR UNION in the body of Christ, the church, &c., &c.;--that these items would suffice without any lengthy plan, or many particular rules and regulations, which would only tend to curtail the liberty with which the committee that conducted the meeting, and the church that received the meeting, ought to act.]

Present Edition.

The writings of ALEXANDER MACK, sen, though not much less than a century and a half old, which we here present in a new edition, are of an abiding value, incomuch truth is of such lotrinsic worth, which is not depreciated by age, but is becoming rather more precious as it may prove through every successive generation its efficacy and Persuaded that beneficial tendency. the principles and sentiments, as avowed and explained in the present work, and as adopted and practized by the Brethren generally, should they become known and prevalent, would make the world much wiser, better, and happier, than what it is, it seems very desirable to give them the utwest publicity.

Again-the Press of the Gospel-Visitor being exclusively devoted for publications of that character, and frequent applications having been made to the Editors for copies of the work, which is now presented again to the public, but had been out of print for years,-we began to think of supplying the apparent want. However various difficult questions arose, which required considerable time and reflection in order to come to a satisfactory conclusion.

Alexander Mack sen., author of the following work was born in 1679, in Schreisbeim, in the Electoral of Palatia, between Manheim and Heidleberg, in Germany. We may, in our want of genealogical knowledge, take some consolution from the sentiment, that what ever regard is due to aucestry in forming an estimation of a person he is to stand or fall mainly by his own personal character, and not by that of his anecators.

Although we know but little of his ancestors, it appears he descended from a very respectable and wealthy family. He was a Presbyterian, and oducated in the Calvinistic faith. his literary acquirements we know nothing but what we can gather from his writings; and from these it does not appear that he had a classical education. His occupation was that of a miller, and he possessed a very profitable mill, and a handsome patrimony, and several vineyards at Schreisheim.

It is said the child was uncommonly fond of its mother. out of regard perhaps to the fondness which existed between the mother and child, as well as out of regard to the circumstances of persecution which the father and child were placed, the Lord, in his wisdom and goodness may have taken the little daughter to the quiet home of the mother where it could enjoy her fond caresses, rather than leave it where it must endure the hardships and troubles of persecution in common with its father. Thus in about one week, in addition to the troubles consequent upon the great persecution which was then raging, he had to bear the loss of a kind and Christian wife, and a dear little daughter.

His christian character appears to have been that of a primitive follower of Christ. He was the first minister in the little Christian community organized at Schwartzenau in 1708, and labored zealously and successfully to enlarge the borders of their Zion. Of his private character as a christian father we may infer favorably from the circumstance that all his sons became pious and were united to the church before they had completed their seventeenth year. And hence, on account of the greatness of the Sovereign, water baptism, which has been commanded by Jesus to be performed in his name, together with all his other commandments, are to be considered great. And as his laws and statutes are also great, so likewise, are the promises which he has given, great, namely, life everlasting, with all the gracious gifts of the Holy Spirit, which believers possess. So also will the punishment of the disobedient, who have opposed the gospel of Jesus Christ, certainly be great, and very dreadful-For Paul says to the These alonians, 2 Ep. 1: 7, 8, that "the Lord Jesus shall be revenied from heaven with his mighty angels in flaming fire, taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ. And, it is declared in the Revelation of John 22: 18, I9, "If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book. And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, (by which the doctrine of Jesus is especially included) God shall take away his part out of the book of life &c."

Kind and dear reader, whoever thou auch bift, dem diefes Budilein in art, into whose hand this little book may come :

> Just as it may contribute much to prophets that he may examine them in an hamble spirit; -so it is on the other hand very hurtful, when one prepossessed with prejudice, permits himself to be carried away inconsiderately by a prematurely judging spirit; as by so doing the truly poble spirit of investigation is in a manner locked up, and real wisdom remains hid, and then nothing but darkness and confusion are revealed and these cause such a state of moral night, that he who walketh in it, stumbleth, and Christ bimself and the testimony of his everlasting truth become to such a man a stone of stumbling and a rock of offence.

Those who were brought together there from the persecution, though they were distinguished by different opinions, and also differed in manners and eustoms, were still, at first, all called Pietists, and they among themselves called each other Brother. But very soon it appeared, that the words of Christ, Matt. 18, where he says: "If thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and rell him his fault between thee and him alone, &c." could not be reduced to a proper christian practice, because there was no regular order yet established in Therefore some returned the church. again to the religious denominations, from which they had come out, because they would not be subjected to a more strict christian discipline; and to others it appeared, that the spiritual liberty was carried too far, which was thought to be more dangerous, than the religious organizations they had left.

Under these circumstances some felt themselves drawn powerfully to seek the footsteps of the primitive christians, and desired earnestly to receive in faith the ordained testimonies of Jesus Christ

Finally, in the year 1708, eight persons consented together, to enter into a covenant of a good conscience with God, to take up all the commandments of Jesus Christas an easy yoke, and thus to follow the Lord Jesus, their good and faithful shepherd, in joy and sorrow, as his true sheep, even unto a blessed end. These eight persons were as follows: namely, five brethren and three sisters. > Now the question arose, who should administer the work externally unto them? One of their number, who was a leader, and speaker of the word in their meetings, had visited in sincere love, different congregations of Baptist (Tauf gesinnten) in Germany, most of which admitted, that holy baptism when performed by an immersion in water and out of loveto Christ, was indeed right; but they would also besides this, maintain that the pouring of a handfull of water might also do very well, provided all else would be right.

About this time it was deemed expedient by the church of the Lord in Schwartzenau, to issue this publication, for the instruction of those pure minded persons who are seeking after truth: And in this work every impartial reader, if he will read it with these introductory remarks, and without prejudice, can find, what has been the cause and object of publishing it.

But in as much as those, which then stood in the work of the Lord so cheerfully, and confessed the truth with great simplicity and honesty, have now all departed in peace, the desire has arisen in those churches, who bear tho same testimony bere in America, and who have likewise given themselves to the Lord to walk in the truth, to have this simple testimony again published, more especially for the benefit of our dear youth, that they may have a plain and simple exposition of the truth, in which they are instructed, and chiefly derfully preserved his truth even to these latter times.

his whole church that it should be an efficacious seal and outward sign to all those who should believe in him .- he in the first place fulfalled his Father's will because the baptism of John was commanded of God. He at the same time made a beginning of that waterbaptism, which should not be any more unto repentance, but such a hoptism, which belongs to those, who have already repeated, and believed in Jours, the Son of God, and are to be haprized upon this their faith and confessi u, in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the holy Ghost. For when the Lord Jesus was biprized and arose up out of the water, a voice from heaven was heard, which said, "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased. And the holy Ghost, like a dove alighted upon the Lord Jesus." Thus, then, this beginning of the water, boptism of the New Testament has a most powerful author and ordainer, namely, God the Father, God the Son and G d the holy Ghost. In which three most exto be administered.

FATHER. Yee, this will I shew thee. In the first place, when the Lord Jesus was about sending his disciples into all the world, to preach his gespel, he gave them this express charge: "That they should teach and bap'ize in his name all such who should beli ve ever I have commanded you." When the people asked Perer, what they should do, he answered, "Repent, and be baptized every one of you, in the name of Jesus Christ, for the remission of size, and ye shall receine the gift of the holy Ghost."

But children are in a state of grace, and will be saved by grace through the merits of Jesus Christ. in matters of faith and of such importence, we must look to the express and positive commands.

Son. Do we not find in histories, that the primitive Christians did baptize their children?

FATHER. We find in Godfrey Arnoid's Portraiture of primitive Christlage, that infant baptism began to be practiced in the end of the second century after the birth of Christ. In the beginning it was done at the request of those who wished it, and at any time; afterward baptism was only performed at Easter: finally a certain pope made it a law, that no child should be suffered to die without baptism, and thus by a long continued custom it has become so cetablished, that a great many now believe infant-bantism to be commanded by Christ himself.

FATHER. Observe well. water. Hence he said, John 3: 5 "Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God;" otherwise it would be impossible. Nevertheless, believers do not consider the power of baptism to be in the water, but in the word, in which baptism is commanded. Now since Christ has ordained for his church a water bath, and will "purify it by the washing of the water by the word," se Paul says Ephes, 5: 26, the faithful believe, that the obedience to the command of water-baptism purifies and delivers them from future punishment, provided they, after this ablution, do not wallow again in the mire by transgressing and sinning against the word. For God looks only upon the obedient; and believers are bound to obey word, and in obedience they obtain life everlasting.

FATHER, Yes, I will prove it unto thee from holy Scripture very clearly, that God is just so minded. Only consider what the first man did in Paradise. God said to him. Thou shalt eat of every tree but one; of that thou shalt not Now see! As soon as he had eaten of the forbidden tree, he lost all his happiness, and was expelled from the garden of Eden for his one disobedient Again, see what God has done and commanded in the law, Numb 15: 30, 31, where it is said, "If a soul doesh aught presumptuously, and despises the word of the Lord, and breaks his commandments, it shall be out off." further, that, when the sous of Asron brought strange fire before the Lord, they died," Lev. 10: 1, 2. And King Saul was rejected by the Lord on accounof his disobedience. 1 Sam. Thus also Achan had to die with his whole family, because he disobeye! the command of God in taking of the accused thing at the downfall of Jer che, which God had forbidden. Jost 7: 20. Son. If so much, and especially if all depends upon the leeping of God's commandments, why did God always command men nothing but things, as we can see both in the Old and New Testament he did?

FATHER. Consider well, that God is a simple and good being, and does not stand in need at all of any services from man: for he has many thousands of angels and spirits, who serve him. Now the commandments, which God gave at any time to man, were given only for man's sake, to make him lowly and simple, because by Adam's fall he became exalted in his own conceit, and desired to be great, mighty and holy by his own devices Now to rescue man from this perilous condition, simple things were required of him by God through his Son. And when man does them in true faith, and if his reason yields to the obedience which is required of him, he will then by degrees become simple and childlike, and in nach einfaltig und findlich, und eben in this very simplicity the soul will find again rest, peace and security. be, Friede und Gilberbeit. The primitive Christians have thus spoken of baptism: The carnal children of Adam go down into the water, and soon rise up again out of the water, after they have become the spiritual children of God."

JUSTINUS gave this account to the emperor himself: Those who are convinced of, and believe in the truth, which is taught by us, and also promise, that by the grace of God that they will live thus, are then taught by us how they are to pray and fast, and seek the forgiveness of their sins of God. Then they are led to a place where there is water, and they are regenerated, as we were regenerated. Then they are washed in the water in the name of God, the Father and Lord of all things, and of our Lord Jesus Christ, and of the Holy Ghost',

On thy question upon this, I will yet say in brief: Thou hast heard of Cn ust, his apostles, and of so many witnesses, that they and the first Christians baptized in rivers, in flowing streams and fountains. And to baptize is nothing else than to immerse in water, as the word and command require. For Christ said to his aposites. Matt 28: 19. Teach all nations, (mankind) baptizing them, (immersing them) and not the bells, as is done in Papal countries. The Lord Jesus has not said, Baptize the head or some other part of man, or sprinkle a man a little with water in my name. No, thus the Lord Jesus did not command, but that they should immerse the whole person in water. I have already told thee before of the signification of baptism, that it signifies an inward purification.

Can a water both or a hurial of sin, not be represented by a handfull of water, or the like?

FATHER. This is impossible; for any thing that is to be represent a outwardly in its true light, must exactly correspond with the inward sub-times.

FATHER. Mark well! Suppose a great Lord would tell to his servant, who pretended to be a painter, to draw him a good likeness, so that others, who could not see him personally, might be enabled to contemplate and knew his outward form in the picture. posing the servant, who should do this, would not pay strict attention to his Lord; on the contrary, if he would permit his mind to be engaged in other things, and would have no true regard for his master, still he would try to comply with the command. Suppose, further, then, he would draw his masfor with such carelessness, as to give him but one eye, or only one foot, or one hand, and thus mar the picture so entirely, that it should be no likeness at all of the person of his master; what would the master say to such a servant? Would be not dismiss him from his service as an useless servant?

Again God revealed to Abraham, as the father of the faithful, a distinction and separation in the circumcision; that his seed, which he conducted by a mighty hand from Egypt should be a people separate from the heathen, and he promised them a goodly land. this people the Lord God in the wilderness, upon mount Sinai, gave a peculiar law, by which they were to be kept entirely separate not only from the unclean heathens. but also from unclean beasts, fishes and birds. Therefore God said to them. Lev. 20: 24-26. am the Lord your God, who have senarated you from other people; you shall therefore, put a difference between clean beasts and unclean, and between unclean fowls and clean; and ye shall not make your souls abominable by beast, or fowl, or by any manner of living thing that creepeth on the ground, which I have separated from you as unclean. And ye shall be holy unto me: for I. the Lord, am holy, and have severed you from other people, that ye should be mine.'' Observe bere, how God revealed his mind and will in the separation of the clean from the unclean, the Lord's people from the beathens, who truly were also the creatures of God. but should have no part or communication with the reople of God.

Yes, beloved father, I have indeed understood of thee about the separation among the people of God in the Old Testament, under the Levitical priesthood, where such external ceremopies were taught. Bater. Sore, merte, und gieb mobl Farnen. Hoar, mark, and attend easily discover, how absolutely necessary a separation is in the New Covenant between believers and unbelievers. Lord Jesus says Matt. 13: 24, that the present world is a field sown with good and bad seed. The good seed is sown by the Lord Jesus through his Gospel, and these are the children of the kingdom, born from above by the word of truth. James 1: 18. But the tares are the bad seed, sown and planted by the devil through his false, canning and lying word, agreeably to human ingenuity. Now the harvest of these is the end of the world. Then the Lord of the harvest will gather the good seed into his garners, but the bad tares he will burn with everlasting fire.

> Now, take notice of what has been said above of the separation in the Old Testament, commanded by This was all said by the servant Moses as a testimony unto the Son, and concerning his economy. Heb. 3: 5, 6. Hence, Paul says to the Corinthians, But I fear, lest by any means, as the serpent beguiled Eve through his subtilty, so your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ." 2 Cor. 11: 3. As long therefore as a faithful member of Jesus continues in this conflict, bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ, and casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God," 2 Cor. 10: 5—so long the fleshly spirit of discord cannot bring the soul into captivity; but the member walketh in simplicity, in obedience of faith, in peace and union with his fellow-members. What he does not understand, he leaves willingly, timply and peacefully to them, and humbly submits himself unto these his fellow-members, according to the advice of Peter I En. 5 : 5.

But as soon as this spirit, i. e. the Geift des Zwietrachte, Mieger wird ben spirit of discord, obtains the mastery over those that know him not, they inwordly and gradually are separated from the peace and love toward their feilow-members; they take offence now against one, and then against another, Es and lose by degrees the true power of To them even the religious their fellow-members. of en follte, ju einer Laff. communication. For we all are liable to faults, and have come short of the glory of God, and James says, "If any man offend not in word, the same is a perfect man." Now since we all have come short, who then shall avoid others on account of their own sin, or that of others?

FATHER. It is indeed well that thou so that thou mayest not remain ignorant in any thing, for ignorance is a great disadvantage to the soul. Therefore take notice, carefully. First there is no promise of salvation to any man but the believer. Whosoever believes in the Son of God, shall have eternal life: but they that believe not, will remain under the wrath of God, or it abideth on them.

Now observe the nature and quality of faith as pronounced by Jesus, the Son of God, Mark 16: 17. Here the Lord Jesus says to his disciples, 'And these signs shall follow them that believe in my name, i. e. in his doctrine, word and commandments. 'They shall cast out devils;" first out of themselves, and then also out of others who believe in him, and by their word are convert-They shall speak with new tongues, and take up serpents, and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them: they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover." To such believers eternal life is promised, and to such believers it is commanded by Christ, to exclude from their communion all sinful, offensive and self-

Und biefe Glaubigen fonnen auch in ber Gewißheit des Glaubeus fagen, mas Jos hannes fagt: 1 Joh. 4, 6. " Bir find horet uns, wer Gott nicht erfennet, Der boret und nicht, baran erfennen wir ben mit gar gutem Gemiffen ein foldes Glied such a member, that will not welches such nicht mehr in der Liebe will correction or reproof in love bestrafen und erbauen laffen, von fich abe member transgresses, Such believers carry into effect the statutes and ordinances of the house of their King, and walk under many tribulations in great cheerfulness of faith, according to the rule of their Lord and Master, though they are rejected of men as evil doers And though such believing members of Jesus should be overtaken by a fault or sin, they do it not designedly, and are truly sorry for it in their heart. They are such who mourn over their frailty. And if they are reminded of it by their fellow-members, they hear it very willingly, when they are told of their fault. They are such of whom John says, 'My little children, if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous" 1 John 2: 1.

Such stand by faith in a continual war and combat against sin, and constantly mortify the sinful members, which are of the earth; they would even rather be excluded from the church of the Lord, than sin, and will not resist, when they are rebuked. Such believers then can assist with a good conscience in excommunicating and withdrawing from their most beloved fellowmembers, when they do commit sin, and and will not hear any more the reproof of love, because they have already banshed and resected the mind of the Spirit.

Such believers, in assurance of faith, can say with John, I John 4: 6 are of God: he that knoweth God, hearvon Gott, und wer Gott ertennet, ber eth us; be that is not of God, beareth not us Hereby know we the Spirit of truth, and the spirit of Beift der Bahtheit und ben Geift des Thus, with a very good conscience, can Birthums." There we may see the great difference in sin; for there might be two persons committing the same sin, and the one may be lost, while the other finds grace, as thou canst see in the case of the two malefactors, who were crucified with Jesus. The one entered with Jesus into Paradise, because he acknowledged his sins, and believed in the Lord Je-The same may be the case in a church, where two members sin alike. The one hears, is sorry for his sins, and all is forgiven to him. The other, not able to bear correction in love, becomes hardened in pride and self love, and will be lost. There is a great difference in sins, therefore David said, "Blessed the man unto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquity, and in whose spirit there is no guile." Psalms 32 : 2.

These are the upright souls, who mourn, when they have been overtaken in committing a fault, but hear most willingly the loving admonitions of their fellow members. Of such alone James speaks, 'For in many things we offend all." James 3: 2. And Paul says, 'There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus. who walk not after the flesh, but after the spirit.' Rom. 8: 1, 4. Such cannot sin unto condemnation, for they are born of God, and the Divine seed preserves 1 John 3: 9. them.

> I have now understood a little SON. of the difference in sins, as also of avoidance and its causes. But I have heard some, who are in avoidance, to gay, they were quite at ease, and did not feel any ban. Again, of others I heard, that the ban (avoidance) had no power and effect, because those, who were in that state, did not feel it, but would say, they were in good spirits.

FATHER. Observe also in this again the mind of God, and thou shalt easily see, how such poor souls, who know not themselves nor their God, are deceived by the subtlety of the serpent. For behold, when at first they repent for their sins, and believe the doctrine of Jesus, they enter by faith into the church and the divine ordinances, and by faith themselves assist for a time in carrying out the ban, believing that what the church of the Lord will bind on earth, "shall also be bound in heaven."

But since such poor souls will not contend for the faith according to the advice of the apostle, Jude 3; but depurt again from it, and in their minds give heed to seducing spirits, whom they take for good angels, as Paul clearly writes, I Tim. 4: 1; and give ear to such spirits, who promise them nothing but good, and preach to them nothing but liberty, &c. as Peter wrote to the believers. 2 Pet. 2: 18, 19.

as you please, but I shall still find grace before God." Those others however, who are excommunicated for their sins, but do not depart from the faith,such feel the power of the ban well, and therefore repent, and are restored again by faith.

Consider then the great blindness of those, who still find fault with a church, because such, as become apostates from their faith, as stated above, say, that they felt no ban, and could even contend against the church of the Lord. For remember, God himself carries out such a ban with the greater part of mankind. All unregenerated men are under the wrath of God, waiting on them with everlasting condemnation, unless they repent truly, and by faith in Jesus are born again to live according to the will of God.

Now if we look upon these men, we see, they are merry and cheerful, and have even a hope of salvation, which hope however is planted into them by a false Gospel. They are such of whom Jesus says, Matt. 24: 38, 59; "For as in the days, that were before the flood, they were eating and drinking &c., in a word, they were rejoicing until the flood came and took them all away." They cared nothing for Noah's preaching, and his building the ark, but mocked bim and did not believe.

Even so will it be with mankind in ben Tagen, wenn bes Menschen Cohn the days of the coming of the Son of foll offenbaret werden. Gie werbens nicht man. OF EXAMINATION.

Son. Dear father, I thank thee for all thy instruction, and perceive clearly, that in order to have a sure ground in divine things, we must look upon God, as he has always revealed himself in his word, and remain stedfast in faith, and then the heart will be established with But I would still ask thee semething more, which I have also beard, and of which I desire also correct information, namely, this: why are men not examined previously, before they are baptized and received into the church. instead of being baptized first, and then afterwards excommunicated by church? By this, it is said, people are given to understand, that such have not the spirit of examination, which undoubtedly is necessary to qualify one for baptism.

Dear son, hear & observe FATHER. well, that mankind do not yet apprehend and understand the mind and character of God, and consequently judge and reject a thing only according to human opiniens, without understanding it. But I will inform thee also in this matter, so plainly, that thou wilt be able For in the first place, to comprehend. the believers must not be otherwise minded in the household of God, than what God has always himself required of those therein; neither dare they imagine themselves wiser than God. though they should be accounted by abide by the divine wisdom,

That this is even so, observe that even Adam had to be tried, not outside of Paradise, but in it, according to the will of God, to see whether he would est of the fruit which God had forbidden him, or not. > Again says Jesus to his apostles, If ye abide in me, as the branches do in the vine, ye shall bring forth much fruit; but if ye will not abide in me, ye will be cast forth as a withered branch." John 15: 4, 6. Such, and no other mind must govern the church of Christ, that when a man does repent, publicly renouncing the devil, the world and all sizes, and is willing to submit to the doctrine of Jesus, the Lord. and though it might be presumed, that he would not remain constant, but while we know nothing evil of him at present, such a man, making a public profession, could not be excluded from the church; but by his following Jesus, afterwards he would be tried when it would become manifest, whether he would reject the doctrine of Jesus, which is the true test, as wisdom testifies Sir. 6: 22.

Divine wisdom invites all men to come to her, even the simple and fooliab. Prov. 9: 1, 4. Otherwise we might also accuse God Ja man founte auch ben herrn acouse the Lord Jesus, that he chose main faithful to him, and we might ask, why did he not make only such his disciples, who would continue steadfast? For it is written, that 'many of his disciples went back, and walked with him no more." John 6: 66.

Thus, too, we might blame all the apostles, inasmuch we read in their writings, that they made many disciples by the preaching of the gospel, and that many of them at all times and in different ways apostatized again.

Consider a simple comparison. Suppose two persons love each other, that they desire to enter into a state of matrimony with each other; now when will they be able best to prove each other?-Before marriage they are yet free from the burden of housekeeping; the woman is yet free from the obedience towards the man; the man still free from the cares and infirmities of the woman: they yet know nothing but to love.

But as soon as they enter publicly into the matrimonial connection, and go to house keeping, then the proper trial commences. Then the wife may not have a familiar intercourse with any other man; she must be subject to ber own husband. Then the husband will discover the weakness of the wife, and so forth. Then the passionate love will subside, and a divine love is required, if they wish to live is peace together. Then a love is necessary, which is to remain constant until death. aleich ju haben, und bie in ben Tob einans and grief, ewest and bitter, and not ber nicht verlaffen. Das ift ber Cheffant leave each other until death separates unter ben Glaubigen, welcher abbilbet ben Berru Sefum und feine Gemeinde. Ephef. 5, 32, Run merte moble wie es auf folde Beis fe auch im Beiftlichen ergebet; wie viel Ceelen find nicht ermedet, bag fie bie gros fe hure verlaffen haben, find aus bem gros ben auffern Babel ausgegangen, und bube len nun auf vielerlei Art an und mit der Lebre Bein. I Cor. 12, 13. Darum baben fie Rreis beit unter einander, ein jegliches fich mo und wie es will angubangen.

Das eine hanget fich an folche, bas ans biefen, bas andere an einen andern Geift, spirit, the other by that; still they can mub tonnes datei immer in der Buhlers remain in that species of love, which Liebe bleiben, ba beift es unter ihnen : comes before marriage, Die Liebe bedet alles gu. nicht. Welches mahr ift, die ungebunder and condemns none. This is true, the me Buhler-Liebe bedet alles ju, benn es ist une onfined love in courtship covers all. fein Cheffand mit Chrifts und feiner Ges for there are no sacred ties vet to bind meinbe, in mandeln nady feinen Regeln, the soul to Christ and his church, to them. This is the state of matrimony among believers, which represents the Lord Jesus and his church. 5: 32.

Worldly men however, when they wish to get married, and are yet free, are very inconstant, profess love now to one, and then to snother and are full of fickleness. They are apt to find fault with married people, and imagine, if they should marry once, they would do much better. But upon their actual entrance into that state, they have to learn yet the first lessons of a married life, and often get divorced again, because they have not love and patience aufficient to hold out in the trial.

Now mark well, how it comes to pass in like manner in a spiritual sense. How many souls have not been awakened, and have abandoned the great whore; have come out of gross, outward Babylon, and fallen in love in various degrees with the doctrine of Christ? One takes a passage out of the New Testament here and another there, which they love and embrace; they pretend also great love toward each other, call one another brother and sister, and can thus walk together in such love. they are not united or baptized by one spirit into one body. I Cor. 12: 13. Hence they have and grant liberty to each one to attach himself to whatever body he pleases, and in whatever manner.

Thus one holds to one opinion, the bere an eine andere Meinung, bas eine an other to another; one is led by this Then the say-Sie strafet ing is among them, Love covers all, but such a love, which hates all that is evil, wicked and sinful, provided it be not false. Rom. 13: 9.

Behold such freelovers may undertake to judge and condemn those that have entered into covenant with Christ, and are united to him; these endeavor to edify, admonish and rebuke one another, and if it so happens, that one among themselves is affected by a strange spirit, and is in love with it. and the church considers him as an church must exclude or disown him. Then such a one will readily go back to that society of free lovers, where he may enjoy his unbridled love with all the false spirits, yet without the house and church of the Lord.

Such love was already required in 'If thy friend, who is as thine own soul, entice thee secretly to serve other gods not commanded by God, thou shalt not hearken unto him; neither shall thine eye pity him." Deut. 13: 6. Sec, of this love all those free lovers know nothing as long as they do not enter with Christ into his covenant, in his doctrine and ordinances. they are in great conceit, that they possess and profess a remarkably impartial love; they are also looked upon by inexperienced souls as men walking in a great and divine love and in true faith.

But it will yet become manifest, that it was only a false, pretended love, well painted and varnished with fine speeches and pompous words, by which many innocent souls are deceived. Therefore says the Scripture, 'Let love be without dissimulation!" Rom. 12:9. 'Now the end of the commandment is CHARITY out of a pure beart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeign-From which some having swerved bave turned aside unto vain jangling." 1 Tim. 1: 5, 6. Thus we see that there may be a feigned faith, and also a feigned love.

OF LOVE.

But whereby do we prove and Son. distinguish true and false love, a true and a feigned faith?

FATHER. True faith, which is genuine and has the promise of eternal life, must be a scriptural faith, as the Lord Jesus says, 'He that believeth on me as the scripture hath said, out of his body shall flow rivers of living water." John 7: 38. And a scriptural faith will also produce a true love according co Scripture. By this scriptural love Christ's disciples shall also be known. John 18: For as Christ was born according to Scripture, and also crucified and raised again according to Scripture, 1 Cor. 15: 3, 4. So he taught all that are his, a scriptural faith, and promised them according to Scripture, an everlasting life. But a feigned faith and a feigned love are not founded on Scripbut only on human conceit. There one believes, because he has learned so from some learned scribe: another, because he has been convinced by this or that book. A third one will be guided only by his own opinion and selfwill, whereas the Scripture says expressly, that there is but 'One Lord, one faith, one baptism." Eph 4: 5.

Should there be ten persons, who stand yet in a feigned faith, and they were all examined according to Scripture, it would appear, that every one would have a peculiar faith of his own, and that not one was altogether according to Scripture. For there is only one true and unfeigned faith, and all those who possess that true faith according to Scripture, are also all of one mind as to the rules and practice of faith.

edge the holy scripture as divine, and appeal to it, though they do not believe in it (scripturally). For there is a great difference between appealing to the Scriptures and believing on them-This we can perceive by the words of the Lord Jesus, when he said to the Jews, "For had ye believed Moses, ye would have believed me; for he wrote of me." John 5: 46. The Jews 'tis true, all appealed to Moses, but in his writings they did not believe.

Thus all sects appeal not only to Scripture but to Jesus himself. as they believe in Jesus, so they believe in the Scripture. Can a true believer then be so stupid or blind as to think or say, "Because all sects appeal to a crucified Savior, therefore I may not appeal to him." That would indeed please the devil very much.

But no! true believers have learned of their Lord and Master more and better wisdom. For when the devil in his temptation of the Lord Jesus appealed to the Scriptures, Jesus answered in faith from the Scripture, and appealed thereunto, Matt. 4: 6, 7. For though the devil and all false spirits appeal to the Scripture, still they believe it not. Thou wilt discover, that these very men, who want to mislead a believer by saying, that all sects appeal to the Scripture, yet always will appeal to that authority themselves.

Hence the believing children of God Guttes nur auf feinen himmlischen Bater, look only to their heavenly Father, and believe and follow him in his revealed word, because they are assured in beglaubet, daß Gott und fein ausgesproches lieving, that God and his express word

But unto believers and those that are pure, all things are pure; while unto unbelievers nothing is pure. 15. Therefore learn well to distinguish in all things according to Scripture, that thou mayest not get into confusion, as it is the case, alas! with many souls at this time, who are greatly confused when they see the angodly wicked performing acts of worship, such as praying, singing, holding meetings, baptizing, going to sacrament and the like.

> Can or may we believe in all things the testimony of the holy Scripture, and is a believer bound to believe and obey that Scripture, or does the Spirit of God lead him other ways sometimes, of which the external letter of the Scriptures knows nothing?

FATHER. It is not necessary to tell a believer, that he shall and must believe and obey the Scriptures. For no man can be a believer without the Holy Ghost, who is to bring forth faith. Now the Scripture is only an external testimony of those things, which have been taught and commanded by the Holy Ghost in former times, and by whom also were pronounced the promi-Benn nun ein Mensch durch mabre ses and threatenings. And again. written and recorded, and with this agree all believers, because the Holy Spirit teaches us inwardly just the same, as the Scripture teaches outwardly.

But whenever men come upon the Scriptures with their own wisdom and carnal minds, they have not within themselves the spirit of faith; hence they cannot believe the external testimony of the Scriptures, nor exercise the obedience of faith. And indeed it is not written for them; the commandments contained therein, do not concern them Even as if a King gave his subjects written laws, with great promises to those, who should obey them, and also great threats against those, who should not observe them. Now there might other men, who are not that King's subjects, read those laws, and talk about them a great deal. But since they are not, nor wish to become subjects, they do not regard his threats, nor believe his promises, themselves under his laws, wed roz statutes and commandments

Just so it is with the Holy Scripture impenitent sinners, who will not repent, commandments, which he has left to us in writing, through his Spirit should reign over them.

John 17: 21. law, which the spirit of error, by his false gospel writes in the hearts, is of such a kind, that it is in the first place quite uncertain concerning divine , testimonies, Psalm 5: 10. In the second place, it senarates men from the commandments and ordinances of God. and divides them into a multitude of different confessions and opinions.

I have observed this in many, who said, they were a free people, they needed not subject themselves to the Scripture of the New Testament in the letter; for the law of God was written bas Gefet Gottes fen in ihre Bergen ges in their bearts. But likewise have I haben aber geschen und ere sown and known, that not two of them were agreed concerning the beginning of a christian life, or the principles of the doctrine of Christ according to scripture, but that as many were the men that had such a baughty disposition, so many were the laws, which they had, and I was often led to think, what a curious spirit that must be, who would write such different laws into the hearts of men.

Of this the Lord God complained

But however great the spiritual pretentions are, it still continues to be Babylon, confusion and discord. Yet such builders will not desist from their intentions, though they see themselves, that the Lord has confused their language. Yea, they see how to many learned and wise people have built in this manner, contrary to the order of the Lord Jesus, and have been brought to shame, and become fools; still new builders begin again and again to prosthis building of confusion. ecute Things become more and more confused and abominable, and if they shall not soon cease, there will be at last 'men of corrupt minds, reprobate concerning the faith. Yet at last their folly shall be manifest unto all men, as theirs also was." 2 Tim. 3 : 8,9.

Now here you may see and know of the true and false law, how both may be written into the hearts of men false law will be written by the spirit of error into the heart of the unbelieving; the true law of life is written by the holy spirit of truth into the children of the New Covenant, in the true believers, and is altogether one and consistent with what Christ externally commanded, and with what the apostles have written.

OF THINGS STRANGLED AND OF BLOOD.

FATRER. Mark well! Since blood in the Old Testament was appointed for atonement, God, as soon as he permitted Noah and his sons to eat flesh. said to them, But flesh with the life thereof, which is the blood thereof. shall ye not eat." Gen. 9: 4. Again. by Moses, God commanded his people thus: 'Moreover ye shall eat no manner of blood, whether it be of fowl. of beast, in any of your dwellings. Whatsoever soul it be, that enteth any manner of blood, even that soul shall be cut off from his people." Lev. 7: 26, 27.

This God has expressed still more clearly, when he said, 'And whatsoever man there be of the house of Israel, or of the strangers, that sojourn among you, that eateth any manuer of blood, I will even set my face against that soul that eateth blood, and will cut him off from among his people. For the life of the flesh is in the blood, and I have given it to you upon the altar to make an atonement for your souls: for it is the blood that maketh an atonement for the soul. Therefore I said unto the children of Israel, No soul of you shall eat blood," Lev. 17: 10-12.

And since, to the Christians, the blood of the Son of God is their atonement. they should certainly eat no blood, because it is forbidden both in the Old and New Testament. The primitive Christians said to the Reathens thus: We are not as brutal as the beasts. when we eat the flesh of animals, that we should also eat their blood, and long after it." They have even laid the ban upon such, as should eat blood, as may be seen in Godfrey Arnold's Portraiture of the Primitive Christians.

FATHER. The Lord God himself

But how the marriago-relation should be conducted in unison, has been expressed in part already in the Law. First the people of Israel were forbidden to marry any other except of the seed of Abraham. Deut. 7: 8. And when God was about to give them his Law. he told them by Moses, Be ready against the third day; come not at (near) your wives!" Exod. 19: 15. Again, God commanded in the Law, If she (a woman) bear a maid-child, then she shall be unclean two weeks, as in her separation, and she shall continue in the blood of her purifying three-score and six days." Lev. 12: 5. And during this time they had to abstain entirely. And if a woman had her ordinary sickness, abstinence was strictly commanded. Lev. 20: 18.

And of unmarried persons, says the in Jesus, and kept in true humility, it may be deemed better and higher. and more in accordance with the pattern of the Lord Jesus. But if a single person marries, he commits no sin. provided it be done in the Lord Jesus; that is, in true faith in Jesus Christ. and in union according to the doctrine and commandments of Christ. to be 'One flesh even as Christ and his church are one body. Eph. 5: 30.

For no man can be one flesh with Christ, or of his bones, in any other way than by receiving the word, which was Jesus himself and what he taught, in faith, and following him in obedience. The words, 'He is flesh of his flesh, and bone of his bones, cannot be understood of the corruptible flesh of the believer, for the flesh of Christ is incorruptible. Thus also must the true marriage consist in true union, that they may not only be one flesh according to the outward flesh and corruptible part, but much more according to the inward part, in the will of their God must they be one flesh, and bave one faith in Christ Jesus.

The Scripture represents those as children of God, who were the descendants of Seth, who was a son of Adam, begotten after his image Gen. 5: 3. But the children of men were descendants of Cain, whom the Lord had cursed the murdering of his brother. These two generations were not to be mixed; but they would not obey God, and so they all perished. But Esau, also a son of Isaac, was a wild man, and hateful to God, because he did not regard the mind of God in marrying, but followed his own lust and pleasure. He took two wives, not of his kindred, but of the Hittites, and this caused much grief to Isaac and Rebecca. We see also in the wise king Solomon, when overcome by his love and just towards strange women, and marrying contrary to the law, how he thereby fell under the displeasure of God, and finally his kingdom was torn apart. Further we see, when afterwards the Jews were converted, and built again the temple in the time of Nebemiah, how they had to separate themselves from all strange wives, whom they had taken, some of whom were even with child, as we may read in the book of Esra, ch. 10.

Son. But if people marry without faith, and one part should be converted and come to the faith, may be who is converted still remain with the unbelieving partner?

FATUER. Among the first Christians this must have happened frequently, that one of the parties became faithful, while the other did not. therefore teaches, 'If the unbelieving bei dem Glaubigen ju bleiben, fo follte fich party be pleased to dwell with the ber Glaubige nicht fceiben, wollte fid aber believing one, this should not leave the ber Unglaubige icheiden, fo mochte er fols other. By this we are to understand, that continually, and try to oppose and destroy violently all that is good. But if be, the unbelieving part, should break out into shameful and adulterous acts, other's shame, then and in that case a believer should not be bound to remain with such a vicious person.

OF ADULTERY.

But among married people, should one be seduced by the devil to commit adultery, and the innocent party would be willing to remain with the guilty, may this be permitted?

FATHER. In the first place, it is commanded in the Law, to kill the adulterers; for there were none such to remain among the people of God. But if a man had set his wife at liberty by a letter of divorcement, she was no adulteress, though she married another man. Yet if that second busband died, the first was not allowed to take her again. to be his wife, for she had become unclean, and such is an abomination before the Lord. Deut. 24: 3, 4.

Now it is easily to be conceived, if das Weib fo unrein worden ift, weil es ber the woman became unclean, because Mann nad dem erlaubten Gefet von fich she was set free by her first husband gelaffen hat, wie viel mehr wird ein Weib by a law of permission, how much more unrein wenn fie gar in Chebrecheret fallet, will she become uncleau, if she should und wie viel meniger datf aledann ein fall into adultory; and much less then Blaubiger, meldes Leib beilig fenn foll, may a believer, whose body should be fich wieder vermifchen mit einem ehebres holy, connect himself again with an derifchen Sureneleib, welches gemiß ein adulterous whorish body, which certaingroßer Greuel in ben Augen Gottee ift, by is a great abomination in the night und in bes herrn Gemeinde durchaus of God, and can by no means be pernicht jugelaffen werben fann, tann es wurs mitted in the church of the Lord; for be hierdurch eine gange Gemeine verunreis by this the whole church would be deniget. 'He saith unto them, Moses, because and whose marrieth her tery." Matt. 19: 8,9.

OF AVOIDANCE (BAN.)

But if among believers one party, either busband or wife, sine so as to be put in avoidance by the church, is the other party also to avoid and have no communication with the party put is avoidance?

FATHER. Take notice again of the mind of God. He had commanded in the Old Testament, If thy brother, the son of thy mother, or thy son, or thy daughter, or the wife of thy bosom, or thy friend, which is as thine own soul, entice thee secretly, saying, let us go and serve other gods, which thou hast not known, thou, nor thy fathers:thou shalt not consent unto him, nor hearken unto him: neither shall thine eve pity him, neither shalt thou spare, neither shalt thou conceal him:--thy band shall be first upon him to put him to death, and afterward, the hand of all the people. Deut. 13: 6, 8, 9.

Now see here, how all the friends nichte burfte beifen bernjenigen, fo nach could not help him, who was to be put mußte. to death according to the Law.

Diefes hat ichen nach bem neuen Bund ben already prefigured the avoidance in the Bann in der Gemeine des herrn abgebils church of the Lord according to the bet. Da hat ber hetr Jefus gesaget: New Testament. Here the Lord Jesus Dann bein Bruder an bir fundiget (biers unter ift Dann und Weib, Rinder und Eltern, wenn fie mit einander in bem Bund Gottes fteben, verftanden) und er will bich und die Gemeinde nicht boren, fo balte ibn als einen Beiben und Bouner." Matt. 18, 17. (Und noch fonderlicher rebet ber Upos fel von folden, umit welchen wir nichte follen gu fchaffen baben, auch nicht einmal mit ihnen ju effen." 1 Cor. 5, 9-11.)

Dies ift nun eine Dleibung forobl in geiftlicher als fleifdlicher Gemeinfchaft, und muffen billig biejenige am erften in bie Meibung thun, bie am nachften bei ihm fenn, wie fcon oben gemeldet, wollen fie nicht beffedet werben, und biefeb ift noch traftig abgebilbeter 5 Dof. 17,7. Wenn einer fich verfündiget hatte, bag er fterben mußte, und gefteiniget wurde, fo mußte Die Sand ber Beugen am erften über bem Berbrecher fenn, darnach die Sand bes gans gen Bolfs. Und ale Ifrael fich am guldes nen Ralb verfündiget hatte, fo mußten die Lepiten nad bes herrn Wort, am erften ermurgen im Lager, von einem Eber gum andern feinen Bruber. Rreund und Radie ften, alebann murbe burch Dofen ber Ges gen über fie gebracht. 2 Dof. 32, 27-29.

Alfo ift es am allernothwendigften im Chriftenthum, bas allerbefte gu verleuge auch insonderheit die Lehre Jefu in ber Berleugnung. Aber manche Unerleuchtete konnen mohl einen Bann führen helfen ges gen jemanden, ba es ihnen feine Berleuge nung foftete aber wenn es an fie felbften fommit, bag fie fich ober ihre liebfte Freunbe, Mann, Beib und Rinder verleugnen follen, ba ift feiber mandmal bie naturlis said, 'If thy brother shall trespass against thee, (by which husband and wife, children and parents, if they are included in the covenant of God, are understood,) and if he shall neglect to hear thee and the church, let him be unto thee as an heathen man and a publican." Matt. 18: 17. (And more especially the apostle speaks of such, with whom we are not to keep company, and not even to eat with them." 1 Cor 5: 9-11)

This is indeed an avoidance not only of spiritual, but also of carnal connection, and it is no more than proper, that those should be first in avoiding such, who are nearest connected with bim, as above stated, if they do not wish to be defiled. This is yet strongly prefigured in Dent. 17: 7, namely, if one had transgressed, so that he must suffer death, 'the hands of the witnesses shall be first upon the transgressor, and then the hands of all the people." And when Israel had sinned with the Golden Calf, the Levites had according to the word of the Lord first to slav from gate to gate throughout the camp every man his brother, companion and neighbor, and then the blessing was restored upon them by Moses. Exod. 32:27-29.

Thus in Christendom it is most necessary to renounce all, even the very nen um bes herrn willen. Dabin gehet best, for the Lord's sake. The doctrine of Jesus has the same tendency of self-denial. It is, however, an easy matter for many that are unenlightened to assist in putting in avoidance one, where it costs them no self-denial. when it comes to themselves, that they are to deny themselves, or their dearest friends, busband, wife or children, then che Liebe viel ftarfer ale die gottliche Liebe, alast is their natural love often much und fonimen folche Stelen ind Berberben. stronger than their love to God, and Darum bleibet ce fest mas ber herr Befus such souls may thereby be brought to faget : "Ber etwas lieber hat als mid, ruin. OF OUTWARD WORSHIP.

Son. Thou hast told me now of many things; but I hear of many (who say) that such things are not at all necessary to be attended to, because believers are made to sit together in heavenly places. and are to converse about heavenly things alone, and have no more need to be perplexed in such things.

FATHER. Indeed, I have seen myself enough of such men, who talk, teach, and write in this way. But they err greatly, and they are wanting of that humble mind, which is very willing to submit to the divine counsel and ordinances, and to learn to be faithful in small things, so that they may afterwards also be made stewards of high and great things. There is a time for humiliation, and a time for exaltation. The Lord Jesus first appeared in this world humbly and lowly, in a voluntary submission to the will of his Father. At another time he will appear in great

All those souls now, who desire to Erhöhung bei ihm fenn mollen, die niuffen be with Lim in bis exaltation, must also first receive him as an humble Christ, must confess him before men in all his commandments, and not be ashamed to become little in little commandments. so that they, also, finally, fie auch endlich ju feiner Beit erhöher wers time may be exalted. Otherwise it will be impossible for them to become um ift jederzeit des herrn Gemeine in dies exalted. Thus the church of the Lord fer Welt flein und verachtet gewefen, fie in this world has always been small and hat immer neiffen unterliegen, als ein Mus. despised. Indeed it was over cousidered as the filth of the earth by the unbelieving world.

Hence such men err very much in their thoughts, who pretend that it is needless for believers to be baptized with elementary water: that they needed not to drink the earthly wine of communion to show forth the death of Jesus. but say that they drink spiritual wine, and that they were baptized with spiritual water, and make other like high pretensions against the clear testimony of the Holy Scriptures. It is therefore very good to look wholly and alone to the express words of the Lord Jesus. and to his own perfect example, and to follow that only in obedience with faith and simplicity, and bringing every thought into subjection to the Lord We shall not be likely then to be led astray by these high talking peonle.

OF THE EXCUSES OF UNBELIEVERS.

But I have also heard many, who appeal to holy men such as TAU-LERUS. THOMAS & KEMPIS and others. who have written such fine spiritual books. and mentioned nothing of the observance of the outward doctrine of Jesus.

FATHER, Such men, who appeal to human testimony, give us to understand that they are in want of the divine testimony of Jesus. Hence St. John says, "If we receive the witness of men, the witness of God is greater: for this is the witness of God which he has testified of his Son. He that believeth on the Son of God bath the witness in himself: he that believeth not God hath made him a liar, because he believeth not the record that God gave of his Son." 1 John 5: 9, 10. testimony is necessary to salvation, and all the saints have had it.

Aber folde Berufung auf beilige be the truth. But such an appeal Menschen ift eben so blind, als die gange holy men is just as inconsistent as the Belt, welche fich auf Chriftum und feine wbolc world professing Christ and his Apostel berufet, und find boch gar nicht apostles, and still not agreeing with mit Behre und Beben eine.

Darum find folde arme Ceclen wohl gu bedauern, die ihren Glauben auf einen pitied, who wish to ground their faith fo blinden Grund bauen wollen, welches bod jur Beit ber Unfechtung immer wieber einfallt. lich fich barauf zu berufen, und find ges seductive power of Babylon, and comthem at all in doctrine and practice.

Such poor souls therefore are to be upon such a blind (slender) foundation, which in times of tribulation will always fail. But the Son of God has taught, that "whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, who built his house upon a rock." Matt. 7: 24. Again, says the Savior, "Verber mich gefandt bat, ber hat bas emige ily, verily, I say unto you, he that Liben, und femmt nicht in das Bericht." heureth my word and believeth on him Sch. 5, 24. These are sure testimonies to him that believeth.

This gospel cannot be altered or in jured by any holiness of angels, much less by that of men, or even by power and dominion of the whole world. To add any thing to it, or take away from it, would bring upon us the great displeasure of God. For it stands as firm as the mountain of God, and Christ says, when referring to it as a stone. "Whosoever shall fall on this stone shall be broken; but on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grind him to nowder." Matt. 21: 44.

OF THE REWARD OF THE BELIEVERS.

SON. Since thou hast told me a great deal of the doctrine of Jesus Christ, and that it was necessary for us to walk according to it under all crosses and tribulations, -- what then has a man to expect, if he donies himself, follows Christ, and perseveres therein under every trial and affliction, even unto the end?

FATHER. There are such blessings and glories to be obtained through Christ, and of such great dignity, that they cannot be expressed by any human tongue, nor can it be described what God has prepared for those who love him. And in this love, fear God with a childlike heart; contemplate all commandments day and night; keep them with a pure heart, let them be thy counsellors, and pray continually for the Holy Spirit, who will guide thee into all the commandments of G.d. and into all truth.

Let it always be resounding in thy cars, what David said: Wherewithal shall a young man elempse his way? By taking beed thereto according to thy word." Ps. 119: 9. Again: 'The words of the Lord are pure words; as silver tried in a furnace of earth, purified seven times." Ps. 12:6. Matt. 7: 15. Again: Take heed that no man deceive you; for many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ, and shall deceive many " Matt. 24: 4, 5. Son. One query more. It appears to me somewhat hard, to consider such men as false, who manifest so great holiness and power, because they do not walk in the doctrine of Jesus, but are opposed to it, as it is written externally in the (New) Testament?

FATHER. From the long conversation we have had, I thought thou might. est have well understood the divine mind; but still I will repeat unto thee again some things according to the testimony of the holy scriptures, both of the old and new Testament. God revealed his law through Moses unto the children of Israel, it was such a sure and steadfast word, that every one who transgressed it had to die. Numb. 15: 35. Heb. 10: 28. 'And the soul that doeth ought presumptuously, and breaketh the Lord's commandment, that soul shall utterly be cut off; his iniquity shall be upon him.', Thus tirm was the word of the Lord, given by Moses. Now those were all false prophets, who added any thing to the law, or diminished it by taking aught away.

The true prophets indeed all adhered welched Fleisch merben ift. Joh. 1. Wels 'made the whole world ;" who is that

A SIN EXTINGUISHING SAVIOR.

A pard'ning Lord I am,
In love I will be found;
The Son of God and man,
To heal the sinful wound.
All is now gain'd,
My death has bought,
And pardon wrought
That thou be spar'd.

Thy sin I cast away,
It shall return no more;
Thy debt I had to pay,
And suffer'd for it sore.
My blood I gave,
My life I spent,
Through death I went
For thee to save.

This have I done for thee; Be faithful then, and true, Do not depart from me, I shall be faithful too. Then watch and pray, And love me too, Who first lov'd you And am thy stay. ta-met *

AND NOW BY THE REQUEST OF MANY, PUBLISHED THROUGH THE PRESS.

Beloved in God, friends and fellow pilgrims.

There are many, who have hitherto desired to have a more direct account and report of your new baptism and church, since that what has been said, or even written here and there on the subject, has left them still in much uncertainty. In order now to obtain your opinion more fully and authentically, and to be relieved from all further doubt on this subject, we have come to the conclusion to propound to you the present frank, and simply stated questions, upon which we expect your plain and candid answers as early as possible.

(Reply.) Dear friends.

Since you ask in love our opinion, and since also the apostle Feter teaches relievers, 1 Pet. 3: 15 "to be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you;"—we could not avoid giving you in love and candor, and with assurance of faith, according to our simplicity, very brief answers on those proposed questions, and to leave them to your examination before God.

QUERY 1. Whether you do not suppose, that for more than one thousand years there had been no true, g unius buptism, and consequently also no true church on earth?

Answer. We hold and believe, that God at all times had his church, which observed the true baptism and order, but which was always hidden from the unbelievers, and consisted often also in but few mombers; still the gates of hell could never prevail against the church of the Lord Jesus. Yea, it is evident from history that God has caused his order to be revealed to unbelievers in all ages, as a testimony or witness.

ANSWER. The church of Christ is out the baptism and order as the true founder (or author) has appointed.

But that there should have been souls, who were secretly drawn to the church of Christ, we do not deny. However, whether they obeyed and publicly professed Christ, or whether they loved the honor of the world more than the honor that cometh from God only, (John 5: 44,) we will not deter-Concerning the church of Israel, we clearly see that the children in the wilderness had to bear the reproach of Egypt, and also the transgression of their fathers! But as soon as they were about to enter the land of promise, and before the taking of the first city, Jericho, they were all to be cirsumeised. God said therefore to Joshua (ch.) 5 "This day have I rolled away the repreach of Eggyt from off you."

Then they were permitted to keep the passover, but not before, and this also was intended as a figure for us. For so long as we walk in the wilderness, in great disorder and uncertainty, although fet, to funten mir toth nicht in das we have gone out already from Egypt, QUESTION 3. Whether the church ceased to exist altogether, when the primitive order of baptism was observed no longer?

Answer. Had this primitive order aufgehöret hatte, fo hatte auch freilich bie of baptism ceased, then of course the Birthe Chriffi aufgehoret, und wann ichon church of Christ bad ceased to exist, Seelen gewesen maren, die unter bem gros and though there had been souls, who fen Berfall bin und ber geseufzet batten, bere and there lamonted the great apostacy, they could not have been called a church.

> But since we do believe, and think it may be shown also from ancient history, that primitive baptism, as ordained by Christ, never has ceased to be practiced, it follows as a consequence, that the (true) church never ceased to exist, though it should (at some periods) have consisted of but few members.

> QUESTION 4. How would you undertake to reconcile this with the promise of Christ, Matt. 16: 18, That even the gates of hell should not prevail against it:" and ch. 28: 20, That he will be with them (his disciples) always, even unto the end of the world," and similar declarations?

Answer. This is (already) answered, because we believe, that the gates of hell have not prevailed against the church of Christ, but it has remained. and will remain even unto the end of the world.

Answer. Christ says, Matt. 7: by which we shall know him, and on this account cannot consider a person man, and since we did not know these men in their lives, we leave them to their God; and all their writings and prophesing cannot make us to suspect the gospel of Jesus. And on account of their prophesying alone we cannot Jesus, in beptism and other ordinances, as he has commanded.

Christ was come, he as the eternal High Priest and Son of God, introduced a law of life, and the first, because of its weakness and not being able to make perfect, was abolished. Christ 'having obtained eternal redemption for us," revealed the way to the Holy of Holies, gave none but laws of life, and has established his will or testament by his blood, so that we believe and confess, should an angel from heaven come, and would intend to reveal another or better gospel, that even such an angel must be accursed. according to the testimony of Paul. Gal. 1: 8. Hence we believe, that the doctrine of Jesus the Crucified, is to be observed, until he himself shall come ogain in flaming fire, and take vengeance on them, that have not been obedient to his gospel in accordance with the testimony of Paul, 2 Thess. 1:7,8. Therefore, the doctrine of Jesus is justly to be observed by the believers in these (our) days, but to the unbelievers nothing seems to be commanded.

QUESTION 7. Whether in that case, they are not compelled to asknowledge and confess, that to the re establishment of the same, as well as to its first institution an immediate divine calling is necessary and required, such as according to the testimony of scripture, and to general confessions have occurred at all times in such great reformations of the church?

> QUESTION 8. Whether any one of them could rise up, and venture to declare before God in the hour of death, and in the day of judgment, on his conscience and in view of his accountability that he had received from God such an immediate call to re-establish that order of baptism so long neglected, and thereby form an entirely new church of Christ here on earth, such as had not been since the time of the anostles and primitive Christians?

ANSWER. When the Pharisees sent from Jerusalem, and propounded the question to John, whether he was Christ or a prophet, because he baptized,he answered, "I indeed baptize you with (in) water unto repentance; but there standeth one among you, whom ye know not, who shall baptize you with (in) the Holy Ghost and with (in) fire." Thus we say also in our simplicity. We indeed baptize only in water upon the faith in Christ, who in these days causes his voice to be heard in the hearts of men. Oh that they would only obey and know him truly, then He would be it alone, and would also abide with us, who at this time will build up, sanctify and cleanse his church "with the washing of water by the word." Eph. 5: 26. Then man would undertake to appropriate this to himself, or declare before men, that he was sent from God to establish a church, but willingly he would give the glory to God; and though God may employ some as peculiar instrumente, we must nevertheless try them, whether they are sent of God, as John 34. Dann welden Gott gefandt, ber res said, ch. 3 : 34. "For be whom God hath sent, speaketh the words of God."

Antw. Christus fpriedt Matth. 24. zu ben Seinigen, insendetheit ben bieser Zeit, sie sollen sich nur vorsehen daß sie nicht versähret werden, er spricht ja nicht, daß in solcher trübseligen Seit (worin wir leiber jest seyn, da die Liebe in vielen Perzen ers kaltet ift,) die Menschen tausendweise zu seinem Evangelio lausen werden; ja selbst die gutwistigen Seelen lausen eben nicht so gerne in die Nachfolge Jesu, wobei man alles verleugnen muß, so man anders Shrifto recht folgen will.

QUESTION 9. Wherein then does bis immediate calling consist, and how could or would be justify and prove the same to the outward or inward conviction in the hearts and consciences of those who are still belonging to sects as well as to those, who are already withdrawn from the sects?

ANSWEB. The immediate calling indeed consists in this, that a man feels inwardly and powerfully assured by the Spirit of God, and is not concerned about it whether men believe it or not. Even as Christ himself says, John 6: 43, 44. 'Murmur not among yourselves. No man can come to me, except the Father which bath sent me draw him." Thus it is also at this time: No man can come to the (true) doctrine of Christ, except he is willingly drawn by the Father, and he will obey the Father's drawing, easily know, where the called and chosen believers are.

QUESTION 10. Whether we may not readily and in truth suppose that if this work proceeded from God, and they had received such an immediate divine call to it, thousands of souls would willingly and at once have come, as at the first Pentecost of the New Testament upon the demonstration of the Spirit and of power, which then occurred in and about the spostles of the Lord?

ANSWER. Christ says, Matt. 21, to his disciples, referring especially to these latter times, that they should "take heed, that no man may deceive them." He says not indeed, that in such troublesome times, (in which, alas! we are now, since love has grown cold in so many;) men would run by thousands to his gospet. May, even upright souls do not walk so readily in the footsteps of Jesus, whereby all is to be denied, if indeed we wish to be true followers of him.

Therefore Christ speaks very briefly and emphatically the solemn words to his disciples. Luke 17: 32. "Remember Lot's wife."

QUESTION 11. Whether captism in water be so absolutely necessary, that no one can, by any means be saved without it, however faithful, holy and irreproachable he might be?

ANSWER. We believe and confess, that in the Old and New Testament, a blessing and salvation is promised only to the believers; and how the believers at all times were minded and disposed, we see in faithful Abraham, the father of all the faithful, being obedient in all things to God, and obtaining the promise on account of his living faith, by which be also wrought works of obedience. Thus, we believe, when a man lives boly and piously, and this life is produced by true faith in Christ, then it will be easier to faith to be obedient in water baptism, than it was to Abraham to sacrifice his sonwhile man is still disputing with his God, saying, what can water help me? then such a holy life is nothing but QUESTION 13. If baptism in water made no mention of it in his sermon on the mount, when speaking of the blessings; Matt. 5; nor in his description of the (last) judgment, Matt. 25, does he intimate the least of it, though he treats especially of those who shall be saved or damned?

ANSWER. It is astonishing, how little men attend to the pure mind of God! Christ indeed speaks, Matt. 5, of many blessings; but we might do well to enquire, whence may such blessings be obtained? Christ says, 'Blessed are the meek;" and we should notice well, how Christ calleth, Matt. 11: 28, 29: 'Come unto me and,-learn of Hence we confess, that Christ alone is the Savior, and whoever wishes to be blessed, as he preaches, Matt. 5. next necessarily accept him in true Sith, and submit to him in obedience as clay in the hands of the potter, and He it is, who must make all things new, and save all, and to bim all the prophets have pointed. Now Christ the Savior, and good physician, deems baptism also necessary for the believer, obedience to this command of baptism is also necessary unto salvation. Although in Matt. 25. Christ calls those blessed who fed and clothed him, without saying anything about the new birth or regeneration, of which he had spoken, John 3, when he said 'Except a man be born again, he could not come into the kingdom of God." Here he said nothing of visiting him in prison or of (feeding) giving meat to his mem-Who then would, or could think that those in Matt. 25 were unregenerated, or unbelieving men, and that he calls them blessed merely on account of those outward works. er motive, they remained satisfied with that (so called) baptism received in their infancy?

ANSWER. If it happened to them as to Abraham in the offering up of his son, namely, that they had that true faith in Jesus, which is the foundation of all the rules of true Christianity, then they are surely saved, though they did not obtain the outward baptism, as may have been the case in times of persecution, and from other causes. if they thought their infant baptism to be right, it shows that they were still ignorant of the first principles of the christian religion. Hence they lived out few, perhaps none of the fundamental rules of Christianity, and will scurcely become partakers of the nature of the new creature, which alone is acceptable to God. However, we will not judge them, who lived many years ago, but leave them to their God. . But heir ignorance will not bely those of our day, who refuse baptism, and who will then plead ignorance, at the great day of accounts.

QUESTION 16.' Is not the commandment of baptism as binding on children, as the command of circumcision in the old covenant was, and are they not therefore in danger of being lost if they die without being baptized?

ANSWER. As little as circumcision concerned children before the eighth day, (and to have circumcised them before that time would have rather been a transgression of the law;) so little does baptism concern children before they are able to confess their belief; and to this ago of belief, the eighth day in the law of circumcision, seems to point as a figure.

ANSWER. Male children which died before the eighth day, transgressed the law of circumcision as little as girls, which were not at all circumcised, yet the want of circumcision interfered in no wise with their salvation. Question 18. When is if proper to baptize children? And are we not to use all diligence to bring them to baptism as soon as possible, even in their infancy?

ANSWER. Children are to be offered up to the Lord Jesus in prayer, but as to their baptism, we are to wait until they can show their faith, and make confession, which may be called the very eighth day, or their first day of the new creation in man. If they were baptized sooner, in their ignorance, it would be just as if the Jews had circumcised before the eighth day, which would rather have been a transgression of (the law of) circumcision, than an obedient act.

ANSWER. We do not make any nicht andere als wie fie die Schrift ber thing more of baptism than what is commanded in scripture. Now since it is there said that believers should be baptized, we deem it a disobedience to oppose that which God has ordained. And he who resists God only in one thing, and should it be so small as outward haptism, would be justly punished for his disobedience. I do not know however, whether we may consider any single command of the Lord Jesus. as small, if we have no aversion to the power and authority of the Lawgiver, Concerning what Paul wrote to the Galatians, and Colossians, that relates only to the laws of the servant Moses, because they were too weak, see Heb. 7: And the Galatians wanted to observe those laws in order to escape the cross of Christ, and to lay uside the doctrine of Jesus. But Paul rather reminded them of baptism, when he writes, "As many of you as have been baptized, have put on Christ." Gal. 3: 27. Consequently, the mind of Paul is not at all against, but rather in favor of baptism.

Question 21. Is there not, by making baptism an absolutely necessary command unto salvation, a danger of introducing a new system of popery, and a salvation by works?

ANSWER. It has been sufficiently testified, that we do not endeavor to obtain salvation by such simple things, but alone by faith in Jesus, must produce acts of obedience, if indeed it is to be a saving faith. however, no such faith exists, which produces obedience, (not after the doctrine and commandment of the pope, but) according to the command of Jesus the Crucified, there is no salvation promised.

Answer. That the locsening and binding with the apostles was a neculiar prerogative, is true; but only in this manner, aa it was a peculiar prerogntive of Moses, that by him the law should be promulgated to the house of Israel. Yet it was not such a prerogative, that at the death of Moses the law itself should have died, but the posterity, that was faithful to God, submitted to that in obedience, which was revealed through Moses in the house of God. Thus has Christ, the Father or Lord of the house himself, instituted a church azd dispensation, and given to his apostles as the witnesses chosen before, this preregative, that they should introduce all the ordinances in the house of God, and confirm them by signs and miracles; and in order that none of their successors should presume from either forwardness or pride, to introduce other ordinances, but should be willing to submit to those commanded by the apostles as stewards over the mysteries of God's house. Now since excommunication is commanded by Christ and his apostles, this prerogative properly belongs to them; but to believers it belongs to submit to it in faith, and to observe it without respect to persons.

Answer. The apostles have never commanded to withhold from the excommunicated necessary spiritual or temporal assistance; moreover, they are to be admonished to repentance, and though they do not hear or receive it we are clear. So likewise in worldly things, if we abound in the things of this world, and the excommunicated is in want, we are to communicate according to his need.

Ans. Genuine regeneration is nothing else but real and genuine obedience towards God and all his commandments, and a regenerate person will readily say with Christ, Matt. 8: 15. If such is the meaning, we confess, that it is true; and that, alas! we have but too long stood in such pernicious hypocritical love, while we were yet among the Pictists. Ques. 33. Whether they themselves were assured, and had received already the immoveable assurance of the same in the divine trials as by fire, that God bimself also acknowledges and owns them, and would have them acknowledged; and how would they undertake to prove this and make it credible?

Truly, the assurance must be before God, as Paul describes it. Rom. "Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God, through our Lord Jesus Christ: By whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand and rejoice in hope of the glory of God." But this assurance is no longer promised even to the apostles by the Lord Jesus, John 15: 7. then they would abide in him, and his words abide in them. Then they would be his true disciples, and they should ask what they will, and it should be done unto them. And so it is: He that is faithful in the doctrine of Jesus

By the younger ALEXANDER MACK.

May grace and peace from God the Father through Jesus Christ be multiplied unto you all, Amen.

Beloved brethren:

Inasmuch as we have understood, that Druder mas Schwierigfeit haben, some brethren have difficulties with regard to feetwashing, which Jesus has commanded to his disciples, as if it had been performed between the supper and breaking of bread, and think it not rightly done, if feet are washed before supper; -we felt moved in our mind in sincere love to give the reasons, why we wash feet before supper. At the same time we would say, that it is our belief and view, if a brother or any other person can in love and moderation instruct us according to the word of the Lord more fully, and otherwise than is here pointed out, we should be ready to accept of it not only in this point of feet-washing, but also in other matters, and not at all rest upon long usage, but let the word of the Lord be our only rule and guide.

In the first place, de will see, how the old pious fathers before the law practiced feet-washing, Gep. 18: 4. 24: 32. and chap. 19: 2. we see quite clearly, that the pious fathers performed feetwashing before the Mahlzeit, und siehet man unter bem Ges meal: we see also under the law in the feb im bildlichen Gettesbienst, daß Moses levitical service, that Moses had to mußte ein groß handfaß machen, und make a great laver, to put water therein, Maffer barein thun, und Aaron und feine and that Aaron and his sons, yen the Cohne, ja die nachfolgende Priefter, muß succeeding priests washed their hands ten fich porher hand und Fuße maschen, and their feet thereat, when they went that under the law feetwashing was customary, as we find 1 Sam. 25: 41.

Still in the time of the Lord Jesus when he himself preached the gospel. feetwashing was a common thing; when friends would show each other acts of kindness, it was the custom always before the meal, as we see in the gospel of Luke cb. 7: 44. Here the Lord Jesus reproached the Pharisce, while at the table, that he had given him no water for his feet, when He (the Savior) entered his (the Pharisee's) house. Now to come to the point itself, we see in the first place, when the feast of the passover was come nigh, that the Lord Jesus sont two of his disciples, namely. Peter and John, the very disciple, who has recorded feetwashing, John 13th. chap. These were sent by the Lord Jesus to prepare the passover, as Luke the evangelist mentions, ob. 22: 8. 'And in the evening he comoth with the twelve, and sat down," as Mark (chap, 14: 17.) and Matthew (chap, 46: 20) relate.

Now the other evangelists say nothing of feetwashing, but the evangelist John describes it ch. 13. According to the Greek text, as REITZ, the Dutch translators, and also Felbinger have given it, John, who himself prepared the supper, says, 'when the supper was done," according to the dutch version: wben the supper Was made," according to Felbinger, and REITZ expresses it still more clearly, saying, 'when the supper was prepared.' Others say according to the Greek, it is in the Greek Lexicon, 'when the supper had been made," or 'had come into existence."

But commonly it is thus, that when a p rson receives some knowledge in selfishness, and maintains it in softwill, he is not willing to be sustincted, but wile dispuie in his own wisdan about the shell, and deep the kernel. Therefore, dear brethron, let us and be wise, and let us especially concerning feet washing be careful, how we are to Le muded, in love, in peace and humility to submit to each other,

For Christ indeed has given no spe-Gebot gegeben, mann man foldes follte cial command, when or what time is thun, per ober nach der Mabiget, fendern should be performed, before or utier er hat befohlen daß man's thun fell, und surper; but he has commanded, that aber auch emander lieben; bann Chriffus it should be done, and also that we hat nicht gefagt, daß man am Bugmas should love one another, since Christ fchen, ober am Brobbreden, feine Junger has not suid, that his disciples should fonte fennen, fondern er fagte: Dabei bo known by washing foot, or by the vird Sebermann erkennen bag ihr meine breaking of bread, but he said, "By fanger fend, mann ihr Liebe unter einans this shall all men know, that ye are my er habt. Darum ift es bie allerhochfte Nothwenbigfeit, daß man fich in Liebe und Friebe faffet, und bei fich benfet, man wolle ben lieben Gott bitten um immer mehrere Weisbeit: bann ich fann in Babrbeit aus Erfahrung tiefes fibreiben, bag ale mir im Anfang ber Sauf, ba baben mir im Segen und Liebeserweckung einanber die Tuf gewafden, nach bem Effen und nach bem Brodbreiben; barnach faben wir naber und baben int Gegen einander die Fuße gewaschen, nach bem Effen und por bem Brodbrechen; barnach als ber Reig bas Deue Teffament beraus gegeben, und ein Bruber unter und fam ber Grieche ifa fonnte und es uns ordentlich angewies fen, daß Befus por bem Abenbeffen bie Rus fe gemafchen, fo maren mir einfaltig und Maten es feither, allezeit vor bem Effen; unn mird uns fein Bruber perbenfen bag wir nicht noch einmal wollen hinten ans fangen, fondern fo lang und niemand fann grundlicher anweifen, fo mird uns niemand perdenken daß wir fo thun, wie wir es verfteben. Doch fage ich biefes, bag wenn ich ju einer Braberfchaft fame, Die wonten Bredbrechen, und Die Borffes ber von berer Bruberfchaft erfenneten es woch nicht andere, ale bie Fuge mußten gemafchen fenn nach bem Abenbeffen, fo wollte ich es gan; einfaltig mithalten in Liebe und Friede, und wollte es bennoch ihnen vorhalten nach der Schrift, wollte aber in Liebe marten und mit ihnen Gebuit baben, bis fie es auch fo erfenneten ; dann ich bin es gewiß, bag mann man bie Sach gang unpartheilfd wird anfeben, und in Liebe und Friede bleiben, fo mirb man es mehl merten und feben konnen, is so, as we have shown above, that Je-and the doctrine of Jesus would be scoffed at by other men.

Therefore it is of the utmost necessity, to maintain love and peace, and to conclude to pray our dear Lord for still more wisdom. For I can say, in truth and from experience, that in the beginning we have washed one another's feet after supper, and after the breaking of bread, yet accompanied by a blessing and awakening of love. terward we saw a little nearer, and washed one another's feet after supper, and before the breaking of bread, also with a blessing. Then, when Reitz published the New Testament, and a brother came among us, who understood Greek, and pointed out to us properly, how Jesus washed feet before supper, in single heartedness we did do it ever since and at all times before supper.

Now no brother should take it amiss of us, that we do not wish to begin again at the wrong end. For so long as no one can instruct us any better, no one should find fault with us, if we do, as we understand it. Yet I say this, if I should come to a fraternity, who would break bread, and the leaders of that fragernity did not yet understand it otherwise, but that the feet ought to be washed after supper, I would partake with them in great simplicity and love, yet I would lay my views before them according to the scripture, and wait in love, and have patience with them. until they could see it so likewise.

For I feel assured, that when the matter is examined quite impartially, and love and peace are preserved, it will be easily seen and understood, that it daß Tefus por dem gemachten oder zubereis pared supper, and washed his disciples' teten Abendmahl ift aufgeffanden, und bat feet, and then did sit down, and eat, feinen Jungern die Fuße gewaschen, und and while enting Jesus revealed the habe fich bann gefest und gegeffen, und traitor, who thereupon went out. über dem Effen hat Jefus ben Berrather then after this Jesus instituted tho geoffenbaret, ber ift bann bingus gegangen, breaking of bread, and thus the seripbann but Refus erft bas Broebrechen eine tures are brought in harmony, and the gesett, und so ichidet sich bie Schrift auf types of the patriarchs before the law. einander, und die Borbilder ber fremmen and those under the law all correspond Bater por bem Gefes, und unter bem Ges with it, and we can stand with a good. fes ffimmt alles mit überein, und man quiet conscience before God and men. wird mit einem guten geruhigen Beroiffen beffeben fonnen vor Gott und Dens fcben ; fo man aber murbe meinen, man mußte die Ruge mafchen erft nach bem Effen, fo getraute ich gar nicht foldes mit einem verftanbigen Ginn ber Edrift gu behaupten, und murbe es febmerlich jemand tonnen thun, bann wann man nur bie amei Evangeliften Matthaus und Marfus anfiebet fo fdreiben fie alle beide, erftlich Datth. 26, 26, ba fie aber affen, nahm Sefus das Brod, banfete und brach es; fo febreibt auch der Evangelift Marfus Cap. 14, 29, und indem fie affen, nahm Jefus das Brod, und danfete und fprach : Rehmet, effet, das ift mein Leib. fiehet man ja bier flar, bag gwifden bem Ofterlammeffen und Brodbrechen gar feine Beranderung gefcheben ift, bann mann bas Sugmafden bagmifden gefdeben mas re, fo hatten fie es gewiß auch gefdrieben, meilen es aber vor dem Effen gefcheben ift, fo baben fie es nicht gefchrieben fondern ausgelaffen.

But if we were of the opinion, that the feet must be washed just after supper, then I would not undertake to maintain it with a rational sense of the scriptures, and scarcely any person would be able to do it. For if we look only to the two evangelists Matthew and Mark, they write both, first Matt. 26: 26. "And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, and blessed it, and brake it." So likewise writes the evangelist Mark (14: 22.) 'And as they did cat, Jesus took bread, and blessed, and brake it, saying, Take, cat, this is my body." Now here we see clearly, that between the eating of the passover (supper) and the breaking of bread, there occurred no change. For if feetwashing had been performed between, they would certainly have mentioned it too; but since it was done before supper, they have not written about it, but left it out.

But John has described feet-washmaschen u. hat hingegen die Einsesung besting, and on the other hand left out the die Schrift geiftliche Augen, Sinn und the Soriptures require spiritual eyes, Berffand, bann fonst murbe man burth mind and understanding; otherwise by ben Buchftaben lauter Giend und Berreife the letter we would have nothing but fung friegen, mann man ohne mahre Er, trouble and division, if without true illuleuchtung marte meinen an einem Ort mination one would think to hold fast den Buchfraben fest ju halten, aber am to the letter in one place, but would act
